2 More Planes Casualties In Alaska Area

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 1—(AP)—An air force C-47 with four aboard was reported missing in Alaska on the heels of the crash of a navy Privateer in the Aleutians Friday carrying 10 men.

The two were the eighth and ninth planes reported crashed or missing in Alaska in a disastrous string of accidents during the last six weeks. About 85 are dead or missing in the accidents.

The C-47, from Elmendorf Field here, disappeared Friday night on a flight between Latinum and Maynek.

It was last heard from when it made contact with Bethel and asked permission to fly on instruments at 7,000 feet. Two minutes later the Bethel radio was unable to raise the plane.

Locate Wreckage

The wreckage of the Privateer was located Friday on Little Tanaga Island. A search party which went by boat and then overland to the crash scene recovered eight bodies. There was no report of any survivors.

The plane was on a routine flight from Adak. It made its last report two hours after the take-off. At that time the weather bureau said there was a 300-foot ceiling, some clouds and fog but a visibility of two miles.

The craft was the same type as a navy plane which crashed two weeks ago on Amak Island north of Alaska peninsula with a loss of 12 lives.

The current string of Alaskan air accidents started July 21 when a Korean airlift plane disappeared with 38 aboard.

Sorry For Cats Collects 68

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—Here's a wail of a tale—about George Hoover and his 68 cats.

George, 53-year-old apartment superintendent, doesn't really like cats but he feels sorry for them.

About a year ago, he saved a pair of felines from the East river. One cat led to another. What with picking up strays, George finally found himself taking care of 68.

The neighbors bellowed because the cats wailed, so George got himself a new superintendent's job—next door. The neighbors then summoned the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

George and his cats were parted Friday—two truckloads, three ASPCA workers, three policemen and four hours later.

A reported remarked to George, "you certainly must like cats."

"Not much," replied George. "I like my Irish setter better."

Unknown Plane Drops Flares Over UN Camp

MUNSAN, Korea, Sept. 1 (AP) An unidentified aircraft tonight dropped 12 flares over the advance United Nations camp here.

A pooled dispatch said flares also were dropped over the "peace train" where allied correspondents live while covering the now-suspended truce talks.

The dispatch said that a two-engined plane could be heard in the area but the plane did not follow up the flare-dropping with further action.

Officials at the advance UN camp could give no immediate explanation of the flare incident.

No Paper Monday

The Examiner will not be published on Monday, Labor Day, but all the comics and features for release September 3 will appear in today's issue.

SOME 200 CGE ENGINEERS and foremen honored Dr. G. R. Langley, works engineer, Friday night at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club upon his retirement after 44 years with the company. Ian F. McRae (TOP), vice-president and works manager (left), and H. M. Turner, president of the CGE (right), offer their congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. Langley. Former works engineer, L. D. W. 200 Fellow Workers Honor Dr. Langley On Retirement

More than 44 years of service with the General Electric Company ended officially Friday night at a banquet held to mark the retirement of Dr. Gordon R. Langley. Nearly 200 of his friends in the company gathered at the Kawartha Golf Club to honor him on his last day with the company.

Keynote of the evening's remarks came from H. M. Turner, president of the CGE. He said: "This marks the end of the active career of one of the outstanding figures in the electrical engineering industry.

"I can think of no one approaching retirement with healthier or wider interests."

Illuminated Address

Before making several presentations to Dr. Langley, Mr. Turner read an illuminated address, which said in part: "Your abilities as an engineer and administrator have enhanced the prestige of the company . . . This is an earnest wish for years of good health."

Mr. Turner then presented Dr. Langley with a pair of prismatic binoculars, and a camera complete with projector for slides, a screen and flashgun equipment.

Explosions Rock Plant In Texas

BORGER, Tex., Sept. 1—(AP)—A series of earth shaking explosions followed by fire erupted in a sprawling butadiene plant near here today.

Seven men were injured as blasts triggered through the big plant, operated by Phillips Chemical Company to produce a component of synthetic rubber.

The explosions began at 7 a.m. EDT, and three hours later were still going on as the blaze reached new tanks and other units of the plant.

The firm immediately shut down the big plant, and it appeared the fire might be allowed to burn itself out. The terrific heat and billowing black smoke drove firemen back from the blaze.

15-Point Living Cost Jump Blamed On Meat Prices

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—For years living costs in Canada were a lot lower than they were in the United States. Now, says the Bank of Canada, it's the other way round.

The reversal in the cost-of-living pattern took place in June. Before that the cost-of-living index in the United States was running a lot higher than the one in Canada.

In June, says the bank in its monthly statistical summary, the paths of the two indexes crossed. The US index levelled off. The one in Canada kept on climbing.

Going a step further, the bank makes a revealing comparison of living costs in the two countries over the 12-month period, July, 1950, to July, 1951. The upward drive in living costs, it finds, was far more significant in Canada than in the US.

For example, in the 12-month period, the index in Canada jumped 12 per cent; the one in the US only nine. In both cases higher food prices provided the main impetus, but food prices in the US jumped only five per cent; in Canada they jumped by almost seven.

Meat prices in the US jumped by only about one per cent—in Canada they jumped by almost four. All other prices invoved in the indexes ran about neck to neck.

Some government officials believe the basic cause in the big jump in the Canadian index is due to higher meat prices.

Based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, the Canadian index, now at a record 187.6, jumped 15 points in the first half of 1951. Officials estimate that almost one-third of that rise was due to higher meat prices. In that period, the price of beef jumped, roughly, about 16 cents a pound.

Think Reds To Launch New Attack

Four New Divisions Spotted On Eastern Front

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Four new Communist divisions were spotted on Korea's east-central front today as bloody fighting continued on the slopes of jagged mountain peaks.

AP correspondent George McArthur said there were "some indications" the Reds might jump off shortly on a major offensive.

An Allied officer told McArthur the reinforced Red forces in the East could throw "a whale of a blow" at the UN positions. But he added he did not believe the Reds could appreciably dent the Allied line.

There was stepped-up action on land and sea and in the air. Allied officers said their divisions were engaged in the heaviest fighting since the now-suspended truce talks started in Kaesong July 10.

The ground fighting centred on the central and east-central fronts. Gains of up to four miles were hammered out in the east, and some gains were registered in the centre of the 100-mile battleline.

Stalled On Ridge

The UN allies were stalled in a savage all-day battle for "bloody Ridge" on the east-central front. AP photographer Bob Otey reported the Reds fought to the death from deep bunkers and machine-gun nests.

To the west, Communists counter-attacked and took a hill they lost Friday. But the UN forces slashed back and recaptured it.

When the fighting died down, more than 460 Communist dead were counted on the hillside.

On the central front, the fiercest fighting was northwest of Yanggu. The Communist regiments were hurled at the United Nations line in a five-hour assault.

The Reds were beaten off but they charged back two hours later. Again they were thrown back without denting the UN line.

Heavy Mine Fields

Heavy mine fields suggested the attackers already have reached the main Red line in the east. Three hills were seized in eastern Korea and two others in the central sector.

United Nations forces in Eastern Korea were pushing into wild mountain country despite bitter resistance from Red troops fighting from wooden, stone and earthen bunkers.

In Central Korea, other UN units battled up hills near the old "Iron Triangle." They captured two hills southeast of Kumsong after close-quarter hand grenade duels.

The Reds clung to the other hills, pouring down machine-gun, mortar and rifle fire.

Kumsong is 29 miles north of Parallel 38 and nearly 50 miles inland from the east coast.

Struck By Train 2 Brothers Die

CORNWALL, Sept. 1 — (CP).—Two brothers from St. Andrews a small farming community five miles north of here, were killed today when their motor car was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train at a level crossing.

Dead are Lawrence Maloney, 23, and his brother, Hugh Patrick Maloney, 30.

Their car, struck dead centre by the heavy locomotive of the Montreal-Toronto overnight train was carried 150 feet before being tossed on to the embankment.

Hugh Maloney was pinned under the vehicle, while his brother was tossed clear.

Pagwa Coldest Spot With Mercury At 25

SUDBURY, Sept. 1—(CP)—August departed from this part of the province with a touch of winter on its breath. High temperature recorded by the Dominion Weather Bureau here Friday was 54, the lowest high for Aug. 31 on record. The previous record was 61, 20 years ago.

The lowest reading received at the Sudbury office was an overnight 25 at Pagwa on the Canadian Pacific Railways line northwest of here.

Hard To Make Living

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Britain has knocked another form of private enterprise in the head. A law which becomes effective today takes away most of the money common informers have been earning for the last 620 years. Until today, informers collected the fine if the people they tattled on were convicted of breaking 43 different laws. A handful of smart men made informing their only profession.

Lost In Bush Three Weeks 2 Men Rescued

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 1 — (CP)— Two Wisconsin sportsmen who survived an ordeal of hunger, insects, cold and despair were rescued Friday night from a lake in Canada's far north where they had been marooned more than three weeks beside their disabled aircraft.

The men—Dr. John Tasche, 48, of Sheboygan, and Niles Eichenberger, 52, of Plymouth, Wis.—lost their way while flying into northern Saskatchewan in search of good fishing. They landed once in the Barren Lands, then got back as far as Snowbird Lake, 35 miles north of the Saskatchewan border, before running out of gasoline.

Then began a lonely vigil awaiting rescue they feared would never come, battling swarms of black flies and high winds by day, freezing temperatures at night.

"I didn't have any hope to begin with," said Dr. Tasche. "But I prayed every day."

Black Flies Terrible

"The black flies almost killed us," he said.

If rescue had not come by Sept. 2, the men intended to strike out on foot for civilization. They had lived on fish and berries, conserving the supply of concentrated food carried in the plane.

When they heard the drone of a plane Friday they frantically set fire to a wooded island in the lake. The plane was a US Air Force Flying Fortress engaged in a renewed search for the men.

E. G. Docking, a 27-year-old employee of the Department of Transport at The Pas who was riding in the plane, spotted the smoke from a distance of 22 miles. Minutes later, the big craft swept low over the lake.

Messages scratched in the sand and arm signals told the searchers the men were unharmed although their plane needed gasoline, oil and repairs. A US Air Force Canso was dispatched to the lake and brought them in Friday night.

Bearded and covered with insect bites, they had lost weight but otherwise showed little effect of the ordeal.

Dr. Tasche said he didn't mind the hardship of being isolated except for the black flies and the cold at night which froze water in pans. He said Canada's northland should be flown only by experienced fliers. He has about 1,500 hours flying time.

Extend Barilko Search To Northern Quebec

TIMMINS, Sept. 1 (CP). — RCAF searchers and anxious relatives turned their hopes toward Northwestern Quebec today after the fourth day of intensive searching ended without a trace of hockey player Bill Barilko and Dr. Henry Hudson, Timmins dentist.

Barilko, defenceman with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, and Dr. Hudson have been missing since they took off Sunday from Rupert House on the shores of James Bay for a flight to South Porcupine, Ont.

Some 16 aircraft criss-crossed miles of Ontario bushland Friday at 500 feet without success.

Flt.-Lt. G. J. Ruston of Hamilton, searchmaster, indicated more planes will be used today, using North Bay as a base.

"We have covered the greater part of the search area in two-mile strips," he said, "but we still have to do the district east of James Bay and north of Rouyn-Noranda."

Take Chance

The search extended into Quebec on the chance the men may have had their light plane blown into that province before a stiff wind that prevailed Sunday.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Fay Barilko, widowed mother of the hockey player, ventured out of her home in Timmins Friday for the first time on a Friday since her husband died five years ago.

Has 14-Seat Majority Over Labor

Holland Assured Of 47 Seats; 2nd Vote In 2 Years

WELLINGTON, NZ, Sept. 1. (CP)—The National (Conservative) Government of Prime Minister Sidney Holland was returned to power tonight with a 14-seat majority over Labor.

Complete but unofficial returns tonight gave the National Party 47 seats in the new 80-seat single-chamber parliament and the opposition Labor Party 33.

This was a gain of two seats over Holland's old parliamentary majority.

The government held 46 seats before parliament was dissolved last month and Labor held 34. Absentee votes, mainly from the Maori electorate which will be counted Monday, are not expected to change greatly the over-all total of today's count.

Promised Concessions

Holland, 58-year-old farmer and business man, and opposition Labor leader Walter Nash, 69, both promised tax concessions and lower prices during the campaign. But neither said how the reductions would be achieved.

About 1,200,000 New Zealanders —90 percent of the electorate—voted in New Zealand's second general election in two years.

Holland, leader of the National Party since 1940, was re-elected with a reduced majority of 3,546 compared with 4,076 in the last general election.

Walter Nash, Deputy Prime Minister for nine of the 14 years Labor ruled before Holland took over in 1949, also was re-elected with a majority of 2,491 against his previous majority of 2,273.

Although the election campaign had been one of the rowdiest in years, the voting went along without incident.

Holiday Atmosphere

A holiday atmosphere prevailed. Cars bedecked with ribbons —blue for the National Party and Red for Labor—whisked through cities and suburbs to take voters to the polls.

Airbees Added To US Air Force

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP). —Something new is being added to the Air Force—the "Airbees."

That's the nickname given the Air Force's proposed new combat ground troops by Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee.

The Air Force would prefer to style them "Aviation Engineer Battalions."

All this came out in a report, just made public, of closed committee hearings on a Bill to authorize a $5,768,000,000 military construction program. The measure was passed by the House and is now pending in the Senate.

The committee wanted to know what these new units are to do—what's their job.

Col. Howard E. Webster, of the Continental Air Command, explained that "aviation engineers have as a mission the construction, maintenance and defence of air fields and air field installations overseas."

Eva Sheds Copious Tears Gives Up Vice-Presidency

BUENOS AIRES, Set. 1—(AP)—Blonde 29-year-old Eva Peron tearfully gave up her chance Friday night to become the first woman vice-president in the western hemisphere.

The dynamic wife of President Juan D. Peron announced that she could not accept the Peronista party nomination.

Speaking over the radio from the Presidential residence, the woman who has guided the country's labor policies, said she had reached an "irrevocable decision to renounce the high honor" of running with her husband in the Nov. 11 election.

It had been reported that her nomination by the Peronista party was opposed by some sections of the Army because of the possibility she might become President and Commander-in-Chief. Even a sizeable group within the Peronista party was said to oppose putting her name on a Peron-Peron ticket—a nomination which virtually would have assured election.

Mrs. Peron stepped aside in favor of white-haired Hortensio Quijano, who has been Peron's silent vice-presidential partner since his election in 1946.

Eva was nominated by the party Aug. 22 after 250,000 progovernment workers and party followers loudly demanded that she and her husband "rule Argentina forever."

Over the country-wide radio hook-up last night, Mrs. Peron sobbed:

"I only want history to say of me that beside Peron there was a woman who took to him the people's problems. The people have called me Eita (diminutive of Eva). That is my pride, because I have won the heart of the workers . . ."

Bell Asks Increase House, Pay Phones Go Up In October

OTTAWA, Sept. 1. (CP)—The five-cent telephone call, like the five-cent street-car fare, may soon be a thing of the past. And your home telephone bill may soon climb between 25 and 75 cents a month. Searching for another $15,800,000 in revenue, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada Friday applied for permission to the Board of Transport Commissioners to boost its rates for local services on about 1,700,000 phones in Ontario and Quebec.

It asked the board to give its application a hearing as soon as possible with a view to putting higher rates into effect by Oct. 1.

The increase requested would, for home phones, range between 25 and 75 cents a month, depending on the type of service and the size of the community.

Individual business phones would climb between $1 and $3 a month.

The standard nickel charge for a phone-booth call would go to 10 cents in the larger cities down to the size of St. Catharines, long-distance rates would not be affected.

If granted, this would be the third boost in Bell's charges in the last 14 months. The application, however, is expected to be fought by some of the municipalities involved.

10% Extra Revenues

The current proposed boost would give the company an added 10 per cent in its total operating revenues, though the individual increases vary widely up and down from that figure.

The extra money is needed, the board told the commissioners, to continue its operations on a sound economic basis, largely to keep up its credit position in order to float new capital to meet demands for expanded service.

Under the proposed boost, the five-cent call would jump to 10 cents in Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Ottawa, London, Windsor, Kitchener-Waterloo, and St. Catharines-Thorold. The 10-cent charge would apply on public and semi-public telephone.

The big cities would feel the sharpest increase. Montreal and Toronto would get the heaviest tariffs. In these two cities the charge for a common two-party residence phone would jump to $4.25 from $3.75 a month. One-party phones would go to $5.50 from $4.75.

In small exchanges the rates would climb to $2.70 from $2.45 for two-party and to $3.20 from $2.75 for one-party phones.

Montreal and Toronto rates for individual business phones would rise to $15 from $12 a month. In smaller towns the rate would go to $5 from $4.

Still Most Popular

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (AP)—Jack London, author of novels of the American northwest, still is the most popular United States writer in the Soviet Union according to the English-language magazine News. The publication said 12,200,000 copies of books by London hav ebeen published here including a new edition of 300,000 copies this year.

King's Fortune

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—King Gustav V of Sweden, who died last October aged 92, left his two sons a fortune valued at 11,529,900 crowns (about $2,228,000), it was announced Friday.

Damage Heavy As Storm Cools Ontario

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—At least two deaths and many thousands of dollars damage were left in the wake of a lightning-and-rain storm Friday night that put an end to one of Southern Ontario's worst hot spells so far this summer. Cloudy and cooler weather was forecast for today, with cool air from the northwest due by Sunday.

The heavy rain was a factor in a level-crossing accident at Allanford, 12 miles west of Owen Sound, in which Mr. and Mrs. William Koch, both 25, lost their lives while returning with their two young children from a holiday trip.

Lightning started a fire that destroyed four barns and two silos on the Don Cameron farm, five miles from Welland. Damage was estimated at upwards of $20,000.

Loss was placed at $8,000 in a fire started by lightning that razed a grain-filled barn on the farm of Joseph Lennox, near Barrie. Paul Lennox, 10, was lifted off a chair in the kitchen and flung against a sofa but suffered little harm.

Rachel Janosik, 2½, was burned about the head when struck by lightning in the bedroom of her Windsor district home. The bolt lifted her from the bed.

Thrown To Floor

Two girls carrying iron trays loaded with bobbins were thrown to the floor when lightning struck near the Canada Spool and Bobbin factory in Walkerton.

Thunderstorms knocked out telephone and power lines in the Dundalk area. Mrs. Robert French suffered a shock while resting her hand on a windmill as she pumped water.

A lightning bolt smashed a hole in a wall of Hamilton's Westdale United Church, ripping out bricks and a cement block.

A bus and a transport truck collided near Oshawa during a sudden cloudburst. Fourteen per-

Tray Of Rings Taken By Pair

DELHI, Ont., Sept. 1—(CP)—Police searched this district today for two men who scooped a tray loaded with diamond rings valued at nearly $5,000 from a show window at Glen's jewellery store, Main St., directly across from the police station.

Chief of Police Bert Evans, and Constable Donald King, who were on duty at the time of the theft Friday were investigating a minor car accident at the southerly outskirts of town.

Carl Glen, owner of the store, told police two men entered the store. One stepped up to the repair wicket at the rear and asked Mr. Glen to make some minor repairs to his watch. He said he would be back in 10 minutes to pick it up.

The second man did not go near the repair wicket. Minutes after the two left Mr. Glen noticed a tray of rings missing.

Lone Bandit Grabs $10,000 At Groceteria

MONTREAL, Sept. 1—(CP)—A lone bandit, brandishing two guns, made a clean getaway with more than $10,000 Friday night from an Atlantic and Pacific supermarket on west-end Sherbrooke St.

A police radio cruiser stopped near the store while the holdup was in progress but did not see the masked bandit and went on its way.

Head cashier Larry Syms said the man herded all employees to the back of the store and then told him to "hand it over and make it fast."

Syms said the bandit filled a pail with every bill in the safe.

UK Officials Go In Droves To Conference

LONDON, Sept. 1—(Reuters)—Plans were announced Friday for an exodus of British officials to the United States that will almost move Whitehall to Washington and points west for the next few weeks.

The Foreign Office said that Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, who returns to London from a Scandivanian vacation Monday, will leave with two other Foreign Office men by air for San Francisco Thursday, Sept. 6. He will sign the Japanese peace treaty there, go to Washington for Big Three talks on Germany and Italy, and then fly to Ottawa for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Kenneth Younger, Minister of State, who will head Britain's delegation in San Francisco until Morrison arrives, leaves London by air today. He will be accompanied by five officials.

Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will fly to Washington next week, to head the British delegation to meetings of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank for Reconstruction and Development. He is expected to join Morrison at the Ottawa meeting, probably in company with Defence Minister Emmanuel Shinwell.

Assists Morrison

Next Tuesday, W. D. Allen, head of the German Department at the Foreign Office, leaves for Washington to assist Morrison at the talks there. He will be accompanied by three officials. Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, High Commissioner in Western Germany, left Southampton Friday for the same talks, aboard the Queen Mary.

Another group of officials will leave for the Washington Big Three meetings next Saturday. They include three Foreign Office experts and an unspecified number from the Defence Ministry.

Andrei Gromyko Promises To Be Conference's Pest

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA)— There's no question about who has the role of villain for the Japanese peace conference drama in San Francisco's famous Opera House.

It's Andrei A. Gromyko. You pronounce it Grow-MEE-ko. He is Deputy Foreign Minister and head of the 32-man Cossack choir of off-key disc jockeys and sour note throwers. The Russian name Gromyko means "the thundery one."

Gromyko is also quite a juggler. He can keep more monkey wrenches in the air at one time than any man alive. And he can throw hammers and sickles with uncanny accuracy at any country on the map.

The chief Russian delegate to San Francisco is supposed to be Russia's expert on America. As a young professor of economics he majored in American affairs. Then he became head of the American section in the Russian Foreign Office.

ANDREI GROMYKO

When he came to the United States in 1938 as counselor of the Soviet Embassy, under Ambassador Constantin Oumansky, Gromyko began to study this country in earnest. He became a great movie fan, not for the fun of it, but to help him learn the English language. He now speaks it pretty well, particularly the word, "No!"

He began a systematic study of American culture and American humor. He got works on American art and American joke books, and he memorized stock passages from both. The result is that as a dinner or luncheon companion, Gromyko is now said to be one of the world's greatest bores.

When in a talkative mood — which is seldom—he now has the reputation of being able to make more banal remarks about American life, and tell more corny, Joe Miller jokes than a 10-year-old.

In short, if Gromyko really has acquired any real understanding of the United States of America, he never allows it to show. Or else his masters in Moscow never allow him to allow it to show.

The San Francisco conference is Gromyko's sixth major meeting with U.S. and allied powers. His first was negotiating the initial Lend-Lease agreement of 1942. He was charge d'affaires at the Washington embassy then, between Ambassadors Oumansky and Maxim Litvinov.

Gromyko was allowed to return to Russia for a rest in 1948, after nine years in the US. But he was back for the 1949 UN session. And then last spring, in Paris, he showed he was still the same by stalling American, British and French deputy foreign ministers for three months.

This junior-grade Big Four was supposed to come to some agreement on subjects that a Council of Foreign Ministers might discuss in an effort to lessen world tensions and promote peace. Gromyko saw to it that nothing was accomplished.

So here he is in San Francisco again. He's matched this time against US ambassador and special Presidential representative John Foster Dulles. Win or lose, you might as well get used to Gromyko in the diplomatic ring. He's only 42. If he lives to be as old as Stalin, he'll be around for a long, long time.

Gromyko succeeded Litvinov in 1943. He took part in the Dumbarton Oaks conference with Secretary of State Edward Stettinius and Sir Alexander Cadogan in 1944. The next year he went to San Francisco for the UN Charter conference and was in charge of the Russian delegation after Foreign Minister Molotov went home.

Everything had gone with fair smoothness up to this time. Gromyko was considered a reasonable cuss—for a Russian. Several people had actually known him to smile. But when a reporter once asked for a personal interview, he answered, "My personality does not interest me."

It was in 1946, at the first United Nations meeting, that Gromyko showed his real form. He staged his famous walkout and he contributed two dozen vetoes.

He blocked all efforts for agreements on international atomic energy control, disarmament and creation of a UN police force. And as a filibusterer, he proved that if necessary he could outlast even the late Huey Long.

Bull Damages New Model Car

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 1 — (ENS)—A demonstration drive in a new model car to clinch what appeared to be a sure sale ended disastrously for a Campbellford car dealer. It seems the prospective buyer liked the auto, but a large Holstein bull did not.

Wesley Sweet, Campbellford dealer, drove a 1950 model car to Marmora to show the vehicle to a prospective buyer. The people liked the car and Mr. Sweet took them for a drive. While driving along a road north of the village of Marmora, Mr. Sweet stopped the car. A dog barking in a farm yard nearby was drowned out occasionally by the snorting of a large bull. Suddenly the bull came charging through a field, through a fence, across the ditch, onto the highway and careened headfirst into the shiny new car. The bull, seemingly not content with the job of partial destruction he had accomplished, stepped back, surveyed the damage, and charged headlong again. This time he appeared quite satisfied and after giving a few snorts ambled away.

The car suffered extensive damage to the fenders, lights, bumper, grill and hood, estimated at $250. The bull received only a few scratches. Needless to say, the prospective buyers didn't want the car in that condition so Mr. Sweet lost the sale. The car couldn't be moved under its own power and had to be towed back to Campbellford.

Train Stalls Lines Of Cars

An eastbound CPR freight shuttling in a shunting job at Park Friday at 4.40 p.m. laid a traffic egg at the busiest hour of the day for week-ending industrial workers. After monopolizing the crossing for the most of 15 minutes or thereabouts, it finally took off at a minute or two to five, clearing Park St. as the factory whistles were blowing.

In one aspect it was comic spectacle as lines of cars including two buses stretched to the north past the CGE apparently to Wolfe St., and on the south almost to Lake St. The engine crew took precedence for their freight movements over the stalled scores of cars.

A police department man said that Traffic Officer McGillen was held up somewhere in the line to the north, leaving for a time at least the motorists to their own chance and urgencies after the train got out of the way.

Farmer Remanded To Mental Hospital

COBOURG, Sept. 1—(ENS)—Whittfield Lawrence, 39, of Bonar Law, was remanded to a mental institution for up to 60 days for obervation Friday. The accused was charged with theft of hay from Stanwood Cheese Factory in Seymour township on Aug. 25. Dr. George Kells, psychiatrist, said that his examination of the man revealed him to be mentally ill. Also charged with the same offence was Fred Brant, hired man of Lawrence. Brant, who is 21, told the court that if set free he would head for home at once in Lindsay. Magistrate A. B. Baxter remanded Brant out of custody until called upon.

Police Say Rain Caused Seven City Accidents

Friday night's heavy rain was blamed for seven accidents. There were no injuries suffered and several charges may be laid, police said.

Several of the accidents were caused when a car following another hit the rear of the first car as a line of traffic stopped.

At one a.m. today, a car driven by Oscar Biehle, Kenmore, New York, hit the rear of an auto driven by Gordon E. Pratt of Hamilton. Biehle said he was following Pratt east on Lansdowne St. Pratt slowed for the Park St. intersection, started up and then stopped suddenly.

Bierle's car hit Pratt's, damaging the trunk. Pratt said he slowed first to see if there was any traffic. He saw a southbound car and braked suddenly. Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Two cars collided in similar fashion on Hunter St., when an auto driven by Boyd Barton, 603 Armour Rd., struck the rear of a car driven by James Armstrong, Ida. Both were driving west on Hunter St. Barton claimed Armstrong didn't give him a chance to stop. Constable C. J. McGillen investigated.

Again on Park St., south of Charlotte St., a similar accident happened. A. J. Hemmings, Whitby, was driving north on Park, followed by an auto driven by Morley Connell, 500 Chamberlain St. Hemmings braked when the line of traffic stopped and Connell's car hit the rear of Hemmings' auto.

Damage to Connell's car was estimated at $350 and to Hemmings' car $45 by investigating constable Andre Dalton.

Friday afternoon, Able Mose Amyotte, RR 3, Peterborough, was driving east on Hunter St. He went through the lift lock tunnel and was turning north on Canal Rd. when a southbound car driven by Edward Cuffe, 218 Rubidge St. collided with Amyotte's auto.

The fronts of both cars were damaged. Constable C. J. McGillen investigated.

Friday night, a car owned by Gerald C. Taylor, 381 Queen St., was slightly damaged when an auto driven by Roy Mounce, 474 Rogers St., backed into it. Mounce was backing out of his driveway and Taylor's car was parked in front of 475 Rogers St. Constable McGillen investigated.

A car owned by Howard Quinn, RR 9, Peterborough, was slightly damaged in the afternoon when it was struck by an auto driven by W. A. Reid, Millbrook. Reid was driving north on Water St. after turning off Sherbrooke when a man walked across the street in front of him.

He swung to miss the man and hit Quinn's car.

Election Unprecedented

Today's election was unprecedented in New Zealand's political history. Never before had a government with a comfortable majority quit and ordered new elections before its full term of office expired.

Holland did this in order to get a direct mandate from the country for his method of breaking a Communist-led waterfront strike which crippled New Zealand for 22 weeks.

The results showed that the country approved Holland's ordering in of servicemen to break the deadlock and fostering of new unions to take over from the Communist-led outfits.

Nash took a position neither for nor against Holland's actions, but his party presented a motion of no confidence in the government. This could easily have been beaten down, but Holland decided it was a good issue to put up to the voters.

New Zealand had been ruled by the Socialists for 14 years before the National Party took over in 1949. It was the first British Dominion to go Socialist and the first to vote the Socialists out of office.

The New Zealand government is chosen from the party having a majority of seats in the single-chamber legislature.

Kill Dreaded Guerrilla

SINGAPORE, Sept. 1 (Reuters) —Ting Fook, dreaded guerrilla known as the "terror Taiping," was killed Friday by British soldiers in a skirmish near the town from which he took his title. Ting, who had a price of $3,000 on his head, was political commissar of Taiping. He was a member of the Malayan Communist party.

UN Officers Visit Bomb Site

MUNSAN, Korea, Sept. 1. (AP)—Allied investigators said today that if any plane bombed the neutral Korean armistice site this morning—as the Reds claim—it was "an aircraft other than a United Nations aircraft." The inference was that the Reds staged the bombing themselves, for propaganda purposes. Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney, senior United Nations liaison officer, told a Red liaison officer in the conference city of Kaesong it was possible that a plane had bombed the Kaesong area early today. But, Kinney said, there was no evidence to show that the plane involved was an aircraft under United Nations control.

The Red officer, Col. Chang Chun san, accused Kinney of "ulterior motives" and "lying."

Kinney said, "I can see no point in continuing to discuss the matter."

Several Possibilities

Kinney told correspondents in Munsan the "bomb craters" he saw could have been caused by a planted ground blast or by explosives dropped from the air. He said there was no evidence to back up either possibility.

Kinney led an investigating team into Kaesong to look into charges made by the Reds earlier in the day. He was accompanied by Marine Col. J. C. Murray, three air force experts, staff assistants and four correspondents. The investigation lasted three hours and 50 minutes.

The Reds had charged a United Nations warplane bombed the city at 12.30 a.m. Saturday. They said the bombs fell near the residence of North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, senior Red delegate to the cease-fire talks.

Deny Charge

Just before the group left Munsan, United Nations Command headquarters denied that Allied troops violated the five-mile Kaesong neutral zone Aug. 30, and that an Allied plane dropped flares over the city Aug. 29.

At the same time a headquarters statement said, "If the Communists refuse to continue the talks, it will be taken as the last conclusive evidence of their bad faith."

The statement added this ominous warning:

"In this case, there is no doubt as to the course of action the world must take."

Today's trip marked the second time in nine days that Kinney and Murray have gone to Kaesong to check on alleged bombings. Earlier they rejected Red claims that an Allied plane had bombed Kaesong Aug. 22. The Reds broke off the truce talks Aug. 23.

Since then the Reds have hurled one charge after another of violations of Kaesong. Today Peiping radio said a total of 23 planes have illegally flown over the city in the last week.

A pooled dispatch from Kaesong said the UN party that went to Kaesong today was shown two holes in the ground about four road miles from the conference site. They were about 12 feet across and two feet deep. They were about 100 yards apart in a grain field.

The dispatch said the Reds claimed Nam's quarters were "just over the ridge" from the craters. The ridge was about 100 yards away.

Kinney said the UN Command had been given no indication that Nam had moved from Kaesong to the farm lands on the town's outskirts.

Boy 12 Falls Into Combine

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 1 — (ENS)—Twelve-year-old Howard McCann suffered painful injuries to his right leg shortly after noon on Friday, when he fell into the mechanism of a combine on his father's farm near Codrington.

Howard was standing on a door on the upper part of the combine filing bags with clover seed as the grain left the combine. Suddenly, he dropped downward into the working parts of the machine. He managed to save himself from falling all the way into the hole, and with the aid of his father, pulled his right leg back out of the mechanism.

He was rushed to Campbellford hospital, where Dr. W. W. Baker examined the boy, and found no broken bones, although the leg was badly cut and bruised. After treatment, he was allowed to go home.

If he had fallen into the hole with both legs, the lad might easily have lost both feet, according to his father who operates the combine.

Earlier, Thomas Glover, treasurer of the Peterborough plant, had given Dr. Langley a set of five huge dice in memory of a "game of chance" the works engineer had introduced to his friends.

In his words of thanks, Dr. Langley recalled the early days of the GE and the CGE—when he had worked in Schenectady and in the laboratories of Dr. Steinmetz.

One Of Shocks

"I guess I'm an old-timer now. That's one of the shocks that I've had lately," he remarked.

Sitting at the head table near Dr. Langley was former Peterborough works engineer L. D. W. Magie. His successor, (Dr. Langley became works engineer in 1938) spoke of Mr. Magie as his "guide and mentor" in the early days, when Dr. Langley was head of the switchgear department here.

"The prestige of our engineering is due in large part to L. D. W. Magie," he said.

Before Mr. Turner's speech, Dr. Langley received several gifts, a travelling bag from the foremen's association presented by its president, Gordon Myles, and the dice from Mr. Glover, I. F. McRae, works manager, presented Dr. Langley's wife with a large bouquet of red roses.

Chairman for the evening was assistant works manager J. E. Girven, who introduced the head table guests and read letters and telegrams from those who were not present at the banquet.

At the head table were: Gordon Myles, Thomas Glover, I. F. McRae, Mrs. Langley, J. E. Girven, Dr. Langley, H. M. Turner, and L. D. W. Magie.

Plan To Press Oatis Fight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) —President Truman was quoted today as "determined to take whatever measures are necessary" to obtain the release of William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent imprisoned in Czechoslovakia.

The President's sentiment was contained in a reply by Joseph Short, press secretary, to a resolution calling for the release of Oatis. The resolution was passed by the executive board of the Washington Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity. A copy was sent to Truman Aug. 24.

Short wrote:

"The President has asked me to thank the executive board of the Washington Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi for sending him a copy of your resolution regarding the arrest and 'conviction' of William N. Oatis.

"The President feels that your resolution is an excellent one. He is determined to take whatever measures are necessary to get Mr. Oatis released."

From the height of land at Bailieboro at midnight, the low luminous band hanging over the city area might have led returning travellers to think that the entire city was on fire or had suddenly become as large as Toronto. The dramatic aura was a white light. Its unusual prominence was caused presumably by the heavy, dark configuration of low clouds from which city lights bounced.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1 (CP) — Grain prices moved narrowly and irregularly in moderately active trade Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Most prices were higher early in the session but fell off near the close. Some buying was stimulated by unfavorable harvest conditions in the West.

Class 2 wheat and IWA prices were down one-quarter cent. The exchange will be closed until Tuesday for the Labor Day weekend.

Quick Clean-up Made On 1950 Tax Debts

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—The federal government has quickened its pace to clean up outstanding debts by delinquent taxpayers.

Usually in the past, court action against the delinquents was not taken for about a year after the tax became due.

This year, a federal revenue official said Friday night, through a "more efficient system," notices that taxes are overdue "are going out faster" and action to haul the delinquent into court if necessary is being speeded up.

As a result, some delinquents are having their wages garnished just four months after the 1950 taxes became due last April 30, the end of the tax year.

The official said, however, that though the work is being speeded up, it is not because the government has instituted "any special drive."

"In fact the number of delinquents this year appears to be declining."

Charge Local Trying To Split Union

TRURO, NS, Sept. 1 (CP). — Caledonia Local of Glace Bay, NS, was charged Friday with trying to split the Maritime district of the United Mine Workers (CCL), which has some 10,000 men on strike, tying up Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's pits in Cape Breton.

President Freeman Jenkins of District 26, addressing closing sessions of the UMW convention here, charged the local with bringing anarchy to the district. Malcie O'Handley of No. 1-B Local, Glace Bay, said a meeting of Cape Breton miners called for Sunday by Caledonia, was an attempt to divide the union.

Mr. Jenkins added "the integrity of the UMW is at stake" in the strike. His plea last night for the miners to return went unheeded.

Must Take Steps

Unless the miners begin work, he said, the district executive would have to take "appropriate steps." He did not elaborate.

The strike began Sunday night when No. 16 colliery miners at New Waterford walked out, saying working conditions were unsafe. They appealed to miners for support and only one pit, Florence at Grace Bay, reported for work at midnight Wednesday. The 600 miners at that colliery went out on strike last night, leaving only two mines working, both independents on Glace Bay's northside.

The walkout has reduced the province's coal output to a trickle. Nova Scotia produces some 6,000,000 tons yearly, about one-third of the Dominion total.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP). — Pte. Reg. Richardson, 23, believes in doing things in style—even to hitch-hiking plane rides with his boss, Defence Minister Claxton.

Richardson, on a 48-hour pass from Petawawa camp, thumbed his way to Ottawa in three hours. But he was still a long way from his home here when a big car pulled up beside him just outside the capital. Inside was Claxton.

"Going far, sonny?" asked the minister.

"To Montreal to see my folks," said the private.

"Do you mind flying?" he was asked as they rolled along.

They were interrupted by the car stopping for another hitchhiker, Sgmn. Syd Pritchard, 19, who also got a free plane ride here with the defence minister.

"A darned nice guy," agreed the soldiers of their boss.

Industry Growth May Cut Quebec's High Birthrate

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC — (CP) — Quebec's phenomenal industrial growth in 10 years may result in a decrease of its traditionally-high birthrate.

Quebec statistics bureau says this latest edition of its year book drawing attention to the fact that 80 years ago two-thirds of the province's population was rural and today more than two-thirds of Quebec's people are urban.

The Quebec government by loans and programs to make farm life easier is trying to maintain the interest of rural folk in agriculture and stem the march toward the city.

The Roman Catholic Church has turned its full attention to the problems involved in raising large families in the city. It also encourages the movement of settlers to new lands in northwestern Quebec.

Bigger In Country

The bureau notes in its population analysis that the largest families are still found in rural localities and the highest percentage of childless marriages occur in cities.

The bureau says its study shows that Quebec has maintained an astoundingly high birth-rate despite the urban character its population has taken on.

But, it says, "even if it is still high . . . before long, the birth-rate will decline in this province as elsewhere."

Quebec already has lost to New Brunswick its record of having the highest rate of natural increase among the Canadian provinces.

French In New Brunswick

Quebec statisticians say New Brunswick's increasing French element accounts for its natural increase of 24.5 per 1,000 people compared with Quebec's figure of 21.4.

Table prepared by the statistics bureau show the adverse effect of city life on natural increase of the population.

Comparative figures and graphs show the birth-rate in rural areas is highest, somewhat lower in urban centres of 30,000 or less and lowest in large cities.

The proportion of childless marriages also increases with the size of the city. Most recent figures—for 1948—reveal that in Hull nine per cent of married women were childless and in Montreal the figure was 15.8 per cent.

Give Averages

In rural villages married couples averaged 7.67 children per family. In towns of 30,000 or less, the average was 6.82 and in cities 5.20.

After New Brunswick and Quebec this is the natural increase rate of provinces: Prince Edward Island, 21.1; Alberta, 20.2; Nova Scotia, 18.4; Saskatchewan, 17.6; Manitoba, 16.1; Ontario, 14.3; British Columbia, 13.5.

In spite of Quebec's ranking it still shows the greatest volume of births in excess of deaths. In 1948 the surplus was 81,000, close to one-third of Canada's natural increase.

Ontario, though more populous, recorded 61,000 more births than deaths.

Search Arctic For Bugs Pair Badgered By Reds

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP).—Two student entomologists returned to Ottawa Friday from the Arctic with a collection of 15,000 insects and a distaste for Russian radio propaganda.

William Campbell, 26 of Hamilton, and James Chilcot, 22, of Penetanguishine, spent four months in the Arctic collecting insects for federal department of agriculture.

In their spare time they listened to the radio.

"But listening wasn't much fun," said Campbell. "Occasionally we could get Edmonton or some American stations, but mostly all we got was Red propaganda being blared from Moscow stations in English. It was unbelievable the stuff they kept feeding our way.

"I found it very sickening."

Korean Landscape Reminder of Canada

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Korea may offer "something new, something different" to the ordinary soldier. But the botanist in uniform—such as Capt. Murray Edwards of Kelowna, BC—finds he might almost as well have stayed at home, as far as his hobby is concerned.

Edwards, 31-year-old quartermaster for the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry in Korea, since last spring has been collecting specimens of wild and cultivated flowers growing alongside the paths of his military duties.

All but two or three of the blossoms collected, he says, are duplicated in his Canadian collection at home.

Last spring he gathered and pressed 18 types of Korean spring flowers, all but two or three of which were found in Canada. Since then he has added to the collection—at the moment reposing between the pages of several books in his tent—17 more varieties.

He also has identified and made notes on 14 types of vegetable known in Canada that are grown in Korea, and seven common fruits.

Knows House Building

He also can lecture—with photographic illustrations—on the art of building a Korean house.

Commonest wildflowers found by the QM are "New England" asters, tiger lilies, daisies, snowballs, lupins and vetch. They grow mainly on the uncultivated hillsides, on the lower stretches of ground above the cultivation level.

The vetch, a member of the pea family and in Canada used as a cattle food when mixed with hay, is used as a textile here. The vine is treated and processed into a course cloth—used principally for mourning—and is similar to unbleached flax or muslin.

Lupins develop into bushes here. A rarety in the daisy family is the black-eyed susan.

Popular In Canada

The cultivated varieties, found mainly in abandoned gardens, include many that might be found in any garden back home—canterbury bell, morning glory, peony, gladiolus, sweet pea, cocks' comb, sunflower, portulaca, hemp flower, 100-day zinnia, golden glow, cosmos and hibiscus.

The hibiscus is the Korean National flower, appearing as a common motif in building ornamentation and in native art. A flowering bush, its pale purple flower with a plum-red centre, it is common in Canada.

Staple cereals are rice, barley, rye and wheat.

The rice seedlings were transplanted by hand into the flooded paddies during July and now stand about one foot high. The paddies, kept under about two inches of water by systems of irrigation sluices that draw on reservoirs in the hills, look well in their thick, yellow-green coat.

Vegetables here include the cucumber squash, pumpkin, yarrow, and soya bean. There are tomatoes, onions and lettuce—"out of bounds" to Allied troops because grown in fields fertilized with human manure and with the consequent danger of bacterial infection.

Bean Varieties

Koreans grow their several varieties of beans—similar to Canada's string beans—in cornfields between the rows of cornstalks. Canadians now call the patches combining the two growths—"fields of succotash."

There also is the sponge cucumber which, dried, is used as a dish-cleaner.

Ground fruits include the watermelon, the honey-dew melon and the cantaloupe, while tree-grown varieties are the cherry, the pear, the apple, the crab-apple and the plum. The plums, already on the market, are delicious.

Troops buy them at 6,000 won ($1.15) a measure, which is more than one peck. For their evening snacks they also buy tomatoes at about the same price.

The melon crops are valuable, and while the fruit is ripening—most of it is in by mid-August, the farmers build small straw-thatched shacks on stilts in their fields and guard them against thieves.

MRS. JAMES REED, of Rock Island, Wash., displays two giant guinea beans she grew in her backyard garden. The beans, one of which weighs ten pounds and is more than 50 inches long, grew as much as 10 inches a day. Mrs. Reed says the vegetable is good when sliced like a cucumber and fried.

How Do You Rate As a Dangerous Driver?

The holiday week-end death and accident toll on our highways will be published in this newspaper on Tuesday. We sincerely hope that all today's readers will be alive and well on Tuesday to read it—after the week-end's rush and crush on the highways.

* * *

One major flaw in car accidents is that the person or persons causing them are not always the victims. Death on the highways in neither poetic nor justice. The innocent are often hurt while the perpetrators sometimes come out unscathed. Thus statistics on dangerous and careful divers are not reliable. An automobile insurance company in Illinois, the insuring agent for 1,500,000 cars in 40 states, has compiled a list of 64 occupational categories according to competence as drivers—demonstrated by their accident averages. The list is surprising.

* * *

Travelling salesmen are near the top of the list of drivers involved in the most accidents. So are truck drivers. Yet in both categories are some of the most experienced and skilled drivers on highways. Farmers, bankers and aviators are listed as most free of accidents. Housewives are twelve places freer of accidents than truck drivers. The record of "retired" people is pretty good, but that of funeral directors is better. Lawyers and 'churchmen' are poorer risks than either; they are on a par with barbers and beauty shop operators. Engineers and teachers are considered good risks. Soldiers and students are in 60th and 61st places of the 64 categories, away at the bottom towards the dangerous travelling salesmen.

* * *

The list is not necessarily valid for Ontario, and for this coming week-end. In our experience of other drivers, we would rather be closer to an experienced, high-speed travelling salesman or a professional truck driver than to a pokey car driver, a resident of the area in which we happen to be travelling who is so sure that the highway is his own domain that he keeps to the centre of the road and a speed of 30 m.p.h. Truck drivers are at least skilled, and they usually have the good sense and courtesy to signal their intentions and keep to their own side of the road. It is not speed that menaces, but lack of skill, inattention to the job of driving and sheer cussed recklessness.

A Decade of Social Security

The provision beginning next January of old age pensions for everybody who has reached the age of seventy will be the third massive cornerstone of a social security program, all laid within ten years. First came the Unemployment Insurance Act which went into force ten years ago last January. Next, on July 1, 1945, came the Family Allowances Act (the 'baby bonus'). And now through the Old Age Security Act to be passed this autumn and to come into force next January, and the Old Age Assistance Act (already passed), a third foundation of social security is provided for Canadians. A remarkable fact of these three major developments is that they were designed and carried out in years of great national strain; the first two actually during the War; the last in these twilight days between costly anxious peace and fearsome war.

It is not an accident that while Canada was straining—and is straining—for national and international security, she has at the same time striven for economic security for her people. "Social security" is no new thing; civilized people always quest for security: individual security through their own efforts to adjust themselves and families to environment changes; economic security—an effort to achieve a decent livelihood for oneself and family. Dr. George Davidson, deputy minister of National Welfare in an address delivered at the University of British Columbia several months ago, remarked that:

"Our lives as individual, as communities and as nations, are, in fact, bound up increasingly with this struggle for security. What is it that we have been seeking to achieve through two World Wars except security for the nation, security for the people of the nation, from the threats of hostile forces outside our boundaries who would do harm to us and to our ways of life? And, by the same token, what is it that we seek through our federal, provincial and local Departments of Health and Welfare, if it is not, once again, security for the nation, security for the people of the nation, against certain hazards, certain risks and threats—coming this time, perhaps, from within the nation—over which the individual has no control?"

Besides the three major developments in social security made during the last ten years there have been other advances towards freeing the Canadian family from domestic hazards of disease, of economic insecurity, of hunger. Mother's allowances have been extended to cover all ten provinces; child welfare services have been strengthened; new approaches have been made towards organized medical and hospital care; Saskatchewan and British Columbia have province-wide hospital insurance schemes. There has been a broad expansion of health and welfare provisions of national, provincial and local governments. In fact, now the provinces and the Dominion all have enlarged the status of 'welfare' and have government departments presided over by Cabinet Ministers.

Are Canadians getting too much "social security?" How much can Canada afford? How much should it afford? This year, even before the introduction of universal old age pensions, Canada is spending about $1¼ billion on social security measures. That is a quarter of the total annual income of the entire population in the thirties. The total monies paid out in family allowances alone since they began in 1945, more than $1,500,000,000, is more than the total expenditures of all governments—federal, provincial and municipal—on relief to the destitute unemployed in the last twenty years. Can Canada afford such vast sums for social security? The answer is obvious.

Through public treasuries and private philanthropies Canada is providing a billion and a quarter dollars a year without noticeable strain. The fact is that the economic structure of the country is now both strong and much enlarged. A billion a year on social welfare during the thirties would have amounted to a quarter of the national income. Now it is about eight per cent. of the national income. Can or should Canadians afford to spend more on public welfare?

When Leonard Marsh wrote his notable report on social security in 1943, he made his plans on the assumption that Canada would be able to maintain a national income of about eight billion dollars a year. His social security proposals were estimated to cost $900 million. That would have been more than twelve per cent. of the national income. Now the income of the total population is about $15 billion a year. Our present rate of spending on public welfare (1¼ billion) is about eight per cent. It seems that if the population continues to grow in numbers and productivity, Canada could maintain an even larger expenditure on social measures than she now does. She is going to do so, with the new old age pension scheme.

Poverty and insecurity have spurred some men to work and great achievement, but more have been crushed by these social evils. Initiative is sapped more readily by fear and privation than by freedom and economic security. It is unlikely that a people as active, aggressive and industrious as ours will become laggards and dependants on monthly doles merely because health and welfare and old age pension schemes are set up for them and their families.

Defence Contracts $12,485,000

A bit of sleuthing on the back page of a Government pamphlet gave us this startling information: The Kawartha zone had been awarded in the fifteen days between June 15 and June 30 defence contracts totalling $12,485,000. What a lot of contract money to pour into the Kawartha district in fifteen days!—and the figure does not include minor contracts valued under $10,000! Why, it was half the total of all defence contracts farmed out in Ontario during the fortnight!

But we nosed around a little further in the same back page and discovered that the automotive industry got $17,525,000 of the total of $24,893,000, defence contracts awarded during the period in Ontario—and we further discovered that in the "Kawartha Zone" the statisticians included Oshawa. So Oshawa not Peterborough seems to have got the fortnight's gravy; as a matter of fact, contracts awarded for "electrical equipment" amounted to only $178,000.

Ah! but there is a secret about all this. A footnote to the statistics stated: "Data provided by the Dept. of Defence Production. The list does not include... orders deleted for security reasons." That is where Peterborough comes in. Our industry is so important and hush-hush that statistics are not given out about it. As a matter of rumour, we have heard that a large defence contract has been awarded a local gum (yes, we said gum, not gun) firm to manufacture 222,222,222 wads of bubble-gum. These will be blown up—in Ottawa of course; inscribed with democratic slogans—in Ottawa of course; and wafted across the Atlantic and the Iron Curtain as counter-propaganda to the Red stuff people in Eastern Europe are forced to chew on.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Turtles seldom go more than 300 yards from their native habitat, says a nature columnist. And when they do, they usually end up in the soup.

A scientist in New York says that the human brain has attained only one-quarter of its possible growth. And not even that much, in a lot of people.

A Train Never On Time

By LON KLEWER
(Writing from Cochrane in the Toledo (Ohio) Blade)

UP in the northland is a railroad that's never on time. Not only does it never arrive on time but it never starts on time. That is, at least on the time that is printed on the official railway time table.

This is the Ontario Northland Railway. Formerly it was Temiskaming & Northern Ontario—T&NO, or as the natives call it—Time No Object. The name was changed because of the confusion it caused with another T&NO in the United States, the Texas and New Orleans, but regardless of the change in name it still remains the same old train.

IT is a prosperous road, running from North Bay to Moosonee on James Bay. Last year it netted more than $1,000,000 from its railroad, bus lines and boats. From North Bay to Cochrane it is one road but from Cochrane to Moosonee it is an entirely different train, one known as the Polar Bear.

Here the road is 187 miles long. There are 18 scheduled stops on the road but there may be more. Someone may get out on the track and flag it down to ride on to the next stop. It may be a hunter, a fisherman, a family of Indians or just a woodsman who wants the conductor to take a package of fish to a family a few miles down the line.

THERE is everything in the make up of the train, from the all steel restaurant car where the diner sits on stools as at a soda fountain, to the freight cars with loads of ties, pulpwood, lumber or coal.

There is a legend that the train was once stopped while the conductor got off and went hunting rabbits, returning when he had bagged enough for a dinner. But it is no legend that the conductor got out a fly rod and fished for trout at Coral Rapids while the engine was taking on water.

The scheduled stops on the road are not big towns. Coral Rapids, for instance, one of the important stops, has a population of four adult whites and a few Indians.

AT Coral Rapids as at most of the other stops, Indian and white youngsters pile on the train, not to ride but to buy soft drinks, ice cream and candy in the dining car.

One never meets any common people on this train, they are all characters. There is a Catholic priest heading north on a 10-year mission on Hudson Bay. There is the learned, bewhiskered Bishop Henri Belleau of the Apostolic Vicariate of James Bay who is the religious head of an area a thousand miles east and west and 600 miles north and south.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are the rugged men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. There are trappers, fishermen, hunters, woodsmen, engineers, boatmen and Indians.

Always there are Indians from little papooses in baskets carried on the back of the squaws up through all grades and ages of children to withered and toothless old men and women.

NO one, Indian or white, ever gets on without packages. Pack sacks, fishing tackle, huskies, boxes, cases. Bags—everyone on the train or off it is carrying something. And while the Indians seldom eat in the dining car, they are always in there buying pop, ice cream, bananas, milk or sandwiches.

Of all the men on the train the conductor is the busiest. He wears a regulation cap and uniform on his first trip through, to pick up tickets or to sell fares, for he sells as many rides as he takes up tickets.

Then his costume changes and he becomes a working man, shifting to the ordinary cap and coat of a working railroader. He continues to take tickets but he also operates the train, signalling the engineer far up ahead, he helps operate the baggage car, he transmits messages to families along the line and distributes packages.

BUT his work does not stop when the run is over. He has a flock of errands to run back in Cochrane. He has to pick up some cheese for Tony at Coral Rapids so Tony can make his famous spaget—, he has to pick up some thread for Mrs. Bill Smith, wife of the section foreman; he has to check up on some material for Archie Michell at Moosonee and do a dozen other errands before he is ready for the return trip to the mouth of the Moose River.

The train is an obliging one. One time, the Anglican clergyman, the Rev. William H. Thompson, hearing of the death of a child at one of the stops, wired ahead he would stop off on the way to Moosonee to conduct the funeral service.

The train stopped there, the clergyman proceeded to the cemetery where the family was waiting, the services were conducted. Then Mr. Thompson returned to the train which had been waiting all the time.

AT Moosonee the train never starts on time because it is always waiting for someone to arrive from Moose Factory, the historic Hudson Bay Co. post four miles across the water on an island. And never starting on time, it can never be expected to be on time the rest of the way.

Heading up on one trip recently were four cars of railroad ties. The cars were not shifted off on a siding. The train proceeded at a snails pace while the ties were unloaded where they were to be used, one tie at a time.

At the end of this mixed train, back of the all steel dining car and the day coaches is the caboose. The tourist or sportsman new to the area can sit there and look ahead out of the special trainman's seat near the roof.

Word of the arrival of the train is telephoned from station to station. At some of the stopping places passengers hardly begin packing before they hear the sound of the train for they know the train will be there awhile giving them ample time to get down to the station which is never more than a hundred yards away.

Stool Rises

(Lethbridge Herald)

While we have never heard corn growing, we have seen toadstools grow. Following last week's rain we definitely saw some of them growing in our front yard. First of all a little white bud appeared through the grass. Several minutes later the bud had grown to the size of a quarter. Before an hour was up, a full-sized toadstool was sitting before our eyes. We actually saw it grow. Yes we did.

NORWOOD HIGH SCHOOL COSTS

Sir: I noticed in your issue of Aug. 23 a statement of the proposed expenditure of the new High School at Norwood, which I think was rather misleading as to the total amount that each municipality would have to pay for high school purposes. Mr. Stewart said that the ratepayers do not understand the financial arrangements; maybe Mr. Stewart will understand it better when he receives his tax bill.

This whole steup is based on estimates and we all well know that it is a very sure thing for any construction work to be less than the estimate; for more often to be much greater. We have two glaring examples to judge from right before us. Namely the Civic Hospital and the new Collegiate on the Monaghan Road. Did they keep anywhere near their original estimate? I judge not.

I am going to endeavor to place before the ratepayers of our H.S. area the exact amount of the requisition sent to the clerks of our present high school; also the amount of the debentures for the erection and equipment of the new H.S. at Norwood.

	Maintenance	Debentures	Total
Asphodel	4,005.60	2,732.84	6,738.44
Belmont-Meth.	1,945.20	1,311.23	3,256.43
Otonabee	1,641.60	1,101.96	2,743.56
Havelock	1,502.40	1,016.31	2,518.71
Norwood	1,321.20	890.05	2,211.25
Hastings	1,249.20	840.60	2,089.80
Dummer		732.88	732.88
Percy	334.80	203.97	538.77

Dummer was not in the area until recently and just one small portion in this area now. They came under the county pupil rate and had to furnish their own transportation. Otonabee has only a small portion of their municipality in our area and they will have a much larger amount to pay in the other areas. Percy, I understand, has only one school section in this area.

Mr. Ratepayers, bear in mind the above figures are for H.S. purposes only, and there is one thing certain that the maintenance will not be any less, and positively sure to be more, as there will have to be two extra busses go on at approximately $4,500. And I am credibly informed that there will be an increase in salaries by $2,000 or better and maybe an extra teacher required.

The debentures will remain the same for the next twenty years at 4½ per cent interest regardless of whether they sell at par or not and probably longer for it is a very safe bet that the building and equipment when complete will exceed the $390,000. Then where does the county stand? The contractor no doubt will want his money, and I can see no other alternative but that the county will still be held liable no matter what the cost might be. But of course they have one redress, they can still keep living on the overburdened ratepayer, and as Mr. Ferguson has already stated, according to the press that the larger municipalities will be paying through the nose. So if this be the case Asphodel and Belmont are the two highest contributors in this area. So tighten up your belt—and roll up your sleeves and get prepared to spend 20 long years in the pen with hard labour.

Mr. S. D. Rendall, high school inspector, Department of Education, has estimated the enrolment at 275 pupils which would draw $124 per pupil or a total of $34,100, and I have been informed that the average attendance is around 175 pupils. Does this not look as if his estimate is rather high and if they don't get 275 pupils it will mean a considerable cut in the grant, for every pupil short means a cut in the grants.

From an interested ratepayer who has compassion on the ratepayers pocket.

WHAT THE FARMERS SUFFER

Sir: Your recent correspondent "Constant Driver" has a grievance against tractor-drawn farm vehicles on the city streets. Perhaps he would like to hear some of the annoyances we in the country have with drivers from the city.

First, the suburbanites who bring their garbage out to the country and dump it on the road sides. We get everything from glass, tin cans, broken household equipment, to old stoves, mattresses and bedsprings. Once we had a big carton of old wall paper scraped from someone's walls, which dried out, blew around the country for half a mile.

Then we have the sports who hold corn or weiner roasts and who take our fence rails for their fires, raid the corn field for their corn, and, if they happen to have used our riverside pasture for their festivities, usually go away leaving the gate open, cartons strewed round, Coke bottles tossed into the grass or smashed against a rock. Only this summer we had a fine dairy cow ruined when her udder was slashed by broken glass when she lay down in the pasture. "No trespassing" signs are ignored or torn down and added to the fire. Why don't we guard our property? Well, when we start work at five a.m. we don't feel like staying up half the night with a shot gun guarding our frontiers. Besides it should not be necessary.

We also have the drinking parties who park in the dead of night in our driveways and who leave a litter of beer and ale bottles, cleansing tissues and other reminders of a wild necking party. Unless we want our entrances to look like Skid Row, this must all be cleaned up.

Of course we have all got used to the sneaks who steal our apples, a few chicken, and maybe some garden produce. Just a big joke on the farmer.

Mr. "Constant Driver" it seems to me that any slight inconvenience we cause you is more than balanced by what we put up with. All you can lose is a little time while we endure all that and often a financial loss as well.

Let There Be Light

(Detroit Free Press)

Let's not quibble right now about cliches and bromides such as "light brings understanding."

Instead, let's follow the chain on through.

As St. Paul said, understanding is exceeded only by peace.

That brings us to the truce conference in Kaesong, where the Commie Gen. Nam Il had trouble lighting his cigarette.

He tried "Made in China" matches, which only sputtered damply and refused to burst into flame. The next day he showed up with a Russian-made cigarette lighter which also failed to work.

The third day, observers noted that he pulled out of his pocket a box of American matches which he had swiped off the conference table. They worked perfectly and Nam Il smoked contentedly. It was about that time the bulletins began coming out of Korea to the effect that maybe the Commies would be reasonable after all.

Can't we earmark some of the Marshall aid money to ship a few tons of reliable matches to the Commies?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. (Gen. 1: 26, 27.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye land. Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. (Ps. 100:1-3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King . . . For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. (Ps. 149: 2, 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy One of Israel, thy Saviour . . . I will say to the north, Give up; and to the south, Keep not back: bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth; even I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him . . .

Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me . . . This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise. (Isa. 43: 3, 6, 7, 10, 12.)

AFIELD

with NICK NICKELS

Faithfully as we record the mad public exodus to the Kawartha playgrounds each May 24th, so we must bring all these good people home again, on Labour Day weekend.

LABOUR Day is so right, for Pop the poor cottager. There is so much claiming his attention while he and his brood close Camp Bide-A-Wee for another season that there is no time for rest.

Indeed, the children may have already left playland for a few days' fling at the CNE and, you may be sure, Mom has made several hot one-day trips into the city to purchase their clothing for the opening of school on Tuesday.

At the cottage there are boats to store away in boathouses, under verandahs, in living rooms. Water pipes to disconnect and drain, and pumps to ready for winter. Ice boxes to clean out. Bedding to pack away from mice and squirrels. Miscellaneous clothing to find —practically anywhere—to stuff away into cartons and transport home for washing and mending. Tools to return to neighbours. A thousand and one little chores that leave parents wondering if summer cottaging is worth while after all.

Then comes the daring dash for home, starting on Monday noon, on crowded highways. Literally everyone is homeward bound, it seems, and the traffic is terrific. Each one of the family is tired and cross by the time the car pulls into the home driveway. Is it worth it? Well, yes.

Parents will continue with this pattern of summer living until they die and so will their children and children's children. It is a Canadian way of life.

Paradise Lost?

Each weekend for nigh onto the past 75 years Stony Lakers and visitors from near and far have hied themselves to Eel's Creek to avail themselves of a Sunday picnic beside one of the waterfalls, or, just to visit the old spot to make sure everything is just as they dreamt it should be. Some people canoe as far north as the High Falls barrier. Eel's Creek is the only miniature bit of wilderness left in the heart of the Kawarthas within easy access. And since the establishment of the Eel's Creek Crown Game Preserve inland from its eastern banks, wildlife may often be observed, especially in early mornings and evenings.

Met a man on the Second Portage a few weeks ago whom I had not seen for many years. He is a hydro engineer. The time I speak of, Mr. Electric was installing power lines in northwestern Ontario where scenery is something in the way of being special. We got to chatting about various spots we know up North and agreed that none of them could compare to the perfection of Eel's Creek.

Not long ago I received more than a bit of a shock to learn that 400 acres on the west side as far as, and including High Falls, had been sold to a private individual. It was long since privately owned, of course, but the owner left it in its natural state; he also let his taxes lapse and lost the property.

Can you see "Cabins to Rent" beside each frothing rapids? Will the kids be able to buy pop from stands at every portage? Will deer hunters be able to roll over in their bunks in the autumn and shoot deer through the windows of their camp?

The picture is too horrible to imagine.

C of C Proves Their Claim

Jim Hill of Youngstown, O., his wife and son Jack had been trying their fishing luck all around the district. They drew blanks everywhere and in a tourist home on Highway 28 related their fate to the proprietor of an overnight guest home. It was suggested that they might inquire of the Chamber of Commerce in one last desperate attempt to catch a fish that they had been led to believe were in the Kawarthas. They did. Directed to Harold Strong's Omemee Lodge on Pigeon River, they set forth and came back to town that night with a right nice muskie. Went out the next day and did it again. And are they sold on the district now? Just booked two solid weeks for '52, that's all.

* * * *

Department of Travel and Publicity in Toronto received a glowing letter of praise about the cruiseability of the Trent waterways from Police Capt. J. G. McCann of Queensburg, Pa. They slipped a carbon copy to Jim Fraser of the C of C and set him crowing. Said they: finest inland water system for cruising on the continent; excellent navigation charts; excellent accommodation en route and not forgetting the helpfulness of lockmasters everywhere. Too few of these epistles reach the folks that beat the drum.

Kawartha Scoreboard

You and I have heard a lot of people say that fishing in our district has been only so-so this year. But after talking to a freezer-locker manager the other day was gratified to hear that he had booked as many fishermen customers this year as last, 600 to date. Locker figures are just about as accurate a barometer as one could find . . . Stony Lake came through with some nice muskies this week. Homer R. Stainer of Pittsburgh, Pa., took a 23-pounder off Mt. Julian . . . Next door at Viamede, Don. R. Garlach of Warren, O., boated a 21-pounder . . . Down at Art Elmhirst's Cottages, Rice Lake, William T. Henderson of Akron landed one that sealed 22 pounds. All three fishermen were awarded the Order of Kawartha Muskie . . . Fishing contest slips show that Gerald Keller of Madoc hooked a 21½-pound lake trout in Weslemakoon Lake, and, Ted Payne of Mossbank, Sask., went to his old boyhood fishing spot on Indian River above Warsaw and snared a nice green bass, 5 pounds, 6 ounces He caught it beneath the Potash Kettle; (see picture of kettle and Dick Choate's story elsewhere on this page.) . . . Allan Wood of Oshawa took seven lunge in seven days out of Bradley Bay on the Trent River. Total weight of the fish dressed was 125 pounds. He has taken half of his legal season's allotment already.

And they say fishin' is just so-so in the Kawarthas!

On Conversation

THAT people should endeavour to excel in conversation, I do not wonder: because in conversation praise is instantly reverberated.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE man who talks to unburthen his mind is the man to delight you.

✧ ✧ ✧

THAT is the happiest conversation where there is no competition, no vanity, but a calm quiet interchange of sentiments.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT, Sir, may there not be very good conversation without a contest for superiority?
No animated conversation, Sir.

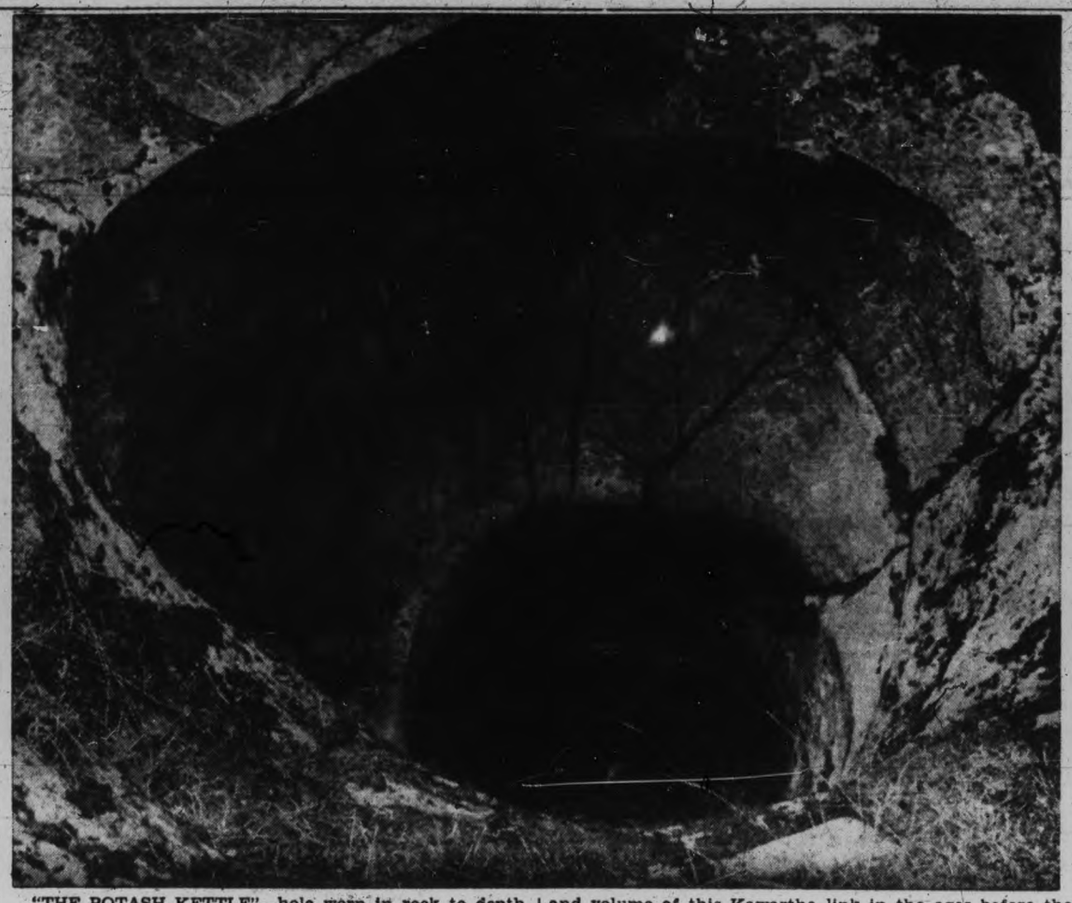
✧ ✧ ✧

It is always observable that silence propagates itself, and that the longer talk has been suspended, the more difficult it is to find anything to say.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are not many situations more incessantly uneasy than that in which the man is placed who is watching an opportunity to speak, without courage to take it.

—DR. SAMUEL JOHNSON.



"THE POTASH KETTLE"—hole worn in rock to depth of 15 or 18 feet by boulder swirled by rushing waters of ancient days at head of Quarry Lake on the Indian river, above Warsaw. "The Kettle" is situated on the cliff-edge far above the present river level, testifying to the might and volume of this Kawartha link in the ages before the Otonabee was born. The rounded boulder which bored out "The Kettle" through the years of ceasless friction was found last year at the spot near the river edge to which it had rolled down the steep bank.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

7-Foot Potash Kettle Carved Thousands Of Years Ago; Warsaw Caves Excite Fancy

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

Instalment III

(Ed. Note: Mr. Choate continues in this article his interpretive account of an exploration of the origins and present bed of Indian River between Stony Lake and Warsaw. In it he describes the giant rock kettle and the Warsaw caves.)

He who would gain the central point of interest—the "Potash Kettle"—must make his way along the shelving rocks of a perpindicular cliff-side. Reaching his objective, he may take his breath as he peers through the trees at the present river bed far below.

The Kettle itself is a boring some 15 to 18 feet deep straight down into the solid rock. It is the work of the master artificer, nature. The only tool employed was a boulder of granite hardness. The smooth sides of the Kettle's circular wall testify to the force of the swirling abrasive rock which fashioned them but tell us little about the span of years through which the drilling went on under the incessant rotary drive of a gorge water.

The Kettle, some seven or eight feet in diameter at the top, tapers funnel-like to about three feet at its lower extremity where the grinding rock worn to a fraction of its earlier bulk and rounded to the smoothness of a cannon ball, had escaped through a hole and rolled down the steep hillside some 100 feet to a barrier near the river. Here it was found last year by The Examiner representatives.

Through the years, visitors have lowered themselves into the Kettle and in the manner of their kind, have scrawled their autographs within, seemingly in the belief that nature had devised the circular wall as a sort of tabula rasa to be perpetually available as a public utility for the mentally afflicted.

Land Of The Caves

Picking our way about from the cliff-side Kettle we find ourselves within a few minutes in a realm which breathes an immediate challenge to those with a spirit of adventure, research and experiment. Here is the land of "dark, unfathomed caves"—the terra incognita of the spelaeologist, that hard-bitten, indefatigable explorer of underground caverns, who finds life joyous only in the subterranean darkness. Your true spelaeologist of France, who loves nothing so much as a pot-hole in the Pyrenees (or somewhere) counts as a crowning glory of life a descent by ropes and electron ladders of some 600 or 700 metres into the for red-blooded adventurers who aren't afraid of the dark, though they hold out no promise of "gems of purest ray serene". Peterborough County caves doubtless operate on the ancient principle of the land agent, "Caveat Emptor".

Youthful spelaeologists from Dummer and Lakefield schools have toyed with the idea of gloriously burrowing into the darkness of the nether regions. Some have crawled into the more promising cavemouths which are found here and there among or under chaotic rock masses high-piled by the tumult of the yesteryear waters. But it is not of record that the adventurers have penetrated far into the dark passageways or brought forth any treasures. Perhaps all that is needed is a substantial fund to supply an adequate number of electron ladders, ropes, helmet-lamps and iron rations. Gadzooks! What modern, streamlined Welfare State, which has always within easy reach a large central jackpot of taxation-takings, could be deaf to an appeal for a special fund, earmarked for feeding, equipping and other inscrutable purposes of a Speleo Club of Peterborough?

Visitors to the ancient chasm with its Kettle and caves, sometimes arrive by road, sometimes by boat from Warsaw. Let us paddle a hypothetical canoe a short distance down-stream from this area. As we leave, we shall find limestone barriers in places, where the river disappears under the stratified bedrock. The direction and distance of its underground travel is not always easily calculable.

Paddling for a few minutes we come to another of the Indian river's remarkable scenic features, The Scaur. Here the river-bank rising perpendicularly from the water's edge, towers above us to a height of a hundred feet or more. Tier upon tier of weathered and water-worn limestone strata give unmistakable testimony to the magnitude and might of the ancient river. Marks of undercutting and of facial erosion are present up to the very top of the precipice. With this clear evidence of the vast depth of the one-time waters we may well say to ourselves: Small wonder that the earlier Indian river is compared with the St. Lawrence in volume of flow.

In winter the face of the Scaur with its sheathing of ice presents a beautiful pattern of crystalline tracery.

Among the legends of the neighborhood is that of a deer which, hard pressed by hounds

Progress of Peterborough: LXXXVI

Town Enters 20th Century Equipped and Confident

By HOWARD PAMMETT, MA

Jas. Stevenson, defending the Conservative National Policy in parliament in 1893, said that it had brought new industries to Peterborough employing over 1,300 workers: Auburn 200, Wm. Hamilton 130, P. Hamilton 125, Edison 500, Hilliard Woollens 60, J. White 30, Lock Works 75, Central Bridge 80, etc; wages in Peterborough had risen in ten years from $100,000 to $600,000, he claimed. The effects of depression and recovery are better shown by census statistics for the town:

	1891	1901
Ind. Establishments	216	44
Capital Investmt.	$1,993,615	$3,123,358
Value of Production	$2,594,996	$3,789,164
No. of Workers	1,876	2,166
Average Annual Wage	$318	$397

It will be noted that with improved machinery 15 per cent more workers were able to produce goods valued at 46 per cent more by 1901.

Among businesses started in this decade were: 1890: Lush bakery, Simons tailor, Fowler restaurant, Potvin confectionery; 1891: Grafton clothing, Dickon dry goods; 1892: Best and Metherall (later Millard), cycles, Gunsolus harness etc., Mitchell liquors, Micks and Stabler hardware; 1893: Hamilton grocery, Braund general store; 1894: Rishor wholesale grocery, Savigny grocery, Houdrey grain; 1895; Mann bakery, Sandstone Brick Co.; 1896: Cavanagh livery, Roy photography, Brightman hides and wool;1897: Pardington grocery, Hickey tailor; 1898: Fanning laundry. 1900: Elliott photography. The Peterborough Business College was taken over in 1895 by W. Pringle and moved to the new Bank of Commerce building at Water and Hunter Sts. President R. Fair headed the newly-organized Retail Merchants' Association in 1900. The Dominion Customs building, promised by Prime Minister Bowell on his 1889 visit, was completed in 1893 at George and Charlotte Sts., handling the growing customs and excise administration of the district, which doubled by 1900.

School Affairs

In the public schools, total attendance rose from 1,636 to 1,690, and average attendance from 50 to 72 per cent, they were taught by 30 teachers (6 male, 24 female). There were by 1900 two kindergartens with five teachers and 201 pupils. In 1891 J. W. Garvin became first full-time inspector at $1,200 per annum, replaced by Alex Wherry in 1893, who was succeeded by Duncan Walker in 1896. In 1891 a public school cadet corps was begun, drilling with wooden guns. In 1896 the Menzies house on George St. was leased for ten years at $400 a year, and four classes (160 pupils) moved there to relieve overcrowding. Four rooms were added to Union School in 1891 and the Collegiate Institute moved into these.

Collegiate attendance rose from 249 to 280, with average attendance up from 57 to 64 per cent. The staff of five men was increased by 1900, when Mary Fife was the sixth teacher; Cortez Fessendon came as principal in 1890, and H. R. H. Kenner joined the staff in 1893. That year council railed against high Board of Education estimates, totalling $19,500. In 1895, when PCI had outstanding hockey, baseball and football teams, there were complaints that education suffered from athletics. In 1899, due to Boer War fever, a Collegiate cadet corps was organized. By 1900 resident students paid annual fees of $10, non-residents paying $25. In the same year 154 candidates tried High School entrance examinations, and 97 passed. In the separate schools, attendance fell from 789 to 764, with average attendance rising from 54 to 69 per cent; in 1909 there were 14 teachers (one male, 13 female). Altogether there were nine schools in town, 50 teachers, and a Teachers' Association (formed in 1895).

Church and Social Life

Church life developed uneventfully, the only new churches being All Saints' Anglican Mission Church, built in 1890 and soon enlarged, and Park St. Baptist Church, built 1892 and separating from Murray St. congregation in 1895. Three local clergy were in the midst of long pastorates—Rev. E. Torrance of St. Paul's (1876-1907), Rev. J. Davidson, of St. John's (1889-1921), and Bishop D. O'Connor at St. Peter's (1889-1913). Among evangelists visiting town were A. Ranton and Dwight Moody.

The Mechanics' Institute continued to decline in membership (from 251 to 241), although volumes owned rose from 5,956 to 9,005 and volumes issued from 7,016 to 9,297; the evening classes had been dropped by 1900, and there was a proposal to make the Institute into a free public library. The Children's Aid Society was organized before 1894, when the Council accepted the offer of H. Best's house at Charlotte and Stewart Sts. as a home for orphan children. Using Mrs. Nicholls' bequest, the YMCA began their building at George and Murray Sts. in 1895, and opened it in 1897; thereafter the Council exempted it from taxation.

Among other societies started were the Philharmonic Musical Society (1891), the Natural History Association (1895), the Poultry and Pet Stock Association (1896), the Historical Society (1896), with Victoria Museum 1897 at Inverlea, and the Peterborough Club (1900). To these gravitated the professional and managerial group which by 1900 included about 50 office and mill supervisors, 50 store and bank managers, 50 teachers, 26 barristers, 25 doctors, dentists and veterinarians, 23 clergy, etc.

For the Diamond Jubilee celebrations in 1897, an art exhibition was held at the YMCA, and Rupert Gliddon led the 57th Battalion Band in a series of concerts (he having come to town and opened the Conservatory of Music.) That same year the first moving pictures were demonstrated in town, using the "Cinematograph," and several doctors decided to buy X-ray machines after the first was given a trial at the London St. powerhouse. Bradburn's Opera House was in its heyday, and the annual circuses drew great crowds.

Sports

Lacrosse was the most popular game with youths, and many rough games were fought (literally) with Orillia, Port Hope, Beaverton, etc. In 1897 the Peterborough team beat Toronto here, the stars being Jim McCabe and Don Hogarth. The Junior Hockey Team defeated Toronto for the

Browns Humble Cleveland In 6-3 Session; White Sox Blank Detroit

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Generally, St. Louis Browns are used as stepping stones by pennant-contending teams in the American League but that's not the case when Cleveland Indians are the opposition. The Browns, hibernating in last place and 40 games off the pace, helped knock the Indians out of the 1950 race and Friday night dealt the Tribe a staggering blow in the current flag chase. St. Louis defeated the Indians 6-3 to dump them one game behind the idle New York Yankees. The victory was the Browns' fifth in 16 meetings with Cleveland.

Jim McDonald, with help from Satchel Paige, stopped the Indians before 23,088 fans at Cleveland. Paige, a former Indian, rushed to the rescue in the ninth after the first two men up reached base.

Paige walked pinch-hitter Early Wynn to load the bases but old Satch nailed Dale Mitchell on a foul, got Bob Avila to force George Stirnweiss at second and struck out Larry Doby to end the game.

Pound Lemon

The Browns pounded Bob Lemon, gunning for his eighth straight and 17th victory, and Lou Brissie for 11 hits. Hank Arft was the Brownies' big gun, driving in four runs on a homer and two singles.

The Yanks, off the last two days, resume action today with the Senators in Washington. Ed Lopat (16-7) is scheduled to face Washington's Sid Hudson (4-8).

In the only other game in the majors Friday Chicago White Sox blanked Detroit Tigers 2-0. Saul Rogovin, a former Tiger, limited the Bengals to seven hits. Tiger pitcher Marlin Stuart deserved a better fate. Stuart banged out a triple and two singles and allowed only six hits. The White Sox scored both of their runs in the sixth.

Nelson Fox singled, stole second and went to third on an error by Bob Swift. Fox scored when shortstop Johnny Lipon made a two-base error on Minnie Minoso's grounder. Ed Robinson singled Minoso home with the final run.

Buffalo Tames Syracuse In 7-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press.

It's better late than never, as far as young Andy Minarcin of Buffalo Bisons is concerned.

Two weeks ago the rangy right-hander won his 15th game of the International League season and he seemed within striking distance of reaching the charmed circle of 20 victories.

In quest of his 16th triumph the 21-year-old hurler made two starts and pitched twice in relief roles, only to find himself charged with the defeat in all four games. This brought his record to 15-11 and he was beginning to wonder if he would ever obtain that 16th victory.

Whips Chiefs

Friday night Minarcin seemingly regained his composure and finally achieved the elusive triumph. The hard-working Bison tamed Syracuse Chiefs 7-1 on seven hits. Minarcin made his 32nd mound appearance, as he completed his 16th game. He has toiled 232 innings.

Four Syracuse errors aided Minarcin as Buffalo scored six unearned runs.

Baltimore Orioles shaded Springfield Cubs 4-3 in 13 innings. Dee Phillips' double scored Bill Glynn from first with the winning run.

A doubleheader between Rochester and Ottawa was cancelled by rain and a single game between Toronto and Montreal was postponed because of weather.

Mal. Hanover Scores Thrilling First Heat Win

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP). — The Canadian Cup race — Canada's richest harness race—was abandoned in mid-stream Friday after Malcolm Hanover had scored a thrilling victory in the first heat.

A heavy rain hit Thorncliffe raceway just before the first heat went to the post and 90 minutes later, when the cup horses were sent out for their second trip, the stewards ruled that the track was unsafe for racing.

The second heat will be raced at 2 p.m. today before the opening of the regular program.

Only five horses went to the post in the Canadian harness racing classic but it was one of the finest races ever witnessed by Toronto harness racing fans. They were gladdened to see Malcolm Hanover, a consistent winner on the Ontario circuit, whip his highly-touted rivals from the United States.

Danny Direct, coupled with the Diplomat as an entry for Alex Parsons of Brantford, was a late scratch when he pulled up slightly sore after a pre-race workout.

In the group this year are Peterborough, Cobourg, Oshawa, Orillia and two added starters in East Yorks and Toronto Ryerson, the latter playing four-point games. Schedule opens with Cobourg at East York on Monday and it winds up on Nov. 3, playoffs following. The Galloping Ghosts of Cobourg were winners last year, and have been consistent ORFU victors for some time now. Joe Kane of Balmy Beach is their new quarterback. Playing coach is Jake Edmiston at snap, while former coach Bob Cooper is back again. Most of last year's good club are available, but Bevan, Darragh, Smith, Hawkins, Hircock and Hamilton will be with the team only for the first four games, going then to Queen's.

Top Paddlers Compete For Olympics

MOONEY'S Bay, Ont., Sept. 1 —(CP). — Some of the country's top paddlers will compete Sunday for the right to represent HCanada at the 1052 Olympic Games in Helsinki, Finland.

The trials will be run off on a smooth stretch of water that forms part of the placid Rideau Canal system. The site, four miles from the heart of Ottawa, was chosen several years ago as permanent location for the Canadian Canoe Association's anpual Dominion championship regatta.

Many of the 37 entrants in the Olympic trials were competitors in the 1951 CCA regatta, held on August 4. Those who placed first and second at that regatta qualified for the Olympic trials. Other entries were chosen by canoe clubs as far west as Winnipeg and as far east as Three Rivers, Quebec.

Canada proposes to send a team of 12 paddlers, a coach and a manager to the Olympics. Several men in the trial events are competing in a number of the eight scheduled races. However, each of those chosen will be allowed to represent Canada in only one event in Finland.

Trial Events

The trial events will be:

The 1,000-metre double-blade single in kayaks; the 10,000-metre double-blade tandem in standard Canadian racing shells; the 1,000-metre single-blade single in shells; the 10,000-metre double-blade single in kayaks, the 1,000-metre single-blade single in kayaks, the 1,000-metre double-blade tandem in shells, the 10,000-metre single-blade tandem in shells, the 10,000-metre single-blade single in shells, and the 1,000-metre single-blade tandem in shells.

Ontario entries include H. Harper of Gananoque, and Don Stringer, G. Hubbs, A. Duval, A. O'Gorman, D. Campbell, and K. Webster of Sudbury.

From Lachine, Que., will come B. Smith, D. Rose, L. Melia, and D. Pape. The Three Riveds entries are Maurice Paquette and Marcel Dubois.

Winnipeg will send Bill Brigden and Jim Nickel.

Cleveland Fans Good Catchers Taylor Says As Ball "Snatched" From Mapes' Glove

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1 (AP)—"You people in Cleveland have some darned good ball players," St. Louis Browns Zack Taylor insisted today.

Zack, of course, was not talking about the Indians. He meant one of the fans in the rightfield stands. He is positive one of them caught Bob Lemon's home run ball in the seventh inning Friday night.

Cliff Mapes was standing in right field when Lemon smashed one. According to Mapes and Taylor, Mapes stood against the wall, and without jumping, put he glove in the line of flight.

When he squeezed, they said, nothing was there, but at that moment a "human hand reached out."

Umpire Bill Summers ruled that the ball bounced off Mapes' glove into the stands. One lady, seated six or seven rows back, held up the sphere as proof and the other fans in the section argued that Summers was right.

Thrown Out of Game

But Taylor was so sure Mapes had the correct version that he argued until he was thrown out of the game.

"I still think a fan—I don't know whether it was a man or woman—caught that ball," he said, "and I think he or she should own up to it."

"Mapes was so amazed when the ball wasn't in his glove, he started looking for it on the ground and couldn't find it. It was the darnedest thing you ever saw."

Mapes reported: "A fan reached right in and grabbed it. I should have pulled him out of the stands."

McElroy And Farley Battling For Amateur Golf Championship

By ERWIN FRICKE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 — (CP). — The 1951 Canadian amateur golf champion will be either a slim Vancouver jeweller or the Toronto branch manager of a textile firm.

The East-West battle will be decided today in the week-long tournament's final match, 36 holes on the lush rolling fairways of the Royal Ottawa.

Neither the jeweller, Walter McElroy, nor the textile man, Phil Farley, has won this country's top-ranking simon-pure golf title before. The Easterner, however, has been knocking at the door for about 20 years.

It will be a contest of style versus experience. The young Vancouverite—a swinger rather than a hitter—has one of the sweetest swings among Canadian golfers and Farley is acknowledged to have lots of know-how.

McElroy's top golf achieevment so far has been to win low amateur honors at the 1948 Canadian open. He was a Canadian amateur semi-finalist at Hamilton in 1948, and runner-up to Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener in the 1946 Canadian junior.

But he is only 24 and he took off two big years—1949 and last year—from competitive golf because of a series of foot operations.

One of the Best

Farley has been one of Canada's best amateur golfers for more than half of his 39 years. In 1931 he won the first of his six Ontario amateur championships and he has competed in the Canadian amateur 15 times. He was runner-up in the Canadian amateur in 1937 to the great Sandy Somerville and in 1949 to Dick Chapman, United States amateur champion.

Friday Farley disposed of 18-year-old Laurie Roland of Vancouver, Canadian junior champion, 4 and 2 and McElroy won 4 and 3 over a former United States Walker Cup player, Fred Kammer, Jr., of Detroit.

Only a small, determined gallery followed the semi-final matches, played for the most part in pouring rain.

Roland led Farley by one hole at the end of the first 18 but weakened on the final round. An outstanding hole was the 27th where Roland ran down a 30-foot putt for a birdie but had to settle for a half when Farley putted a 15-footer.

McElroy, who weighs about 130 pounds, belted the ball as far as the 200-pound Kammer, despite a deceiving effortless swing.

The morning round ended all square after McElroy blew a two-hole lead at the end. In the afternoon 18 he tightened up, going home and won the last three holes.

Racial, Religious Prejudice Hinders Christian Work

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Discrepancies and inconsistencies are common among mortal men, but it is doubtful whether any discrepancy and inconsistency is deeper, persistent, and more widespread than that between the racial and color-line prejudices and the plain teachings of the New Testament.

The Christian Church began when the Master gathered around him the first disciples, but the Day of Pentecost has been commonly regarded as marking the beginning of its world organization (Acts 2). It was a racially conglomerate mass of people (Acts 2:9-11), who heard Peter that day, and experienced the outpouring of the Spirit. There was no racial prejudice there.

Racial and religious prejudice soon met a testing time. Only a great vision convinced Peter that he should not call what God had cleansed "common and unclean" (Acts 10), and an angelic message led Philip to the baptizing and welcoming into the Christian fold of a black-skinned Ethopian. (Acts. 8:26-39).

But even these incidents with their plain teaching and implications did not prevent various prejudices among the early Christians, as many passages in Paul's Epistles clearly show.

Greatest of all in the rebuke of racial and religious prejudice is the example of the Master Himself in the famous incident of the meeting with the Woman of Samaria, recorded in the fourth chapter of John's Gospel. Read in the light of its time and environment that story is remarkable in its revelation of how Jesus in His earthly life lived above the prejudices, and even the customs, of the time and place.

The woman marvelled that Jesus, a Jew, should have asked a drink of her, for "the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans." But she might equally have marvelled, as did the disciples when they returned from the city, that Jesus should have conversed with her at all. For it was against the custom for a man to meet and converse with a woman in a public place. The woman, moreover, was of none too savory a character.

Yet Jesus treated her with courtesy and kindness. If He pressed somewhat closely on her past and present moral situation, it was with gentleness of rebuke rather than harshness; and it was to her that He not only declared His Messiahship, but also uttered the greatest word concerning the true nature of worship that has ever been spoken.

How is it that the example of the Master has not been more widely a model for all Christians in their atitude toward their fellowmen? If early Christians failed to rise always above prejudices, perhaps it is not amazing that later generations of Christians have failed. But the discrepancy between the preaching of the gospel of brotherly love, to love one another as God has loved us, and its actual practice is very great, as the most casual observer must realize.

It is a discrepancy which must be eliminated.

Three Of Pioneer Families Yet In Business In Bethany

By VIOLET M. CARR

We began these articles with the names of the first settlers and business men, and bring to a close with a brief resume some of those of today. Of the early families there are three of the original names remaining: Ryley & Sons, Reynolds & Son, and A. H. Monk.

Ryley & Sons' general store in Bethany is the oldest established firm in the village, having a continous record of more than 90 years. The founder of the store, Alfred Ryley, was born in Birmingham, England, September 28, 1827. He was the son of George Ryley, a hardware merchant in that city. The family immigrated to Canada in 1841, when Alfred was 14 years old, landing at Port Hope, where Robert Ryley (a brother of George) conducted a private school for young ladies. A little later this branch of the family settled in Cavan township, where Alfred Ryley married Elizabeth Argue, a daughter of Thomas and Ann Argue, whose family were also immigrants in 1883 from Cavan county in Northern Ireland. They, settled between the villages of Millbrook and Cavan near what was then called Gardiner's Mill. Somewhere about 1850 Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ryley moved to Manvers township, where he commenced business as a grain buyer, and a few years later opened the grocery store on the present site, carrying also, according to an old advertisement "A good assortment of fine china." He built both the house and store. A story handed down to this generation relates how he made the shingles for the roof of the house by hand, after completing his day's work.

Mr. Alfred Ryley was a fine citizen, with the good of the village always uppermost in his mind. He served as clerk of the township of Manvers for 45 years, 1853-1898. Searching over old records his unusually fine penmanship stands out . . . a type seldom seen in this scribbling age. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ryley had a family of seven children. The oldest son, Thomas George, always known as "T. G." became a druggist and for a time had his business in part of his father's store in Bethany. The second son, John Proud Ryley, was in the lumber business in Lindsay for many years and was also the Division Court clerk. The third son, Alfred Argue Ryley, also became a druggist. In early life he taught at nearby Fallis School. The oldest daughter, Ann Jane, died as a small child in Bethany. The second daughter, Mary Jane, better known as Minnie, was one of the early students at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, in 1884, married James Preston and lived in Vancouver, B.C. Following her husband's death, she returned to Ontario and lived in Toronto until her death in 1944. Miss Mabel Elizabeth Ryley, the youngest of Alfred Ryley's family and now 76 years of age, resides in Toronto, where she was prominent in the business world until recently when she retired from active duties.

Harry Heaton Ryley, the youngest son, after receiving his primary education in Bethany school, attended High School in St. Mary's, Ont. and later learned the dry goods business there. When he returned to Bethany as a young man of 20, the west half of the store, formerly the drugstore, was made a dry goods shop and gradually became one general store. Incidentally, the name "Harry Heaton" was a family name on his grandmother's side of the house. Harry Heaton and his brother Ralph were owners of a mint in Birmingham, England, and made some of the early coins in use in Canada. Their small initial "H" was printed on these coins. Continuing in business as a general store, Mr. Harry H. Ryley married Miss Mary Alice McGill, a former school teacher. Her father, Joseph McGill, is mentioned in records at Ottawa as building the first two-storey house in the vicinity. Mr. Harry Ryley's death at the early age of 54 years on February 6, 1929, was a reall loss to the community. He was active in every phase of the life of the village, prominent in fraternal societies; in the Presbyterian Church, in the Athletic Society, etc. His wide interests and friendly qualities made him well and favorably known throughout all the countryside. His widow continues to reside in Bethany.

Bruce Ryley, an only son, with his wife, the former Helen McKinnon, is now carrying on the business.

Reynolds & Son also have a record of more than 80 years of service to the public. Asa Reynolds was a cabinet maker, coming from the Old Land to Port Hope. His son, Charles Reynolds Sr., came to Bethany as a cabinet maker, and opened a hardware and furniture store. A little later he became an undertaker. He married Catherine Johnston in 1873. For 55 years preceding his death in 1928, at the age of 84, Mr. Reynolds was the local undertaker and hardware merchant, serving Bethany and surrounding district. Mrs. Reynolds lived seven years longer than her husband and died at the age of 84 in 1935. They had a family of seven children, namely: Fred, Clara, Adam and Eva, Emma, Elizabeth and May. Of the seven, Adam, Eva, Elizabeth and May (Mrs. Clarence Buller) are deceased. Emma and Clara (Mrs. Armstrong) continue to reside in the family home. Their son Fred continued in the business established by his father and built his own new and modern home in the village. He and his wife, the former Margaret Heaslip, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary one year ago. Mr. Fred Reynolds has figured prominently in the affairs of the village: secretary of the school board of trustees for 28 years, a commissioner of the Manvers Municipal Telephone; one of the early members of the Bethany band; the Loyal Orange Lodge; holding offices in the Athletic Association and in St. Paul's Church. He is 78 years of age and although he still does a great deal of active work, the store is mostly looked after by their only son, Charles Jr.

Alex. H. Monk carries on the business of harness and shoe repairs. He has been engaged in this business for 41 years, having his first store in that section of the village which was destroyed by fire. The present building is also the Colonial bus station, with Mr. Monk as their agent. In November of this year Mr. Monk and his wife, the former Ethel Howden, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary and both have lived all their lives in this community They have four sons: Bert in Windsor Harold in Detroit; Roy at Sunderland, and Karl in Sarnia. Mr. Monk has been the truant officer for the schools of Manvers township for many years, as well as Sunday School Superintendent in the United Church for more than 20 years.

Free Methodist Hour Said Best Religious Broadcast

When a Christian broadcast is acclaimed "the best all-around religious program" by a panel of judges in a national survey, that is an honor. But when the same program wins top mention four years in a row, it is something everyone should know about.

This is the record of the Light and Life Hour international broadcast sponsored by the Free Methodist Church of North America, headquarters in Winona Lake, Indiana. In April, 1949, the National Religious Broadcasters, orginization that includes nearly all the leading evangelical radio personalities, presented Dr. Myron F. Boyd, director of the Light and Life Hour, with a large trophy, top honor in the "best, all-around" class.

The previous year, the same trophy was shared jointly by the Light and Life Hour and Sermons in Song, Assembly of God broadcast. In 1947, the Light and Life Hour had captured third place.

Over 100 radio stations throughout the world are now carrying the Light and Life Hour. And there is no place in the world where the program cannot be heard if one has a good short wave set. Starting Monday night it will also be heard over CHEX at 9 o'clock.

While no official count has been kept, there is evidence that during its seven years on the air, thousands have come to know Christ through this program. Even more of the three million listeners testify that they have come into a happier Christian life.

Free Methodism, with its history of almost 100 years, has become articulate through its radio program. Human explanation for the program centres in Myron F. Boyd, sparkplug of the successful radio effort. Possessed with boundless energy and a radiant personality, he is director and speaker for the broadcast. The principal theme of his radio ministry is the simple gospel message.

Something Special For All In Weekend

A MUSICAL TOWN IS EDMUNDSTON, NB, according to the story and pictures which will appear next Saturday in the first issue of WEEKEND EXAMINER. Three pages of photos and text tell of a recent mammoth band rally.

2 Suspected Cases Added To Hospital List

Two new suspected cases of polio were reported by Civic Hospital officials today. This brings the total of suspects to four. The number of confirmed polio victims remains at 33, the same as reported Friday.

One of the new suspects is a two-and-a-half-year-old child from the district and the other a 23-year-old city man.

Increase Asked Up To 50 Cents In Phone Rates

Higher telephone rates have been requested by the Bell Telephone Company before the Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa.

If approved, the changed rates will mean increases of from 25 to 50 cents on residence lines and from 10 cents to $2.75 on business lines in Peterborough.

In other, larger centres, charge for the pay phones will go up to 10 cents, but in this city will remain at a nickel.

The company gave as its reasons for the proposed increases, higher taxes, wage rates and other costs. The new rate schedule would increase estimated operating revenues by about 10 per cent.

October 1 is the starting date asked by the Bell for the new rates.

The proposed tariffs do not represent a straight 10 per cent increase over existing rates, say Bell officials, but vary according to the relative value of the different services and the number of telephones in an exchange's calling area.

For Peterborough, the proposed rates are:

	Present	Proposed	Increase
RESIDENCE
Individual	$3.75	$4.25	$ .50
Two-party	3.00	3.25	.25
Rural	*2.75	3.10	.35

Royal Portraits To Appear In First Issue Of Weekend Edition Saturday

Picture Stories and Comics Will Add 70 Pages To Regular Edition

Examiner Readers Now Receiving

You're going to like Weekend, the new picture magazine that is going to be a regular feature of The Examiner every Saturday. The first copy will appear in next Saturday's issue and only a brief glance at the features and picture stories in it will convince you there is something special to look forward to every Saturday when The Examiner comes around.

Picture of Princess

On the front page is a full-color portrait of Princess Elizabeth in her robes of the Order of the Garter painted by the famous British artist, Sir Oswald Birley.

A similar portrait of the Duke of Edinburgh is on Page 3. On every page following there is something of interest for everyone in the family.

There are picture stories which take the reader right across Canada from a music-mad town in New Brunswick to a logging cruise in Vancouver Island's Alberni Canal.

Examiner readers will meet many of their favorite comic characters in color in the 16-page comic section. There are others in the section they are going to like just as much.

There is Li'l Abner, Steve Canyon, Mickey Finn, Smitty, Winnie Winkle, Little Orphan Annie, Ferd'nand, Pogo, Grin and Bear It, Gasoline Alley, Scarlett O'Neil, Moon Mullins, Bronc Saddler, Mary Worth, Dick Tracy and Joe Palooka.

Of special interest in the picture magazine to Peterborough and district readers will be an article by Greg Clark in which he interviews and matches quips with George Hebden Corsan, 94-year-old nut man who swam the Trent Canal from Lakefield to Peterborough in a friendly contest with Harry Strickland of Bobcaygeon in the early 1900s. He's more than just a nut, Greg decides.

Andy O'Brien on Sport

Do you think Sugar Ray Robinson is a cinch to recapture middleweight boxing crown from Britain's Randy Turpin? Read Andy O'Brien's opinions. You may change your mind.

Andy O'Brien writes a weekly sports column for Weekend and usually has different opinion than the rest of the sports experts. He has a high batting average too.

Probably the first thing you will notice about the Weekend is that it features Canada. Weekend war correspondent Jock Carroll tells about the Canadian corporal from Toronto who was killed the day after he talked with him and whom Carroll will never forget.

Another staff writer, Doyle Klyn, writes an amusing article about the strange things Canadians can rent from chistening robes to paintings for your home.

Girls getting ready to go back to high school and university will get some first-class picture tips on the newest campus fashions.

If you have never met Nipper, the cartoon brain child of Doug Wright, you're in for a surprise chuckle from this miniature home-wrecker.

A Vienna duck hunter has invented floating boots, weiner-shaped pontoons into which he laces himself and uses to skate about the surface of the water as he hunts ducks and retrieves what he shoots down. He performs for the Weekend cameraman in all his dignity.

Kate Aiken, well known to all Canadian women and many Canadian men, writes about her experiences as women's director of the Canadian National Exhibition.

With typical versatility Mrs. A. also tells girls and women they all have potential beauty in the hair on their heads, and how to bring it out.

You'll like the way the picture section is laid out. There are plenty of photos to tell each story and just enough written in the articles with the pictures to give you the whole story without wasting your time. Other articles are illustrated by top cartoonists in Canada.

The short stories will attract you into doing a little reading when you have a few spare moments on a quiet Sunday.

There are many more features of the Weekend that you will enjoy finding when you get your first copy next week.

7,300 Children Will Return To Schools In City When Classes Open Tuesday

Come Tuesday 7,300 citizens of Peterborough are going to get up a little earlier, scrub and polish their faces, eat a nervous breakfast, square their shoulders and start or resume their earnest pursuit of knowledge. It's school again, kids! For a great many it will be a day they will remember to their dying day. Remember your first day? For many more than will admit it, the day will mark the end of holidays that for some time have become boring.

Roughly the same number as last year of seperate school children and students at St. Peter's will be enrolling, said the Rev. J. F. Hoolihan, secretary of the Separate School Board. About 1,400 will be entering the five separate schools within the city limits and St. Anne's and St. Alphonsus' schools just outside the north and south boundaries. Another 300 are expected at St. Peter's High School, about the same as last year.

4,300 In Public Schools

Superintendent of the public schools, K. S. Wightman, has been juggling space and time to fit in 4,300 expected to enroll in the public schools and 1,300 in the collegiate and vocational school.

This is higher than the number of young students last year. The figures are only close approximations, for a number of reasons. In the collegiate no one knows till later how many of those expected back have started to work during the summer and have decided not to return to school. It is hard to say how many will come from out of town.

Of the total ,about 600 are expected in kindergarten. This figure is based on the number of pre-school medical examinations given to small fry. The total will probably exceed this preliminary estimate. Last year about 525 started kindergarten.

This larger number has caused superintendent Wightman and the Board of Education some considerable difficulty. To relieve the space pressure at King George school the board has rented Mark St. United Church Sunday school for morning sessions. Beginners spend only half a day at school, some in the morning, others in the afternoon.

At Prince of Wales school, the board expected to be able to move the whole kindergarten out of the old into the new building just opening. The former kindergarten room was then going to be used as an assembly hall. But instead the old room will continue to serve for the beginners for half the day.

Grove School will now operate its kindergarten the full day instead of half the day as formerly.

HERE IS SOMETHING FOR THE DUCK HUNTER — floating boots. Wiener-like water shoes make a stroll across the lake an everyday event for the duck hunter whicn is pictured in an unusual photo spread in your WEEKEND Examiner which will be delivered to your home next Saturday.

LOGS GO ON A CRUISE on British Columbia's Alberni Canal. It is here the world's longest log booms are tugged to giant mills. Photos by Bill Hackett and a story by Cy Young describe the exacting job which involves moving upwards of 250 million board feet annually through Vancouver Island waterways and will be found in your WEEK-END Examiner next Saturday.

City Labor Day Features UE Festival

Labor Day holiday is going to be a private affair for most of Peterborough's citizens.

The UE local 524 have announced plans for a Labor Day Festival, Monday, but other unions have made no move to join the celebration.

Monday will mark the opening of the intermediate football season here. Weston is coming here to play the Peterborough Orfuns in the Exhibition grounds at 2.30 p.m.

UE officials said that they have planned "a real day for the kiddies" at Riverside park starting at 1.30 p.m. Every child will receive free balloons, candy, peanuts, ice cream and chocolate milk.

Merchants have donated prizes for children's races and adults' contests. There will be horse shoe pitching, bait casting and tug-of-war. There are also many prizes lined up for bingo.

There will be music throughout the afternoon.

C. S. Jackson, president of district 5 of UE will be the Labor Day speaker.

Many other citizens will be using this last holiday weekend of the summer to visit relatives in other cities or see the Toronto Exhibition. Others will simply enjoy themselves with a lazy day of loafing. Bus lines have said they are ready with extra buses if needed, but the CPR has no extra trains planned.

For many cottage owners Labor Day weekend is the day they close up the cottage until next July 1. Families return to the city for the kids to start back to school on Tuesday. Others with cottages closer to home still have a month or maybe more to use their cottages on weekends.

But if you're looking for excitement your best chance of finding it is at the UE Labor Day Festival, at the football game or at the peewee softball doubleheader in Riverside park.

NAMED COMPTROLLER

Treasurer of Hastings county since 1945, Ross C. Bailey has been named comptroller of Belleville General hospital. A new county treasurer will be named shortly.

Thieves Crack Lindsay Safe

A safe was broken open with a hammer and chisel in the Lindsay office of the Master Feeds Co., sometime Friday night, but it is not known yet how much money was taken.

Chief Arthur Webster said the thieves broke into the building by forcing a whole window frame out of a rear window 12 feet above the ground. They reached it with a plank.

The thieves tried to knock a hole through the masonite that covered the wall into the office where the safe was located. Failing this, they jimmied open the office door.

They opened the safe by punching a hole through one side with a cold chisel and a hammer.

When they left, the thieves replaced the window frame. Chief Webster said one of his constables checked the building at 2:15 a.m. today and everything appeared to be in order. Police are continuing their investigation.

Market Climbs To Record High, Experts Divided

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Did this week's sharp upswing at Toronto, Montreal and New York markets herald another long bull market, or was it a warning of coming weakness?

Observers in three centres divided on this question as market prices soared to record highs.

In Toronto, the Exchange's index of 20 selected issues broke its record five times in as many days as it climbed 7.71 points. The index now stands at 346.80, highest since it was established in 1934. The weekly gain was the greatest since the week of May 26 to June 1.

Montreal shared the advance as the industrial average broke new ground several times during the week.

As the month ended in New York, the industrial component of the Dow-Jones average closed higher than at any time in the last two decades as August continued its tradition as a bull month.

Discount Influence

American opinion tended to discount the influence of world conditions. The Wall Street Journal noted that, in general, Wall Street traders did not participate in the advance. It concluded that since short-term traders were not active while long-term "portfolio" buyers were taking stocks out of circulation, the tendency was to establish a strong technical background. This background, said the Journal, "will take something quite dynamic to shake."

The other side of the picture was given by observers who pointed out that an upswing was to be expected at this time of the year. They added that short positions were at record highs indicating that investors think the market is extended to its limit, if not more.

Trading opened briskly in Toronto Monday. Industrials set a record high within the first hour, edged upward during the session and closed with a brisk display of strength. Industrials gained more than a point on the Montreal averages while papers slipped by about the same amount.

The Toronto market made its biggest jump Tuesday since April 12. Early trading indicated that prices might dip but strong support appeared about mid-session and carried the index almost four points higher. Montreal industrials caught some of Toronto's momentum and climebd almost three points. Papers eased.

Steady Gain

Toronto recorded a steady gain Wednesday. Trading activity increased as the rise spread from market leaders to a broadening list. Papers leaped ahead at Montreal and industrials continued to gain steadily.

Thursday in Toronto saw golds and Western Oils spurt well above a gradually climbing market. Base Metals staged a determined final hour drive for substantial gains. Industrials climbed more than two points in Montreal while papers turned mixed.

Prices levelled off Friday as investors consolidated their position before the long Labor-Day weekend. Papers slipped moderately in Montreal as industrials developed little trend.

ON LABOR DAY, 1951, in a world unsettled and fearful of global war, men who labor and men who fight for Canada are united in a single purpose. That purpose is peace—but peace with freedom, and peace with justice for all men. Once more, the giant wheels of industry are turning out the sinews of military strength. Whether or not millions more of the world's finest youth must die on far-flung battlefields hinges on the success in making that strength—the free world strength—count for freedom.

Did Best Work Before Death, Note On Walker

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1 (AP)—Saddest note of this week's news in Hollywood was the sudden death of Robert Walker at the age of 32.

Death is doubly sad when a person is struck down in the middle of what promises to be a notable career. It has happened before in Hollywood with the deaths of such figures as Rudolph Valentino, Jean Harlow, Ross Alexander, Rags Ragland.

Walker was considered by many as one of the best young actors in Hollywood. He had just finished what may well be his best role, "My Son John." Walker might possibly receive posthumous Academy recognition because of it.

It was ironic that one of his most memorable roles was that of the easy-going, ineffectual Private Hargrove. Bob was anything but that. He was an intense fellow who took a serious view of life through his horn-rimmed glasses.

Marital Trouble

Walker's story refutes the notion that Hollywood success spells happiness. He seemed happy enough when he and his wife, Jennifer Jones, were breaking into pictures. But after they broke up and she married Producer David O. Selznick, Walker began hitting the headlines with his drunken conduct. He had a tragically brief marriage to John Ford's, daughter Barbara, and then sought psychiatric aid at a clinic in Kansas.

He returned, saying he was finally at peace with himself and no longer felt that he "didn't deserve happiness." But the end of his disturbed life came Tuesday night due, said the doctors, to "an emotional disturbance."

Comics Caper

Still brewing in Hollywood is the stew between Danny Kaye and Red Skelton.

The thing started when Kaye was playing his last performance at London's Palladium. By custom, he was supposed to introduce Skelton, who was playing there next. Skelton was in the audience, but Kaye neglected to introduce him.

"I completely forgot," Kaye explained to friends. But Skelton was hurt. Kaye has told me he has "no comment" to make and says it's a tempest in a teapot...

To Test Ban

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP) — A television aerial ban in Toronto's Regent Park housing project is going to be tested. Alfred J. Bluett, one of the residents of the municipally-operated rental housing district, Friday had an aerial installed. Now it's up to the city to decide whether it wants to try to make its ban on TV aerials in the area stick.

Tugboat Captain Will Stand Trial

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 1 (CP) — John Tog, quiet 55-year-old tugboat captain, Friday was committed to a higher court on a charge of murder after a four-hour hearing into the death of his common-law wife, Adeline Bain.

Mrs. Bain was burned to death in a fire which razed the couple's cabin at MacDiarmid, 145 miles northeast of here, July 29.

Tog will be tried at fall assizes, to open here Oct. 2.

Bill Fraser, Lands and Forests overseer at MacDiarmid, testified that Tog smelled of coal oil and made no effort to fight the blaze at the small fishing village on Lake Nipigon. He said that Tog sat on the grass 100 yards from the blazing shack.

Small Boat Capsizes Two Men Drowned

PARRY SOUND, Sept. 1 (CP)—Two men drowned and two were saved Friday when a small boat capsized in Long Lake, seven miles south of this Georgian Bay town.

Dead are Ray Smirlie, of Dayton, Ohio, and Myron Brown, of Ottawa. Tooney Hayes, of nearby Mill Lake, helped John Grant reach shore

Children Working at Home

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Can I help?" How often a small child asks this suestion as he watches mother or dad busy at some task! The eagerness to be of use is a precious thing. If a small child's offer of assistance is refused or postponed to some other day he will be less likely to want to help another time. Children don't like to be rebuffed any more than adults!

It does take time and patience to include a little boy or girl in performing some job. Dad can bring in the wood and light the stove faster all by himself than if he waits for Junior to collect his pile of sticks. Mother can mix muffins much more quickly if she not stop to delegate the beating of the egg or the greasing of the tins to Mary. But how much Junior and Mary will miss, if they are left out, not only in training, to be contributing members in the work of a home, but in the sense of comradeship and in the pride of achievement which a father-and-son or a mother-and-daughter completed job brings with it!

When a child wants to help, if at all possible put the youngster to work then and there. See that daughter is properly clothed for the job — an apron on for baking. Make sure that your child has the right work tools — such as a mixing bowl and beater to beat an egg. Then work alongside the child at your part of the job. If you must give more instructions or criticize the way the child is working, do it in a constructive, kindly way. If a task is a little too difficult for a child or he is taking too long to do it, help him finish it. Don't take over the job and do it yourself!

The next time the child is helping, delegate more responsibility and cut down on directions. If the child is old enough and keen about that particular task, work toward the time when the son or daughter can complete the task all by himself or herself. Use encouragement and show a child how to avoid making the same mistake twice. Be generous in your praise of a job well done.

Sometimes, in a home where there are older boys and girls at school, the youngsters have become more and more preoccupied with their school work, their friends and their own interests and activities. They rarely ask, "Can I help?" Often mother, in a mistaken idea that she is being "good to the children," asks little or nothing from them in assistance in the work of the home. She may not realize it, but a house where mother does the children's beds, tidies up and picks up after them, is an excellent training ground for her son and daughter to become a selfish husband or a helpless wife in a few years time.

In the fair division of the work of the home, father, because he is away so much and can look on things with a more impartial view, should give some direction. Everyone, even a small child, should have some work to do. A family council when father reviews all the work mother does each week is a good idea. In some homes each child is allowed to choose at the end of the week some jobs he likes to do which he will carry out the next week. The tasks that no one is likely to pick, such as washing the dishes, are written out on slips and rotated around so that each one has a turn.

Abraham Lincoln once said, "Wanting to work is so rare a merit that it should be encouraged." What happens in your home when a child says, "Can I help?"

Plan To Study Newsprint Quota

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A House of Representatives Interstate Commerce sub-committee on newsprint will leave for Montreal to study the newsprint situation there at a meeting Sept. 5.

Headed by Representative Lindley Beckworth (Dem.-Tex.) the sub-committee has been conducting hearings in Washington on the general outlook for newsprint supplies.

"We have been increasingly concerned with the plight in which some of our papers are finding themselves, particularly the small county weekly and smaller daily papers in securing enough newsprint to continue their operations," Beckworth said in a statement announcing plans for the visit to Canada.

He added that while the sub-committee has assurance from government authorities that no paper will be permitted to go out of business because of lack of newsprint "we naturally are interested in determining just what the supply situation may be."

Canada produces more than five times the newsprint produced in the US and is an important contributor to the US market.

"In turn, the US is the world's major producer of sulphur, which is now in tight supply, and without adequate sulphur newsprint production would be significantly affected," Beckworth noted.

Alumnae President

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP)—Mrs. F. James Carson of Toronto was elected president of the Canadian Federation of Convent Alumnae Friday at its seventh biennial convention. She succeeds Mrs. D. Frank Keleher of Montreal.

2 Aircraft Workers Operate Sex Lottery

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 1 (AP)—The Wichita Beacon said Friday two girl aircraft workers are operating a "sex lottery" in Wichita.

It said the girls, selling tickets to male workers $2 each, "sell chances on themselves for a weekend party.

"Holders of the winning tickets are entitled to a weekend party—all expenses paid—at the home of the girls, or at another location if preferred. Food, liquor, and other incidentals are furnished by the girls, who are reportedly netting around $500 each per week."

The newspaper said workers at the city's three plane-building plants have been patronizing the lottery.

Greatest Of All Says Coach Of Weismuller

DETROIT, Sept. 1 (UP). — Johnnie Weismuller is the greatest swimmer of all time, despite the fact that today's sensations have stripped him of the 36-odd world tank records he once had.

At least that is the opinion of Mat Mann, University of Michigan's veteran swimming coach, who has won more national collegiate titles than any other mentor in the business.

"Today's champions wouldn't have stood a chance with Weismuller at his prime," Mann said. "All of his records have been broken, but that doesn't mean a thing because the modern day swimmers have so many more advantages."

And they didn't have the competitive spirit Johnnie had, he said.

The grey-thatched Mann, recognized as one of the top swimming coaches in the nation for years, contends that the record book has made Weismuller appear a "second rater" compared with the latest crop of pool speedsters.

"What people forget is that Weismuller set his records back in the 1920's before swimming became a scientific sport and little attention was paid to water temperature or the need of fresh water for the best performances," Mann pointed out.

The Hard Way

The Michigan coach further argues that the once famed Tarzan of the movies set many of his marks despite the disadvantage of swimming in rough bottomed pools and without lanes being clearly marked out.

"There's no denying that Johnnie's best times would hardly land him even a fifth place in some of our top meets today, which shows just how much faster racing conditions are now," Mann added.

When the handsome and muscular Meismuller retired as an amateur swimmer in 1929 in favor of swinging from the tree tops as Tarzan, he boasted every world free style record worth holding from 100 yards to a half mile.

Today his name has been erased completely from swimming's record book, yet he's still the sports biggest name in the last quarter century.

Many sports fans remember him as the movie character he portrayed rather than as a swimming king. But the tank experts and coaches still rank him tops despite the faster times that now makes his old records look just "so-so."

Weismuller's records weren't just edged—they were blasted out of the books. He held the 100-yard free style for several years with a 51 second clocking which now appears rather weak compared to the 49.7 world mark held by Alan Ford of Yale in 1944.

The same is true all the way down the line on Weismuller's records. Sensational John Marshall holds the 220-yard record at 2:05.3 which makes Weismuller's 2:18.4 look rather sick.

"Weismuller was the greatest competitor I have ever seen in any sport. He'd beat today's swimmers on heart alone," Mann said.

"I'm not trying to run down today's champions—they're great—but there was only one Johnnie Weismuller and I don't think there will ever be another."

Copper Firm Gives Raise, May End Strike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) —Settlement of the strike at Kennecott Copper Corporation, producer of 35 per cent of the country's copper, may have paved the way for an early end of the country-wide shutdown which threatened to slow up the defence program.

Kennecott and union leaders reached an agreement Friday after President Truman called for federal action to end the strike.

Negotiations behind the scenes were started at once with the three other major producers. There were hopeful signs that by Monday, at least, settlements would follow at the far flung operations of Phelps-Dodge Corp., American Smelting and Refining Co., and Anaconda Copper Co.

Kennecott granted a 15-cent "package" wage raise to its more than 9,000 workers in Utah, Nevada and New Mexico. Kennecott agreed earlier to set up a pension system which it is estimated would add another 4½ cents to the cost of the raise.

Continue Inquiry

While the secret bargaining talks with the Independent Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, and the AFL and railroad unions involved went on without fanfare, the president's board of inquiry continued checking into the facts in the dispute.

As soon as the board reports on those facts, the president may ask Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath to seek a court injunction to force the balance of the 58,000 idle workers to return to the lead, zinc and copper workings.

President Truman cannot, under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, which he invoked Thursday night, seek an injunction until the board of inquiry has completed its study. He gave the board until Tuesday to do that.

The board, after hearing from defence agencies Friday night on the cost of the mobilization program in ores and by-products of the critical strikebound industry opens hearing this morning.

The 15-cent hourly increase by Kennecott includes an eight-cent wage boost to all workers and another seven cents broke up in job re-classification. Probably most of the seven cents will go to the craft unions of experienced workers.

The laborer at Kennecott now gets $11.05 a day. His new rate would be $11.69.

Top pay under the new wage agreement would go to the electric shovel operator who will get $16.49 a day.

The pay increase is retroactive to July 1, when the old contract expires.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Montreal's National Hockey League Canadiens announced Friday 58 professionals and amateurs have been invited to attend fall training camp, largest the Habitants have held in years.

The list comprises three goalers, 17 defencemen, 17 centres, 14 left wingers and seven right wingers.

Jean Beliveau, star player with the Quebec Senior League's Quebec Aces who last year turned down a Canadien offer, is prominent among centres. Among exhibition game dates is one Oct. 6 with Buffalo Bisons (AHL) at Montreal; 9 at Kitchener.

British boxing writers, who saw the controversial Kid Gavilan-Billy Graham fight in New York Wednesday, have told the home folks they are worried over what may happen to Randy Turpins brand new middleweight title. Almost to a man, the British writers thought challenger Graham was entitled to the decision in his 15-round title bout with Gavilan in Madison Square Garden.

The next time George Spencer, New York Giants relief pitcher, enters a game he will establish a modern record for the number of appearances by a rookie pitcher. Spencer, former Ohio State University football player, has been on the mound 50 times this season, wiping out the old National League mark set by Grover Cleveland Alexander of the 1911 Philadelphia club.

Annis Stukus, coach of the Edmonton Eskimos football team, told a service club that his team's payroll has increased tremendously. He said the payroll was $48,000 in 1949 and $68,000 in 1950, and would continue to increase.

United States water skiers dominated the North American championships at the Canadian National Exhibition Friday. Bill Martin of Orlando, Fla., won the veterans' trick riding and Willa Worthington McGuire of Cypress Gardens, Fla., the women's trick riding.

The eastern Canada senior ladies' softball championship was awarded Friday night to Ace Queens of Toronto after Greenberg club of Verdun, Que., withdrew from the tournament at its own request. The Toronto team will meet the western winner here in a best-of-three series starting Sept. 5.

The Duke of Devonshire trophy, emblematic of the United States and Canadian Senior Golf Associations' team championship, was won Friday at Toronto by the United States 33½ points to 14½. The United States has won the trophy every year since inception of the match in 1918 with the exception of a tie in 1934.

Dudley Hanover turned in the only mile run of less than two minutes in the Grand Circuit harness racing program at the Du Quoin, Ill., state fair in winning the $10,000 mid-American pace Friday. The four-year-old chestnut horse, owned by the host Hayes Fair Aces stables, won the pace's run-off heat in 1:59, beating Prince Jay, owned by the S. A. Camp Farms Co. of Shafeter, Calif., by a length.

Napanee Drops Out Central Ontario Loop

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 1—President Bob Nesbitt of the Central Ontario Senior Baseball League annunced today that the cellar-dwelling Napanee Athletics have withdrawn for the balance of the season. The Athletics have won but four games in 28 this season.

An executive meeting will be held in Kingston over the week-end to discuss Napanee's withdrawal and to arrange for the playdowns. The schedule will wind up next Wednesday.

Fare Cheaters

MONTREAL (CP).—A useful maxim for tramway employees given here by Ivan Sheehan, director of investigation for the Montreal Transportation Commission, is "be polite to everybody but trust nobody." He said 171 persons were brought to court last year for failing to pay their fares and all were convicted except two.

Canada May Have Deepest Fresh Lake

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 — (CP). — Canada may have the deepest fresh water lake in North America, the Fisheries Department said Friday.

A depth of 2,064 feet has been recorded in Great Slave Lake, in the Northwest Territories, by the Daphnia, a patrol vessel of the Federal Department of Fisheries.

Great Slave is the fifth largest fresh water lake in North America and the scene of an important commercial whitefish and trout fishery.

Car Hits Truck, Man, Wife Hurt

LINDSAY, Sept. 1 — Two persons suffered abrasions and other slight injuries Friday in a collision between a car and a truck on Highway 35 north of McLaren's Creek.

A truck driven by Ross Lennan of Peterborough was northbound on the highway and making a right turn into a driveway when it was hit by the car, driven by Arthur Abrams of Hamilton.

The front of the car was badly dented and Mr. Abrams suffered wrist abrasions. Little damage was done to the truck.

Police investigating the accident lauded the first-aid work of Harry Pierce of Toronto and of the driver of a gasoline truck, believed to be from Lindsay.

Big Family

RAYMOND, Alta. (CP)—About 120 descendants of the late Eliza Witbeck gathered at a meeting in her honor recently. Mrs. Witbeck, a widow with 13 children, came to Raymond in a covered wagon with the early settlers and her family have been meeting annually for several years.

Canadian Singer Popular Star In London Hit Show Carousel

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON — (CP).— When the musical "Carousel" closes its triumphant London run in mid-October, some of the glamor of day-to-day acting will go out of the life of Vancouver-born Edmund Hockridge.

He'll stay with the show another five months after that, but the company will be on tour in the provinces instead of playing in hallowed old Drury Lane's Theatre Royal.

"It's Britain's No. 1 theatre, to my way of thinking," the tall, 32-year-old Canadian said in a backstage interview. "Playing a lead here is an honor that many actors cherish for a lifetime. That goes for me, too."

The theatre oozes history. First built in 1667 and twice remodelled it still embraces part of the old structure fashioned by Sir Christopher Wren, including 15-foot thick walls. It was originally built on orders of Charles II for Nell Gwynn, and Nell's old dressing-room is still used as a storeroom.

Historic Touch

Another historic touch is that Hockridge now occupies the dressing-room once used by such celebrated actors as David Garrick and Ivor Novello. And when Hockridge moves out in October, the room will be taken over by American singer Mary Martin, opening the Broadway hit "South Pacific."

Hockridge took over the lead in "Carousel" last December. Since then he has played in more than 300 performances, usually to packed houses. A baritone, he brings to the character of Billy Bigelow a vitality and brutal arrogance that breathe life into the part of a "barker."

Colorful Principal

Dressed in thick yellow jerkin, green and yellow tartan pants, and slotted 'kerchief necktie, Edmund loves, fights and sings his way through a three-hour performance.

Two other Canadians in the cast of this Rodgers-Hammerstein musical are singer Robert Burns of Toronto and dancer Matt Winsten from Winnipeg.

When "Carousel" finally folds, after a tour of England and Scotland, Hockridge hopes to visit his mother's home in Vancouver.

Hockridge first came to London in 1940 while in the Canadian Army and from then until his discharge in 1946 had roles in British radio. Then he went back to Canada to work with the CBC, but British Broadcasting claimed him again last autumn.

Edmund now has a home in Beckenham, Kent, and an apartment on the Isle of Wight to which he, his English wife Eileen and his seven-year-old son Ian retire thankfully for an occasional break.

He has been approached by Covent Garden Opera Company with the possibility of a lead in a Benjamin Britten opera, "Billy Budd." Present commitments rule that out, but he hopes a further offer may be made.

"Still, there's plenty of time for opera when I'm older," he says. "I'm happy with more energetic parts at the moment."

Coast Guard Reports UK Sloop Sighted

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The 20-foot sloop Nova Espero, which sailed from Britain with a crew of two, was sighted Friday afternoon eight miles northwest of Provincetown, Mass., the coast guard reported today.

The coast guard said one of its planes sighted a ship at that location at 4:51 p.m. EDT and dropped a message block to the craft.

The boat's crew obeyed the message instructions, thus identifying the vessel as the Nova Espero. The coast guard said the craft started heading toward the Cape Cod canal.

The crew members are Stanley Smith, 35, and Charles Violet, 32. The sloop had been reported missing since it left Nova Scotia on Aug. 17. The boat has no radio.

Savitt Faces Rough Test

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, NY, Sept. 1 —(AP— Dick Savitt, still limping from a painful leg infection, faced perhaps the most severe test of his tennis career today in a quarter-final match against Budge Patty of Los Angeles in the United States singles championships.

The tall star from Orange, NJ, was able to whip Straight Clark of Los Angeles on sheer power in their postponed match yesterday, but against a player of Patty's class one needs to run fast and a whole lot, and there was doubt in the minds of many observers that Dick would be up to it today.

However, Savitt was grimly determined to give it all he had. With the dream of every tennis player—victory in the Australian, Wimbledon and American championships—within sight, the ball pounder from Cornell couldn't afford to let a mere leg stop him at this point.

Given Chance

Tournament officials, anxious to give the stricken star every possible chance to recover, permitted him to wait until the last possible moment before playing Clark. In fact, if the match hadn't gone off in a hurry—6-3, 6-1, 6-3—it probably wouldn't have been finished. For the same reason, Savitt's go with Patty was to be the last thing in today's menu.

In the other quarter-final, Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills was paired against Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who upset Ken McGregor of Australia in the previous round.

It was still possible that there will be a repetition of last year's final between Flam and Art Larsen, though not many thought it possible.

Larsen Friday eliminated 37-year-old Gardnar Mulloy of Miami.

The defending champions biggest test will come Sunday when he tackles Frank Sedgman of Australia in the semi-finals. The Aussie is playing the finest tennis he ever has displayed here.

Sedgman disposed of dynamite Tony Trabert of Cincinnati in five sets.

He spotted Tony the opening set, then settled down to play magnificently and finally collar the 21-year-old Cincinnati boy in the fifth set.

Ex-Jockey Gordon Cox Scheduled To Appear On Perjury Charge

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP). — Ex-jockey Gordon Cox of Hamilton, arrested Friday in connection with the Ontario Racing Commission's enquiry into race fixing at Ontario tracks, is scheduled to appear in court here today on a charge of perjury.

Through his counsel Timothy McKenna, Cox sought and was granted a rehearing of the charge which brought a ruling barring him from racetracks for life. As a result of the re-hearing, provincial police were called in to arrest him on the perjury charge.

To date in the investigation, six riders have been ruled off for life. Cox is the fourth of these to face criminal charges. Two jockeys have received indefinite suspensions and three men, in addition to the jockeys, face criminal charges.

One of the men, Harry (Swaby) Swartz of Toronto, was named Thursday by the Racing Commission as the "Mr. Fix-it" behind jockey bribing at the Fort Erie race track in July.

Swartz surrendered to police Thursday and Friday was refused bail and remanded in custody on two charges of fraud and conspiring to defraud.

Other Masterminds

The Commission indicated today that there were other "masterminds" in the race riggings still at large. As usual a welter of rumors surrounded its activities, but racing circle gossips said a "well known Bay Street promoter" was deeply involved and that the Commission was on his trail.

One charge against Swartz involves former jockey John Perron, who fled to the United States and is sought on a warrant charging conspiracy.

Swartz' wife Ann, described as the "woman in black" who bet $1,500 in US currency on North Drive in a rigged race at the Fort Erie track, may appear before the commission next week.

Location of House on Site Requires Much Planning

There are no set rules governing the relationship of the plan to the site but it is quite logical to assume there should be some consideration given to the minimum distances from the house to the property lines. Most subdivided areas have these minimum requirements incorporated in the restrictions. Care should be taken to relate the location of the house to others in the neighborhood if there are existing homes. Be sure to leave enough space for the various outdoor requirements of the family as analyzed previously. Plan the house to take advantage of the sun, the views and the prevailing winds in the rooms where these gains are most desired.

The location of the solar house, especially, requires a very great deal of forethought and planning. The solar house must be located so as to take advantage of the factors which make this type of house comfortable and livable. By all means, consult an expert if you are considering building a solar house. Only by such a consultation can the best results be obtained.

In the completed project, the house and lot will be inseparable units, so they must complement each other perfectly. A house should so harmonize with its setting that it appears to be integrated with the landscape, and the background should enhance the beauty of the entire setting. As to expense, about 15% of the total investment should be put into the land; the surrounding homes should be of equal or freater value.

TRANSPORTATION — should be available and adequate. It is difficult for a housewife to live in a location which demands two cars, when only one can be afforded.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES— are often the centers of the cultural and recreational interests of the family. In the city, study the neighborhood and development of the city to assure yourself such a center is not doomed to become a blighted area.

In the country, make sure you know of the existing school tax rates, and if new buildings are contemplated.

It may make a difference in your living costs. Most suburban areas now have school buses for your convenience.

SHOPPING—for a family is a difficult task and one which must be performed often. Have access to a shopping center, or make sure you know that one is contemplated near your selected site.

CITY PLUMBING vs. COUNTRY PLUMBING — Many new homes may be beyond the reach of city water mains and sewage systems. Private water supply systems and sewage disposal by septic tanks can be just as satisfactory but you should consult experts in this field for best results in your particular location.

New homes design is so flexible that it adapts beautifully to unusual locations. Interesting effects can be obtained by departing from the conventional to take advantage of a particular site. Before planning or building the home, study the land carefully to discover if there is not some feature which can be expolited to the mutual advantage of both the site and the house itself.

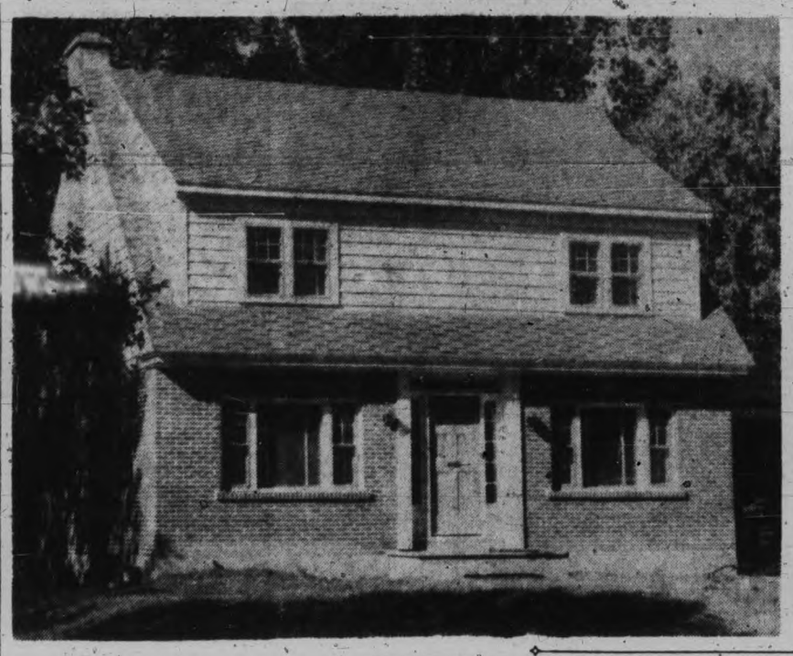
SOLAR—In planning a solar house, new and interesting requirements are demanded of the site. Such houses have a characteristic bank of windows to the south; consequently the view in that direction should be a good one.

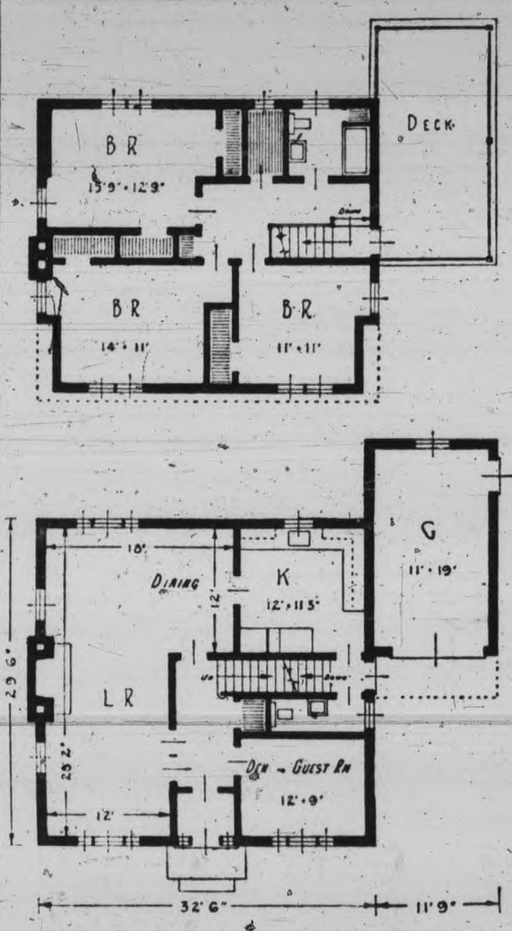
PREVAILING WINDS—Winds play an important part in selecting the site. Many beautiful settings are inaccessible through deep snow in a steep driveway in winter, and even distant factories can carry smoke, dirt, and odor on windy days.

LANDSCAPING— Landscaping is a necessary part of the new home. Where natural advantages are not found, plans should be started immediately for artificial development. Again, it is well to consult a good landscaping firm. Let the planner beware of a highly involved landscaping plan, which may prove expensive initially and a chore to maintain, especially if he plans to do the maintenance work himself.

NATURAL—The beauty of a natural setting is the most economical solution to a landscaping problem. Good trees and shrubbery that can be brimmed for protection and vistas are a fine asset, but be careful of dense growth as the cost of clearing a site may run the price out of reason.

ARTIFICIAL—If yours is a barren location, carry out your landscaping in a series of easy stages. Even before construction work is started, you can begin plantings. Take care to omit all the work surrounding the future building site for at least a distance of 20 feet.





HOUSE NO. 59-15—Completed just recently, this fine home is truly planned for convenient living. It would be hard to imagine a more workable room arrangement. Outstanding is the handling of living-dining rooms in "L"-fashion. Both rooms benefit in increased apparent size, the living room being no less than 28' 2" long. A downstairs washroom is included—a very necessary feature in a home of this size. Upstairs bedrooms all have cross ventilation and a really bountiful supply of closet space. Walls are of red brick with white clapboards above and green trim and roof. Facing this home in an easterly direction with attached garage located on the north side provides a buffer between the kitchen and winter winds. Shelter is provided from garage to kitchen entrance. Contents, excluding garage, approximately 1,850 square feet. For working drawings write Home Building in Canada, 472 Bay St., Toronto.

Certain General Principles Required In Color Schemes

When using color for the purpose of home decorating, there are certain general truths and principles that it will be wise to heed under ordinary circumstances, although occasions arise now and then when some special reason warrants our setting them aside.

One of the simplest as well as most useful principles to observe is to avoid putting a predominant quantity of either a cool color or a dull color in a room with a cold or northern exposure, where the light is cold, less intense, and oftentimes less in quantity than in a room with a warm exposure and a warm, glowing fire.

The reverse of the principle also deserves equal heat—to avoid using a predominant quantity of a warm or advancing color in a room with a warm exposure. With too much warm color in a warm or southern exposure and an abundance of strong light, the effect is likely to be too intense and oppressive.

Warm colors have a tendency to diminish the apparent size of a room in which they predominate. This is more particularly true of red, or of colors in whose composition the red elements predominate, than it is of yellow, or of colors in whose composition yellow predominates.

It is also more especially true of the deeper tones of red and yellow, or of the deeper red and yellow derivatives, than it is of the lighter tones. It is one of the attributes of red that it particularly creates a sense of fullness, richness and warmth.

Yellow, on the other hand, while not deficient in warmth or richness, seems to diffuse and increase light. This strong radiant quality is more noticeable in the lighter tones, so that a small room can often stand a really light yellow without any appreciable loss of apparent size.

"Cool" Colors

Cool colors and the lighter tones of colors taht are not too insistently warm in their composition tend to increase the apparent size of a room in which they predominate in quantity.

Although white and black are not to be accounted as truly colors, they nevertheless have great significance in our dealing with color. White in juxtaposition with color heightens its effect and intensifies its brilliance by raising its key. Black, on the other hand, modifies the effect of color and reduces brilliance by lowering the key. White and black are universal harmonizers.

Incidentally, it is worth pointing out that a pure white wall is really white only in the highlights; elsewhere through the many diffirent reflections it picks up, it displays a variety of colors.

In the composition of a color scheme for a room it is necessary to have some one prevailing or predominating color if the composition is to have any coherence or continuity. If there is no prevailing color the composition will lack balance and be like a weathervane in a variable wind, or like a ship without a rudder. As a compensation it will get nowhere, and will convey only an impression of unconvincing vagueness.

In other words, there must be a color, base or foundation on which to build and about which to incorporate the articulate features.

Good Color Combinations

The following list is one you can follow with safety in the selection of good color combinations:

Orchid combines with flesh pink, white and gray, or pale rose, gold and ivory.

Dahlia combines with shell pink, gray and black; or mauve, blue-green, and violet-black.

Persian blue combines with pale rose, gold and tan; or jonquil-yellow, and sage-green.

Chinese blue combines with gold, black, and vermillion; or gold, gray-green and black.

Indigo blue combines with yellow, black and ivory; or gold, porcelain-blue, and white.

Hyacinth blue combines with flesh pink, mauve, and gray; or leaf-green, pale rose and white.

Wedgwood blue combines with pale yellow, gray, and ivory; or gray, black, and orange.

Salmon combines with powder blue, ivory and black; or ivory, black, and indigo.

When the room is finished in a reflecting color, the atmosphere becomes bright and cheerful, and the additional light relieves the eye-strain caused by poor visability. If a room is insufficiently lighted, the possibility of paint and wallpaper colors as well as other means of illumination should be investigated.

Several colors can increase the volume of light in a room. They also aid materially in dissipating or softening shadows through their reflecting qualities.

There is a wide variation in the effectiveness of wall and ceiling surfaces as light reflectors. Color is the first factor, cleanliness the second, and texture the third.

Predicts Television Will Hurt Advertising

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 1 (CP) — Pat Freeman of Toronto, director of sales and research for the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, told the 15th annual meeting of the western association of broadcasters here Friday that broadcasters must be careful not to drug themselves with "comforting bromides" concerning television.

He said that when television goes into operation in Canada, advertisers and advertising agencies will show great interest in the new advertising media, with the result that less money will be spent on radio advertising.

"Within a decade, with 70,000,000 people viewing color TV, deep inroads will be made into the budgets of all other major (ad ertising) media."

Search Cut Short As Trio Returns

The three, Edward Robitaille, his son, and Popholi Light, left Midland Point Aug. 23 in a 16-foot sailboat for Giant's Tomb on Georgian Bay. They were prevented from returning earlier by adverse winds.

Gen. Ritchie Retires

LONDON, Sept. 1 (Reuters) — Gen. Sir Neil M. Ritchie, 54, until recently military member of the British joint services mission in Washington, retired from the British regular army Wednesday, it was announced Friday night. He formerly commanded the Far East land forces and before that was commander of the British Eighth Army in the Middle East.

NHA Popular Financing Your Own Home

Each year since the end of World War II the financial assistance available under the National Housing Act has enabled more and more Canadians to obtain new houses. You may secure NHA assistance if you are a resident of Canada, at least 21 years of age, and have the necessary down payment and an income that will support the loan.

Applications for loans are made to approved lending institutions. in autumn. The weeping willow and the small-leaf European linden are ideal for moist locations. Evergreens, aside from providing color and wind protection in winter, will also give shade in the summer.

The entrance to your house may be used as the focal point in planning the front area. Neat, low-growing shrubs on each side of the doorway suggest orderliness and they help to break the straight lines of the house.

Open turf areas in front and rear are increasing in popularity owing to their ease of maintenance. Flowering shrubs, such as mock orange, northern bay berry, common purple lilac and spirea are the ideal types to meet border layout problems.

3,000 Laid Off Due To Curbs

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 1 (CP)—More than 3,000 workers have been laid off by industry in Western Ontario during recent weeks, and several thousand others are working three and four day weeks.

Almost unanimously, the situation is blamed on credit restrictions and higher taxes imposed by the federal government in the spring.

This was disclosed in a survey of 13 of Western Ontario's larger towns and cities.

Conditions ranged from Windsor's 1,450 unemployed, and a threat of 1,700 more soon, to a Goderich report that there is less unemployment in Huron County than during the past several years.

National Unemployment Service officials and industrialists in Stratford, Walkerton, Goderich, Woodstock, Chatham and Simcoe reported a favorable employment picture.

Windsor, London, St. Thomas, Sarnia, Brantford, Wallaceburg and Tilbury reported layoffs totalling 3,075. A high percentage of these were employed by firms directly or indirectly concerned with the automotive industry.

Nature Education 1st Hand As Moose Visits School

Written for The Canadian Press By PERCY GHENT

Canadian children who live at the fringe of the wilderness in the various provinces san study their natural history at first hand and close to home.

Whether marine life on the tidal flats of the Maritimes of flocks of wild ducks on prairie ponds and marshes, there is always something exciting to study when crowds and traffic are far away.

But it is not often that anything as thrilling as a moose is obliging enough to call at a school to give the students a chance for close-up observation.

It happened in the little stettlement of Pevensey, in the Algonquin hills of Ontario's Parry Sound district. Morning lessons were in progress in the one-room school when the teacher announced that a great bull moose was peering at the windows from only a few feet away.

Interest In Education

There was a rush to see the animal that seemed interested in getting an education; books were knocked from desks, the whole world represented in a revolving globe for the geography lessons was overturned, and some of the small boys climbed to the top of book shelves for a better view.

It was an enormous animal and battle-scarred, for one horn had been broken off. And there he stood for exciting minutes, studying the pupils with the same concentration that they gave him.

But if schooling meant association with those boisterous young animals behind the glass, it wasn't worth the cost, the moose must have decided, for he turned suddenly and took to the woods again.

Black Fly's Life-Story

Even the most charitable and enthusiastic of nature students wold not hesitate to classify the black fly as an unmitigated pest. Nature, however, appears to have exercised unusual ingenuity to perpetuate the species, pest or not.

Larvae of black flies thrive in rapidly running water, anchored there in a tangle of fine threads on stones, leaves and sticks. Before pupation the insects make minute nests, not unlike swallow nests in design, and glue them to water weeds. Their open ends always point down-strean. But the mature fly has gauzy wings and must use them to escape from the water.

Nature has solved this problem with cleverness worthy of a better use. During the final stage of pupation the skin of the pupa becomes inflated to the breaking point with air extracted from the water. This skin puncture creates a bubble of air which rises to the surface carrying a black fly with it. When the bubble bursts, the mature fly is launched high and dry into the air to commence its nefarious career.

Drop Attempt For Seaway Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) —Senators George Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) and Blair Moody (Dem. Mich.) Friday dropped an attempt to attach an authorization for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway and power project to the pending foreign aid bill.

Both Senators said they had been assured by a majority of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that a separate bill would be given hearings at an early date.

Before the amendment was withdrawn, however, Aiken urged authorization of the project to ease a critical shortage of electric power and iron ore supplies which he said confronts New England, the northeast and the Great Lakes region.

While passing out billions to other foreign countries, Aiken asked if the United States would "refuse to co-operate with Canada in the best investment in the world in terms of economic progress and military security?"

Reappointed Chairman

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Donald Gordon, president of the nationally-owned Canadian National Railways, has been reappointed as chairman and director of the CNR's board of directors for a three-year term, Transport Minister Chevrier announced Friday.

Sheep Awards Go To Paris Man

TORONTO, Sept. 1 — (CP) — Sheep judging finished at the Canadian National Exhibition Friday.

F. Gurney, of Paris, Ont., won the champion ram and ewe awards for Shropshire Downs. George Brien and Sons, of Ridgetown, Ont., had the reserve ram and champion ewe.

Champion Suffoulk Downs ram and reserve ewe were owned by W. Clarkson and Son, of Weston, Ont. The reserve ram was owned by Beath Farms, Oshawa, and the champion ewe by T. C. Glaspell, of Oshawa.

J. H. Willmott, of Milton, Ont., won the champion Hampshire Downs award and R. B. Glasgell, Bowmanville, the reserve and champion ewe. Emke Bros., of Elmwood, Ont., won the reserve ewe class.

Champion Leicester ram and ewe were owned by Ephraim Smell, Clinton, Ont., and Ralph Young, of Caister Centre, Ont., won the reserve ram and ewe award.

In other sheep judging, P. E. Dearing, of Exeter, took first prizes in 10 events for Dorset horned sheep and also won awards for champion and reserve rams and ewes.

Royal Visit Shifts Warkworth Fair Date

WARKWORTH, Sept. 1 (ENS) —The Percy Agricultural Society has made a change in the date of the Warkworth Fair which has always been held on the first Thursday and Friday in October. This year the dates of the Fair are changed to the last Thursday and Friday of September, 27th and 28th, so as not to conflict with the date set for the arrival of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh at the Trenton Air Station.

Among the special features being planned for the fair by the directors of the Agricultural Society is a mammoth parade of decorated bicycles, tricycles, tractors, floats, cars, trucks, etc. with good prizes being offered.

Miners Get Wage Increases No Union Dues Check-Off

TIMMINS, Sept. 1 (CP)—The granting of a wage increase, but no check-off of union dues, has ended a seven-week strike by more than 1,000 workers of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd.

A meeting of upwards of 500 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) Friday night accepted terms of settlement tentatively agreed on in Toronto Thursday after four days of talks between representatives of company and union.

The settlement includes a pay boost of 16 cents an hour, three cents of which is a cost-of-living bonus henceforth to be incorporated in the basic rate. The union lost out in its effort to have dues collected by a deduction from pay cheques, but it obtained the right for its officials to collect dues on company property.

The return to work is scheduled to start Sept. 4, with underground workers preparing the way for a general back-to-work movement.

Wage Committee

A wage committee of union and company men will establish new rates of pay under a job evaluation plan agreeable to both by Nov. 5. Once the rates are established, they will be retroactive to Sept. 4.

William Sefton, the union's international representative in charge of its mining division, said in a statement that the men who were on strike will receive back pay amounting to approximately $100 each.

The agreement also provides for an improved vacation plan of one week after one year, one week and one day after two years, and so on up to five years, when it becomes two weeks.

Grievance procedure and arbitration are provided to settle differences.

The agreement provides for call-in pay for four hours, if the employee goes to work and there is no work, and for four hours' pay also guaranteed for emergency call-outs.

After the union accepted the company settlement offers, Jules Timmins, Hollinger president, issued a statement in which he said he had "the utmost confidence that the Hollinger managerial staff and all employees can work together with the harmony and co-operation which will assure the efficiency required for successful and continued operations of this enterprise."

Introduce New Test Spot Sex Offenders

CHICAGO, Sept. 1—(AP)—A new test, using sexy and non-sexy pictures, spots sex offenders and could help prevent sex crimes, a psychologist said Friday.

The prevention would come through spotting youngsters who are potential sex criminals, and treating them psychiatrically, said Dr. Harold Lindner, clinical psychologist of the Maguire Veterans' Administration Hospital, Richmond, Va.

The test might also tell when it is "safe" for convicted sex offenders to live normally again in society, he told the American Psychological Association.

Musical Program Enjoyed

A combined July and August meeting of All Saints' Women's Church Year was held Thursday afternoon with 54 in attendance. President Mrs. J. Morley opened with prayer and the scripture lesson from Psalm 46 was read by Mrs. J. Goodson. There was a brief business session followed by a thoroughly enjoyable musical program. Guest vocalists were Miss Mabel McLarnon and Master Michael Tunnicliffe, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Flett, and Miss Phyllis Tripp favored with piano solos. The cent-a-day collection amounted to $133.57. Miss Isabel Connolly closed the meeting with prayer and refreshments were later served by Mrs. V. Chandler and Mrs. O. Hurrle, assisted by members of their groups.

Hybrid Car Teachers' Friend

SASKATOON — (CP) — Gertrude and Sheila have a trailer.

Sheila built it and Gertrude pulls it—but that isn't really hard on Gertrude because Gertie is a car, a 1930 Chevrolet with a 1929 Essex body and "a bit of Ford here and there."

Gertie and Sheila Purvis are fast friends. For although Gert is getting on in years, she has carried Miss Purvis and pulled the trailer about 15,000 miles "and never let me down once," says her owner proudly.

Miss Purvis, a school-teacher of Islay, Alta., built the trailer herself. She scorned custom-built parts and ready-made blueprints and designed her own.

On wheels and axle from an old car, she built a six-by-eight foot aluminum-covered cabin furnished with a bed, cupboard, sink, clothes closet and chest of drawer.

This fall Miss Purvis will teach at Grandview school, north of Lloydminster and two miles from the Alberta-Saskatchewan border.

Otonabee Church Wedding Scene — Wade-Graystock

In St. Mark's Anglican Church, Otonabee, on Friday evening at seven o'clock Anne Doreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Graystock, became the bride of Ernest Brian Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wade, all of peterborough. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Walter J. Gilling.

White and pink gladioli decorated the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ankle-length gown of shell pink Chantilly lace over taffeta. Her fingertip veil was of pink illusion caught to a lace bonnet and she wore matching mittens and shoes. Her flowers were a corsage of white gardenias.

Miss Mariott Manley as bridesmaid was frocked in blue chantilly lace over taffeta and wore matching bonnet and mittens and a corsage of pink gladioli and roses. Mr. Julian Wade attended the groom.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1211 Clonsilla Ave. Mrs. Graystock wore a sandstone crepe dress with a black velvet hat and corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother was dressed in deep lilac crepe and matching hat and wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

For travelling to United States the bride wore a beige suit and brown accessories.

Barbara Deyell Is Bride Of Warren T. Marshall

A quiet wedding took place in All Saints' Anglican Church Friday evening at eight o'clock of Miss Barbara Marie Deyell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Deyell, to Mr. Warren Thomas Marshall, son of Mrs. Marshall and the late Fred Marshall, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. M. P. Poole, rector, performed the ceremony in which the couple exchanged rings and vows.

Pastel gladioli were effectively arranged as background for the wedding.

The bride wore an evening length dress of Heart's Desire velvet and a matching headpiece and carried a white prayer book cascaded with white gardenias, baby 'mums and English ivy. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Joan Deyell, who wore a saddle tan velvet evening length dress and matching headpiece of velvet. She carried a colonial nosegay of rust pom pom 'mums.

The groom was attended by Mr. Robert Hanbidge and Mr. William Deyell, brother of the bride, ushered.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Deyell was in navy sheer with navy accessories and wearing a corsage of white button 'mums. Mrs. Marshall was in crepe illusion with matching hat and wearing a corsage of talisman roses.

After a reception for immediate relatives the bride and groom left on a short trip, the bride wearing an imported grey suit with navy hat and accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

They will live at 619 Weller St.

New Dance Studio To Open In City

Irene Chiddenton of the Irene Studio of Dancing, Toronto, is opening a studio in Peterborough this month, at the Loyal True Blue Hall, 339½ George st. She will come to the city each Saturday to instruct pupils four to 18 years of age in ballet, toe, tap and acrobatic dancing and baton twirling.

Miss Chiddenton has successfully conducted a studio of up to 200 pupils for the past eight years. She is qualified in all phases of the dance, having studied extensively in ballet at the Ballet Arts studio, Carnegie Hall, and in tap schools of dancing, New York city. She is a member of the Canadian Dance Teachers Association.

Stressing her opinion that all pupils studying dancing should take ballet, Miss Chiddenton points out: "Ballet is the foundation of all dancing and whether it be in tap or acrobatic dancing, the student cannot be a graceful and successful dancer or figure skater without it as a foundation." She advises parents that ballet dancing will also give poise and assurance in years to come.

Several of her pupils were auditioned and accepted by Leonidoff of Radio City Music Hall for his 1950 CNE grandstand show and several have appeared in television shows.

Miss Chiddenton will be in her Peterborough studio on Saturday, September 8, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., to answer questions and accept registration, and classes will begin the following week. There will be a special tap class for boys.

Weekend Section To Interest Women

Every weekend Weekend, the picture magazine that will come with The Examiner, commencing September 8, will contain well thought-out features and stories of interest to women.

For the first issue distributed locally, women's editor Helen Gougeou has looked at clothes for the Canadian college girls' fall wardrobe and will present two pages of pictures and story of the favorites. Her weekly articles on fashion will be similarly timed to the season.

The "Good Grooming" column each week is written by Kate Aitken and a feature article in the coming edition tells highlights of this versatile woman's life during the 28 years she has been women's director of the Canadian National Exhibition.

Fiction for women, a short short because she is a busy person, in the first issue is titled "A matter of time." The story of a girl who gets an offer to join a South American harem has a startling climax, part of a pattern which could be happening right now — anywhere.

Shower Given Miss Jennie Gray

MARMORA, Sept. 1 (ENS).—Misses Lena Sullivan and Dorothy Airhart were hostesses on Thursday evening at the latter's home at a miscellaneous shower which a number of her friends tendered Miss Jennie Gray, whose marriage to provincial officer Hector Gould takes place next week. A pleasant evening was spent in games. At the appointed time, the gifts were brought in in a parasol trimmed with pink and white. The bride-elect thanked her friends for the lovely gifts.

Refreshments were served before the gathering dispersed.

Stuff Spareribs For Tasty Treat

When stuffing spareribs, use a filling flavored with celery and onions plus some fruit juice or stock. Lacking these, water may be added. Just increase the other flavorings a bit. The meat, when stuffed, is baked slowly until the ribs are crispy brown outside and the inside filling is light and fluffy. Spiced red crab apples or plenty of applesauce are a must with spareribs.

2 sides spareribs (about 4 lbs.), 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, ½ cup chopped celery, ½ cup chopped onion, 3 cups ½-inch bread cubes, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1/16 teaspoon thyme, ½ cup pineapple juice, ½ cup water.

Divide ribs between bones into four equal portion. Melt butter in small skillet. Add parsley, celery and onions. Stir and cook until vegetables are tender. Mix bread cubes, salt, pepper and thyme in large bowl. Mix cooked parsley, celery and onion into bread mixtures. Stir in pineapple juice, mixing to moisten all bread cubes.

Cover half the portions of spareribs with stuffing. Top each with remaining portions of spareribs. Fasten narrow ends of ribs together with skewers or string. Place stuffed ribs on a stack in an open pan. Sprinkle salt over top.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for one hour. Add one-half cup water. Cover and bake one additional hour. Cut into serving pieces.

Clever Trimming Bargain Millinery Good "Hat Trick"

Many women, clinging to their clothing budgets against the tide of rising costs, have discovered the trick of buying their millinery at hat bars or cut-rate counters.

Unfortunately, these "bargains" have a way of looking just like what they are. Cheap artificial flowers, sleazy veils and gaudy ribbons — all these proclaim the origin of such hats. Ofter such unfortunate trimmings distract the from what may be fundamentally a fashion-right shape or a quite acceptable straw or felt.

If you're battling a budget, make a practice of evaluating the fancy touches on your inexpensive purchases. It's a poor assumption that a low-cost hat is ready to wear simply because it is ready-trimmed.

It's a good idea to strip an unpleasing hat as soon as you get it home. Avoid wearing it once to test its reception; you'll be too prone to let it go as it is indefinitely.

Individuality

Actually, by stripping your hat and choosing your own trimmings you're giving yourself an opportunity to express your individuality and to choose just-right accents to complement your costumes.

A bit of thinking in the quiet of your home, will make it evident that an American Beauty rose is not the thing for your black hat if you're to wear it with your tomato-colored suit. But such details tend to escape most women in the hurly-burly of shopping. Having made their choices, they sometimes feel they're stuck with them till hat-buying season comes again.

Nude Footwear Not Good Taste 'In Any Situation

Many women this season, following the trend for bare, open shoes, are tripping away from common sense and good taste.

It's a mistake to yield to the delicate colors and dainty styling of these new shoes without first considering where you'll be wearing them.

If your budget calls for only one pair of shoes this fall, make certain your purchase will fit appropriately into any situation.

This doesn't mean you're restricted to heavy, unimaginatively-styled, dark-colored shoes. It does mean you should avoid wearing extremely high-heeled strip sandals with your work-a-day suits to your office or shop.

If your job behind the counter or on a production line requires standing a great deal, you'll probably find that the beguilingly light and airy shoes offer less support to your arches and ankles than is needed.

You'll find this true, also, if your daily chores are housewifely ones. Long hours on your feet when you prepare meals or do your grocery shopping are likely to make you long for substantial footwear.

If, however, you can afford a pair of shoes to accent certain costumes, nothing could be more complimentary to your tip-to-toe femininity than these pastel-hued, feather-weight slippers.

Battle of Three R's Starting Check On Physical Needs

Back to the old grind go Mother and the kids—from six to 16 years—on Tuesday. Alarm clocks, silent the past two months, will ring again in time for her to serve breakfast and the kids to meet the nine o'clock deadline at school. The old battle of The Three R's is on and the junior members of the household won't be around to run errands to the store, dry the dishes and tidy up the living room.

It is assured that The Three R's are still the basis of education, in spite of grandmother's head-shaking. The National Education Association points out the amount of time now spent on 'readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic is four times as great as it was a century ago and schools are teaching them better than ever. In addition the child gets health opportunities through sports and recreational activities that contribute to bodily health and shaping the emotions and social behavior.

Future leaders in science are now in school and the program is designed to meet the needs of children curious about natural phenomena and problems related to science in their daily lives. Vocational education and social studies round out a training that fits them as adults for a better place in human relationships.

Physical Needs

But most parents wisely leave the curriculum to someone else and concern themselves with looking after the physical needs of their children. They plan good meals, especially a nourishing breakfast with lots of milk and materials for body building and fueling, and then they look to the outward appearance of the youngsters.

The modern mother is realizing that with fashion shows for juniors each season it is now more than ever important to their morale that there be style as well as wearability in school-going clothes.

A visit to the most completely stocked children's department in the city this week revealed an interesting style story. The fashionable young Miss and Mr. are being catered to by designers and their clothes have definite fall 1951 aspects.

Velvet Is Leader

Richly colored velvet is the leader—in new coat and hat sets for the kindergartener and the older girl. Then there is the girls' Red River outfit which has been remodelled and now has a full back coat, a full hood, and slacks with inside storm cuffs. This store features adjustable sleeves and hems on most of the coats, a boon to the budget.

To give daughter a wardrobe like a young princess there is a four-piece ensemble that can be worn eight different ways. Cape and weskit are plain material one side and checked material the other and there is a skirt of each material.

Slacks Like Dad's

The young man of four to eight can get a pair of gabardine slacks made exactly like dad's. Most of the school boys are getting short pants and tee shirts just now, and smart, plaid cotton cardigans. Later on they will wear station wagon coats with mouton collars, available in sizes from four up.

Corduroy and plaid follow velvet closely in jumpers and jackets and there are corduroy roller hats and felts with velvet brims highlighted with a glamor pin. Girls like the long-sleeved blouses with elastic at the wrist so they can push them up to show their bracelets.

Check Shoe Comfort

New outfits for school mean, above all, new shoes. Since children's feet may have grown a full size during the holidays they should be accurately checked for proper fitting. Health authorities recommend three quarters of an inch space allowed at the toe and the correct width should allow sufficient space so that leather may be pinched between the fingers.

Fashion Flashes

Very rich trimming marks many of the handsome ensembles designed for the mature woman. Black silk faille for a fine suit with blouse of red silk crepe to match the jacket lining. The fitted jacket is trimmed at pockets and collar with ball fringe that edges braid and jet bead embroidery.

Holding out the full skirt of many a youthful date dress for fall is the crinoline petticoat. This type of skirt, posed over crinoline, is a feature of a pretty dress of iridescent taffeta overplaided in velvet. The deep neckline is marked by a horizontal fold that projects double point edging and extends across the shoulders.

A standby in any wardrobe is a good little suit of worsted jersey. This fabric in a deep purple is used for a slim, soft suit; the jacket braid bound, jet-buttoned and lined with cherry-purple satin.

Looking new is the full-skirted waist-nipped coat of velvet or rich silk fabrics. Black velvet makes a coat of this type with a large capey collar standing away at the back of the neck. Two slanting pockets below pintucks that round the hipline. Two double-breasted rows of jewelled buttons above the slim waist.

Variety is the keynote of fall and winter millinery with much use of satin as well as of velvet. Star of a fashion show was a hat of white felt, its wide, rippling brim covered with natural white fox. With the hat, a barrel muff of the fur.

No matter the temperature, about now, city children, apparently wearying of summer clothes parade in smart black, choosing dresses with a definite fall flavor but in very light fabrics. Pleats fashion the low V neckline and midriff of a black tissue faille frock and the skirt, of unpressed fine pleating, is tied at the waist with black velvet ribbon.

What's Right?

You are paid a compliment.

WRONG: Deny the truth of the statement in order to appear modest.

RIGHT: Accept the compliment in a pleased, gracious manner.

DOROTHY DIX

Do Not Sever Former Ties When Couple Are Engaged

DEAR MISS DIX: Am I selfish to expect my fiance to give up his friends for me? We always seem to be arguing over this problem, as he feels free to go with them the nights he is not with me—which is about three or four nights a week. However, he does not approve of me going out with girl friends. I think we should both give up our friends except for an occasional visit or a double date. I can't understand how a man who is engaged can go out for good times with the boys. Will he settle down when we are married?

GINNY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A happy medium is the best solution to your problem—as it is to almost everything. Most engaged couple become so wrapped up in each other that all former friends are neglected and eventually lost — a most unwise policy. The glamour of romance doesn't last very long and it soon becomes apparent that two people cannot be as self-sufficient as they were in courting days. No friends ever fully take the place of old ones, who grow more dear as the years go by.

They Take Second Place

With marriage, the companions of our youth should be relegated to second place, of course, but not abandoned completely. Your fiance may be overdoing the good times he has with the old gang, but the real error here is his insistence that you give up your friends. This you should absolutely refuse to do. On the nights he is out without you, you should be free to go to movies, for walks—even skating or bowling—with other girls.

It is, to say the least, unusual for a man in love to willingly spend so much time away from his sweetheart. You should know his temperament by now, and it is up to you to judge whether or not his devotion will carry over to the restraint of married life. If he is too set on having good times now, you do well to question his stability.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can a group of office girls cope with a co-worker, whom I shall call Jane, who is constantly braggring about the wonderful work she does and how indispensible she is? She always has to have the best of everything — if one of us has a new dress, she boasts of one she has that's ten times better. Then, she has a boy friend with whom she is very much in love. We are constantly told how wonderful he is, but he is always breaking dates with her, sometimes neglects her completely for days on end, never gives her a gift—even on her birthday. We have to listen to all these details, but she pays no attention to anyone else's stories.

THREE GIRLS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Jane is a very confused girl, and a little help from one of you girls may mean a lot to her. Something—perhaps the miserable treatment she is receiving from the man she loves, or perhaps something earlier in her life—has given her a very warped outlook on the world, and her only sense of security comes through the importance she acquires in her own eyes by constant bragging. This is the simplest, and most frequent, form of self-delusion. Be assured, behind this false front of braggadocio lives a very hurt and very bewildered young lady. Dependable friends could help overcome her inferiority. Change your attitude towards her; instead of seeing Jane as an obnoxious interloper, try to understand her difficulty and by helpful suggestion you might even succeed in getting her a new boy friend and a new interest in life.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 16 and am forbidden by my parents to go with boys. They are going on a vacation this summer and I will be staying with relatives. I am sure these relatives will give me their permission to go with boys, and since they are taking care of me wouldn't it be all right for me to go out under these circumstances?

LORRAINE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It most certainly would not! Since you are perfectly well aware of your parents' attitude on the subject, you'd be guilty of willful disobedience to take advantage of their absence.

Apples In Season Easy On Budget

Fruits and vegetables in season always appear in menus served by the smart housewife. Right now that means apples. In sauce, cake, fried garnishes, the apple is king. Served for breakfast, lunch or dinner, as after-play or before-bedtime snacks, eaten raw or cooked, apples are refreshing and good-tasting. And, since they are in season, they don't draw too heavily on the budget.

Here are several tasty apple recipes:

Apple Sauce Cake

¼ cup vegetable shortening
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup apple sauce
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup chopped raisins
½ cup chopped dates

Blend together, shortening, sugar, salt and egg. Add apple sauce alternately with sifted dry ingredients. Stir in nuts, raisins and dates. Pour into flat pan (6" x 10" x 2") lightly greased and dusted with flour. Bake in moderate over (350° F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Allow to cool.

Fried Apple Rings

(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

4 medium-sized cooking apples.
Powdered sugar.
Crisco for pan frying.

Wash apples. Cut into slices without paring. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Pan fry lightly in hot vegetable shortening.

WHALE OIL

Twelve Barrels of oil can be obtained from the fat around the head of one Sperm whale.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: . . . regarding the canned rhubarb (cold running water recipe) I'll tell you my experience of last year. I tried it for the first time last year—doing 3 pints only. The only place I had to store them was in my attic closet (I have an apartment), and I know that closet must have registered 80 or 85 deg. a good share of the summer as it is always hotter than the apartment proper. When I made pies from it they turned out beautifully. So for "Mrs. J." I'd say give it a trial no matter where it's stored—the possible loss is only the rhubarb anyway. I find your column very interesting and look for it every time.—Mrs. FHT.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I hope you saw the milk powder talk and recipes in last Thursday's column.

Thank you for the rhubarb instructions.

QUESTION: Would you please help me out on a couple of problems. First: Will drinking black coffee between meals put on weight and will one ear of corn without butter put on weight? I have one of your calorie charts but do not understand what the weight in grams means. Could you explain it in your column one day soon.

I was wondering if you could tell me what happens to my cucumber pickle. They look lovely until I pour the hot vinegar on them, then they all shrink up and turn brown. Would you please print a recipe for plain cucumber pickle soon, not too sour.—Mrs. CWT.

ANSWER: Clear black coffee contains no calories and will not put on weight. One-half cup of corn cut from the cob after cooking contains 100 calories without any butter. Twenty-eight decimal four grams equal one ounce. Where the chart says 100 grams that is equivalent to approximately 3½ ounces.

Pickled cucumbers shrink or shrivel because they are placed in too strong solutions of brine, vinegar or sugar. Shrivelled pickles will result from using cucumbers that have been picked too long. Pickles should be made from strictly fresh cucumbers. Sweet pickles very often shrivel due to the combination of overcooking in a vinegar-syrup that contains too much vinegar and too much sugar.

I hope you saw my column on Monday, August 27th.

Cucumber Pickle (short process—medium-sweet)

One gallon fresh 3 or 3½ inch cucumbers, 4 cups sugar, 1 cup salt, 1 cup water, 1½ quarts vinegar, 2 tablespoons mixed whole spices. Wash the cucumbers and wipe them dry. Dissolve the salt in 1 gallon cold water and pour over the cucumbers. Let stand 24 hours and drain. Puncture each cucumber 3 times with a needle. Combine half of the sugar, with the vinegar, water and spices. Simmer this liquid for 30 minutes. Add cucumbers to liquid and continue to simmer for 15 minutes. Let stand in clean crock for two days. Drain off the liquid and pack pickles in clean hot jars Add the remaining two cups sugar to the liquid and boil liquid for 5 minutes, pour over pickles and seal.

QUESTION: (Recently) you mentioned Elsie's Fluffy Icing. I am wondering if it is the same icing I call "Judy's Icing." This recipe I have never, never fails and I am glad to pass it on for Mrs. WSE's benefit:

Judy Icing: Cream 2 table spoons butter or margarine and add and cream 2 tablespoons top milk; add 1 heaping cup sifted icing sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla; then add 1 unbeaten egg, and beat all with Dover beater.

Set in bowl of very cold water or cracked ice and add 2 squares melted chocolate and beat all together with a rotary beater—or better, a mixmaster set at fastest speed. Don't have your melted chocolate too hot when adding it to the other ingredients.

Our favorite cake under this icing is as follows:

Chocolate Walnut Cake: ½ cup butter, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1 cup white sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten; sift once together ½ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup broken walnut meats. Oven at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30-35 minutes. Leave cake in pan and ice with Judy Icing when cold.—KS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thanks KS. I sincerely hope Mrs. WSE sees this letted from you and that this clears up Elsie's Fluffy Icing troubles for good.

MENZIES—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Thomas James Menzies who passed away Sept. 2, 1950.

Asleep in God's beautiful garden
Sheltered from sorrow and pain
Safe in God's wonderful keeping
Until we shall meet him again.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

MEREDITH—In loving memory of a dear husband who passed away one year ago Sept. 2, 1950.
He suffered patiently and long,
His hope was bright, his faith was strong
The peace of Jesus filled his breast
And in His arms he sank to rest.
—Lovingly remembered by wife.

MEREDITH—In loving memory of a dear father Wm. Meredith who passed away Sept. 2, 1950.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Lovingly remembered by sons and families.

Peterborough and Ashburnham by 1900 had come a long way since Scott's little mill was built on the Otonabee plain, and even the fifty years since 1850 had wrought enormous changes. Peterborough, incorporated 1850 with 2,000 people, and Ashburnham, incorporated 1858 with about 900, both had ambitious hopes, which were realized by Peterborough and Ashburnham united (in 1903). Only a few civic leaders saw the half-century through—Wm. Cluxton, John Carnegie, T. E. Bradburn, Jas. Stevenson, Henry Best, Frank Dobbin, E. H. D. Hall, W. M. Helm, John Hartley, Peter Hamilton, Ed. Phelan, J. Z. Rogers, H. T. Strickland, Richard and Henry Winch, Chas. Stapleton, Giles Webber and Wm. Yelland. Their feelings were summarized by Mayor Stevenson on opening the new market hall in 1889: "To those who have seen Peterborough grow from a village of 1,500 inhabitants, as I have, the hope can be cherished that their children will see it a city of 30,000 people before another thirty years . . ." To the senior citizens in a busy 1951 industrial metropolis of 37,000 people who can still remember the "lively go-ahead little town" which was Peterborough in the 1890s, this historical series is dedicated.

Sinatra Denies Overdose Of Sleeping Pills

LAKE TAHOE, Calif., Sept. 1—(AP)—Crooner Frank Sinatra today denied rumors he swallowed an overdose of sleeping pills in an attempt at suicide.

"I've never heard anything so damn wild and ridiculous," Sinatra told reporters.

Referring to rumors which said he took the pills after a spat with screen actress Ava Gardner, Sinatra said:

"This would be a hell of a time to do away with myself. I've been trying to lick this thing for two years and I've practically got it licked now."

His friends said that was a reference to his wife's refusal to free him so he could marry Miss Gardner.

Plans To Marry

Sinatra, who's fulfilling singing engagements in Nevada, now is establishing divorce residence there. He says he'll marry Miss Gardner after that.

He gave this account of what probably started the suicide rumors:

"This whole thing took place Monday night, which makes me laugh.

"Ava and I were out that night and I drank a lot of brandy. When I dropped Ava off and went back to my place I couldn't sleep, and no wonder.

"So I got up and took a couple of seconal tablets, but they kind of stuck in my chest. I got a little worried and called a friend of mine who runs the steak house over there . . . and he sent me a doctor.

"He . . . gave me a glass of warm water with some salt in it. It made me throw up and I was all right."

7,300 Children

Another room will be opened in the Prince of Wales basement for one of the grades. The same plan has been followed in Grove school so that now they will have six regular classrooms, two of them in the basement, one more than last year.

Mr. Wightman said the board has all the teachers it expects to require for the year. Of the new members of the staffs, four of them are last year's graduates from the Norman School.

"They are all promising additions to the school staffs," said the superintendent.

A revised course of study will be started in Grades 7, 8, 9 and 10. It is a course prepared by a committee of local teachers and approved by the provincial Department of Education.

New texts for spelling and arithmetic in Grades 3 to 8 will be introduced. And Grades 7 and 8 will have a new reader.

While the children have been holidaying, caretakers and workmen have been sprucing up and cleaning the schools. Some repairs have also been made. At Queen Mary school the walks and approaches to the north and south of the building have been repaired. The parking area has been shifted from the north-east corner to the north-west corner.

The most easily noticed improvement at Prince of Wales school is the new lawn that was sodded in front of the new primary wing and has taken root. Other minor repairs have also been made.

At Grove school plumbing has also been piped in for the first time.

Fluorescent lights have been installed in four rooms at the collegiate, and the gymnasium floor has been refinished. Washrooms and locker rooms have been painted.

A new sheet metal shop will soon be ready in South Central school for day and night classes. Most of the equipment is now in and a little later in September the shop will be ready.

It looks as though the schools are ready for you kids. Are you ready for them?

Clearly a Steve Brodie of the animal world!

Moving still further downstream, the voyageur enters more placid reaches of the river, which differ from those above the gorge, where the present flat terrain is in the form of a large beaver-meadow which yields each year a lush harvest of marsh hay. As we proceed, we find the river lined on both sides with an almost unbroken wall of stratified limestone, as far down as the old dam some half a mile below. The banks, in the main, rise sheer from the water, though to no such height as that of the towering Scaur, but all around the old watermarks give us a clue to what happened in the flatter areas which once were overspread at the river searched out its mile-wide span.

Funeral Cash Stolen From Widow 82

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 1—(AP)—An 82-year-old widow started a new savings account on Friday to pay for her funeral.

Mrs. Mary Lander had collected $300 but lost it Thursday to a thief who entered her apartment while she was visiting friends. The money came from her $44 monthly old-age pension.

She planned to make arrangements with a funeral director next week but said "I guess I should have gone this week."

Mutual Defence Treaty Link In Pacific Alliance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1—(AP)—The United States, Australia and New Zealand today sign a mutual defence treaty extending western security guarantees over a vast new area of the world.

It provides another link in a future Pacific-wide military alliance against the Communist threat and is a curtain-raiser for next week's Japanese peace conference.

Arriving by plane yesterday, State Secretary Dean Acheson in an obvious reference to Russia said the days ahead would show which are the peaceful nations and which are those that "talk peace while taking action that may impair and prevent the strengthening of peace."

Signed In San Francisco

The tripartite pact will be signed at the historic Presidio of San Francisco, headquarters of the US Sixth Army.

It provides for consultation of the three countries in event any one of them is threatened in the Pacific area. More importantly it specifies:

"Each party recognizes that an armed attack in the Pacific area on any of the parties would be dangerous to its own peace and safety and declares that it would act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

Just before signatures are penned on the three-way treaty, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is scheduled to lead Russia's 39-member delegation into town for the Japanese peace treaty conference. That conference will be opened by President Truman Tuesday night at the San Francisco memorial opera house, birthplace of the United Nations.

Japs Arrive

A 20-member Japanese delegation to the peace treaty conference arrived in Honolulu Friday night and is due here Sunday. The delegation is led by Premier Shigeru Hoshida.

Today's treaty signing, like the conclusion in Washington Thursday of a similar US-Philippines defence pact, stands "with the Japanese peace treaty—set for signing Sept. 8—as part of a great allied plan to secure the Pacific against any extension of Communist power.

The tripartite and US-Philippines treaties are beyond Russia's reach. But Gromyko is expected to do his utmost to wreck, stall or delay the signing of the Japanese treaty, which the United States and Britain are sponsoring as the keystone of the whole security project.

Parents Killed In Rail Crash

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 1 (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Koch, both 26, of Waterloo, were killed Friday when their car was struck by a train at a level-crossing near Allanford, 12 miles west of here. Their two children, Larry, 4, and Linda, 5 months also in the car, were uninjured.

The accident occurred in heavy rain at a crossing on the Grey and Bruce County line. View of the slanting crossing is somewhat obscured by banks.

The impact of the crash flipped the Koch car upside down in a ditch. Koch, fatally injured, was thrown clear of the car but Mrs. Koch was trapped beneath it and, doctors say, may have suffocated.

The family was returning to Waterloo from a vacation spent in this district.

Cork Between Teeth Sure Cure For Burping

LONDON, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—A British medical expert today came up with a cure for burping—hold a cork between your teeth.

Writing in the Medical Journal Practitioner, Dr. A. K. Black said, however, many people don't want to be cured—they like burping—and it becomes a habit.

The burp—he used the term belch—as caused by swallowing air, he said.

To stop burping all you have to do is to stop swallowing air and the best way to do this is to keep your mouth open in moments of stomach discomfort. He recommended the cork treatment.

Find Japan In Better Shape Than Countries She Fought

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, NY, Sept. 1 (AP)—Defeated Japan will enter the San Francisco Peace Conference next Tuesday in better economic condition than most of the Asian neighbors she fought in the Second World War.

This was disclosed in a survey of the economic commission for Asia and the Far East which was published by the United Nations Friday night.

The commission warned, however, that Japan eventually will face serious difficulties because of the stoppage of trade with Communist China and her dependence on the United States for scarce raw materials.

In some fields, the survey indicated, Japan already has climbed above the prewar level to take the lead again as the dominant industrial and commercial country of the Far East.

The Japanese also are among the best-fed peoples of Asia, the report showed. With the food supply estimated at 2,100 calories a person daily, the Japanese now are near the 1934-38 level and are far ahead of such countries as India (1,702 calories) and Indo-China, (1,565 calories).

Surpass Pre-War

In mining and industrial production, the survey showed, Japan has surpassed prewar figures in such fields as electricity, iron ore and pig iron. In steel, chemicals and cement, Japan has not yet reached prewar levels, but showed substantial gains last year over 1949.

Japan's steel production in 1950 was 3,471,000 metric tons, as compared with the 1936 production of 4,548,000 tons. Despite this lag, however, Japan turned out more than three times as much steel as India, her closest industrial rival in Asia.

The survey showed Japan was one of the few Asian countries to have more locomotives and railroad cars in 1950 than before the war. Japan also leads all Asian countries in the number of commercial motor vehicles in use, although several others have more motor vehicles.

While imports to the Far East from Britain and the US dropped, Japan increased her trade in the region. Asian imports from Japan during the second half of 1950 were about 120 per cent above the corresponding period of 1949.

A major factor in Japan's recovery, the survey points out, was American financial grants totalling close to $2,000,000,000 since 1946.

Bottles, Fists Fly In Fracas

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Three men were charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace Friday in the wake of a free-wheeling donnybrook in which beer bottles were thrown and seven persons were injured.

William Leach, 18, Beverley Lacey and Oddie Brocker, all of Ottawa, were charged as a result of the fracas, which occurred in the early morning-hours outside the Glenlea Golf and Country Club. They will appear in court today.

Leach and Lacey were among the injured, none of whom were seriously hurt. Most of the casualties were treated at hospital here and in Hull for cuts and bruises.

Police said the no-holds-barred fight apparently developed from an argument among a group of men leaving the club. The fight spread and others joined in. Windshields were smashed on two cars parked outside of the club before Quebec Provincial Police quelled the disturbance.

Percy Twp. Sets Record Tax Rate

WARKWORTH, Sept. 1 (ENS)—At the last regular session of the Percy township council the tax rate for 1951 was set with a total of 81.5 mills. Owing to a deficit last year of $7,500 in the expenditures, the highest rate in the history of the township is needed.

The following are the rates: county rate, 16 5-10 mills; township rate, 26 mills; high school rate, 12 2-10 mills.

Those living in the Norwood school area will pay 3 6-10 mills. General school rate 8 3-10 mills; trustee rate for the village of Warkworth is 14 6-10 mills.

There is no police village rate this year as there was a surplus last year and the Commissioners this year have spent little on improvements except painting the parking lines on Main street.

Two O'Briens Meet Informally In Crash

Two O'Briens who are no relation crashed on the Warsaw road Friday night about two miles east of the city.

One, Leo O'Brien, RR 10, Peterborough, stopped behind a truck that had broken down on the road. He told police he was waiting for two oncoming cars to pass the truck when his car was struck in the rear by a car diven by Fergus O'Brien, RR 1, Douro.

Police said the truck driven by Ross Lennan, of Peterborough, was parked without lights on. Lennan wasn't at the scene at the time of the accident.

The rear end of Leo OBrien's truck was badly damaged, but only the headlights and front bumper of Fergus O'Brien's car were damaged.

Provincial Constable T. H. Fitzpatrick investigated.

Smash Currency Ring

BOMBAY, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—Customs officials said Friday they had smashed a ring for smuggling currency out of India with the seizure of $147,000 worth of bills at Bombay's Santa Cruz airport. They said the money—rupees, dollars and sterling—was cunningly concealed in parcels consigned to various foreign countries.

Jailed 4 Years

AUGSBURG, Germany, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—An American occupation court Friday sentenced a German mechanic, Robert Foreth, 25, to four years in prison for spying for Czechoslovakia.

Collapses In Heat

ELKHART, Ind., Sept. 1 (AP)—Frank Eagen, Jr., 31, collapsed late Friday in 85-degree heat. And small wonder. He had been working in the cooler at the Hygrade Packing Plant where the temperature was 38. The 47-degree difference in temperature caught up with him when he took his dog to a veterinarian's office.

Lion Season

For no good reason at all, September came in like a lion, August went out like a lion, and between the two of them left people wet and shivering in 1.38 inches of rain and almost a 30-degree difference in temperature.

High temperature Friday was 77, but the rain and a cool east wind combined to make it 47 degrees for the night low. Temperature at 9 a.m. today was 51. Bright sun today was expected to push the high temperature to the 70's.

Shoots It Out With Rustlers

UXBRIDGE, Sept. 1 — A band of cattle rustlers shot it out with farmer Jack Manley early Friday when he found them near his barn.

Just as police arrived some of them drove off in a light panel truck and others fled into the fields and escaped.

Manley went to his barn at about 2 am after he heard noises. When he challenged the unseen intruders they opened fire on him. He shot back with his rifle, then went for OPP Constable Victor Proctor. Then other police were sent to the farm.

When they arrived, some of the rustlers had driven off and the rest were hidden in Manley's darkened fields. Police chased them until 8 o'clock Friday morning without success.

"They just disappeared into thin air," Proctor said.

Manley's farm is on the Fifth Concession near here.

Constable Proctor said the rustlers apparently planned to shoot the cattle and then load their carcasses into the light truck. Manley has about 15 head of cattle.

Proctor said about 12 head had been stolen in the Uxbridge area in the past year.

Held In Shooting

DETROIT, Sept. 1 (AP)—Charles Bashlor, 16-year-old Detroit youth, sought in the slaying of a banker in Florida, was picked up Friday night by police acting on a tip from one of his girl friends. Bashlor, described by police as a "lone wolf, anti-social psychopath," is wanted on a charge that he shot John E. Stephenson, a bank president, Sunday while prowling about the banker's home.

Enlarging Bank

GENEVA, Sept. 1 (Reuters)—The Red Cross announced Friday it has accepted a US invitation to send a delegation to the San Francisco conference to discuss indemnities to victims of the Second World War in the Far East.

Boxer In Coma Two Days After Knockout

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—Boxer George Flores still was in a coma Friday. Dr. Vincent A. Nardiello, state athletic commission physician, said his condition was "very grave."

Flores, a 20-year-old welterweight, has been unconscious more than 40 hours. He lapsed into the coma in his dressing room in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night after he had been knocked out in the eighth and last round of a semi-final by Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, N.Y.

Nardiello said Dr. James Daniels who operated on Flores for the removal of a blood clot on the left side of his brain Thursday morning, would make a fourth spinal tap late today. Nardiella said that the third tap Friday morning showed a decrease in brain pressure.

"Flores remains unconscious with a temperature of 102.2, and he is packed in ice to hold the temperature down," said Dr. Nardiello. "He has a blood clot in mid-brain which cannot be reached by an operation. This is keeping him unconscious and it must dissolve by nature if he is to live. Every minute he remains alive, the better are his chances."

If he recovers Flores will never fight again, his 18-year-old bride vowed today.

It was learned that Flores is not an orphan as was reported earlier. His father is dead, but his mother, Mrs. Consuelo Capp, has remarried and lives in Ottawa.

Mrs. Wm. Faiers Buried

The funeral service for Mrs. William Faiers, 829 Lansdowne St., who died Monday in her 77th year, was held Wednesday in the Nisbett Funeral Home.

The Rev. F. J. Whan of Park St. Baptist Church officiated.

Pallbearers were her seven sons, Ernest, Jarry, William, John, George, Frederick and Thomas. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Clothes For Koreans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—President Truman has called on his country to co-operate in a drive to collect 20,000,000 pounds of used clothing during September for the men, women and children of Korea. Million Dollar Fire

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 1 (AP)—Flames spread by shattering explosions destroyed the Mumford Company insulation manufacturing plant Friday night with damages estimated by police at $1,000,000.

Are you in the know?

To revive that vacation-time romance, try—
☐ A long distance call
☐ A short note
☐ A torchy letter

Has distance made your summer-resort Romeo forgetful? Don't phone! To recall those happy days, try a short note—about a book, movie or platter he'd be interested in. A light approach is the safest "reminder". So too, when your calendar reminds you it's that day—get Kotex. For that special safety centre and soft, moisture-resistant edges give you extra protection. What's more, those flat pressed ends of Kotex keep your secret safe!

Three guesses what's in this refrigerator?
☐ Apple pan dowdy
☐ An angora sweater
☐ A sweet treat

Think she's searching for a snack? Guess again! She's retrieving her best angora sweater. If your sweater's a fuzz shedder, wrap in a hand towel and pop it into the "cooler", overnight. Makes angora fuzz stay put. And here's another tip: At certain times, you needn't be befuzzled as to which Kotex absorbency to choose. Just try all 3 (different sizes for different days). You already know that Kotex is specially made to stay soft while you wear it.

3 ABSORBENCIES: Regular, Super, Junior

More women choose KOTEX* than all other sanitary napkins!

*T.M. Reg.

How to prepare for certain days?
☐ Circle your calendar
☐ Perk up your wardrobe ☐ Buy a new belt

Before "that" time, be ready! All 3 answers can help. But to assure extra comfort, buy a new Kotex sanitary belt. Made with soft-stretch elastic — this strong, lightweight Kotex belt's non-twisting . . . non-curling. Stays flat even after many washings. Dries pronto! So don't wait till the last minute, buy a new Kotex belt now.

KOTEX SANITARY BELT . . . Buy two — for a change!

P.S. Have you tried Delsey*? Delsey is the new bathroom tissue that's safer because it's softer. A product as superior as Kotex . . . a tissue as soft and absorbent as Kleenex*. (We think that's the nicest compliment there is.) Won't you try Delsey next time?

Clean-up Midways Demands Better Business Bureau

For its front page feature story Thursday, the Ottawa Journal selected a demand from the Ottawa Better Business Bureau for a ban on "rigged carnival show wheels and 'gyp' gambling games at next year's Central Canada Exhibition Midway."

The eight column, 84-point, two line streamer heading was: "Midway Gyp Games, Girl Shows Under Gun, Demand 'Ex' Clean-Up."

Ottawa Exhibition was last week from Monday, Aug. 20 to Saturday, Aug. 25, inclusive.

During the same week Peterborough Exhibition midway including games and a girl show was occupied by Bernard and Barry.

Previously, Oshawa Fair, of which Dr. W. H. Gifford is president, leased its midway space experimentally to Oshawa Lions and B'Nai B'Rith clubs.

Cleaned of Thousands

"With a file of evidence giving details of how Midway patrons were cleaned of thousands of dollars by "fast-counting games run by fast-talkin sharpies," the Bureau was going direct to the Exhibition directors at their next meeting," as reported in the Journal's story.

"Along with the evidence, The Journal learned, would go a demand in the strongest possible terms that no such shows be permitted on the Midway next year.

The Ottawa Board of Trade also reported complaints of Midway "gyp" artists. Together, both organizations represent a majority of the Capital's leading merchants —the Bureau acting as the watchdog of the trade in the interest of better business practices.

Some of Complaints

Among complaints received by business organizations were those of wage-earners who had been stripped in a matter of minutes of a week's salary. While there were no objections to the element of chance in the games, there were strong protests about the chance being completely eliminated in favor of the "carney" operator.

Some of the complaints alleged "indecency" in the Midway girl shows. The Journal learned that the Exhibition directors have held up the signing of a new contract for 1952 with the World of Mirth Midway.

H. H. McElroy, general manager of the Exhibition, said none of the directors, so far as he knew, had heard any complaints.

Complaints reported through business men also included: (1) rides had been slowed down and the number of turns cut; (2) in many cases there was nothing inside the tent to back up the spiel of the pitchman outside."

Apart from the Ottawa denunciation of the recent Midway in its midst, official comment has been sometimes heard to the cynical effect that "if people are fleeced at such games, it is their own fault; they should not take a chance on gambling."

The nub of the Ottawa story is that games can be controlled by their operators to the extent that the public hasn't a chance to win.

Britain Preparing To Scrap Outdated Living Cost Index

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—Britain's outmoded cost-of-living index, based on working-class budget expenditures in 1937, wil be scrapped as soon as a more accurate yardstick can be fashioned from the results of a nation-wide survey.

Decision to launch a new family budget inquiry was announced by Labor Minister Alfred Robens on the recommendation of the cost-of-living advisory committee, under the chairmanship of Sir Robert Gould, the ministry of Labor's chief industrial commissioner.

The investigation will be undertaken shortly with some 15,000 families co-operating in supplying essential detail. They will be asked to provide particulars of money spent on food, clothing, rent, entertainment and so on right through the normal family budget. The information will be required about four times, spread over a year, to take account of seasonal changes in expenditures.

Average Conditions

Covering a wider range of the population than the last index check of 14 years ago, the new survey will represent average conditions in about 85 per cent of British homes. It will be about two years, however, before the canvass is completed and the results analyzed.

Meanwhile, a special technical committee will study the advisability of temporarily adjusting the existing index until the new data becomes available. To keep pace with the ever-changing picture of family spending it is also proposed that small-scale trend checks should be made at frequent intervals after the revised index has been instituted.

In its report, the advisory committee recommends selection of budgets from housholds with incomes ranging from $450 to $3,000 a year. The previous inquiry covered earnings of $750 or less.

Many New Factors

It recognizes that changes in distribution, introduction of social security schemes and general transition in modern mode of life, are likely to have affected permanently the present-day pattern of spending compared with the pre-war era on which the current index is based. These factors, it says, must be considered in reaching a true assessment of the cost-of-living trend.

The present index has been under constant fire, mainly by the trade union movement, ever since it was introduced in 1947. The chief arguments against it are that it is unrealistic in presupposing purchase by the average householder of the same range of commodities in demand or available nearly 15 years ago.

Union leaders have strongly resisted application of the index figures in negotiating new wage agreements. They contended it was 10 years behind the times even before it began to operate.

Critics have also drawn attention to inclusion in its make-up of such items as candles and iron bedsteads, with provision for the periodic cleaning of a man's wrist watch but not a woman's. The specific gravity of beer was increased last spring although the price of the workingman's pint remained unchanged.

Furthermore, housewives have complained that the quality of many items of clothing, footwear and other necessities, has deteriorated within recent years, calling for replacements with greater frequency than before the war. There are many other anomalies.

The advisory committee rejected a proposal that a special index should be compiled for professional and technical groups —a sort of middle class scale. It also turned down a suggestion that concessions be extended to Londoners where the cost of living is considerably higher than in other parts of the country.

Free Medical Service New Legislation Plan

TORONTO, Sept. 1 — (CP)— Legislation will soon be introduced in the Ontario Legislature to make 36,700 residents of the province between the ages of 65 and 70 eligible for free medical services.

An official of the Welfare Department said Friday that medical services now being given to pensioners over 70 will be extended to needy persons in the 65 to 70 group.

The services — which include doctor's visits at the patients home and the provision of selected drugs — are administered by arrangement with the Ontario Medical Association. Cost of the new service will be borne by the province.

Some 142,000 Ontario residents now receive free medical services. Of these, 95,000 are either pensioners or blind persons. Twenty-four thousand receive the services as part of mothers' allowances, and 23,000 are on relief rolls.

Ram Brings $250

TORONTO, SEPT. 1—(CP)—A Southdown ram owned by Lloyd Ayre, of Bowmanville, Friday brought the top price of $250 at the Ontario Sheep Breeders' Association's sale, held in conjunction with the Canadian National Exhibition this year. Thirty-two rams and ewes sold for a total of $2,550.

DETROIT, Sept. 1 (AP)—Clell Perry, 53, racing boat designer, builder and driver, died here Friday of pneumonia. Perry won the gold cup speedboat race in 1937.

Algoma Strike Ends In Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Sept. 1 (CP)—The five-day strike of some 1,300 Algoma Steel Corporation maintenance men, caused by a job evaluation dispute, ended Friday night when the company and workers reached agreement.

No details of the settlement were immediately announced, but Eric Dalrymple, president of local 2251, United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL), said the men would go back to work at once.

The workers, charged with keeping the giant corporation machines and equipment running smoothly, walked out last Monday. They said Algoma Steel had delayed implementing a job rating plan called for in their union contract.

It was feared that if an agreement had not been reached soon production at the giant plant, which employees more than 6,000 men, would have stopped.

Car Skids, Hits Tree 5 Tourists Injured

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Five United States tourists, all from New York, were injured, none critically, Friday night, when the automobile skidded on a slippery road and crashed into a tree about four miles east of the capital.

Press Freedom Secured In Bill

NEW DELHI, Sept. 1 — (Reuters)—The Indian government Friday introduced in parliament a bill guaranteeing newspapers against censorship and aimed at preventing and punishing 'abuses' of freedom of the press.

Interior Minister Chakravarti Rajagopalachari said it would be free of the "objectionable features" of present press laws — which it would repeal—and would invalidate acts by Indian states restricting press freedom.

Besides the guarantee against censorship, the bill provides that action against paper printing "objectionable matter" may be taken only after the offence is committed.

It contains a long definition of objectionable matter, including anything inciting or encouraging:

1. Violence or sabotage to overthrow the government.
2. Murder, sabotage or any violent offence.
3. Interference with law and order, especially those laws regulating the supply and distribution of food and other essentials.
4. Class or personal enmity.
5. Anything "grossly indecent, scurrilous or obscene."

THE TURN IN THE PRIMROSE PATH had to come some time. It spells the end of a glorious summer and the start of another round of books and blackboards, study halls and homework. The gremlin with the evil leer and the ominous sign was put there by a pixyish artist. But whether he's there actually or in spirit, he looms inevitably in the carefree path of these "Tom Sawyers" on a last hike to the ol' fishin' hole before school opened today.

Frost Warns Dairies Cut Milk Cost

Hints Government May Be Forced To Act Otherwise

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 4.—(CP) — Premier Frost has thrown out a hint that the Ontario Government may take a hand in cutting retail milk prices if the dairies themselves do not soon reduce distribution costs through more efficient practices than those now used.

Referring particularly to the situation in the Toronto area, where the retail price is 21 cents a quart for delivered milk and 20 cents for milk in stores, he said Monday that unless the dairies improve merchandising methods to benefit the consumer, "somebody else" will do so.

In his address to the Young Progressive Conservative Association's Summer School, Mr. Frost did not explain who "somebody else" might be.

Economical System

However, his remarks were taken to mean that the Ontario Milk Control Board might order the dairies to put into effect a more economical system of deliveries. Another possibility was that the board might license stores to buy, bottle and sell milk in competition with dairies.

"The distributors can do the job themselves, by setting out to give real leadership. Otherwise, they have no one to blame but themselves . . .

"Two things are plain. The people want a cash-and-carry system and modern and up-to-date methods of merchandising. These they are not getting."

The Toronto area's milk price troubles started last spring. The Ontario Milk Control Board, given power over consumer prices in March, tried unsuccessfully to avert a milk drivers' strike by raising the delivered milk price to 20½ cents from 20 cents, but leaving the price in stores at 20 cents.

After studying financial statements of Toronto area dairies, the board announced July 11 that the delivered price would become 21 cents immediately and the cash-and-carry price 19 cents Sept. 1. The price paid by the producer

Refused Permit

LONDON, Sept. 4. (CP)—American actor Robert Stack has been refused a working permit here because Equity, the actors' union, objects to him playing the part of a Canadian naval officer in a film. The Ministry of Labor, which issues permits after applications have been submitted to Equity for approval, has told the producers "a proper case" has not been made out for a permit. Equity claims a Canadian actor in Britain should be found for the role.

Hurricane Veers West Of Jamaica

MIAMI, Fla., [illegible] (AP)—Jamaica was spared a second heavy blow today as the Caribbean hurricane veered westward and lost strength.

The storm, never fully formed, dropped in force from 100 miles an hour to a wind velocity of 60 miles an hour in heavy squalls.

Jamaica was in the midst of urgent preparations for the blow when word came of a change in course and velocity. Residents of waterfront areas were being evacuated, and the airport damaged in the Aug. 17-18 storm was closed to traffic.

The death toll in the August storm totalled 150 in Jamaica, mostly in the vicinity of the capital, Kingston. Jamaica is 100 miles south of Cuba.

Plenty of Kick

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, warned that the storm still had plenty of kick and might regenerate. It was passing 240 miles south of Kingston at mid-day, and even at that distance heavy squalls were forecast for the British colonial capital.

A navy hurricane hunter plane from Miami found the storm losing force when it probed it today. The central eye became elongated and more than 70 miles long, and the heavy winds blew in the northern semi-circle only.

The Caribbean hurricane is the fourth of the season. Because it is No. 4, it has been labelled "D," or in naval parlance, "Dog."

As hurricane "Dog" travelled its menacing course at 20 miles an hour, another storm sprang up far out in the Atlantic, 1,100 miles east of the island of Antigua in the British West Indies.

Hurricane "Dog" has winds of 100 miles an hour velocity around the centre and winds of hurricane force reaching out 150 miles to the north of the storm's eye and 75 miles to the south. The last report said it was growing in size and intensity.

1,000 Planes In Puppet Air Force

Satellite Countries Pouring In Men For Months, UN Says

TOKYO, Sept. 4. (AP) — United Nations' headquarters said today that Communist strength for the Korean war has been augmented by "large numbers of Caucasian Soviet puppet troops" and by a "puppet air force" of 1,000 planes.

It said Red troops from East Germany and other Soviet satellite areas have been pouring into North Korea for months.

The "puppet air force" is in the "Manchurian sanctuary" across the Yalu river border from Korea, headquarters said.

A public information release from the headquarters of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN commander, said the Reds have 70 divisions available—on the battle line and in reserve—and may be preparing to launch a new offensive with this force.

Forty of the divisions—about 400,000 men—have been identified as on the battle line.

Act As Support

They would be supported in an attack by the "puppet air force" and by artillery, tanks and armored cars brought to Korea by the European volunteers.

Ridgway's headquarters described the Caucasian units as "specialists and technical personnel contributed by the Soviet satellite nations including East Germany."

The release said there are "large numbers" of these "Caucasian Soviet puppet troops." It gave no estimate of their numbers. Nor did it indicate where in Korea they might be stationed.

The statement was the first official recognition of rumors that the Reds have been organizing an international brigade of white volunteers.

UN commanders repeatedly have expressed confidence in the ability of their forces to withstand anything the Communists can hurl at them.

Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, UN ground commander, estimated Monday the Reds had 800,000 troops available. This is considerably short of the manpower used in their futile spring offensive, when they were estimated at about 1,200,000.

Iran Makes New Bid For Oil Talks With British Heads

TEHRAN, Sept. 4. (Reuters)—Hussein Fatemi, Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh's assistant, today made a bid for new talks with Britain over the fate of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Meanwhile, an Iranian official said the Iranian government has approved in principle the sale of oil to Russian-bloc countreis. Fatemi said Iran will try to reopen talks with Britain "by reinterpreting the Iranian proposals" already made in connection with Nationalization of the British owned company.

The original proposals were rejected by Britain.

Fatemi told correspondents Mossadegh will discuss the "reinterpretation" proposals with the Senate Saturday and present them to an operation of the Majlis (parliament) Sunday.

Up To Britain

A note recapitulating the points would be submitted to Britain, and "if the British have any goodwill we are sure they will not reject this last-minute effort and conversations will be reopened."

Britain, during fruitless talks aimed at retaining some measure of British control in the nationalized company, already had rejected Iranian proposals.

Under them Iran offered to sell Britain all the oil it needed, and discuss the question of compensation for assets of the company and arrangements under which the British staff would continue to work in Iran.

The Iranians turned down British proposals for operating the company under some form of British management.

Noted Author Adamic Dies, Death Mystery

FLEMINGTON, NJ, Sept. 4 — (AP)—Author Louis Adamic, 51, was found dead today in his partly-burned farmhouse, a bullet wound in his head and a rifle across his knees.

Police and firemen said the kitchen of the house at Milford, NJ, 10 miles west of here, was burned out and kerosene-soaked rags were scattered through the rooms.

Adamics body was found lying on a couch with his head on a pillow in an upstairs bedroom. A foreign-make .22-calibre rifle was resting across his knees, firemen said.

Police and the manner of his death was not immediately determined.

A barn near the house also burned and a kerosene can was found there, police said.

Firemen added that Adamic was alone on the farm when they arrived.

Maj. Russell Snook, executive officer of the state police, said in Trenton "First reports indicate it could be most anything—accidental, foul play or suicide."

Officials said the body was lying in an upstairs bedroom that wasn't touched by the fire.

Adamic, a native of Yugoslavia, wrote several books about the problems of the foreign born in the United States.

Another well-known book was "Dinner at the White House," which described an evening with Franklin D. Roosevelt. Among the guests at the White House was Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister who later sued Adamic for libel.

Barilko Plane Had Trouble On Take-Off

KAPUSKASING, Sept. 4 (CP) Six long-range RCAF Lancasters from the east coast will range far and wide over the barren shores of James Bay today in the continuing search for Bill Barilko, Toronto Maple Leafs defenceman, and Dr. Henry Hudson, Timmins dentist.

Their crews will keep a sharp look out for traces of wreckage of the little yellow seaplane in which the men vanished August 26 while on a Far North fishing trip.

One theory is that their plane plunged into James Bay, possibly shortly after taking off from Rupert's House, 240 miles northwest of Timmins, or perhaps after being buffeted back over the waters of the bay by 60-mile-an-hour headwinds.

This theory gained credence on Monday night after the Rev. A. C. Williams, Anglican missionary at Rupert's House, his wife, and about 25 Indians told of seeing the plane, heavily loaded with 60 pounds of fish in each pontoon, struggle to make a difficult takeoff from Rupert's House. They said the plane, with equipment and supplies left behind at the mission to lighten its load, barely managed to get airborne and head southwest across James Bay towards Timmins.

Report Seeing Plane

Other Indians reported during the weekend that they recalled seeing a plane come in low over the stunted treetops along the shore and disappear. Some of the Indians from Rupert's House paddled their canoes out for a small-scale search of that district Monday.

During the early days of the search, hope was high that Barilko and Dr. Hudson had survived a crash or forced landing and were living off the land. But the RCAF has made such a thorough search of Ontario and Northwestern Quebec south and east of James Bay that searchers feel they would have seen some sign of the men if they were alive.

Find Dukes Dime a Dozen At $200,000 Venice Party

VENICE, Italy, Sept. 4. (AP)—This historic city of lover and assassin Monday night saw its biggest blow-out in half a century. A Mexican mystery millionaire set the mark with a $200,000 party at which guests wore everything from lionskins to shrouds. Dukes and counts trooped in by regiments, rubbing shoulders with the wealthy of three countries. But many notables invited by dapper, monocled Don Carlos de Beistegui did not bother to come.

Those who did danced and wined the night away. But after it was all over, few of them knew much about De Beistegui, except that he has millions and seems to know how to spend them.

Des Beistegui, who gave the lavish "house-warming" to open the palace he has restored on the fabled Grand Canal, is almost unknown in his native Mexico. His father, Miguel De Beistegui, was Ambassador to Spain beore the Mexican revolution of 1910.

Don Carlos was born in Mexico City, but has spent most of his life in Europe.

He had planned to spend $50,000 for last night's extravaganza, but wound up laying out closer to $200,000. He bought the palace two years ago for $500,000 and was reported to have spent $6,250,000 modernizing it and decorating it with a fortune in paintings and tapestries.

Invited 3,000

He invited 3,000 of Europe's royal and rich. He also posted signs inviting the "lower classes" to drop around and peer in at the festivities. They dropped around—one of the biggest crowds seen for years. Some cheered him but more hissed.

Inside, only 600 showed up. One Venice policeman said it was "just as well."

"I figure," he said, "if all 3,000 of those invited had come—counting a minute for each of them to get out of their gondolas—it would take 50 hours just to get them into the party."

1,000 Guards

Around the rest of the building close to 1,000 carabinieri and riot-squad police carried submachine guns as they greeted the masses of onlookers.

Carabinieri were lined shoulder to shoulder in rows five deep on two sides of the palace.

There was no disorder.

Des Beistegui, after a look at the crowd, discarded his plan of handing out wine and cakes to the poor.

The only food and drink offered outside were two bottles of wine, some salami and two slabs of dried cod fish. They were placed as prizes atop a greased pole.

Cut Down Buying Gregg Suggests

TORONTO, Sept. 4 — (CP) — Labor Minister Gregg says Canadians can help keep prices from rising further by cutting down non-essential buying, and by showing buyer resistance, rather than by looking to the federal government to impose price controls.

He said Monday that merchants can help, too, by using restraint in pricing their goods. And workers could do their part by increasing production of goods.

In an address to a Labor Day luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition, he said he knew some sections of labor demanded price and material controls. He made it clear the government is reluctant to clamp on controls, but he suggested there might be no alternative to them.

Mr. Gregg, in a speech that constituted his customary Labor Day message to Canadian workers, said:

"As producers, too many of us are not working at peak efficiency. Shorter working hours with more time for leisure are a wonderful and progressive trend. But shorter hours should mean automatically greater efficiency and production per hour worked. Too often this has not been the case. We, management and workers, are equally responsible for greater production."

36 Policemen Raid Brantford

BRANTFORD, Sept. 4—(CP)—Four squad cars carrying 36 Ontario Provincial Police officers Saturday afternoon seized 30 pinball machines and arrested 24 suspected gambling house operators in the Brantford area.

Two trucks were needed to carry away equipment seized in 20 separate raids carried out almost simultaneously.

The accused face gambling charges involving everything from cards and dice games to operating pinball machines. Bail ranged from $16 for found-ins to $200 for house operators.

There was no warning of an impending raid until the cruisers rolled into Brantford and the police went to work.

Car Prices Jump Again In October

DETROIT, Sept. 4. (AP)—New car prices are due to go up before Oct. 1, Automotive News says today.

The trade paper notes that all car makers have applied for increases from the Office of Price Stabilization and added: "Most of the firms are expected to put them in force at once."

The increases sought an average 9 to 10 per cent. There has been some speculation, however, that the full amount of the authorized increases will not be put into effect immediately by the car companies.

It also has been said in some quarters that companies with large field stocks of new cars may wait until the inventories have been levelled off before hiking prices.

The OPS, Automotive News says, is checking each manufacturer's costs now, and final clearance may take from one to three weeks.

Bridegroom Dies In Crash

KIRKLAND LAKE, Sept. 4 (CP) — Andre Barthuaume was killed in a motor accident 120 miles west of Timmins Saturday just nine hours after he had been married.

His wife and another newly-married couple, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Padard, were injured. Also injured were Maurice Dorval, 28, his wife, and Janet Bedard.

Police said the car bearing the two newly-married couples struck the rear of a truck on the road from Macamic to Authier. As it was halted, another car, driven by Dorval, collided with the rear of the wedding car.

Army Integration Has Drawbacks

OTTAWA, Sept. 4—(CP)—Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent, said today Canada should go slowly in any integration of her Army with that of the United States partly because the Americans "still have much to learn about the art of war."

Back in his home town on leave from Korea, he told Ottawa's Canadian Club, too, that Canadian soldiers have shared in a general western contempt for the Korean people which stems from a superiority complex and suggests that "right here in Canada we are losing the (ideological) battle" with Communism.

He said the Army could have helped by indoctrinating the Canadian troops before they went to Koea in how to behave towards a people with a long, proud culture of their own. Instead the 25th Brigade was sent there "dead cold" on that important point.

Some things the Canadians had done had been done because their brigade was only part of a large Army under control of another power. Thus Canadians had helped separate thousands of Korean children from their parents in clearing certain areas because they were carrying out orders from a higher command.

This, he said, suggested that "integration into the armies of larger powers can be carried to dangerous extremes—to the extent that troops of one country may be called on to do jobs conceivably neither they nor their home people would approve."

Positive Russia Can't Spoil Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4 — (AP) — Intensive behind-the-scenes negotiations today convinced United States leaders that they can defeat any Russian drive to disrupt the Japanese Peace Conference opening tonight.

But none could say just how long it will take to get a peace treaty signed.

President Truman flew in from Washington Monday with a new warning of possible Communist offensives in Korea, Asia or Europe. He will open the conference tonight with a major address at 7:30 pm (10:30 pm, EDT).

The first working session will be held Wednesday morning. Russia's tactics are expected to be quickly disclosed at that time.

The President's latest warning to the country to be on guard and continue massing its defences sounded a grim note. It came on the eve of the gathering of 51 delegations at San Francisco's Opera House to close the books on the Second World War in the Pacific.

"Whether the negotiations in Korea are successful or not," he said, "we must continue to drive ahead to build defensive strength for our country and the free world."

Four Men Hanged For Killing Abdullah

AMMAN, Jordan, Sept. 4 — (Reuters—Four men condemned for complicity in the assassination of King Abdullah of Jordan July 20 were hanged early today at Amman's central prison.

The four were:

Dr. Musa Abdullah Hussein, a doctor of philosophy of London and Berlin universities; Abed Okke, a Jerusalem cattle merchant; Abdul Kadir Farhat (alias Mohammed Sidmeer), a Jerusalem coffeehouse proprietor, and Zakariya Okke, a butcher and cattle merchant and brother of Abed Okke.

Death sentences were also passed on two other men who fled to sanctuary in Cairo and were tried in their absence. They were the principal accused, Col. Abdullah Tell, former governor of Jerusalem, and Musa Ahmed Ayoubi, a former Jerusalem vegetable merchant.

New Drop In World Prices Predicted By Gaitskell

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 4 —(Reuters) — Britain's treasury chief, Hugh Gaitskell, said today there are signs of a fall in world prices. But he bluntly warned representatives of wage-hungry workers that if they persist in pushing up pay scales there will be further price rises here in 1952.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer minced no words in addressing leaders of the 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress, now in annual convention. The Congress is clamoring for higher wages.

"There is a special need for moderation during the next few months," said Gaitskell.

"There are some signs of world inflation tailing off. Raw materials have recently fallen quite a bit.

"It's possible—one can't be more definite than that—that externally things will settle down. Yet internally we could easily set off a new inflationary process.

"The cost of living will go on rising here in 1952, even with stable world prices, if we go on pushing up our own costs through further substantial rises in wages and salaries."

Gaitskell also warned that Britain can expect lean times. Direct taxation as a means of government financing has just about reached its limit, he said.

This meant there could be no further increases in subsidies to keep down the price of food and other goods, and it meant that home consumption had to be cut.

"The prices of our imports are now about 40 per cent higher than last year . . . the prices of our exports have risen, too, but not nearly as much," he said.

King's Son Adopts Austrian Orphan, 3

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 4 (AP)—Sweden's tiny Cinderella Countess arrived today, and scarcely noticed the hubbub she created.

Three-year-old Monika Heissler—now she is Countess Monika Bernadotte—was more interested in trying to grab the cap from a nurse's head than in the reporters, photographers and officials at the railroad station.

The child, born of poor Austrian parents, left her Salzburg home yesterday to become the foster daughter of Count Karl Johann Bernadotte, son of Sweden's king.

The count and countess saw her when she attended the Salzburg music festival last month, were captivated by her and decided to adopt her.

The girl is one of a group of 19 orphans, deserted children and sons and daughters of displaced persons being adopted by Swedish families.

49 Accept Offer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 4—(AP)—A final tabulation shows 49 expelled cadets from the United States Military Academy have applied to enter the University of Notre Dame. The applicants are from a group of about 90 cadets expelled from West Point for cribbing on examinations. They seek to take advantage of an anonymous rich man's offer to pay their room, board and tuition at Notre Dame if they meet Notre Dame standards and do not take part in intercollegiate sports.

Holiday Proves Costly In US Accident Toll Reaches 650

CHICAGO, Sept. 4—(AP)—A staggering death toll of at least 650 from violent accidents marked the United States observance of the Labor-Day weekend.

Fatalities on the highays, in the air and in the water hit an all-time high for the holiday.

Deaths in traffic accidents soared to record high for Labor Day.

A survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday (local time) showed. There were 650 accidental deaths, compared with the 559 over the 1950 Labor-Day weekend, the previous high. 456 traffic fatalities compared with the old record high of 410 in 1949; 97 persons drowned, including 37 on the capsized fishing boat Pelican off the eastern tip of Long Island, and 97 persons lost their lives in accidents of a miscellaneous nature, including plane crashes, fires, falls, etc.

The country's highways were jammed with millions of cars in the last holiday of the summer season. Fatal mishaps were reported in nearly every state.

The National Safety Council had estimated traffic death toll would reach 390. But the council, noting the heavy toll during the first two days, revised its estimate Monday to "more than 500" deaths.

The council's figures show an average of 295 persons have been killed in traffic accidents every 78 hours in 1951. However, the council said, the figures include those who died weeks and months after being injured and were not strictly comparable with the immediate holiday toll.

Doctors Not Worried About King's Health

LONDON, Sept. 4 — (AP) — A Buckingham Palace spokesman said Monday "There is no concern whatever" over the health of the King.

Two physicians who have attended him previously flew to Scotland Saturday to examine the King, who is having a grouse-shooting holiday at Balmoral Castle.

"It was a routine check," it was said at the Palace. "His physicians see him at regular intervals, and they went to him by plane because they were in a hurry to get back to London."

Large Quake Shakes NY Vicinity

3 States Affected As Windows Cracked, Residents Excited

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. (AP)—A "very large local earthquake" shook a three-state area in the vicinity of New York City Monday, affecting New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, the Columbia University geological laboratory reported.

A few window panes were cracked, pictures fell off walls and objects were shaken off desks in some areas.

The shock occurred at 5:26:45 pm (EDT).

Recordings of the tremble were made on a seismograph, at the university's Lamont Geological Observatory at Palisades, NY.

Dr. J. L. Worzel, the observatory's assistant director, said the shock was "so big on the recording" that it was difficult to locate its exact centre.

Earth tremors are felt from time to time in the area affected Monday, apparently caused by the settling of the earth along a number of "fault lines" in the earth's crust.

Monday's shock, however, was the biggest in a long time.

At Peekskill, NY, north of New York City, residents were said to have dashed from their homes and there were stories of high excitement for a time in many other spots.

18 People Missing After Boat Capsizes

MONTAUK, NY, Sept. 4 (CP) —A widespread search by air and sea in clearing weather Monday failed to turn up any of the 18 persons still missing in Saturday's Pelican fishing boat disaster which took 37 lives.

The Coast Guard and police have all but abandoned hope that many of the 18 missing will be found. Several life preservers from the Pelican were found Monday about 25 miles northwest of the scene of the tragedy.

The Pelican, with 56 aboard, capsized in the stormy Atlantic off the tip of Long Island, 125 miles from New York city.

Nineteen bodies were recovered.

The place of security

There is a realm where hope is no longer precarious. It is the realm of unwavering spiritual understanding. It is the realm of Truth.

How may we find it? Though knowing (understanding) the same truth which Jesus knew, and which he promised would "make us free."

The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, plainly shows the way. To any sincere student this great book steadily unlocks the treasures of truth in the Bible and proves, by healing the sick, their practicability today.

It may be bought, borrowed or read at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

would be increased to $4.55 a hundredweight from $4.20, also Sept. 1.

Restricted Delivery Plan

A restricted delivery plan was suggested as the way to bring about economies that would make the 19-cent store price posssible. Three or four deliveries a week were proposed in place of the present six.

Then the board postponed indefinitely its order for 19-cent store milk when it saw the restricted plan could not come about immediately.

The next development was an announcement by the Toronto Milk Distributors' Association that it will challenge in the courts the board's increase of the $4.55 price to the producers. Dairy spokesmen claim that if dairies pay the price set by the board, the retail price will be forced to 22 cents a quart.

Prices Turn Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP). — Stock market prices turned higher today in early afternoon dealings. Activity was strong as volume for the first three hours reached 1,683,000 shares.

Steels turned mixed after leading the list and utilities gained strength rapidly to show the strongest gains. Agricultures and miscellaneous industrials also climbed. Refining oils were firm and retail stores quiet. Papers, constructions and manufacturing companies were mixed while foods, liquors, banks and textiles weakened.

Western oils climbed to another record high at noon and then levelled off through the midsession. The exchange's index of 15 selected issues showed a gain of more than three-quarters of a point at its peak of 116.13.

Base metals were mixed.

Senior golds weakened. Junior golds, prospects and holding companies showed little trend.

RCAF survival experts said a few days ago that if the men came out of a crash without severe injury, they could probably find enough food in the woods and muskeg to keep themselves alive almost indefinitely while the weather remained good. Searchers have seen many bears, moose and beaver in the area in which the two disappeared and small game should be plentiful.

Mrs. S. F. Wainright

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Samuel F. Wainright of 533 Park St., N., who died Friday in hospital following a lengthy illness, was held on Saturday at the Kaye Funeral Home.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church officiated and pall-bearers were Herman A. Langford, George Tindle, Barrie Wager, Harry Black, Jim Brown and Thomas Skinner. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

WRITER DIES—Mrs. Nellie McClung, 77, Canadian writer and champion of women's rights, died Monday in Victoria, BC.

Sailors Finish Season On Stony Lake

Stony Lake sailors experienced all the vagaries the weather could offer over the weekend as they concluded the season's sailing schedule. Gusty gales on Saturday, followed by rain and fog on Sunday was relieved by bright sun Monday which offered very little breeze.

Keith Russell's Spree won the President's Cup series of six races in the sloop class; Doug Reed nosed out Jim Collins in the dinghy class, and Andy Brewin won in the cat dinghy section.

Wins Two Trophies

Fred Huycke, who has been a consistent winner since his new Charlie Bourke designed dinghy was commissioned Aug. 1st, won the Knapman Trophy on Sunday. His race started in fog and driving mist which cleared before the race was concluded. Huycke also won the Viamede Trophy on Monday forenoon, when he established a lead at the end of the first lap over Susie Slater, who had created a tremendous lead shortly after the start. The time limit of two hours forced calling the race at the end of the first lap.

The Turner Trophy for open class sloops was sailed in conjunction with the Viamede Trophy race and was won by Harry Huff's Gull. Keith Russel placed second, while Crawford-Brown's Kestrel, sailed by Jack Matthews, and Bob Temerson's Habitant finished in that order.

Yacht Club Officers Elected

Following Sunday's races, the annual presentation of trophies and election of officers of the Stony Lake Yacht Club took place at the club house on Juniper Island. Ken Slater was elected commodore, Harold Knapman, rear-commodore, and Carl Duffus secretary. The various committees were also appointed.

Obituary

ANDREW TEDFORD.

Andrew Tedford died suddenly on Monday at the residence of his nephew, Roland Tedford, RR 2, Indian River. He was in his 64th year. Mr. Tedford was born at Deer Bay, Harvey Township, son of the late John Tedford and Catherine Nelson. In 1907 he went west and took up farming in Hanna, Alta., where he remained until 1945. Since then he has spent his time between the Peterborough district and the West. He was not married.

Mr. Tedford leaves three sisters, Mrs. George Mundell (Venie), of RR 9, Peterborough, Mrs. Percy Darling, Sr. (Bella) of Lakefield, and Mrs. William Bullock (Betsie) of this city. There are two brothers, William of Young's Point and Archie of Douro, 17 nieces and 17 nephews. He attended the United Church.

Mr. Tedford was a veteran of the First World War.

Funeral service will be held on Wednesday at the Hendren Funeral Home at 2:30 pm. The Rev. W. B. Walker, former minister of Lakefield Baptist Church, will officiate, and burial will be at Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Sept. 4 (CP). — The American dollar today opened at 5 17-32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 3-32 from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.05 17-32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95½, down ¼ from Friday.

Big Battle

Guns roared their loudest in months today. The Allies were attacking. Three American divisions from the main United Nations assault force — the US 2nd and 7th infantry divisions and the 1st Marine division—were identified today as the power which has carried Allied troops five miles forward in a 17-day "battle of the hills" in east central Korea.

In a special announcement, Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, UN ground commander, said the "magnificent effort" of the three American divisions and about an equal number of South Koreans "seriously decreases the Communist potential to wage an offensive operation in the near future within this sector."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo said the Reds were in position to launch a new offensive.

But Van Fleet said he doubted the Reds would attack, unless goaded by political reasons.

Most Savage Fighting

The most savage fighting since April raged over the eastern ridges today.

Allied troops were locked in a continuing battle with 83,000 Chinese and North Koreans for control of ridges and mountains.

The US Eighth Army was punching hard in east Korea's wild, mountain country, edging nearly five miles northward of a main line which already extended up to 25 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Red fighter-bombers Monday dealt six hit-run bombing and strafing attacks on Allied ground forces. Aground the Reds hurled 15 successive counter-attacks against one ridge in efforts to stall the UN push. They were thrown back.

Indicative of the bitterness of the fighting—heaviest since the abortive Red offensives of April and May—was one action north of Yanggu. That Allied-held town is eight miles north of Parallel 38 and about 20 miles inland from the coast.

Keep Pushing

At 2:30 am Monday the Reds before by the Allies. The Reds were stopped after a seven-hour engagement.

At 11 am, the Reds hurled a new attack. This also failed. But it lasted all Monday afternoon.

A Red regiment, about 3,000 men, resumed the assault at sundown. That fight lasted until 8:15 pm then it slackened. But at 10:30 pm the Reds struck again and finally forced the Allies off the ridge.

The Allies regrouped and surged back. By midnight, they were back within 250 yards of the top.

Youth Walks Railing Lands In Hospital

A decision to walk a six-inch concrete railing as he strolled along Dale Ave. with two girls landed 21-year-old Ronald J. Davidson in St. Joseph's Hospital Monday night.

Davidson, who lives at 91 Park St., was walking west on Dale Ave., with two girls. He decided he would try walking the railing on the north side of the street.

After walking about 50 feet along it, he lost his balance and fell into a 10-foot gully on the north side of the railing. About eight feet down was an iron bolt, jutting out of the concrete. This Davidson hit in his tumble.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital with an injured back. His condition is not considered serious.

Woman Nears 90 Led Life Of Ops Pioneer

Approaching her 90th birthday, Mrs. Jane Irwin, a lifetime resident of Ops and Fenelon Townships, wants a quiet celebration marking her milestone in her life.

Her pioneer life began in a log cabin on the Little Britain road in Ops. Her father, Timothy O'Brien, cleared the land and built the cabin still used on is now the farm of Matthew Caley.

"Jennie" O'Brien was the oldest of six children born to Mr. O'Brien and his wife, the former Elizabeth Fee. She knew household responsibilities early in life, for, not only did she live in a pioneer community, but her mother died when Jennie was still in her early teens.

Father Left

The burden was further increased when her father left the household and was never again seen by his children.

Her grandparents, the Francis Fees, decided to move to the United States and take the young O'Briens with them. But Jane, just 18, remained behind to marry her sweetheart, Robert Irwin.

The couple raised a typical size family of their day—nine children, five girls and four boys. But Mr. Irwin died when the youngest was less than a year old leaving the family with little more than their livestock — six cows and 25 sheep.

Everybody pitched in to help, including the kindly neighbors of whom Mrs. Irwin remarks: "We had the best neighbors that anyone could find when I was left a widow."

Looks For Visits

As she nears her 90th birthday Mrs. Irwin's pride remains her family. She eagerly looks forward to visits from grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

She retains a keen sense of humor and enjoys good sight and hearing.

Throughout her life Mrs. Irwin has received comfort from her spiritual faith. She makes it a practise never to let a day go by without reading a passage of Scripture.

"Without Him we have nothing," she says.

Severe Forest Fire

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 4 — (AP)—The worst forest fire in the history of southern Brazil, burning for the last week, is threatening the rich pine area in Santa Catarina State, dispatches from that area said today. Farm losses have been severe. About 1,000 persons have been left homeless from the blaze, which has covered almost 40 square miles. There has been no loss of life.

Labor Day Sports Revived By Cobourg

COBOURG, Sept. 4 — Chilly weather marred the first two days of the holiday weekend and cut down on the attendance of the ball games, part of the weekend of events sponsored by the Cobourg Allied Labor Council. However, the mercury was up a few degrees yesterday and the sun shone throughout the afternoon. A heavy program of sports was run off at the park, followed by a swimming competition in the harbor.

Mayor Jack Burnet and Dr. F. G. Robertson, MP, for Northumberland addressed the large gathering in the park Monday afternoon. The Mayor expressed his pleasure in the successful revival of the Labor Day sports program. Tribute was paid to the work of labor in Cobourg by Dr. Robertson.

Following were the results of the sports events:

Running races —girls, 4 to 6— Brenda Paden, Mary Kerr and Bonnie Galley; boys, 4 to 6 — Bobbie Ewart and Dennis Beaver; girls 6 to 8— Judith Dawe, Joy Randall and Bonnie Webb; boys, 6 to 8 — Doug Carson, Donald Houston and Bob Garnet.

Girls, 8 to 10 — Betty Primeau, Jean Caldwell and Ruth Saunders; boys, 8 to 10— Wayne Beaver, Glenn Marsden and Charles McDonnaugh; girls, 10 to 12— Nancy Thompson, Janet Allen and Ilene Gearin; boys, 10 to 12— Stewart Graham, Fred Maybee and Carl Carlson.

Girls 12 to 14— Joan Saunders, Kathleen Allen and Carol Mellis; boys 12 to 14— Kenneth Marsden, Fred Holdaway and Duncan Allen; girls 14 to 16 — Kay Graham, Helen Calwdwell, and Margaret Carr; boys 14 to 16— Kenneth Marsden, Jim Hessen and Jim Allen.

Horse shoe pitching— Leon Davey and Lionel Gutteridge, Les Johns and W. Stevenson; H. Landymore and H. McCaughey. Open events —100 yard dash — Jack Beaver, Mac McMartin and Buzz Cavannaugh; 220 yard— Jack Beaver, Graham Foste and Kenneth Marsden. 400 yards—Glen Crowe, M. moke and F. Holloway; 100 yard dash for girls —Catherin Allen, Jean Saunders and Patsy Dawe; 800 yard dash— Mac McMartin, G. Foster and M. Smoke.

Three-legged race— Catherine Allen and Duncan Allen; Beverley and Bob Cunningham. Two mile road race— Mac McMartin and Pete Caffin. Junior swim— Ron Lonsberry, Duncan Allen and Patsy Dawe. Senior half mile swim— D'Arcy Campbell, winner three years in a row; Buzz Cavannaugh, J. Markle, L. Lake and J. Allin.

MISSION FAILED—Presidential Adviser W. Averell Harriman and his wife arrive in Washington from Europe. He had been attempting to mediate the oil dispute between England and Iran. He said the mission's failure may result in the Communists gaining control of Iran.

Liverpool In Chaos

LIVERPOOL, England, Sept 4 —(Reuters)—A breakdown in the country-wide power system Monday night cut all electrical supply for three hours and threw the city into chaos. Tens of thousands of persons crowded the streets in pouring rain waiting for buses when electric trains, street cars and trolley buses came to a halt. All city services and amusement places were stopped. An official said over-loading caused the breakdown.

Traffic Heavy Along Highway 2

COBOURG, Sept 4 —(ENS)— Holiday weekend traffic was very heavy but up until Monday night, no serious accidents were reported. Provincial police kept busy on patrols during the weekend and found most people driving carefully.

From late yesterday afternoon, well on into the night, a steady stream of cars passed through Cobourg.

A car and a station wagon were in collision just east of Cobourg around six p.m. yesterday with no serious injuries to the motorists involved. A garage tow truck brought the station wagon into Cobourg but before it had returned for the car, another automoblie had crashed the first car, going into the ditch. Nobody was injured.

Commits Suicide

GARDEN CITY, N.Y., Sept. 4 —(AP)—Lt. Thomas Cassel, 28-year-old Air Force officer, shot himself to death Monday night when he was discovered trying to strangle a young woman, police reported. His victim, Doris Bauch, 26, was unharmed.

Cottagers Close For Season

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 4 — (ENS)—Most of the summer cottages in the district are forlorn looking structures today, with windows boarded up, boats put away and gates locked.

Cottage owners from out-of-town points spent the Labor day weekend closing up their cottages for the season, and getting in one last bit of fishing before heading back to their homes in various parts of this country and the U.S. The streets of the town, which are usually crowded with vacationers, the largest portion of whom are American visitors, will now settle down to the usual flow of local traffic.

Back To School

A stroll down the business district of the town reveals the end of one season and the start of another. Clothing stores have put away their displays of bathing suits, suntan lotion and other summer items in favour of "Back to school togs". Stationery and gift stores are removing their souvenirs and colored postcard pictures to make room for school supplies.

Next the garages and service stations will warn motorists that the time for winter changeover is at hand. And, if we're going to do our Christmas shopping early this year, we had better get at it. There are only 92 more shopping days.

Accidentally Killed

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4 (AP) —A 15-year-old boy being chased by police was killed when a policeman stumbled and his revolver accidentally discharged, chief detective Harry Daniels reported today. He said patrolman Lawrence Michel was chasing Richard D. Boyer when the fatal shooting occurred Monday night.

Couple Celebrate 61st Anniversary

LINDSAY, Sept. 4—A pioneer Lindsay baker and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Allen celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary Monday at their Victoria Ave. home.

Mr. Allen, known as Jimmy to his customers and friends, ran a bakeshop for many years on Victoria Ave. A bread company now owns the site.

Both Mr. Allen and his wife, the former Margaret Broad, are in good health. The anniversary was celebrated quietly.

Sailboat Capsizes

CRICCIETH, Wles, Sept. 4— (Reuters) — Five persons were drowned Monday when a sailboat full of boys from a summer camp near here capsized in heavy seas. Four others were rescued after clinging to the upturned craft for two hours.

3 Workers Killed

DUMFRIES, Scotland, Sept. 4— (Reuters)—Three workers were killed and another injured Monday by an explosion in a government explosive factory.

Jail Break Foiled

NEW CASTLE, Del., Sept. 4 — (AP)—Four convicts, all serving long terms for major crimes, Monday made their second unsuccessful attempt within three months to break out of the New Castle county workhouse. All four surrendered to prison guards after being subdued by tear gas. Warden Elwood Wilson said they had hacksawed their way out of the isolation section of the workhouse. The men were put in the section after they tried to escape in July.

750 Start School In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 4 — (ENS)—The school bell rang this morning for about 450 public school children in this town, about 50 of which will be attending school for the first time. An additional 300 or so students will likely be enrolled in the Campbellford High School.

Charles Haig, principal of the public school, said he expected a slight increase over the 1950 enrolment. "Fifty - two students passed their entrance in June," he said, "But we expect more than that number to start today.'

Last year there were 12 transfers into the school, and the number this year may be higher. Twelve teachers look after the 450 odd students at the public school.

A Million Jobs In A New Decade

Two million more people in Canada, a million more jobs, and a galaxy of new labour-saving devices in home and industry—all within the next ten years. Those are the expert predictions of H. M. Turner, President of the Canadian General Electric Company who was a visitor to Peterborough Friday night to honour Dr. Gordon R. Langley who has retired as Chief Engineer of the C.G.E. Peterborough Works after 44 years' service with the company. Mr. Turner made his statements earlier in the week in Toronto.

• • •

The prospect of these extra millions of people and jobs is vividly impressive; new processes, machines and gadgets which the industrialist contemplates are a complement to the new Canadian era which is unfolding. A remarkable and vigorous decade promises from the groundwork laid in the last, the natural developments which are beginning (iron in Labrador, oil in the West, new industry in B.C., the St. Lawrence seaway; exploration and exploitation everywhere throughout the country), and the fabric of expanded industry and commerce which has been laid through the enormous amount of capital investment made in the last decade. Canada has the materials, the tools, the techniques. All that is needed to advance are the men, the energy to work and live well, and daring confidence in the future. It is a new pioneering age which has come upon us; another opening up of this great country.

• • •

Mr. Turner said:

"In pioneer days, a colonist coming to our shores might expect as aid from a benevolent government, a few acres of land, essential food till next harvest, some seed grain and perhaps a farm animal. After that he was on his own—his success or failure depended on his own effort and initiative.

"Today the same spirit of individual effort and initiative is essential. But in our complex and largely urbanized society, the newcomer to our economy can expect the opportunity to use the most efficient tools and methods that can be devised. These include: A healthful place to work; an efficient machine to multiply the effort of his hand and brain; adequate, low-cost power to operate the machine; good materials to process; sound organization and management."

Success or failure in this time of renewed pioneering will depend on the effort and initiative of the people who make policy and give direction in government, industry and business. It will depend on the effort and initiative of all Canadians at work for their own future in Canada's future. Our people and governments have attempted, as in the first pioneering days, to provide against malevolent chance and hardship. Economic and financial measures at Ottawa have been designed to prevent national economic disruption (such as the last Depression). Health and welfare legislation is intended to permit people freedom from want and unnecessary social hazard so that they will not be deflected from robust work and life. Given these props to opportunity (as in earlier days pioneers were given seed, land and tools) Canadians should not let government, management, or labour union policy impair their freedom and initiative or impede their individual advance.

"What Has Happened To Charlie Wilson?"

More than seven months ago, Charles E. Wilson, the president of General Electric Company, was appointed by President Truman to the post of Director of Defence Mobilization. His qualifications for the post were many: He had broad industrial experience and common sense; he was known and respected by thousands of members of the U.S. business community; and he had the trick of commanding the unquestioning obedience from his subordinates. (Some would question the ability of a business executive to fit into the "bureaucracy", but there is little difference between a vast, complex organization such as General Electric, and any government department; both are bureaucracies in the technical sense of the word.)

Wilson's post is an important one. When the office was created last December, President Truman delegated to Wilson many of his emergency powers, ordering him to "direct, control and co-ordinate all mobilization activities of the executive branch of the Government, including . . . production, procurement, manpower, stabilization and transport activities." Appointment of the wrong man to such a powerful position in the economy of the nation would have caused a panic in the world of business and industry. For this reason, President Truman's choice was a judicious one. Wilson was not only the epitome of the laissez faire businessman, but was a Republican to boot, well-known for championing free enterprise. Wall Street breathed a sigh of relief, and prepared for "business as usual", with a few minor modifications.

But that sigh of relief was premature, and more and more of Wilson's friends in industry are turning against him. The National Association of Manufacturers has publicly accused him of becoming a "prisoner" of the "New Deal career men" in the White House. What has caused this about-face in industry's attitude?

Wilson went to Washington with men who saw eye to eye with him—men like Lucius Clay, William Harrison, Sidney Weinberg, and Howard Chase. Wilson distrusted government officials, and this reliance on aides from the business world underlined this distrust. But today, over half a year after their appointments, these men are gone, and their places have been taken by trained government officials like Charles Stauffacher, the O.D.M.'s new staff director, and Leon Keyserling, Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, with whom Wilson works very closely.

This shift of staff aroused the suspicions of the business world, and confirmation of those suspicions came when Wilson urged Congress to re-enact a strong anti-inflation measure, including the power to regulate wages and prices. After the industry lobbies managed to get the Senate to turn thumbs down on the Defence Production Act, Wilson took off the gloves and attacked the groups with whom he had been allied formerly. On July 9, he said:

> I am shocked to learn that, even before a truce has been arranged in the Korean War, there is a movement in some quarters to wreck the country's defence program . . . There is talk of slashing our foreign-aid programme, of cutting the tax bills, of depriving the Defence Department of funds it needs for armament, in addition to weakening inflation controls . . .
>
> When I took the job as Director of Mobilization, the President and Congress gave me the tools to work with. I needed every one of them, and I still do. But I cannot work effectively with the handcuffs the pressure groups are forging for me now."

The Wall Street Journal called this "a muddled and indiscriminate denial of the right of free opinion that verges on the brink of hysterics," and since then, businessmen have been asking more and more frequently, "What has happened to Charlie Wilson?"

Wilson has answered this question in the New York Times, and the essence of his answer is, Nothing. He says quite emphatically, ". . . I still hate controls. I am still opposed to controls by the Government in normal times. But these are not normal times." He defends his pro-control policy in the following terms:

> First, instead of being a representative of any one industry, or of big business generally, I am now, as Defence Mobilization Director, a representative of all the people—not serving merely one segment or a few segments of the nation, but all of them.
> Second, from my vantage point, I have access to full and authentic information and get a fuller view of our situation. This brings with it the realization that extraordinary measures are needed to cope with the situation—measures such as price, wage, materials and credit controls.

Wilson is becoming a pariah, not because of his own nature, but because of the exigencies of the situation. His explanation (or apology, it almost seems) will probably have little effect in U.S. business circles, but it underlines the plight of the government administrator who realizes the gravity of a situation, and has an informed opinion about the measures to be taken, but who cannot convey an idea of the general welfare (or "the public interest") to individuals and groups.

School's In

The calendar year begins in January but every Canadian knows that the year really begins in September. There are two reasons for this: one is our weather, the other is our family life. Our weather tells us that lazy, languid days are ended, that crops must be in, fuel prepared and homes shored up—all in preparation for the winter. (Breadwinners know that with September they must get down in earnest to making the money to keep them and their families going throughout the winter.) It is a droll comment on Canadian character that the year begins with a virtual hibernation and the end of summer and pleasure.

The second reason that September begins a new year is that Canadians are family people and family means children. What is beginning and new for sons and daughters is beginning for parents. The most important annual event in the year for young and old is the reopening of school because of our traditional, ingrained personal sense of the importance of schooling. Pioneers sacrificed greatly to send their children to school and college; the importance of formal education has got into the blood of their children and children's children, and today as in pioneer days Canadians directly, and indirectly through their taxes and their Departments of Education, place utmost importance on schooling. Today a new school year began, and so began a new Canadian year.

Tidiness and Dirt In England

By BON VIVANT

FOR years I have been listening to Canadians, who on their return from England, have had a lot of critical things to say about Britain and its people. I also realize that it is easier to say something critical than something kind, and minor annnoyances, which many of us tolerate in our own country, are magnified when we are away from home. I don't pretend to be any different in this respect, and I have found a number of things which annoy me, and I miss a great many of the creature comforts to which I am accustomed. However, there is always the second side to any story, and I must give the people here credit for being streets ahead of us in a number of ways.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE of the things which I cannot understand is how a people who maintain such a tidy countryside can be so downright dirty when it comes to handling food. As you drive through the English countryside or walk about in the towns and cities, the visitor is impressed by the absence of litter. The hedgerows are unfestooned with old papers, cigaret boxes, beer bottles and other trash. They are clean, and neaty trimmed.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the cities the vagrant breezes do not twine discarded early editions around your legs, nor are the gutters full of trash. Wherever you go, even to the Festival of Britain fun fair, comparable to Toronto Exhibition, you are impressed by the neat and tidy air the places present. There are signs posted on the country roads advising that those causing litter will be fined, and the same applies in the cities and towns. At the Fun Fair a loud speaker, at fifteen minute intervals, admonished the people about litter and requested them to use the dust bins. The surprising fact was that they did, and even I, who am no better than my fellow countrymen in the litter line, found I was keeping empty cigaret packs in my pocket until I found a dust bin.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN it comes to handling food the story is different. Not that I think for a moment the English are a bit dirtier in this respect than we are in Canada. I do think they make it look messier. In the really high class places food handling is excellent, but you can say the same for Canada and the United States. It is the place where you drop in for a casual cup of tea or coffee that you get the full treatment. Some pretty keen observation convinces me that this stems from two causes.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE most important one is the way dishes are washed. In Canada certain health regulations are laid down for the conduct of public eating places. I know full well that a great many of our restaurants hew as close to the line as they can, but in the main dishes are clean and glasses are reasonably bright. What the regulations are in England I don't know, but the dishes and glasses do look a bit messy

✧ ✧ ✧

THE second cause for my impressions of food handling is that not enough wiping up is done. In a number of places I have snatched a table which has been in previous use and found puddles of tea, spilled sugar and crumbs upon it. Not infrequently, unless I asked specificially that it be done, my dish of the brew was planked down in the remains of previous occupants. Another hint you may find of value in your travels is that while in England don't expect a table napkin unless you ask for it. Whether the use of this article marks you as a messy eater, I hesitate to say, but I do know they are only supplied upon request.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANOTHER place where England has it all over us is in public comfort stations. In Canada we leave this pretty much up to the service stations and private enterprise. Where there is a public station is it not infrequently a dirty, filthy hole, with the walls scrawled with obscenities. Not so in England. Nor does the Englishman believe in hiding his comfort station light under a bushel. They are clearly marked with signs big enough for those in need of comfort to spot easily.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE use of these very necessary adjuncts to our way of life costs one penny. In each one there is an attendant in charge and the place is kept clean, and free from written expressions showing the advantage of universal education. They are installed and operated by the municipalities, and a great boon I find them when travelling with small fry who generally realize, miles from a safe haven, that something has to be done about something.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN you tumble off an English train you are left in no doubt as to where you are to go. I estimate the guide signs to be at a minimum ten feet long and two feet wide, with large lettering. They remind me of a hotel in Ridgetown, which enjoyed my patronage as a small boy. When you entered the front door you were confronted by a large sign, which, with a minimum of verbosity stated simply and plainly "IT".

✧ ✧ ✧

JUST a word about English stations. The place near which I have my permanent base, has a population of around 5,000, not counting the sheep. The station has three platforms, reached by overhead bridges, and underpasses for the transference of baggage Not quite as large as the Union stations in Montreal and Toronto, it is still much larger and far better equipped than the stations in places like Peterborough and Kingston.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT has the inevitable refreshment bar, not only on one platform, but on all three. I feel quite sure the English train stops are figured on the length of time it takes an elderly lady to obtain and drink a cup of tea. It isn't a bad system at that. In England the station is the place. The facilities on the trains do not compare with those we enjoy and expect, so the station is equipped for many purposes.

Incidentally, no one in England is in a terrible hurry.

Border Crossings

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures on highway traffic, during June, between Canada and the United States show that Canadian border crossings increased by 37 per cent over June, 1950, while U.S. border crossings showed a gain of 15 per cent.

Evidently the campaign to have Canadians see Canada first is not yet bearing much fruit.

POOR BUTTERFLY

Electing A New Primate

(GENERAL SYNOD COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC RELATIONS)

WHEN the electoral college of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada meets in Victoria, Sept. 7 to elect its eighth primate in the 58 years since its founding, it will do so through a thoroughly democratic selection by both clerical and lay delegates.

The church head may be any bishop or archbishop in charge of a Canadian diocese, a diocese being one of the 28 regions into which Canada is divided for purposes of church administration. The archbishops are known as metropolitans and preside over ecclesiastical provinces, each of which contain a number of diocese. Bishops who would not be eligible for the primacy are suffragan and co-adjutor bishops (assistant bishops) and bishops who have retired as diocesan heads.

On his election, the new primate takes the title of arch-bishop, if he is not already so designated, and becomes president of the General Synod. He may serve for life or as long as he is bishop of a Canadian diocese. He may resign by written notice to the senior metropolitan, but his resignation becomes effective only when it is accepted by a majority of the bishops.

The primate is elected by the General Synod, acting through an electoral college. The electoral college is made up of bishops of the upper house and other members of the executive council elected or appointed as provided by the church constitution.

The electoral college attends a celebration of Holy Communion on the day of the election and then convenes for organization and hears the report on the credentials of its members. Then, the bishops retire and sit as an upper house, apart from the remaining clergy and laymen who constitute the lower house.

At this point, the upper house submits three or more nominations for the office or primate to the lower house which votes by ballot until an election results or until it asks the upper house for additional nominations. In the lower house, clergy and laity vote separately and there is no election until a candidate receives a majority of both the clerical and lay votes.

No debate is permitted on any motion or ballot and each nomination must be voted on. In the event that the lower house is unable to elect a primate, the election is by the upper house.

When the lower house receives the names of three or more candidates and does not elect a primate after two ballots, the candidate receiving the smallest number of votes is dropped for the next ballot and similarly after each vote the nominee receiving the smallest number of votes is dropped for the next ballot until only two nominees remain.

It is interesting to note that a change may be made "by proclamation" so that all bishops and priests of the Church of England may be eligible for the office of primate. This proclamation has not been made, but such extension of eligibility for the office of primate is available should the General Synod so decide.

Science And Our Boundaries

(MONTREAL STAR)

TOM Lawrence of Colonsay, Saskatchewan, should turn out to be an important Canadian. This statement may mystify him, for he is a modest young man who holds a scholarship from the National Research Council. His job is to conduct irradiation experiments upon grain crop seeds. In these experiments seeds and plants are subjected to the bombardments of various energy rays. The object is to produce changes (mutations, in scientific jargon) in the heredity factors of grains. Certain of these artificially-induced changes will be degenerative and consequently worthless, but others may provide the breeding stock for new and valuable species.

Few think of plant breeders as geographers, but they are the people who have rolled back the Arctic. The first agricultural survey of Western Canada (in 1858) reported no more than 64,000 square miles of arable land—a fertile fringe along the great frozen wastes of the northland. Then a Scottish immigrant brought Galician wheat, the first variety ever to be acclimatized in Canada. For a half century this strain, Red Fife, slowly widened the cereal belt. Thereafter came that wonder-worker, Sir Charles Saunders, whose Marquis wheat, ripening ten days earlier than Red Fife, carried Canadian grainlands two hundred miles further north. Other varieties followed which wrested a further two hundred thousand square miles from the grip of the Arctic.

Since then the search for hardier and earlier maturing species has never ceased. Plant breeders are spurred on by the knowledge that on the other side of the North Pole Russian geneticists have solved many problems which still confront Canadian researchers. Hence the importance of Mr. Lawrence and his colleagues. In terms of national wealth, of the expansion of the arable area of Canada and of the absorption of population, their tasks hold high priority among the projects of our nation.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

And Jesus saith unto him, I will come and heal him. The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed. For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel . . .

And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour. (Matt. 8:5-10, 13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Mark well, O Job, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I will speak. (Job 33: 31.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Elihu also proceeded, and said . . . I will fetch my knowledge from afar, and will ascribe righteousness to my Maker. For truly my words shall not be false: he that is perfect in knowledge is with thee.

Behold, God is mighty, and despiseth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom. He preserveth not the life of the wicked: but giveth right to the poor. (Job 36: 1, 3-6.)

Churchill Is Ready

(Brantford Expositor)

As noted the other day, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill likes to remark in private conversations and sometimes in public, that William Ewart Gladstone became Prime Minister for the last time at the age of 83.

It is quite clear that Mr. Churchill is not casually dipping into history for that fact or mentioning it pointlessly. His obvious hint is that, at 77, he hopes and intends to become Prime Minister again. He may even make the goal before the actual 77th birthday, which will be in November next.

The present Socialist Government clings to office by a precarious majority. Indeed it has been defeated on occasions by actual vote, though not on an issue important enough to cause its resignation.

Political wiseacres expect a general election fairly soon, either by force of Conservative strategy in the House or by the shrewdness of Socialist strategy in choosing a date favourable to the party in power. Listening to the comments of political observers and ordinary people alike, and reading the forecasts of the experienced correspondents, a visitor to Britain gets the impression that a Conservative victory is almost certain. Some Tory optimists confidently anticipate a Churchillian majority of at least 150 seats.

Mexican Fish Give Clues In Cancer Study

By FRANK CAREY

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Sept. 4 (AP)—A harem wedding of some Mexican fish whose families had been separated for 300,000 years may provide a clue to how human cancer develops, a New York scientist said Monday.

Dr. Myon Gordon said the fish are of the same species—a kind of "platyfish"—but the groom and two brides came from Mexican rivers separated by hundreds of miles. The brides were from the same river.

Some 300,000 years ago, he said, all the platyfish were presumably swimming around together—one big happy family.

But, by some geological accident they became distributed among various widely-separated rivers. And, over the centuries, while their species remained the same, the different tribes acquired certain genetic, or hereditary, differences.

Gordon, a geneticist of the New York Zoological Society, told this story to the closing session of the annual meeting of the society for the study of development and growth.

No Sign of Cancer

He and some fellow scientists gathered live platyfish from a half-dozen rivers in Mexico and Guatemala.

In none did they find any evidence of a cancer called a "melanoma" which can occur in both fish and man.

But—

When they took a male fish from one Mexican river and mated him with two females from a river hundreds of miles away, some of the offspring developed abnormal formations which Gordon says are potentially cancerous.

The indications are, he said, that while the parents themselves were normal, they passed on to some of their offspring certain "incompatible" genes—due to the fact the parents themselves were genetically different.

"Genes" are tiny cellular particles which carry hereditary traits.

Thus, said the scientist, it is possible that at least some types of human cancer may be brought about in this way:

A child might, by chance, inherit "incompatible" genes from its two normal but genetically different parents. And, if the child has certain sensitive cells in his body, the incompatible genes in such cells might bring about abnormal growth.

Find New Drug To Fight Polio

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4 (AP)—Promise of a drug to conquer poliomyelitis by preventing the growth of polio virus in human nerve cells was announced Monday at the opening session of the International poliomyelitis conference.

The report showed it is possible to get drugs to penetrate the nerve cells to attack the polio virus. All medicines thus far have failed because the polio virus that causes the disease inside the nerve cells, multiplies and destroys the nerves. Until now doctors have not known of a drug that could get in to work on the virus.

Success in finding a drug that can penetrate the nerve cells appears to be half the battle.

The experiments showing the possibility were done at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York, at the California Institute of Technology and in Australia.

But polio virus has not yet been isolated and this new work was done by using five other viruses as guinea pigs for the tests.

Most Universities Report Enrolment To Be Lower

By The Canadian Press

Newcomers to Canadian Universities face the prospect of more personal attention in initiation ceremonies this year.

That's because there will be fewer freshmen in most cases in comparison with the number of sophomores and seniors.

A Canadian Press survey of universities in all 10 provinces indicates that first-year enrolment will be down generally, although there are some exceptions.

There are several apparent reasons. For one thing, it will cost more to go to college. Most of the larger universities have increased their fees to keep pace with higher operating costs.

Another reason lies in the virtual end of Second World War servicemen taking advantage of university benefits. During the five years immediately after the war, university enrolment was swollen by the DVA students. In the last couple of years, however, the number has dwindled sharply.

Get Extra Year

New Brunswick has a third reason. High schools there now run five years instead of four and students who would have normally been sent on their way to college last year will have another year of secondary school education instead.

Probably the biggest drop will be at University of Toronto—largest university in the commonwealth. U of T expects about 1,500 fewer students than last year. It will still have a big enrolment of about 11,000.

Montreal's four major universities anticipate only a small decrease, McGill will have about 6,900 students; Sir George Williams College about 3,111; University of Montreal 6,300, and Loyola College 950.

University of Western Ontario at London expects this year's enrolment to be "very close" to last year's 4,372. But Queen's University at Kilngston, believes its registration will fall below the 2,308 of 1950.

The major Western universities all expect fewer new students. University of British Columbia at Vancouver figures on 5,500—a drop of about 1,000; University of Alberta at Edmonton expects to be down 400 to a total of 3,300; University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon down about 100 to 2,500; University of Manitoba at Winnipeg, just slightly less than last year's 5,174.

Big Drop

An indication of the drop in venteran's enrolment is at Manitoba where about 250 DVA students are expected compared with 3,500 in 1946-47—the peak post-war years.

The Maritime universities, with the exception of Newfoundland, expect drops in enrolment for varied reasons. Acadia U at Wolfville, NS, is most sharply affected by decreased veteran enrolment; Mount Allison at Sackville, NB, expects to be hit by the extra high school year in the province; University of New Brunswick at Fredericton also expects fewer high school graduates. UNB had 782 students last year.

Dalhousie University at Halifax, which normally attracts a large proportion from other parts of Canada and from the United States, also anticipates a drop in new entrants.

Great Expansion

Newfoundland's only university, Memorial U at St. John's, looks to the coming year as one of great expension. It may be able shortly to confer a bachelor of science degree. It now can confer only the bachelor of arts degree in arts and education.

Last year's enrolment was 400 and, inconsistent with the trend at other Canadian colleges, an increase is expected this term. Classroom space and housing accommodation will be ample for the increased number of students from outside the capital.

Only a few university cities expect to have major housing problems this year. Toronto is one. Kingston, site of Queen's University, is another.

Still another is Laval, at Quebec, where an increase of 200 to 300 students is expected over last year's 3,700.

The 1951-52 term is the centenary for Laval, founded in 1852, and festivities will last for months, starting in February.

Carleton College in Ottawa will have one of the larger increases in fees—20 per cent. However, registration is running about the same as last year when the college had just less than 500 students. The higher fees are expected to produce a drop in the evening enrolment.

Manslaughter Charge

CHICAGO, Sept. 4 (AP) — A 16-year-old boy was charged with manslaughter Monday for what he called the "accidental" killing of six-year-old Yvonne Biritiz in a hobo jungle last Thursday. George Fabian signed a confession in which he said he crashed the child's head against some rocks while playing a game of airplane swing with her. He said he took the girl's ankles in his hands and swung her around in a circle.

Orfuns Begin Grid Season Beating Weston By 12 To 5

Peterborough Orfuns opened their grid season with a 12-5 exhibition win over Weston Wolverines before a good-sized crowd. The 1951 edition of the Orfuns, under Coach Lea Deadey, looked impressive for an early-season game, with fleet Ronnie Hodson sparking them with two touchdowns. After a scoreless first quarter, they led 6-0 at the half and 7-1 going into the fourth when each side counted an unconverted try.

Few Fumbles

It was a good football game, the visitors opening it up more, and singularly free from fumbles of any importance. The Orfuns' line proved plenty solid to permit back-field plays starting and to give kickers and passers ample time. The Wolverines invaded Orfun territory but once in the last half and that time paid off for them. Offsides and a few boners kept the Peterborough score down.

Home highlights of a fairly even first quarter were a Corner-to-Don McGillis forward flip for 15, a runback by Beatty, Graham's pass interception, a plunge by Jim Conlin, Hodson's recovery of a bad snap and yardage run on a third down, a kick runback by Berry and a pass from the latter to Don McGillis. After a forward from Corner to McGillis in the second, Jim Conlin bucked over but it was offside. Lalonde got four but they lost on downs. Lalonde ran back their hoof 15, Matthews bucked seven and Hodson skirted end for the major, Lally booting the convert. Spike bucked well, Berry quarter-sneaked to advantage and Naismith tackled like a fool. Weston opened up late with a series of forward passes but time ran out on them.

Airplane Show

After a fine airplane show in the intermission — arranged by Recreation Commissioner Alex Sinclair—Lalonde recovered an early fumble. Hodson took Garner's pass for 30 more, they moved it over for a shot at goal and Baker kicked a point to deadline. Hodson was hoofing well to the coffin corner and play was in the Weston end, though an intercepted forward stopped another Deadey drive.

In the fourth, a buck by Hodson and sneak by Corner moved the sticks and Matthews and Lalonde played hot potato in an interception. A pass from Corner went to Naismith, who lateralled to Hodson to move it to Weston's 20. Conlin bucked for nine but they lost on downs. Lalonde intercepted a pass and Russelle helped get it up on a buck. Hodson shot around end for another major, the convert missing. Berry intercepted a pass but later Weston started rolling after Janowski intereepted a toss. Gainani did some fine heaving all through and he was clicking to his ends toward the last, after a long gallop by Galloway. Janowski finally took it over on a pass from Gainani late in the game, the try not being converted.

The whole Peterborough crew showed well for so early in the season. Lalonde, Hodson, Matthews, Jim Conlin, Naismith, Don McGillis and Berry caught the eye frequently, but it was a good all-around performance by the backfielders behind a solid line. Coach Bill Irwin's club showed passing proficiency when they opened it up.

Weston—Flying wing, Forga; halves, Harris, Fitzgerald, Gainani; quarter, Janowski; snap, Miller; insides, Spafford, Meech; middles, Adamson, McNaughton; outsides, Todd, Stewart; alternates, Scheen, Galloway, McLaughlin, Richie, Clarke, Barber, Blouin, H. Smith, D. Smith, Campbell.

Orfuns—Flying wing, Lalonde; halves, Hodson, Matthews, Jim Conlin; quarter, Corner; snap, Graham; insides, Wilson, Lynch; middles, Trimm, Beatty; outsides, Naismith, D. McGillis; atlernates, Archibald, Burns, Spragge, DeCarlo, Howe, John Conlin, Bartley, Fitzgerald, Eady, Johnston, Laviolette, Berry, Birch, Baker, Wasson, Russelle G. McGillis, Thompson.

Merchants Get 4-2 Win For The Fourth

OSHAWA, Sept. 4 — Closest and best game of their long OBA elimination series was the tilt between Peterborough and Oshawa Merchants here on Saturday night when the Merchants broke up a 1-1 deadlock with a three-run splurge in the eighth and went on to win their fourth straight win of the series 4-2.

It was a portside duel between the Liftlock city's mound ace, Bill Dadson, and Wayne Grandcolas, youthful left-hander of the Merchants' mound staff, and over the distance Grandcolas fully deserved his win for he not only outpitched Dadson but it was Grandcolas himself who started off the victory rally in the bottom of the eighth.

Fred Garvey doubled in the first inning. Al Menzies walked, but George Brabin popped out, and Garvey went across with the game's first run when Jimmie Rogers dropped the toss that would have ended the inning. Rogers was replacing Sherry Rowland at the initial sack, the lanky regular being sidelined by illness.

Dick Berning, top hitter of the series, opened the second stanza for the homesters with a rousing double and stole third; he scored after two outs when Ted Barnes came through with a looping single behind second.

Until the Eighth

The two hurlers continued their 1-1 deadlock from that point until the eighth and hits were scarce for both sides. Barnes tried to steal home in the third after Cook had doubled, but was tripped when a Dadson pitch-out allowed Menzies to bag Barnes with ease. Dadson opened the seventh by getting on base on an error, was sacrificed to second and took third safely when Vic Napolitano's throw to get Dadson at third, struck the runner on the leg. Chuck Walsh pulled off a fine throw to Jose Morales to nip Andy Milne trying to steal second and Morales held Dadson on third. Then Grandcolas fanned Joe Stewart to end this threat.

Dadson appeared to kink his arm and caused himself some pain when one of his pitches got away from him in the seventh. Certainly he wasn't as effective in the eighth, and after fanning Cook, Grandcolas opened the winning rally with a sharp single. Napolitano followed with a hit and Morales bounced one off the third base sack, to score the tie-breaking run. Rogers grounded out but Berning walked to fill the bases and then with two out Chuck Walsh singled into left, and that scored both Napolitano and Morales, who were off with the pitch.

Bill Cook dropped Brabin's hight left to open the ninth, and Brabin went to second on the error. He took third when Dadson singled with a slow hopper to shortstop. Pinch-hitter Bill Huntley flied out to deep left, which let Brabin score easily after the catch.

The game ended abruptly then when Andy Milne popped up to shortstop Napolitano and Dadson, apparently thinking there were two out, had himself doubled off the base in easy fashion.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It's the King and His Court at 8.30 tonight in the Bowl, if the weather is right. This famed four-man touring team of softballers plays an exhibition against the local male all-stars. Show is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for welfare work, and a similar game a year ago drew a record paid crowd of 4,500. Everyone was highly pleased with the performance as the fabulous Eddie Feigner dished up his mound magic with strikeouts of every description. Tossed blindfolded at times, threw from between his legs, chucked 'em across from second and from centre field, and wound up after the game with a separate twirling display. It was really something to see.

Woollens junior girls came through neatly in Kingston Saturday to win 15-4 and advance into the second PWSU playdown round. First game of that is here tomorrow eve against either East Toronto or the Lakeshore winner. A best-of-three series. S. Harris hurled well for the winners and her mates all clicked in good form. Here at the Bowl, Agincourt defeated Westclox 2-0 in a nifty number to erase the Clockers in two straight, though the latter have protested this game. They claim M. Fox (who tossed a five-hitter and fanned 13) pitches illegally, and a lot of the fans felt likewise. Westclox errors hurt in the close contest.

Orfuns Open With Win

Fall and football come together, so we guess autumn is about here. Anyway, the grid Orfuns, of senior "B" ORFU calibre, started it off at Morrow Park yester aft with a 12-5 exhibition win o'er Weston, coached by Bill Irwin. A pretty tidy tilt, too, for the fans. Orfuns opened it up more the first half but played a cozier type the last part, while Weston really rolled then with long forward flips. Coach Leo Deadey said the Exhibition here forced Orfuns to lay off almost a week in drills, and their timing is off. However, they're rounding into okay condition, and Leo remarked: "Don't worry, the fans will see lots of passing by Peterborough once the schedule opens."

While there are plenty of local and district (some good Lakefield huskies) on the squad, there are quite a few newcomers. The team looked impressive to us yesterday for a first game. A strong line and oodles of talent in the backfield. Yet the starting schedule lineup and spares haven't been definitely picked yet. Maybe we shouldn't pick any outstanding players now, but we did like the work Monday of Ronnie Hodson—he had two touchdowns—Lally Lalonde, Clyde Naismith (of the provincial police), Johnny Berry with Spike Matthews and Jim Conlin at times showing plenty, as well. Some of the others rate a mention, and more still will be clicking as the season gets underway. We hope to give fans a rundown on some of the talent as soon as we can dig up the details. They open their schedule a week tomorrow.

Merchants Too Strong

Senior baseball Petes took it on the chin twice in Oshawa o'er the long week-end as the power-packed Merchants swept that OBA series in straight games. A good scrap Saturday with Dadson and Grandcolas pitching nice ball, but Oshawa broke a 1-1 deadlock in the eighth to go on and win by a 4-2 score. Petes made it close again on the holiday but dropped a 5-4 decision. They got four runs in the first frame and nothing after that. Oshawa came from behind in the ninth on Peterborough errors to take it again. Plunkett and Dadson hurled for the Whitehill crew as Miller and Harper pitched for the winners. Milne got two hits. Don't know yet if the Petes will be playing any more ball this season.

Mimico Mounties downed Hamilton Tigers 14-9 yesterday to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five senior lacrosse playoffs. Winner is slated to open the best-of-seven Eastern Canada finals against the Petes' Timbermen here on Friday, Sept. 7, that series going possibly to Sept. 17. Survivor of that one then heads west for the Mann Cup sawoffs. OLA junior "A" three-of-five finals got under way here Saturday with Mimico edging the locals 4-3 as they finished a bit stronger with Sandford a star. Referees took quite a panning from the gallery in this one. Second is tonight in Mimico and third here this Saturday eve.

Petes Ousted In Fifth By Merchants

OSHAWA, Sept. 4. — Oshawa Merchants earned the right to compete in the OBA senior playdowns when they defeated Peterborough 5-4 in the fifth game of their best-of-nine playoff series, to make it five straight wins, before a large holiday crowd here on Monday morning. Oshawa scored four runs in the ninth inning when the Liftlock City defence came apart at the seams.

Four in First

A single by Joe Lowery, four errors and a double by Andy Milne with the bases loaded gave the Petes a four-run lead in the opening inning but they failed to score again. Stan Miller limited them to four hits for the first six innings and Lefty Bill Harper set them down with two scattered singles in the last three.

Merchants scored only one run off Doug Plunkett in the first eight frames.

Out At The Kawartha

The big annual corn and wiener roast will be held this Saturday. Slacks and jeans will be the order of the day. Following the camp-fire activities a dance will be held in the club house with the same care-free atmosphere moved in from the outside. It is the wish of the entertainment committee that all members of the club avail themselves of the low charge to make this a real Kawartha Club get-to-gether. Friends of members too, are cordially invited to join in the fun.

With the exception of one, all of the club competitions have come along nicely.

In the men's senior with the McRae Trophy at stake, a close game saw H. G. McKenzie emerge the winner over Hughie Siddall.

The Kawartha Cup play has finally wound up with D. Bath the winner over G. Myles. Handicaps in this play range from 24 to 36.

The President's Cup competition is now in the finals with J. B. Watts scheduled to play H. McLean to decide who shall play the winner of E. Hanbidge and V. Lawrence. Some exceptionally keen competition is expected to develop at this stage.

The mixed two-ball is right in the finals and those left to settle the matter are the teams of A. Allan and B. Barnett, and R. McKee and E. Hanbidge.

The club championship has not yet been decided; however it is expected that in the very near future M. Akers and D. Vitarelli will duel it out.

The men's two-ball has caused the match committee some loss of sleep and a safe bet is that the "chopper" will soon be taken out of the moth balls.

US Boats Winners

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP). — United States entries took all prizes in open events at the Canadian National Exhibition's motor boat races Monday. G. T. Fulford of Brockville, was first in the 135 Canadian class and George Reynolds of Brockville was second. Dave Belfie, of Gananoque, Ont., was third.

Woollens Take The Series Over Kingston

Dominion Woollens of Peterborough eliminated Kingston girls in the first round of PWSU junior playdowns by beating them 15-4 in Kingston on Saturday to make it two straight. The Limestone City lasses lacked the softball experience of the good Woollens' crew. The latter move into their next series here this Wednesday evening against either East Toronto or the Lakeshore winners, a two-of-three set.

S. Harris pitched good seven-hit ball for Woollens, fanning four, as her mates hit in timely fashion and ran the bases well. D. Dunk and S. Harris shone afield, and C. Ferguson and S. Smith each had a homer and single. The losers used two twirlers, fanning nine between them, but their errors hurt. J. Vallier looked good defensively, and E. Silverman led at bat with three for five times up. They had no extra-base blows. Few walks were issued by S. Harris, though M. Williams had a couple of wild streaks. Teams:

Westclox Girls Defeated By Agincourt

Agincourt girls edged Westclox 2-0 here Saturday to sweep their PWSU intermediate series in two straight games. The Clockers have launched a protest on this game, claiming illegal delivery of her pitches by the Agincourt flinger. She drew five-hit ball and struck out 13, giving up but one walk. M. Armstrong on the home slab was in fine form, too, to allow but five hits, whiffing five and walking just one.

Besides the difference in strike-outs, a factor was the two Westclox errors, which hurt their cause in such a close contest. A triple by E. Whitehouse with one aboard in the eighth clinched matters. W. Ormson and M. Fox (the pitcher) were outstanding defensively for the winners, none of whom got more than one safe blow. M. Hawthorne and M. Owen shone in the field for the homesters. M. Hawthorne led her side at bat with two singles in four times to bat. It was a nifty tussle to view. Teams:

Agincourt—M. Dart, ss; S. Sing, lf; C. McArthur, rf; M. Fox, p; F. Allard, 1b; D. Peers, c; N. Borean, 2b; E. Whitehouse, cf; W. Ormson, 3b.

Mimico Gets First Tilt In Junior OLA

Mimico edged a 4-3 win over Filter Queens Saturday night at Miller Bowl, in the opener of a best-of-five series for the Eastern Canada junior "A" lacrosse championship. A strong three-goal rally in the final quarter enabled the visitors to snatch victory from defeat after Petes had earned a 3-1 margin at three-quarter time.

Play opened fast with the locals jumping to a lead in the first quarter on two fine solo efforts by Jerry O'Reilly and Carl Brioux in a fairly close checking period. Excellent goal-tending at both ends kept the best scoring efforts of rival sharpshooters at bay most of the second frame, until Jim Heffernan scored at 11.19 on a neat pass from Gary Robinson, to give Filters a 3-0 lead. Play roughened up some in this stanza with four miscues handed out, but it was a clean game most of the way, a little slow in spots for playoff lacrosse.

Started To Go

Mounties fought back hard in the third quarter to break into the scring column midway in the period as Sandford beat Nicholls on a low hard drive. The visitors continued to press hard in the final quarter and despite the best defensive efforts of the Vitarelli squad, tied up the game on two fine efforts by Meeke and Hotsdon, assisted by Ludbock and Rock. Goalie Tonichishen proved unbeatable in the rival cage as Petes' forwards were robbed time and again.

Mimico tallied the winning goal at the halfway mark in the period as Sandford (the game's individual star) combined neatly with star centre Baragar to beat Nicholls on a close-in drive. This marker proved sufficient as Mounties played careful defensive lacrosse in the latter stages of the game, to stave off a desperate last-minute offensive by Filter Queens. It was one of the lowest scoring games of the season and one in which the breaks played a big part. All the local boys played well, with Nicholls particularly good in the net. For Mounties, Sandford, Baragar, Meeke, Lubbock, Hotsdon and Rock were best.

Mimico—Goal, Tonichishen; defence, McNeill, Lubbock; centre, Baragar; wings, Kelly, Hotsdon; rover, McIntyre; alts., Meeke, McLean, Riley, Sandford, Rock, Harte Millicent.

Tiger-Cats Crush Argonauts 27-6 To Take First Place

By The Canadian Press

It was one game up and one game down for each of Toronto's football teams as Argo and Balmy Beach stalwarts ended their first football weekend of the season.

In Ottawa Saturday Argos steamrolled their way to a 36-17 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders as Al Dekdebrun quarterbacked his mates to six touchdowns. But in Hamilton Monday the boys in blue got the flat side of the steamroller themselves when Hamilton's mighty Tiger-Cats moved into first place in the still-young Big Four football race 27-6.

Balmy Beaches, the Argos' farm club, fared just like their Big Four brothers. They blanked Windsor Royals 16-0 in Windsor Saturday but when they moved to Sarnia Monday for a tilt with the Imperials they lost control of the game and ended 10 points in the red. Score was 15-5.

Made Clean Sweep

In the west, Edmonton Eskimos made a clean sweep over the Calgary Stampeders during the weekend. They edged them 18-17 in a game Saturday at Calgary and blanked them 5-0 in a night game Monday at Edmonton.

Monday in Regina Winnipeg Blue Bombers took Saskatchewan Roughriders 24-22 when they put on a third-quarter power drive and made three converted touchdowns. The Bombers trailed 22-6 at the end of the three-quarter mark.

Argos' Dekdebrun and Hamilton's Bernie Custis showed themselves most colorful players in the east this weekend.

In the Argo-Rough Rider game, Dekdebrun showed the same elusive pair of heels and the same passing he showed a year ago when Argos captured the Grey Cup. He sent six players across for Argos' six touchdowns. His mates repeatedly marched up the field on Dekdebrun passes.

Not Clicking

Dekdebrun tried again Monday against the Tiger-Cats but the starch seemed to have gone out of the Blues. He tried 24 passes and completed only eight as against 14 tried and six completed for Custis, the Cats' speedy quarterback.

Only Argo break came from a Custis fumble on the Tiger-Cats' three-yard line. The Argos recovered and, three plays later, sent Ulysses Curtis over for a marker. Joe Krol converted.

In the Balmy Beaches' games, quarterback Bobby Lee played standout football. In the third quarter of the Beaches-Royals game he tossed a 40-yard sleeper to Andy Gilmour who crossed standing up for the Beaches' second marker.

Monday in Sarnia a Bobby Lee pass to Ed Fisher brought in the Beaches' unconverted touch and save the Torontonians from a blanking by the powerful Imperials.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

With the passing of Harold Darling at Civic Hospital Saturday morning, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club lost a faithful member. Although in poor health for some time his death came as a shock to his friends. The late Mr. Darling was of a quiet and reserved disposition. He made many friends on and off the greens and will be greatly missed. The sympathy of the members of the club is extended to his widow and children.

Out of respect to the late Mr. Darling the flag at the club house was flown at half mast until after the funeral.

The ladies are holding a draw from the board tournament tomorrow at 1:45 o'clock.

A large number of our bowlers played in tournaments at Cobourg, Port Hope, Elora and Toronto on the holiday.

Weekend Winners

At Peterborough, Saturday evening, P. Bartley, J. Cullen and C. Mowry.

At Cobourg Saturday, Mrs. Hepburn's rink, (1); Mrs. Dyer's rink, (2).

At Peterborough Monday—Mrs. B. Dawe and H. Staunton, 1st; Mrs. K. McVeety and K. McVeety, 2nd; Mrs. P. Bartley and P. Bartley, 3rd; Mrs. J. Wilson and J. Wilson, 4th.

Indians Regain First Place After Downing White Sox, Yanks Divide Doubleheader

By JOE REICHLER

Philadelphia's carefree Athletics are going nowhere in the American League race. But they are having a lot to say in which team will win the flag. Continuing their role of "spoilers," Jimmy Dykes' seventh placers Monday held New York to a split in their Labor-Day doubleheader to dump the Yankees out of first place. Taking advantage of the A's second-game, 3-2 win after the Yankees had copped the opener 3-1, Cleveland Indians regained first place by sweeping a pair from Chicago's White Sox, 5-3 and 6-1.

The Tribe now has a half-game lead on the Yankees, but must watch Boston's Red Sox, who whipped Washington twice, 3--2 and 8-4, to climb within 4½ games of the top.

The Red Sox are only two games behind Cleveland in the important "lost" column. They have played five fewer games than the Indians.

Brooklyn's Dodgers increased their first-place margin in the National League to six games over New York, defeating Boston Braves twice by 7-2 scores. The Giants divided a pair with Philadelphia Phillies, winning the nightcap 3-1, after Philadelphia had taken the opener, 6-3.

Stretch Winning Streak

St. Louis Cardinals stretched their winning streak to seven straight with 4-1 and 7-1 triumphs over Cincinnati. Chicago and Pittsburgh split, the Pirates earning a seven-inning 4-3 win after the Cubs had captured the first game, 11-10, in 12 innings.

Detroit's Tigers and St. Louis Browns paired a twin bill. The Tigers won 6-5 in 13 innings only to drop the second game 3-2.

Bobby Shantz and Bob Hooper combined to pitch Philadelphia's triumph over the Yankees. Shantz did not permit a score until he weakened in the seventh. Hooper retired the last eight Yankees.

Johnny Sain, recently purchased from the Braves, made a brilliant Yankee debut by setting down the A's with five hits in the opener. A two-run homer by Hank Bauer proved the difference.

Bob Feller registered his 21st victory and Steve Gromek spun a brilliant three-hitter as the Indians battered five Chicago hurlers for 21 hits. Four runs in the first two innings iced the opener and five tallies in the first inning put away the nightcap.

Help Red Sox

Clutch hitting by Walt Dropo, Dom DiMaggio and Bobby Doerr plus relief pitching by Ellis Kinder helped the Red Sox win two. Dropo's homer with one on climaxed a three-run first inning in the opener. DiMaggio and Doerr batted in two runs apiece in the nightcap. Kinder successfully relieved winners Mel Parnell and Chuck Stobbs in each game.

Jerry Priddy's double in the 13th off Ned Garver scored Johnny Groth with the run that won the first game for Detroit. Fred Marsh's two-run single in the sixth gave the Browns their split.

Roy Campanella, playing despite two floating cartilages in his left elbow, cracked out six consecutive hits to lead the Dodgers to their holiday sweep. He hit two homers, a double and single in the opener and batted in five runs.

Campy and Andy Pafko led the second-game attack as Clem Labine pitched his second victory in as many big-league starts.

The Diplomat Wins Thorncliffe Race

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP).—The Diplomat, the stalwart old pacer owned by Alex Parsons, of London, won both divisions of the $2,500 consolation stakes as the second summer meeting of harness racing at Thorncliffe raceway ended Monday.

The Diplomat, expertly guided by Vic Rowntree, never left the issue in doubt in either heat.

The diplomat won the mile event in 2:05 4-5 and the mile and one-sixteenth in 2.14 4-5.

Calgary Downs UK Cricket Club

CALGARY, Sept. 4 (CP). — England's touring Marylebone Cricket Club Monday suffered the second defeat of its Dominion tour when Calgary won 152-116 in an exhibition match.

MCC went down to its first defeat Aug. 22 at Vancouver when a strong Mainland League side won by a score of 110 runs to 82. Sunday MCC won an exhibition match from an all-Calgary side, scoring 242 runs for eight wickets declared while their opponents counted only 61, all out.

The two exhibitions were played instead of a scheduled test match between MCC and Canada after heavy rain ruined the regular pitch. A temporary one was used Sunday and Monday. It was smaller and without sight boards. The test match will be re-scheduled in eastern Canada.

Mimico Defeats Hamilton 14-9

MIMICO, Sept. 4 (CP).—Mimico Mountaineers loosed a barrage of shots to win a 14-9 overtime victory over Hamilton Tigers Monday night in their best-of-five Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association semi-final series.

The win gives them a 2-1 lead in the series. Fourth game will be played in Hamilton tonight.

In the overtime, Mimico scored five goals while holding Hamilton scoreless.

Open Vault Record Set By American

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP).—The Rev. Bob Richards, United States pole vault champion, of Laverne, Calif., Monday set a Canadian open vault record of 14 feet, 10½ inches at the Canadian National Exhibition's Labor Day track meet.

Before a crowd of 26,000 people Richards broke the record he set Saturday of 14 feet, seven and seven-eighths inches.

The Ledroit Falsons of Washington, DC, piled up 24 points at the track meet to take first place team standing.

Second place team was the Olympic Athletic Club of Montreal with 13 points. The Mercury AC of Montreal tied with the East York Track Club for third with six points each.

Fan Kicks At Refs

Sports Editor,
The Examiner.

Dear Sir, — Can you explain why our lacrosse teams get such refereeing as we had at Miller Bowl on Saturday? How can our boys play their best? They could have won that game easily if we had fair referees, not ones who only see one team, and that the visitors. If our side does wrong, they get penalties. That should go both ways. I don't miss any senior and few junior games, but it sure spoils the sport when the refs are so rotten.

Sincerely,
A LACROSSE FAN.

(Ed. Note—We appreciate how this fan feels, and it is true that some of the referees look pretty one-sided at times, but one has to take whatever the OLA sends down to these games. There is no appeal.)

Favor Sedgman To Take Cup

By GAYLE TALBOT.

FOREST HILLS, NY, Sept. 4 (AP).—For the first time since the national tennis championships were first played in 1881, an Australian will likely win the big silver cup today.

Few who watched the tournament for the last 10 days could envision anything but a victory for Frank Sedgman, the Aussie ace, over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in today's final.

The feeling was that the Davis Cup star had too much speed, power and all-around class to be foiled now by a player who is only seventh on the American list.

Seixas' victory over first-seeded Dick Savitt of Orange, NJ, in Monday's semi-finals was somewhat tarnished by the fact that the Wimbledon champion had an infected leg.

Sedgman, for his part, simply ate Art Larsen alive, much to the surprise of a crowd of 15,000 which had expected better of the slim left-hander who had won the title a yeaar ago. That one lasted only 48 minutes and the scores were 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. Seixas used up an hour and 17 minutes in administering his mercy shot to Savitt by 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Sedgman made a poor showing last year, bowing to Earl Cochell long before the finals. But Aussies just had won the Davis Cup and were too elated to care much about the championships. This time Sedgman has been playing with a deadly earnestness and appears to have reached his peak.

Turpin Fight Said Likely Smash Records

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—(AP)—The Randy Turpin-Ray Robinson return bout Sept. 12 at the Polo Grounds undoubtedly will smash all sorts of financial records for a non-heavyweight fight.

The second scrap had to be a success from the moment the 23-year-old British Negro's hand was raised in triumph in London July 10. In capturing the middleweight crown from the great Robinson, Turpin scored the most sensational boxing upset in years.

Before the date was even set for the return, the International Boxing Club was swamped with a deluge of blank cheques.

There hasn't been anything like that here since the second Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott bout in 1948. And no international match has caused such a furore since the Brown Bomber flattened Germany's Max Schmeling in one round in the Yankee Stadium June 22, 1938.

The revenue for the coming collision may total more than $750,000. This would include a possible gross gate of $500,000, another $200,000 for the movie rights, and possibly another $50,000 for the closed telecast to movie houses in at least 12 American cities.

May Shatter Mark

If the gate reaches more than $452,648, it will shatter a 28-year-old money mark for non-heavyweights. Lightweight champion Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler lured 58,519 fans and $452,648 into the Yankee Stadium July 23, 1923.

The richest middleweight bout of the past was the second Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale scrap in Chicago Stadium which drew 18,547 fans and grossed $422,918 July 16, 1947.

Both of Louis' returns with Schmeling and Walcott were held in the Yankee Stadium. The Louis-Schmeling affair was seen by 70,043 fans who paid $1,020,419 on June 22, 1938. Louis' revenge over Walcott was witnessed by 42,267 customers who paid $841,739 June 25, 1948.

The top gate of all time, of course, was set by Jack Dempsey and Gentleman Gene Tunney in Chicago's Soldier Field Sept. 22, 1927. A crowd of 104,943 paid $2,658,660 to see Tunney turn in that sensational upset.

Fly Drugs To Save Mother

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP). — A tiny package of drugs was flown here from Boston in a United States transport plane Monday in an attempt to save a young mother from bleeding to death.

Doctors administered fibrinogen—a blood coagulator—to Mrs. Nadine Cranfield, 25, of Toronto. They said her condition was "improving."

Doctors in Boston identified the woman and said she had received nearly a dozen blood transfusions. However, because of a lack of fibrinogen in her blood it was impossible to stop the bleeding.

Doctors here said that the woman started to bleed after giving birth to a child.

Driver Prevents Bad Explosion

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 4 (CP)—Quick thinking by a gas truck driver may have prevented a serious explosion when a garage was destroyed in a $20,000 fire at Huron Street and Highbury Ave. Saturday.

Hal Anstey, a new employee of Reliance Petroleum, Ltd., rushed back through a gasoline blaze to put a cap on an underground storage tank.

London Deputy Fire Chief T. B. Hepburn said a serious explosion would have resulted if the tank had gone up.

London firemen kept flames from spreading to two buildings near the garage.

Mr. Anstey said he was standing several feet from the gas truck while it was pumping gasoline into the underground tank.

"There was some overflow," he said, "and all of a sudden the whole think went up."

He had no idea what caused the gasoline to ignite.

He jumped into the truck and drove it north along Highbury Avenue, with the hose burning behind it. He stamped on the hose, putting out the blaze, then ran back to the fill pipe and capped it.

Three automobiles were destroyed, along with a motorcycle and other equipment.

Visits New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—(AP)—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, whose newspaper, La Presna, was closed by the Argentine government last March, arrived Sunday. Northwestern University will give Paz an honorary Doctor of Journalism degree Oct. 1. The Argentine publisher said his message to the United States will be "freedom in general and freedom of the press in particular." "Without freedom of the press you have no other freedom," he added.

Slowdown Suspended

SASKATOON, Sept. 4 (CP). — A Canadian Congress of Labor director said Monday the week-old slowdown of 530 Saskatchewan sanatorium workers has been "suspended" pending a conciliation meeting today in Regina between union representatives and the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League.

Hometown Send-off

TILLSONBURG, Sept. 4—(CP)—Miss Canada got a hometown send-off Saturday night when she left to seek Miss America honors in Atlantic City, N.J., in a contest that ends Sept. 9. Marjorie Alma Kelly, 23, perched on a yellow convertible and waved happily to crowds lining the main street.

Newspaperman Dies

SAINT JOHN, NB, Sept. 4 (CP)—Frank I. McCafferty, 78, dean of New Brunswick newspaper men, died Sunday night after a brief illness. He had entered hospital Saturday. Mr. McCafferty, known to several generations of reporters and editors as "Mr. Mac," was a veteran of 54 years in his profession.

Industrial Investment

SAINT JOHN, NB, Sept. 4 (CP)—Investment in Canada's industrial expansion since the end of the Second World War has been $3,000,000,000 annually and this year will jump to $4,800,000,000, Production Minister Howe said Saturday as he officially opened the second Maritime industrial exposition.

Have Two Plans

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—(CP)—The New York Times said Monday that officials of the Aluminum Company of Canada recently presented two plans to American provide more than 1,000,000 tons of needed aluminum to the United States stockpile over a period of years.

11 Men Injured

BORGER, Tex., Sept. 4—(AP)—Violent explosions and fire Saturday knocked out of commission the Phillips Chemical Company, one of the government's few synthetic rubber plants. Eleven men were injured—none critically.

Six Students Win Bursaries At Collegiate

Annual bursaries amounting to $1725 have been awarded to six PCVS students, five girls and one boy.

Two Peterborough girls, H. Patricia Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Geraldine Johnston, 22 Manning Ave., and Marleigh Snowden, 22 Aberdeen Ave., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Snowden, received university bursaries of $400 each. Lorna R. Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Jean Stewart, Bobcaygeon, received a $400 university bursary also.

Two Peterborough and district girls collected the two annual bursaries, awarded in Peterborough county. For non- residents the bursary amounts to $250 but for residents, $175.

The bursaries went to: Betty Merrett, daughter of Mr. W. Merrett, Canal Road, and to Dorothy A. Watson, daughter of Mrs. Jean Watson, 761 Aylmer St.

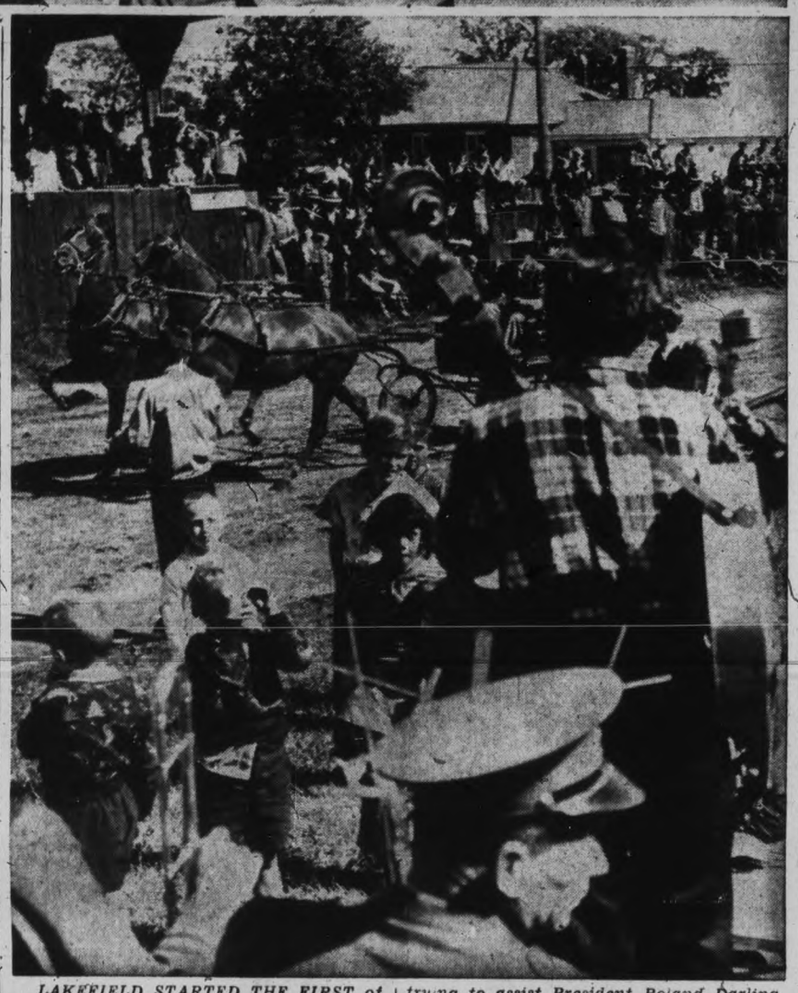
The remaining bursary, one of four Grade XIII bursaries awarded annually to Peterborough county, went to Ronald J. Buck, son of Mr. John Buck, 223 London St.

Cars Crash at Corner Charge To Be Laid

A charge of having inadequate brakes will be laid against Raymond K. Lloyd of Ottawa as the result of an accident at Park and Lansdowne Sts. Saturday afternoon.

Gordon R. Sparling, Niagara Falls, NY, was driving west on Lansdowne St. He stopped for the red light, and Lloyd's car hit Sparling's on the rear end.

Constable William G. Scott, who investigated, said he tried the brakes on Lloyd's car and found them in "very poor condition." Damage to the cars was not great.



LAKEFIELD STARTED THE FIRST of numerous fall fairs on Saturday with wonderful weather and fine exhibits. It was officially opened by Richard Graham, commissioner of livestock, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, TOP photo (right), a former Lakefield boy who had not attended a home town fair for 25 years. He is trying to assist President Roland Darling to cheer up Gerald Sullivan, 4. Typical of the carnival of all fall fairs is shown in the before-the-grandstand LOWER, where the Orono band, entertainers, prancing road horses and goggle-eyed children enjoy themselves in an afternoon of sunshine.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

WORKED ON HOLIDAY

Some of the parks department employees worked Monday on the levelling and grading of the city hall lawn. They did a lot of the preliminary ground work on the Water St. front.

WINS $1,525

Mrs. Robert Cheel, 425 Rogers St., Peterborough, Monday won $1,525 in a nation-wide radio contest. The young housewife sent in her entry to guess the mystery voice in the program "Guess Who's Talking." She correctly identified the voice as that of Monica Lewis.

GRAPES ARRIVE

Ontario grapes arrived today in the local fruit stores. Bartlett pears are also in quantity, peaches have been plentiful, and tomatoes are at their peak. Reports from western Ontario indicate that the peach crop will be cleared up two weeks earlier than usual. This may be a tip to any housewives who still do their own canning.

51st VISIT

John W. Stuart, 633 Montrose Ave., today made his 51st consecutive trip to Toronto to attend the Exhibition, and will spend the balance of the week there. As well as being equipped with a pass to the exhibition grounds, good at any time, he also has a "key" to the CNE, sent him by the directors in recognition of his attendance record.

HEAVY SMOKE DAMAGE

Heavy smoke damage was caused to the interior of the Kawartha Polar Food Service, 384 Queen St., Saturday afternoon. Some grease was ignited in a smoke oven and firemen used a booster line and chemical extinguishers before the fire was put out. The whole inside of the shop will have to be redecorated.

PRIZE MONEY WINNERS

Winner of the $50 grand draw at the UE Labor Day festival Monday was Mrs. Jack Chamberlain, 563 McKellar St. Other $50 wingers at the softball draw were E. Richardson, of Lang, and T. Brock, of the structural steel department, CGE. Gerald Snelgrove, 653 Lundy's Lane, won the $10 draw.

RESTAURANT CLOSES

Andy Haggis turned the key for the last time in his Ritz Grill at George and Hunter Sts. Saturday night. Main Streeters are going to miss him. Food and service and prices always appeared to be in favor of the customer. It was another friendly place closed out by soaring rents.

CHICKEN RAID

Cheapest chicken dinner in a day's drive, they say, was the dollar charge at Douro picnic Labor Day. As indicating one trencherman's performance at table, he said today it would be all right with him if he didn't see chicken again until Thanksgiving Day.

ON TRIP TO COAST

The mail brought a postcard today from Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, at Chilliwack BC. On a holiday trip to the coast, Mr. and Mrs. Paterson are visiting their daughter before going on to Vancouver and Victoria. They arrived at Chilliwack with rain, first moisture in the valley for weeks.

J. H. YELLAND

J. H. Yelland, 92 Dies After Life In Peterborough

The sole surviving member of the first Peterborough volunteer fire department, Joseph Henry Yelland, 677 Bethune St., died Saturday at 92 years in the Civic Hospital.

A lifetime resident of Peterborough, Mr. Yelland was a member of the fire brigade for 20 years, disbanded in 1904.

For brief periods he was employed in various mills in Montreal and Fort William. Later he was a contractor, building locks and docks on the Trent Canal system. At Young's Point he built the lock gates and most of the wharf and pier building in the area.

His father, William Yelland, came to Canada in 1851 when he was 19, and worked in Smith Township for $6 a month. Later he came to Peterborough and was elected mayor, serving for two terms.

Here in the city his father operated a carriage shop on George St. and Mr. Yelland worked there as a young man as a marriage maker.

Mr. Yelland is the last member of the old Peterborough family. His wife, the former Sarah Anne Creamer, and he celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary last November. Mr. Yelland was one of the oldest members of the congregation of Murray St. Baptist Church.

Besides his wife there survives three daughter: Mrs. R. G. Gavine (Edna) of Peterborough, Mrs. F. S. Boskill (Olive) of Winnipeg, Mrs. L. L. Smith (Gladys) of Niagara Falls; six sons, Stanley and Allin, both of Vancouver, Wilbert of Penetang, Harold, Alvin and Creamer of Peterborough; 23 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held today from the Comstock funeral home, the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray St. Baptist Church, officiating. Pallbearers were Patrick Burke, George McNabb, Vincent Flynn, Cyril Withers, James Clark and H. B. Cowan Jr. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Crash Truck Arrives Car, Driver Gone

Removal of the distributor cap from his car engine didn't daunt Wallace Parcels, of Warsaw. Constable W. G. Scott removed the cap after Parcels' car was involved in an accident at Water and McDonnel Sts.

When a tow truck arrived to take Parcels' car, it was gone, and so was Parcels. Police say Parcels will probably be charged with driving with inadequate brakes. Other charges may follow.

The accident occurred as Michael J. Healey, 478 Mark St., was driving north on Water St., followed by Parcels' car. Healey slowed as a car in front of him turned west off McDonnell St. and Parcels' car hit the rear of the Healey auto.

Montreal Soldier Killed As Car Rolls Over In Dense Fog Near Lindsay

4 Soldiers Of RCASC In Auto; 2 Unhurt Third Man's Skull Fractured; Names of Three Withheld By Military

A Montreal soldier was instantly killed today and a companion critically injured when their car rolled over in a dense fog on Highway 7, two and a half miles west of Lindsay. Dead is William Robert Sawers, 20, of Montreal. His companion, also reported to be from Montreal, received a fractured skull and is lying unconscious in Lindsay hospital. Two others of the quartet—all members of the RCASC in Camp Borden—were uninjured. One is a Toronto man and the other is also from Montreal.

Names are being withheld by military authorities until the next of kin are informed.

The accident occurred at the "dewdrop turn" on the highway, at 4.30 a.m. All four soldiers were returning to Camp Borden after a weekend in Montreal. When their car came to the sharp turn it was unable to round it properly.

Wheel Buckled

A front wheel buckled and the vehicle skidded and turned over a couple of times, travelling some 200 feet down the paved surface of the highway. It came to rest on its four wheels.

Sawers and his critically-injured companion, both sitting on the right side of the car, were thrown out of the vehicle a distance of 36 feet. The driver and the fourth soldier, sitting directly behind him, were not thrown clear and were shaken up but otherwise uninjured.

At that point the highway runs due west and then takes a sharp turn to the north. A thick fog presumably prevented the driver from seeing it in time.

OPP Cpl. W. G. Milton and Constable Al Russell of Lindsay investigated.

CGE Parts Division For Peterborough

The renewal parts division of the CGE in Toronto has been moved to the Peterborough plant along with all the personnel of the division.

The new division is located in the main office building vacated by the industrial control cost section. J. M. Hales, manager of the division, said he and his staff were happy to be moved to Peterborough.

Mr. Hales said the move "should iron out most of the wrinkles in the renewal parts business."

The seven men on Mr. Hales' staff will get the help of five who handled the renewal parts operations from the Peterborough end before the shift.

Thieves Get $1,000 In Clothes

Thieves who didn't have very good clothes sense broke into Ruskin's clothing store on Aylmer St. over the weekend and made off with nearly $1,000 worth of topcoats and trousers.

Proprietor Richard Ruskin said the thieves grabbed what was closest to the rear door of the building and passed up more expensive clothes.

Stolen were: two dozen topcoats valued at $604, 75 pairs of pants valued at $375, and $5 in cash from the till.

Det-Sgt. W. E. Clarke, who is investigating, said the rear door of the store was broken in after a storm door had been pried open. Apparently the thieves took an armful of pants from one rack and an armful of coats from another.

FOUR BIRTHDAYS

The number in one Peterborough family having birthdays on September 4th rose to four today. Miss Violet Harris, 2 Maniece Ave., is celebrating her 18th birthday, her cousin Bob Downer, Dunlop St., is 16 today, her niece Sharon Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harris, 202 Perry St., is seven years old, and this morning her sister Mrs. Wm. Hopkinson, Maniece Ave., gave birth to Raymond George.

1,500 Children Made Happy At UE Festival

Though the significance of the day was probably lost on them, some 1,500 local children Monday afternoon romped about Riverside Bowl and ate their fill of ice cream, peanuts, candy and chocolate milk.

The occasion was the UE Labor Day Festival, sponsored jointly by Locals 524 and 527.

C. S. Jackson, UE Canadian president, was scheduled to address the crowd but he was reported unable to attend because of illness. Instead, George Wallace, president of Local 524, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the two UE locals.

The children, enjoying their last holiday fling for the summer, were given tickets for free ice cream, candy canes, chocolate milk, peanuts and balloons. Perspiring UE volunteers reported the demand so great they had to send in additional orders for refreshments.

Merchants donated prizes for straight races and novelties such as over-forty handicap, shoe kicking contest, casting, horseshoe pitching and throwing a baseball.

Four draw prizes were offered, totalling $160. The results are listed elsewhere.

There were the usual games of chance, bingo, soft drinks and other refreshments.

Leonard Velleman, UE organizer, was convener of the Labor Day committee.

YOUTH IN QUEUES

Few elders were noticed in the theatre queues for the midnight shows Sunday night. The three houses that opened with special pictures were filled. The crowds were mostly young people.

18-Month Term Given Canadian Soldier

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 4 (CP)—A Canadian court-martial Monday sentenced Pte. Alan Roy Montgomery Davis of Vancouver to 18 months' imprisonment on charges of attempted rape and being in an affray. Davis pleaded innocent to the charges.

Davis was accused of being one of a group of Canadian and British soldiers who visited a Korean farmhouse in the village of Shung Woon March 17. Three South Koreans were killed when a hand grenade exploded in the farmhouse.

The prosecution had charged that two Korean women were victims of rape attempts in the Davis, 24, was the third man of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Regiment to go on trial before a Canadian court-martial.

Pte. Glen Roland Blank, 27, of Winnipeg, was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to life in prison.

Pte. Donald Michael Gibson, 21, of Ottawa, was convicted of attempted rape and being in an affray. He was sentenced to two years less one day in prison.

General Denies Arms Around Red

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 4 (CP)—Major-Gen. Henry I. Hodes, one of the UN delegates to the Kaesong military cease-fire talks, said Sunday it is not true that he placed his arms around a Communist delegate following the first meeting of the sub-committee 15 days ago. "Any report to that effect was erroneous," he said.

Hodes said that he and others present at the time were requested by UN photographers to move closer together with the Communist delegates for a more compact picture.

Hodes said he moved closer to one of the Communist delegates, Gen. Lee, and that his right hand —holding a brief case—was obscured.

"But in no conceivable manner was it placed around Gen. Lee in any gesture of camaraderie," he added.

Named Best Pullet

50 Die Violently Over Holiday Weekend

By The Canadian Press

With thousands of resort-bound motorists streaming out of cities and towns for the Labor Day weekend, 28 persons out of 50 who died violent deaths in Canada during the weekend died in street and highway mishaps.

A Canadian Press compilation early this morning showed that 16 persons died in Ontario in traffic mishaps from Friday midnight to Monday midnight, as compared with 21 last year.

Although cool weather kept most swimmers out of the water, four drownings were reported from Ontario, two from Quebec and two from British Columbia.

Tractor accidents took the lives of four persons; two died in fires. One man died of bullet wounds in the stomach and police arrested his brother in connection with the slaying. Seven persons died in a variety of mishaps.

Ontario reported 26 fatalities, Quebec 11, British Columbia seven and Saskatchewan three. One each was reported from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Manitoba.

Down Slightly

In 1950, the Labor Day weekend death toll was 68 and in 1949, 48.

Four persons died in Ontario in two level-crossing crashes. Near Gamebridge, Mrs. John Fulcher and her 11-year-old daughter, Brenda, were killed when their automobile was struck by a freight train. Two brothers, Lawrence Maloney, 24, and Hugh Patrick Maloney, 30, both of St. Andrew's died in a level crossing smash near Cornwall.

Maj. John Boswell of Port Arthur and Mrs. Bud Jarvis of Fort William were killed in a head-on collision near Raith, Ont., 60 miles from Port Arthur.

Albert Edward West, 57, of Simcoe, was killed when he was struck by a trolley on the Lake Erie and Northern Railway near Simcoe.

Killed when struck down by motor vehicles near their homes were James Shields, 43, of Hamilton Beach, Ont.; Alfred Sreeman, 61, of London, Ont.; Mrs. Louise Fairis, 74, of Orillia; Rita Millais, 4, of Toronto.

Bride Killed

Mrs. Marie Lapointe, 16-year-old bride of a United States air force trainee, of Concord, NH, was killed in a collision near Glasgow, Ont.; Mrs. Barbara Ware, 33, of RR 5, Rockwood, Ont., was killed in a collision near her home.

In Timmins, Aldege Dumais was killed when his car crashed into a concrete subway pillar, and near Guelph, William J. Locke, 20, was killed when he lost control of his car and it went into ditch.

Michael Cobin, Jr., 5, of Windsor, died in a St. Thomas hospital as the result of injuries suffered when he opened the door of his father's car and tumbled to the pavement.

Three persons died in Ontario in tractor accidents. They were Henry Elias Robbins, 4, of Port Rowan, near Pitman's Corners; Eleanor Lessard, 14 months, on a tobacco farm near Port Burwell; Melvin Alsop, 53, of Uxbridge, near his home.

Drownings

Drowned were Garry Norman, 2, of Humber Summit near Toronto, in the Humber River; Mrs. Agnes Kerr, 73, of Toronto, in Lake Simcoe; Jackie Baer, 1½, in a creek on his father's farm near Woodstock, Ont.; Arent Mosterd, 27, near Cooksville, Ont.

Michael Kola, 58, a farm laborer, was burned to death when fire destroyed a wooden shack near Grimsby, and in Gravenhurst, Ronald Coutt, 32, was suffocated when fire broke out in a house.

A man identified as William Henk, of Montreal, was found dead in a downtown Ottawa hotel room and police said he left a note indicating he intended to commit suicide.

Traffic Accidents

Killed in traffic accidents in Quebec were John Arthur Phurburn, 77, struck by a car in Montreal; Claudette Masson, 6, struck by a car in St. Zotique; Miss Marcelle Cusson, 21, and Roger Houle, 27, both of Drummondlville, when their car collided with a bus near Three Rivers; Thomas Theberge, 50, when struck by a truck near Albanel; Robert Byrne, 21, killed when his bicycle collided with a car near Donnacona.

Claude Robert, 23, was drowned when a rowboat capsized in Sixteen Island Lake, nine miles from Morin Heights, Que., and Thomas Barnsfield, 57, of Terrebonne Heights, Que., was drowend in the Mascouche River at St. Henri De Masouche, Que.

Near Granby, Que., Ovila Moison, 58-year-old deaf mute, was killed when struck by a train and at Sherbrooke, 1-year-old Micole Caron died in hospital from injuries suffered in a fall at his uncle's farm at Mansonville, Que.

Roland Beaulieu, 26, was electrocuted while working on a power line near Valleyville, Que.

In the Maritimes, two traffic deaths were reported. Maurice Malcolm Tardy, 20, of Presque Isle, Me., died in hospital as the result of injuries suffered when his automobile left the road near St. Stephen, NB, and in Glace Bay, NS, Clinton, Mackenzie, 32, of nearby McKay's Corner, died from injuries received when he was struck by a car.

Arthur Leclair, of Brunkild, Man., died as the result of injuries suffered in a tractor accident near his home.

Mrs. John Hansen, about 48, a daughter, Rita, 16, and a son, Verner, 19, were killed when their car was struck by a freight train near Redvers, Sask., 179 miles southeast of Regina.

A Halston, BC, man, Gordon Turner, was killed in North Kamloops, BC, when struck by a car.

Drowns In BC

Emil Thompson, of Bellingham, Wash., was drowned north of Clinton, BC, and Thomas Ilich, 13, was drowned while swimming in the Fraser River.

Twenty-two-year-old Percy Jackson was shot in the stomach with a rifle and died on his way to hospital in Port Alice on Northern Vancouver Island. Police are holding his brother, Gordon Jackson, 26, in connection with the slaying.

Peter A. Reeve, 28, of Vancouver, died in a jump from the Vancouver Bridge, and Ignas Papp, of Hope, BC, was killed in a logging accident.

An accidental shooting took the life of Wilfred Calihasen, of Arras, BC. He was killed while hunting bear in Northeastern British Columbia.

Ottawa Girl, 16 Wins 2 Firsts In Horse Show

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP) — Sixteen-year-old Shirley Thomas of Ottawa captured two major firsts Monday night at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition's horse show.

In the open performance jumpers, riding her bay gelding, Revlon's Princess Midas, Shirley leared the difficult 10-jump course with top speed to take $60 first prize money. Riding Miss Virginia, she won the green hunters lightweight.

Results included:

Light harness: 1 Yankee Doodle, W. S. Munro, Embro, Ont.; 2 Patrick [illegible] Dr. E. E. Foster and Son, [illegible]; Mrs. [illegible] Knight, Listowell.

Green hunters, heavyweight: 1 Beau Geste, owned and ridden by R. L. Treleaven, Jr., Woodstock; 2 Royal Playman, Sifton Stables, Toronto, ridden by M. Sifton; 3 Sonny Jim, Hugh Feasley, St. Catharines.

Heavy harness horses: 1 Dufferin Emperor, Dufferin Stock Farm, Downsview, Ont.; 2 Tango Peggy, Roy Inch, St. Thomas.

Warns Violation Of Union Agreement

TIMMINS, Sept. 4 (CP).—E. L. Longmore, general manager of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, said Monday night that statement or action aimed at compelling Hollinger employees to join any union is a direct violation of the agreement which ended the seven-week strike here, Aug. 31.

His statement was made after 60 miners, returning to work on Sunday preliminary to the general back-to-work movement of the 1,600 miners, said they were met by a membership picket line at the plant gates. Those who said they did not belong to the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), union were urged to join.

Reach Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 4 (CP)—Fifteen Canadian soldiers arrived in Vancouver Monday from Korea aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane.

Army officials said some members of the group were no longer medically fit for duty in the war zone and that others had returned to Canada for officer training. None were returning home on the rotation leave scheme.

Foiled!

Rabbits on some western farms are leading frustrated lives these days. The succulent bark of their favorite fruit trees has been wrapped in aluminum foil, so now they can't get at it.

This was a new one on us. We had heard of dozens of uses for the foil we roll at Kingston, Ont., but never for frustrating rabbits. However, it just goes to illustrate why more people are using more aluminum and why we, as the most efficient producer of this modern metal, must go on expanding. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. Aerodynamically speaking—

safe flight is assured by RCAF airframe technicians

It's not the engine—it's the wings that lift a plane.

At 600 miles an hour, air flows over wing and control surfaces with tremendous force. A broken surface would cause a whirlpool—break the airflow—destroy the 'lift'—make flight impossible.

That's why all RCAF planes are daily inspected, rigged and trimmed by skilled Airframe Technicians... wings... flaps... slots... ailerons... elevators... rudder... dive brakes... landing gear...

Whether it's an F-86 Sabre fighter or a big North Star, every RCAF plane must have an official okay from the Airframe Technician before it may take off—officially okayed for safe flight, from nose to tail.

To be eligible, you must...be between 17 and 40...be physically fit...have Grade 8 education or better

These skilled trades are open:

Record Crowd Attends Marmora Fair Labor Day

MARMORA, Sept. 4 (ENS). — The story of the Marmora Fair for 1951 held on Labor Day in brevity was that entries in the various classes were low, attractions more numerous than before and the attendance, estimated at about 2,000, was one of the best in the Fair's history.

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare and acting Minister of Agriculture, who officially opened the fair was escorted to the grounds in the car in which other occupants were Elmer Sandercock, MPP, Reeve V. M. Lynch of Marmora village, Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora and Lake townships and John McAvoy, president of Marmora Agricultural Society. Havelock Kiltie Band and Marmora Le- [illegible] Commander Percy Gray, led the way.

While Reeves Lynch and McCoy spoke briefly, Elmer Sandercock, MPP, introduced the Minister of Welfare.

Mr. Goodfellow declared he had brought no prepared speech but had come to fraternize with the folk of his neighboring constituency.

He reminded his hearers of the labor entailed in preparations for the fair. He said it was 125 years since the first agricultural society was formed in this province. He was informed that it was in 1898 that Marmora held its first fair.

He congratulated the district on its progress with the opening of the iron mine.

Regarding entries, the following was noticeable: horses were average. Cattle were down. There was no opposition for Harry Neal of Marmora township with his Holsteins; Garnet Kerr of Campbellford with his Jerseys and Elmer Wood of Crookston with his Ayrshires.

Poultry classes were the redeeming feature. The entries were heavy and the quality excelled that of former years. Vegetables were down as in past years. Fruits fresh and canned and apiary and other products were entirely absent.

The holding of the fair on a Monday proved a disadvantage to cooking exhibits. Ladies' work was limited as was also the floral display. Children's classes compared favorably with other years.

The cheese exhibit dropped from its high peak of 1950. Entrants were Gerald Fluke, Marmora, Murray Heath, Hastings, and Hasold Parr, Harold.

The horse racing resulted as follows:

[illegible] program.

Jim Byrne and his Radio Buckeroos assisted by Bob Harding, magician, all of Peterborough, proved very entertaining to the large section of the crowd gathered around.

There were 12 entries for the boys' pie eating contest in which Wilfred Terrion of Marmora township carried off the honors. The five entrants in the step dancing contest finished in the following order: 1, John Whitney, Cordova; 2, Mac Andreson, Stanwood; 3, Clifford Briggs, Cordova; 4, Joseph Jackson, Rawdon township; 5, Ray Edwards, Cordova.

Old time fiddling had four entrants who were judged as follows:

John Izzard, Deloro; Victor Crippen, Cordova; William Rylott, Havelock; John Whitney, Cordova.

Nine teams participated in the log sawing contest. The prizewinners, all of Marmora township, were: John McGregor and Harold Carman, Douglas Vilneff and Glen Derry, Donald Shannon and Paul Maloney.

The ladies' nail-driving contest produced good rivalry, the prize winners being: Mrs. Robert Gawley, Marmora; Mrs. P. Sjonger, Stirling; Mrs. John Edwards, Cordova.

The prize for the most recently married couple on the grounds went to Mr. and Mrs. Milton King of Toronto, newlyweds of a week. The oldest man located on the grounds was Edwin (Jack) Arnold, resident of Belleville for the past seven years following residence in Marmora for 36 years. He is 93 years of age, having been born in St. Ola, Limerick township on July 25th, 1858. An attemt to have the oldest lady on the grounds mount to the grandstand failed.

Other entertainment attracting much attention was a new feature. Don Prentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Prentice of Marmora, who is stationed with the RCAF at Trenton with a number of other flyers from that station, put on a model plane flying demonstration.

Havelock Kiltie Band played selections at intervals. The midway was one of the largest seen at a local fair and the time-honored merry-go-round and a western side-show received a good patronage.

Exhibits receiving their share of notice were those of farm implements and one of the field crop competition.

Two refreshments booths, one [illegible] run as for years past by the Mar- [illegible] by Marmora Chapter IODE, sold out early in the afternoon, testifying thereby to the large number present.

Due to illness of the secretary-treasurer, J. F. Baker, his duties were taken over by Thomas J. Bateman, past president of the society. The officers and directors of the society for the year are: President, John McAvoy; first vice-president, Carl Heath; second vice-president, Gordon Jones; secretary treasurer, J. F. Baker; directors: F. S. Johnston, Joseph Hulsmans, J. F. Baker, Harry Neal, Carl Heath, T. J. Bateman, H. W. Sabine, John McAvoy, Charles Lajoie, William Kelly, William McComb, Vincent Lynch, Irwin McCoy, Gordon Jones, Louis Hulsmans, George Fox, John Wilkes.

At night a dance was held in the Exhibition building with the Peterborough orchaestra furnishing music.

The horse racing resulted as follows:

Class A
Peter Aubrey, Ingles, Brighton 1 1 1
Lee Morgan, Ingles, Brighton 2 2 2
Guy Von, McKnight, Millbrook 3 3 3
Winner's time 2:15.

Class B
Luella Guy, Ingles, Brighton 2 1 1
Banner Boy, Ingles, Brighton 3 2 2
Rose Baldwin, M. Post Peterborough 1 3 3
Winner's time 2:19.
Running race—1 Bertie Bell, K. McCoy; 2 Buddy, S. Henry.
Best team on grounds—1 Sawyer Stoll (William Woods, driver, Tweed); 2 Venery Heath, Rawdon; 3 Arthur Fleming, Marmora Township.
Drawing contest—1 Malcolm McMullen, Springbrook; 2 Ralph Heath, RR 2 Campbellford.

Police Chief Dies At Home

GANANOQUE, Sept. 4 (CP)—Morley M. Durnford, 48, police chief in this St. Lawrence river town for just over a year, died at his home here Sunday.

Association Appeals for Oatis

NORTH BAY, Sept. 4 (CP). — The Canadian Press War Correspondents' Association Monday said the Czechoslovak government's imprisonment of Associated Press correspondent William Oatis is a violation of fundamental human rights.

The Association passed at its annual meeting near here a resolution saying Oatis' only crime was the "efficient carrying out of his duties as foreign correspondent in Prague for The Associated Press."

It pledged its assistance "in any way that may be helpful" in working for his release.

Present was Bill Boss, CP correspondent in Korea for the last nine months and now home on leave.

Those Past Middle 20s Go Into Slow Decline

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON, Sept. 4—(AP)—If you're past your middle 20s, you've probably started to go into a slow decline, both physically and mentally.

So at least, says psychologist A. A. Welford. But, he adds, even so, your work may be better than when you were younger, especially if accuracy is more important than speed.

Welford and a team of eight other scientists are tackling the job of saving Britain's oldsters from the industrial scrap-heap. They started their research in 1948, and every year it grows more important — because the average age of this country has been steadily mounting.

The Nuffield Foundation, a [illegible] to the care and comfort of old people, sponsored Welford's research project to determine with scientific precision just how growing old affects a worker's skill.

Welford and his assistants designed special apparatus to test the muscular and mental prowess of hundreds of Britons of all age groups in laboratories attached to Cambridge University.

Most of the preliminary results, published by Welford as a treatise called "skill and age," consist of series of graphs showing how age modifies efficiency at tasks ranging from judging the position of a moving pointer to hurling an object at a target.

Much of the data they disclose only concerns a factory owner with a special kind of job he wants done. Some is more general. Doctors have already established, says Welford, that the human body, regarded merely as a physical mechanism, undergoes a "process of gradual deterioration" from young adulthood onwards.

But the graphs indicate that the central mechanism of the brain also starts falling down on the job early in life—before the 30s in most cases.

What happens, Welford says, is that the central mechanism of the brain finds it harder and harder as it grows older to sort out inputs from the nerves and senses and "organize" them so that action can be taken. It is only novel "messages"—those dealing with some fresh situation—that the aging brain balks at, he says, and there is no falling off in efficiency when dealing with familiar problems.

Mrs. Atkinson was a former president and secretary of the WA.

Appropriate replies were made. Lunch was served.

CUTTING THEIR WEDDING CAKE are Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Burke of Lyndhurst, NJ. Mrs. Burke is the former Miss Therese Gallivan, daughter of Mrs. J. V. Gallivan of Peterborough. They were married in St. Peter's Cathedral last Wednesday.

Youngman-Bigelow Rites

BETHANY, Sept. 4 (ENS). — Large baskets of gladioli, asters, dahlia and ferns formed a lovely setting in the Bethany United Church Saturday for the wedding of Joyce Isobel Bigelow, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bigelow of Bethany, to Ernest Charles Youngman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Youngman of Pontypool.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Eustace of Orono. Mr. Norman Lowes played the wedding music. Miss Margaret Aiken of Millbrook was the soloist, singing "Through the Years" before the bridal party entered the church and "Oh Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of pure white satin, made with long skirt, sweetheart neckline, bodice buttoned down the back and long sleeves coming to lily points over the hands. Her floor length veil was of tulle illusion caught to a headband of white satin rosettes. She carried a cascade of deep crimson roses.

Miss Joyce Bigelow was her sister's bridesmaid wearing a gown of blue sheer crepe, trimmed with lace at the neckline and matching lace peplum. She wore a tiny heart shaped hat of matchinb blue net and carried yellow chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Little Patricia Bigelow, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in pink silk crepe, and matching hat of pink with sprays of lily of the valley under the brim, and long pink mittens. She carried a nosegay of pink and white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Fred Youngman of Pontypool was his brother's groomsman. Ushers were William Bigelow and Robert Youngman.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Bigelow received her guests wearing a navy crepe dress with lace top and matching navy jacket. Her hat was of blue velvet and her accessories of navy, her corsage of pink gladioli. The groom's mother, who also received, was wearing wine crepe, matching hat, black accessories and corsage of yellow gladioli.

For travelling to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride wore a smart cocoa brown gabardine suit and matching topcoat, a Kelly green hat, and matching acces[illegible] was of bronze

Wilma E. Sisson Bride Of Darrell Willshaw

A pretty wedding took place in All Saints' Anglican Church on Saturday of Wilma Elsie Sisson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sisson to Darrell Ronald Willshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willshaw.

The Rev. M. P. Poole officiated in the double ring ceremony. During the signing of the register Miss Margaret Flowers played "Through the Years." Bouquets of gladioli decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in an afternoon dress of blue silk lace over taffeta with matching feather hat. She carried a bouquet of white baby 'mums and pink Sweetheart roses. Mrs. Donald Menzies attended her sister wearing a dress of rose silk crepe with brown accessories and she carried a cascade of pink gladioli.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Robert Willshaw and the ushers were William King, Jr., and William Primeau.

A reception was held in the ladies' parlor of the church where the bride's mother received in a grey and navy ensemble with a corsage of mauve and white sweet peas. The groom's mother, who also received, was wearing navy and white with a corsage of red roses.

The bride and groom left on a trip through Haliburton and for travelling the bride wore a dress of intermission brown with velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow baby 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Willshaw will live at 504 Patterson St.

ter in marriage. She wore a gown of seafoam blue Alencon lace and net, fashioned with a low square neckline outlined by a collar of lace, lace bodice, and full skirt of lace to the peplum, with net ruched below and falling in a large circular train. A halo of net held her finger-tip veili and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias with white gladioli heads and stephanotis.

Mrs. O. W. F. Parsons of Toronto, who was her sister's only attendant, wore a gown of sunburst yellow nylon marquisette over taffeta, designed with strapless basque bodice topped by a shrug jacket, and full gathered skirt. Her headdress was of matching net in Mary Queen of Scots design and she carried a colonial nosegay of cornflowers and yellow sweetheart roses. Mr. Clare Workman of Kitchener was groomsman for his brother.

The reception was at 44 Russell Hill Rd. Mr. and Mrs. Workman will live in Kitchener.

Dewey-George Rites Solemnized

ROSENEATH, Sept. 4 (ENS).—The marriage was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Roseneath, on Saturday of Lorna Alberta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred George, Fenella, to Richard Albert Dewey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dewey, Campbellford, who were marking their 30th wedding anniversary. The Rev. R. C. White officiated.

The bride chose a gown of French lace over satin, with fitted bodice, a scalloped picture neckline, outlined with pearls and rhinestones, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt. Her fingertip veil of nylon net was held in place by a tiara of pearls and rhinestones and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink bettertime roses.

Miss Norma George was her sister's bridesmaid wearing a gown of ice blue satin with matching halo and mittens and carrying a bouquet of deep red roses.

The flower girls, Valda McClearly Roseneath, a niece of the bride, and Suzanne Dewey, Campbellford, a niece of the groom, wore dresses of pink and maize frosted organdy with matching bonnets and carried nosegays of 'mums in pastel shades arranged on white lacelon.

Mr. Archie Dewey, Campbellford, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, her mother received wearing a gown of navy sheer with matching accessories and a corsage of bronze gladioli. She was assisted by the groom's mother, wearing lilac crepe with black accessories and a corsage of yellow gladioli.

Attendants at the reception with luncheon were three girl friends of the bride: Misses Marjorie Hay, Belleville; Isabel McDonald and Ferne Tinney, Campbellford. Tea was poured by aunts of the bride and groom, Mrs. Iva Merriam, Cobourg, and Mrs. Allan Williams, Campbellford.

For travelling to the USA the bride wore a cocoa brown gabardine suit with black accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

On return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Dewey will live in Campbellford.

SOFT WINTERS

Mean annual winter temperature in South Australia, mostly July and August, averages no less than 53 degrees.

4 Attend Catharine Turner Bride of Dr. Robert Jeffs

St. Luke's Anglican Church was the setting for the wedding at seven o'clock Saturday evening of Catharine Isabella Turner, daughter of Mrs. Turner, of Peterborough, and the late Wm. Rutherford Turner, to Dr. Robert Douglas Jeffs, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. Douglas Jeffs, of Toronto. The Rev. Walter J. Gilling performed the ceremony.

Bronze 'mums and gladioli and wheat effectiveily decorated the church. Mrs. Robert Neale played the wedding music and Miss Nicolette Humphrey sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William E. Turner. She wore a gown of dove white faille taffeta featuring long tight sleeves and a petal collar coming to a soft vee and buttoning to the waist. The straight skirt featured tucking across the hips extending to the back to form a French drape and the material fell in soft folds at the back to a chapel train. Her full length veil of tulle was caught in a small cap and she was carrying a prayer bouquet of white gardenias, white roses and small button 'mums.

Briday attendants were Mrs. Wm. E. Turner, Peterborough, as matron of honor, Miss Frances Arthur, Mrs. K. J. Duncan, Miss Helen Christie, Toronto, bridesmaids. Mrs. Turner wore bronze silk organza over yellow taffeta and the bridesmaids were in yellow silk organza over gold taffeta. Their hats were of feathered organza and they carried bouquets of large yellow 'mums, garnet sweetheart roses and California croton leaves.

Dr. William Kendrick, Toronto, attended the groom, and ushers were Dr. James Low, Mr. John Campbell, Toronto, Mr. Daniel O'Kane, New Jersey, and Mr. Peter Turner, Peterborough.

The reception was held at the bride's home, 580 Homewood Ave. Mrs. Turner received her guests in a gown of navy lace over pink silk and wore a hat of navy and pink veiling and flowers and a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother was also receiving, gowned in velevet with a hat of green feathers and wearing an orchid corsage.

For a honeymoon trip north, the bride wore a chamois colored french cashmere suit and matching hat and matching alligator shoes and purse. Her corsage when going away was of talisman roses.

Dr. and Mrs. Jeffs will live in Toronto.

Robinson-Weaver

The wedding of Miss May Edna Weaver and Mr. Edward Keith (Ted) Robinson was solemnized on Saturday in George St. United Church parsonage by the Rev. Arnold A. Matthews. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Weaver and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Robinson, all of Peterborough.

The bride was dressed in blue nylon and net with matching hat and had a bouquet of red roses

Margaret Crowley Marries Kevin Hurley At Hastings

A wedding of wide interest took place in Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Church, Hastings, Saturday morning of Margaret Helen Crowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bart, Crowley, Hastings, to Mr. Thomas Kevin Hurley, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Hurley of Peterborough. The Rev. J. J. Garvey officiated at the nuptial mass with the Rev. L. Dubbery present in the sanctuary.

Gladioli banked with fern decorated the church. Mrs. E. Petticrew, organist, played the wedding music and Mrs. D. Campanaro of Peterborough sang Ave Maria, Panis Angelicus, and, during signing of the register, On This Day O Beautiful Mother.

The bride was given in marraige by her father. She looked charming in a gown of white Chantilly lace and net, made with full bouffant skirt and separate jacket, fastened to the neck with small covered buttons, with long tight sleeves that ended in points at the wrist. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion enhanced with a border of wide Chantilly lace. Adorning her head was a tiara of tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby 'mums.

Attendants were Miss Anne Crowley, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Miss Teresa Hurley of Toronto, sister of the groom, as bidesmaid. They wore identically styled frocks of periwinkle blue and cerise taffeta, fashioned with closely moulded bodice with portrait neckline outlined with a soft fold held over the bust with handmade roses of self material, and bouffant skirts. They wore tiny matching mittens and headdresses trimmed with white ostrich plumes and carried bouquets of white and fuschia gladioli florets.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law Mr. James Oulahen Jr., of Cobourg, and the bride's brother Mr. Albert Crowley. Ushers were Basil Hurley of Peterborough and Gerard Waters of Kingston.

Reception of about 80 guests took place at the Club Aragon and afterwards at the bride's home. Her mother received in a gown of navy crepe with a skirt of fine pleats. She wore a navy picture hat and matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Assisting her was the groom's mother who wore grey printed silk with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left for a motor trip through the United States. For travelling the bride chose an English wool mauve suit and white feathered hat and wore black accessories.

They will live on the groom's farm, RR 7, Peterborough, on their retur[illegible]

MARY MOORE SAYS:

With Tomato Season At Peak Brings Chili Sauce Making

When the tomato canning plants are running three eight-hour shifts in every 24 hours, then we know that the tomato season is at its peak.

I have a young friend whose official title is "general manager" of his father's and uncle's canning business. He says "general manager" is right. "I manage everything. Generally from receiving the tomatoes on the shipping floor, hiring the girls to peel 'em, showin' 'em how to peel 'em and put 'em in the cans, seal, process, store and sell 'em." Why he ever took a degree in chemical engineering he'll never know. He says it should have been a course in engineering vegetables, humans and machines.

In my opinion it is only profitable to home-can tomatoes if you grow them in your own garden.

Today's spiel features that delicious stuff, chili sauce, both the fancy type and regular. To sniff the aroma of it alone is enough to draw me into boiling a batch.

(We picked up our tomatoes on our way home from our Labor Day picnic. This morning as I peeled them the house and street were strangely quiet. God bless the school teachers.)

Nan's Sweet Chili Sauce

Fifteen medium-sized choice red tomatoes, 3 large onions, 1½ hot red peppers, 1 pint of spirit vinegar, 3 choice peaches, 3 choice pears, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 oz. whole mixed spices, 2 cups brown sugar.

Cut up the peeled tomatoes, peel and chop onions; peaches and pears should be chopped rather coarsely, but peppers should be chopped finely. Mix vingar, salt and brown sugar, then stir them into the fruits and vegetbles. Add the whole spices (which should be tied loosely in a bag, leaving a long piece of string for easy removal): Cook mixture for about 2¼ hours, removing the spice bag when it is spiced to your taste. When done pour into sterilized jars and cover with very hot coating of paraffin at once, adding a second coating as soon as chili sauce is cold. Some cooks prefer to seal this sauce in one-pint jars and they are then sure it is sterile.

Every-Day Chili Sauce

One peck choice ripe tomatoes, 8 large onions, preferably red, 4 sweet red peppers, 1 large bunch of celery, 1½ tablespoons black pepper, 2 tablespoons ground ginger, 5 cups spirit of cider vinegar, 1¼ to 1½ cups sugar, ½ cup salt. Chop or grind the vegetables finely—all except the tomatoes. Boil, stirring often, for 2 hours. This burns very readily, so do not neglect it. It is wise to put asbestos mat under it. Add the spices, vinegar, sugar and salt during last hour. To speed the cooking process, some of the liquid, which collects in the bowl when you are grinding or chopping them, may be poured off. Pour into sterile pint jars and seal while boiling hot.

Spicy Chili Sauce

Eight pounds large ripe tomatoes, 4 green tomatoes, 12 red or green peppers, 3 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon each ground cloves and nutmeg, 1¼ teaspoons ginger, 1 cup brown sugar, 2½ cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt. Mix all ingredients, and boil over very low heat about 2 hours, stirring almost constantly. Pour into sterile pint jars and seal.

Calgary Woman Expert Shot Enjoys Work

CALGARY—(CP)—Alma and William Macnab are one of the shootingest couples in Canada.

Since they met on a rifle range 14 years ago and married, they have won prizes all over the country for ace marksmanship.

Mrs. Macnab says she and her husband have collected eight or nine dozen trophies in all kinds of shooting matches.

This year Mrs. Nacnab made a place on Canada's Dewar team—about the highest honor any Canadian woman rifle expert can win because Dewar team members are considered to be the 20 best marksmen in the dominion.

She became the sixth woman in Canada to make the team.

And she did it the hard way, by scoring a perfect 400, something no other Canadian woman has done.

Mr. Manab was also a crack [illegible]

Wife's Coach

The accident didn't stop him from continuing as his wife's coach, a job he took on when the couple met 14 years ago.

Mrs. Macnab, now 30, became interested in shooting after a friend invited her to the Calgary Rifle Club. Soon she was taking time out from high-school homework to pot targets.

Shortly after she joined the club her future husband began to help her. Within a few months she made a junior shooting team which won a dominion match rifle championship.

Since then, Bill Macnab has been her coach.

The shooting Macnabs haven't any children. Each coaches a junior class at the Calgary Rifle Club.

They teach 50 to 75 youngsters the rudiments of gunmanship—including how to avoid shooting accidents.

"We're happy to see the kids get a lot of enjoyment out of it," says Mrs. Macnab.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Browbeaten Wife Requires Self-Assertion For Respect

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married eight years and have three children. My husband has a wonderful job, doesn't drink, and I am sure would never give another woman a second look.

He is, however, very moody, won't give me a dime unless I beg for it and doesn't respect or appreciate me at all. He tells me every day he can do without me because he never knows I'm around. Even the children are afraid of him, because he's so grouchy. He a person, too, not just an inanimate piece of household machinery!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I was married for four years and have been divorced five months. My ex-husband says he wants to remarry me, but keeps putting it off. I know there will never be anyone else for me. He runs around a lot and always has, but I keep thinking some day he'll settle down. Do you think I am doing the right thing by waiting for him?

BETTIE.

How can I please him? M.R.R. Dorothy Dix

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband is a dominant and domineering person, and nothing so irks people of this type as the mousy individual—of which you seem to be the absolute prototype! Nothing is so difficult as to straighten a backbone that has been allowed to sag for years, but believe me, the results will be amazing.

Stand Up To Him

Stop making a virtue out of the fact that you won't argue about anything. Sitting back and taking abuse is nothing to be proud of. Just imagine the surprised look on hubby's face the first time you actually stand up to him and talk back!

If you want respect you have to earn it. In your case this entails more than meekly accepting whatever treatment hubby metes out. Begin with the premise that your marriage is a failure anyway, so nothing you can do will make it much worse. Then do a little fault-finding (no nagging, please) yourself. Stop taking orders—give a few! Make him realize you're glorious time building dream castles but I doubt very much if you'll ever see them materialize. Your ex-husband simply enjoys keeping you dangling, and as long as you're willing that's as far as you'll get. If one marriage didn't make him settle down, the second one certainly won't!

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 years old, a graduate of Junior High. I have a crush on a 19-year-old boy who has walked me home a few times. My parents have forbidden me to see him any more. Do you think it is wrong for a girl my age to go with a boy five years older? How can I persuade my parents we just want to be friends? KAYE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: At your age, a difference of five years is quite a bit; you'd be much better with boy friends closer to you in years. Your parents must have good reason for forbidding a continuance of your friendship. Follow their advice and make new friends.

Bavaria Woman Finds Sculpture Relaxing Hobby

MONTREAL (CP)—Sculpture as a relaxing hobby is recommended by Mrs. Herbert Hahn, recently arrived from Bavaria.

A new Canadian, Mrs. Hahn is convinced a surprising number of people could, with proper training and a little encouragement, enjoy the work and become so fascinated that everyday trials would be forgotten for the moment. She also says this work is good for highly-strung people by viding an outlet for their nervous energy.

No great amount of talent is required, First World War nurse said. She became an expert by practising the hobby for 30 years. "I originally sculptured portraits for my own enjoyment, but friends and critics convinced me I should make it a career."

From her experience in [illegible] "Sculpturing is just another form of play to them, and they have no fears or inhibitions. If only adults would express themselves with similar freedom, they would find the strain of everyday living considerably eased," she said.

Living in Bavaria after the war, Mrs. Hahn sculptured thousands of dolls for American soldiers. She switched to life-sized portraits, but expects to go back to miniature work because there are very few apartments in Canada large enought to display life-size models.

Urges Organized Conservation Plan

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 4 (CP)—An organized plan of conservation as a permanent policy of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters was proposed Sunday to the executive of that body in session here.

The scheme, to embody the assistance of many Ontario organizations into a conservation council, was unfolded by President Ken Clarke of Kingston.

Ground work has already been laid for such a group aimed at eliminating today's over-lapping of conservation work. Mr. Clarke said farmers' organizations, naturalists' clubs, women's institutions, government conservation authorities and others have already signified their willingness to co-operate in such a provincial group.

Acclaim Homebaking Entry At Lakefield's 99th Fair Opened By Richard Graham

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 4 (ENS).—Some 4,000 people enjoyed a sunny afternoon at the 99th annual Lakefield Fair, held on Saturday afternoon.

Opened by Richard Graham, federal commissioner of livestock, the exhibition was a definite success.

In opening the fair, Mr. Graham, an old Lakefield boy, gave a brief resume on the origin of fairs, which were started in the Old Country for exchanging views and selling produce in competition, with no thought of prize money.

Held First at Bridgenorth

Lakefield Fair and Smith Fair, with the prize money being paid in pounds, shillings and pence. About fifty years ago the fair was moved to Lakefield.

Next year will be this fair's centennial year, and it will be eligible for a grant of $1,000 from the Department of Agriculture upon the erection of a flagpole and a plaque.

Roland Darling, president of the fair, extended a welcome to all, and expressed the hope that everyone would have an enjoyable afternoon.

Home Baking Exhibit

The home baking section of the ladies' department had an exceptionally fine display of culinary art, with a much larger exhibit than the Peterborough Fair. Mrs. Roy Farrow, Lakefield, won a silver cream and sugar set for winning the greatest number of prizes in this section.

The flower display was much larger than in former years, with a special display of 257 varieties of gladioli shown by Chief Garnet Samis attracting much attention.

Competition in the light horse class, road, carriage and saddle horses, was particularly keen with some beautiful horses being shown. Unfortunately, as in former years, the light horses were shown last on the program, to an empty grandstand.

Hugh Stewart of Peterborough did a good job as starter for the horse races and announcing the winners of the events.

Tommy Mason of Buckhorn was master of ceremonies for the program and the contests.

Music for the afternoon was provided by the Orono Brass Band, led by M. J. Tamblyn.

Old-Time Fiddlers

Jim Sloan of Lakefield won first prize in the old-time fiddlers' contest, with Tommy Sullivan a close second. Norman Sweet of Peterborough was third.

Mrs. Chalmers Sweeting of Selwyn won the prize for having the largest family at the fair. Mrs. Sweeting had nine children with her. Joe Kennedy was next with seven children in attendance.

Mickey McManus won the first prize in step dancing, with Morris Meade of Peterborough second.

In the children's class, 7-year-old Tommy Sullivan won the first award with his ten-year-old brother Dennis winning the second.

Fifteen ladies competed in the nail-driving contest. The winners were as follows: 1, Mrs. Roland Mathews of Young's Point, who hammered two three-inch nails into a log in seven seconds; 2, Mrs. Everett Sloan, time nine seconds; 3, Mrs. Roy Farrow, time 11 seconds; 4, Mrs. Hill, time 11½ seconds.

Judges were J. Sutherland and Graydon Sheldon; starter, Hugh Stewart, and timer, Alex Stewart.

Herbie Coons, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coons, Glywood Farms, was the youngest exhibitor. Herbie led his Ayrshire calf, which he had taught to lead, a mile to the fair and had quite an audience as the two walked down the sidewalk to the fair grounds.

Miss "Billy" Mackenzie of the Grove School gave a fine display of horsemanship to win the award as best lady rider. She rode Grant Henry's horse.

Winners of the light horse class were as follows:

Miss Clarice Atkinson Presented With Purse

Previous to leaving for foreign mission work in French West Africa, Miss Clarice Atkinson was guest of honor at a surprise gathering on Friday evening when 60 neighbors and friends assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Atkinson.

A program was presented with Mrs. Charles Honey as chairlady including a piano duet by Misses Marjory and Clarice Honey; a vocal solo by Ruth Hardy with Miss Carolyn Atkinson as accompanist; Mrs. A. B. Moffatt gave an address on "Missions"; a reading by Mrs. Raymond Richardson; a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harnden; a reading by Mrs. Arthur Ward; the four Atkinson sisters sang "I Am Listening."

Mrs. Raymond Richardson read an address voicing the regret of the gathering on losing Miss Atkinson from the community and wishing God's richest blessings would be poured upon her in her new field of labor. Mrs. Ewart Hardy presented Miss Atkinson with a purse of money.

Miss Atkinson replied briefly. A sing-song of hymns concluded the program with Mrs. Stuart Atkinson and Miss Carolyn Atkinson playing piano accompaniment.

The committee in charge of the evening's entertainement and presentation were: Mesdames Charles Honey, Raymond Richardson, Ewart Hardy and Stuart Atkinson.

Lunch was served and a social chat enjoyed.

Woman Passenger's Collarbone Broken

After their car rolled over four or five times on Highway 2 early Saturday, two Cornwall residents were taken to Bowmanville hospital with severe injuries.

John Yencik, 42, driver of the car, sustained head injuries and shock. And the one passenger, Mrs. Aurore Burrell, 31, received a broken collarbone and shock.

Yencik was driving west along the highway at 9.30 a.m. Saturday when he turned out to pass a truck, two miles east of Newcastle. The right wheels hit the shoulder of the highway and the car slewed out of control.

The 1951 vehicle rolled over four or five times and was completely wrecked.

Provincial Police from Bowmanville investigated.

Ex-Deputy Minister J. C. Callaghan Dies

EDMONTON, Sept. 4—(CP)—John C. Callaghan, 83, former Deputy Minister of Railways and Telephones for the Alberta government in the early 1920s, died in hospital Monday.

One of Western Canada's pioneer railway builders, Mr. Callaghan also was the first general manager of the Northern Alberta Railways. He retired in 1937 after eight years in that office.

A native of Iowa, he was well known for his railroad construction and executive work in western Canada and in Oregon and Washington.

A MUSKIE THAT MADE Vernon Selkirk stretch weighed 23½ pounds. Vern took it on Saturday evening off Kelly's Island, Chemong Lake, with a jointed plug, after 45 minutes of tussling. He landed it finally by the light of an electric torch.

Jean Bleecker Named Queen

Miss Baptiste Lake of 1951 is Miss Jean Bleecker, one of the lake's regular cottagers. She was chosen at the annual Baptiste lake regatta.

Forty-one events were run off in the regatta, including rowing, paddling, log birling, plug casting, canoe tilting, and others. About 200 contestants took part.

Second and third places in the beauty contest were taken by Misses Shirley Robertson and Carol Hewitt. Prizes donated by district merchants were given the three girls.

The regatta was held along shore in front of Camp Macwan, owned by Reg Canning, who organized the program. Sponsors were the Baptiste Game and Fish Protective Association.

To wind up the day, a mammoth bonfire was started at dusk, followed by a display of fireworks and a square dance that lasted into the morning hours.

President of the protective association is Ran Davy. Prize committee for the regatta was composed of Lloyd Nourse and James Burlison. In charge of the events was Reg Canning.

OBITUARIES

NELSON KING.

A CPR employee for 42 years, Nelson King, 551 Chamberlain St., died Monday at his home in his 72nd year.

He was born in Seymour township, Northumberland county, the son of the late George King and Eleanor Althouse. His wife, the former Beatrice Pettifer, survives him.

Mr. King has lived in Peterborough for 50 years, coming from Seymour township. During that time he was a yard foreman with the CPR.

A member of the IOOF, Peterborough No. 111, he was a former past Noble Grand and was active in degree work and the district installation team. He was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church.

Besides his wife, surviving are: three sons, John, William and Clarence, all of Peterborough; a sister, Mrs. B. Ellis, Havelock; and a brother, Fred, Stirling.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Nesbitt funeral home, the Rev. Maurice Poole, All Saints' Church, officiating. Burial will be at the Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. WILBERT REGAN

An active member of the Peter Robinson Chapter, IODE, Mrs. Wilbert Regan, 600 Gilmour St., died today at her residence.

She was born in Peterborough, Estelle Knox, the daughter of the late David Knox and Isobel Mann.

Mrs. Regan completed her education at Havergal College. She was a member of Trinity United church, and belonged to the Evening Auxiliary and the Women's Association.

Besides her husband, Wilbert Regan, she is survived by a daughter, Ruth, and a son, David Ross, and a sister, Mrs. Carrie I. Comstock.

The funeral will be held on Thursday at 2:30 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home, the Rev. D. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

30th Chamberlain Reunion Held At Otonabee Farm In Family Name 110 Years

The 30th annual Chamberlain family reunion was held on Labour Day at the home of Mr. Thomas D. Chamberlain, old Norwood road, four miles east of Peterborough.

Mr. Chamberlain, who is now 90 years of age, has lived in the homestead all his life, and family records indicate that his parents moved to the farm in the 1840's, making a total of nearly 110 years ownership by the family. He is the son of the late Wm. Chamberlain and Eleanor Ingram, whose family settled in Otonabee township in 1832. At that time Peterborough was [illegible] to cross the river and various streams. They were among the earliest pioneers in the district.

William Chamberlain and Eleanor Ingram were married in January, 1841, and settled in the village of Peterborough where the first three of their ten children were born. They then moved to the present home in Otonabee where the only surviving child, Dr. Thos. D. Chamberlain, was born.

It is interesting to note that Edmund Chamberlain, brother to William, was once the owner of the property now occupied by the Canadian General Electric Co. and Chamberlain St., at the south of the GE, was named in his honor. [illegible] married Elizabeth Hamilton, of Douro. There are two surviving children, Geo. H. Chamberlain, of Otonabee, and Percy E. Chamberlain, at home. Mrs. Chamberlain died in February, 1917.

The picnic and reunion was instituted in 1922 by the late David Eason, of Peterborough, as a gathering of the children and descendants of William and Edmund Chamberlain and held at the same place as now. Through the years, as the family grew, the reunion has become an event covering a great many families in the Peterborough area and some in distant cities who occasionally manage to be present.

To the older members of the family, it is an event to be compared with past gatherings; to the children it is the last chance to play ball, run races, and gorge themselves with ice cream, watermelon, salads, and pastry before they return to school.

Prizes were awarded to the children in the races, and to the baldest men, the youngest children, the fastest walkers among the older ladies, and many others.

Though attendance has ranged from 60 to 120 during the years, only about 75 relatives and close friends were present at the reunion this year.

Among those present were:

Thos. D. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Chamberlain and sons William and Melville; Percy E. Chamberlain; Mrs. Agnes Hamilton, Jean, George and David Hamilton; Edward Long; Mrs. Ella Nicholls; Miss Myrtle Fife; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Payne; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frankish; Bella, George and Andrew Hamilton; Miss Ethel Reynolds; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Eason and grandson Dick; J. E. Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Bradfield, Lorraine and Gordon; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Robinson and grandchildren Shirley, Donald and Doreen Robinson and Linda Johnston; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robinson; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Robinson and daughter Medda; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, Gerald and Ronald; Mrs. M. Armstrong and son Douglas; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward of Dartford, their children Teddy, David and Denton, Tommy and Ronald; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Reynolds, Joanne and Sylvie; Mr. and Mrs. Angus Tripp; Mrs. Alice Manley; Dwight, Margaret and Gayle Fell; Walter and Arthur Dixon; Miss Rayma Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vilneff; Mrs. Emily J. McAllister; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rylott.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

Indians Hit Pennant Trail, Fans Excited

By JOE REICHLER.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4 (AP) — Not so long ago the citizens of Cleveland were living the everyday life of normal people. They had little time to worry about the troubles that had befallen the town's ball club, the Indians.

There were still some diehards who groaned every time the Indians lost—which was often. To all intents and purposes, the Indians were going nowhere in the American League race.

Then, suddenly, it happened The Indians began to win and captured 22 of 27 games. From a sad fourth, the Tribe returned home in the thick of things. An epidemic of pennant fever overwhelmed the Ohio populace.

Only twice in the last generation, had Cleveland won the league championship. Its pennant fevers had been many, but never before had they come with the suddenness of this current onslaught.

Make Page One

Cleveland newspapers feature the exploits of their favorite sons on page one. Manager Al Lopez, ganeral Frank Greenberg and owner Ellis Ryan are overnight the most popular persons in Cleveland.

The hotels are loaded. People, who had stayed away all year, flock to the ball park. It is almost impossible to buy a good seat for games with New York Yankees or Boston Red Sox.

The front office became flooded with cheques and requests for world series tickets. It is estimated that more than $150,000 has already been returned to optimistic fans.

What happened to change the club from an also-ran in June to a red-hot pennant contender in August and September?

The tremendous hurling of Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia; the brilliant defensive work of the "pony" infield sparked by shortstop Ray Boone and second baseman Bob Avila; the great clutch pitching of Lou Brissie, the workhorse; and the quiet, competent job of managing turned in by Lopez.

SIX HEATS OF HARNESS RACES thrilled the large crowd on Saturday at the Lakefield Fall Fair. In the photo, a good getaway is shown as judge Hugh Stewart of Peterborough, gets the horses off without benefit of a starting gate. The Free-for-all was won by Stan Blewett's "Victory High," and the 2:26 class by Harry Ingle's "Banner Boy."

Parham Ousts Cobourg 11-9

COBOURG, Sept. 4 — Cobourg Orphans were ousted from the OASA Intermediate playoffs, in the first round here, when Parham defeated them in the second game of the series 11-9. Parham, winner of Eastern District, took the first game last week 5-4.

A big ninth inning gave the visitors the game and the round when they shoved over four runs on four hits and an error. T. Goodfellow, the first batter up in the frame, started it off with a home run.

Donny Ball started for the Orphans, but gave way to Don Platt in the sixth. The winners combed both for 11 hits, second baseman Bertrim leading with three safeties.

D. Goodfellow went the route for Parham, held the losers to nine hits, fanned five.

Toronto Wins Doubleheader

By The Associated Press.

The International League victory trail has been smooth sailing for Toronto's Johnny Hetki, who's having his best year in organized ball.

The veteran Leaf hurler rang up his 17th triumph Monday, against nine reversals, when he blanked Ottawa Giants 9-0 in the first game of a doubleheader. This is the most games he has won in a season since he began his career in 1941.

In registering his fourth shutout, a neat six-hitter, the former Cincinnati Reds' moundsman completed his 15th game. He now has four straight wins.

The strapping right-hander was supported by homers from Charlie White, Vince Plumbo and Grover Bowers.

Get Good Pitching

Toronto continued to get fine pitching in the nightcap as Leon Day edged Ottawa 2-1 for his first victory. Day broke up the duel with young Pete Burnside by singling heme the decisive run in the seventh inning.

Montreal Royals, who have already clinched the pennant, bowed twice to Buffalo Bisons, 6-4 and 5-4. Buffalo moved into a third-place tie with Syracuse. Wally Post's 20th homer helped Moe Savransky win the opener. Archie Wilson poled his 28th round-tripper in the seventh frame to win the second game for Ernie Silverman.

Rochester Red Wings and Syracuse Chiefs divided a twin bill. The Wings grabbed the first, 3-0 on Johnny Wittig's one-hit relief stint after the second inning.

The Chiefs took the nightcap 7-2 behind Bill Miller's 15th victory.

Baltimore Orioles and Springfield Cubs broke even, with Orioles dro[illegible]

McElroy Wins Golf Crown, Whips Farley

By ERWIN FRICKE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4 (CP). — Walter McElroy of Vancouver, a slim 130-pounder with an easy smile but a deadly shooter with a six iron, Saturday won the 1951 Canadian amateur golf championship.

The 24-year-old Vancouver jeweler defeated veteran Phil Farley of Toronto 2 and 1 in the 36-hole final which wound up the week-long tourney at the capital's Royal Ottawa Club.

Farley, playing in his third final in 16 cracks at the Canadian title, put up a gallant battle which had many of the gallery of 300 cheering him on. But the 39-year-old branch manager of a textile firm, although he made a terrific comeback in the latter part of the match, went too far behind in the first 18 holes to overtake the smooth Vancouver golfer. Still, Farley had enough to give the final match one of its most tense and dramatic finishes in years.

It was the first Canadian amateur victory for McElroy, who stayed away from competitive golf in 1949 and last year. In 1948 he was low amateur in the Canadian open.

He succeeds Bill Mawhinney, also of Vancouver, who was eliminated by Farley in a quarter-final round.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Two Canadian favorites, Malcolm Hanover and Dr. Stanton, split first money in the Dominion's richest harness race—the Canadian Cup pace at Toronto. Old Dr. Stanton came back on Saturday afternoon to win the postponed second heat with Malcalm Hanover beaten off in second place by a head.

Malcolm Hanover won the first heat at Thorncliffe Raceway on Friday but it rained so hard that the second heat had to be hoisted until Saturday.

In the second heat, at one mile and one-sixteenth, Dr. Stanton, which went away from number three position, sped to the front at once and stayed there. Malcolm Hanover made his usual courageous charge in the final quarter-mile but just missed.

Dr. Stanton's time of 2.12 3-5 was a track record for Thorncliffe.

Lionel Nesbitt, 20, of Listowel, Ont., in his first Canadian National Exhibition track meet on Saturday, won the 10-mile run in 55 minutes, 15 and two-fifths seconds.

Nesbitt outpaced veteran runner Walter Fedorick of Dundas, Ont., to take the opening event.

Yogi Berra, New York Yankee catcher, was fined $100 Saturday by president Will Harridge of the American League for pushing umpire Ed Hurley in protest of a decision in St. Louis Tuesday.

Miss Pepsi, a Detroit boat driven by Chuck Thompson, won the Henry Ford Trophy event Saturday—featured race in the Detroit 250th anniversary regatta. The boat averaged 88.697 miles an hour for the four laps—far the best in the unlimited class.

Tony Ponce, star righthander of Phoenix Senators in the Southwest International League, last night set what is believed to be a pitching record in organized baseball of 38 consecutive games without being relieved. The official mark is 37 made by William Dineen of Boston Red Sox in the American League in 1904.

The district attorney's office plans to have the grand jury investigate the death of boxer George Flores, it was learned on Monday.

Flores, a 20-year-old welterweight and father of a three-weeks-old boy, died early Monday as a result of a brain injury suffered in a knockout loss to Roger Donoghue in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

At District Attorney Frank Hogan's office it was learned that Hogan plans to subpoena witnesses to testify before the grand jury in mid-September.

John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty of Toronto has been appointed coach of Saint John Beavers in the expanded Maritime Major Hockey League, a club spokesman said Monday night. He was coach last season for Toronto St. Michael's, Alexander Cup finalists.

The former National and American Hockey League player will bring 14 men as the nucleus of the Beaver team in the coming season, the spokesman said.

Curandero won the $159,150 Washington Park handicap, richest mile in the history of racing, by a scant nose Monday at Chicago with Oil Capitol second and County Delight third.

Curandero, owned by the King Ranch of Robert Kleberg, ran the mile in 1:34 3-5.

Curandero, with A. Gomez of Havana, Cuba, guiding him, earned $113,905 and paid $8.60, $4.80 and $3.80 across the board. Oil Capitol returned $6.80 and 4.40 to place and show; and County Delight paid 4.80 to show.

Name Paddlers For Olympics

MOONEY'S BAY, Ont., Sept. 4 (CP).—Twelve paddlers from Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Winnipeg, have been chosen to represent Canada at the 1952 Olympic games in Helsinki, Finland.

Provided the Canadian Olympic Association approves, the paddling team will be made up of these men:

Bert Oldershaw, Art Johnson, Tom Hodgson, Doug Hawgood, and Ken Lane, all of Toronto; George Bossy, Bob Smith, Bob Cordner and Geoorge Ward, all of Montreal; Bill Brigden and Jimmy Nickel of Winnipeg, and Norman Lane of Ottawa.

They were chosen by a nine-man selection committee of the Canadian Canoe Association following completion of Olympic trials here, on the course of the Rideau Canoe Club.

The committee picked Earl C. (Doc) Whittall of the Lachine Canoe Club in suburban Montreal to coach the team. E. Howard Radford of the Cartierville Canoe Club in Montreal, secretary of the Canadian Canoe Association, was chosen manager.

2 Canadians Upset In Tennis Doubles

TORONTO, Sept. 4 (CP) — Grant Golden of Chicago and Conway Catton of San Francisco upset two members of Canada's Davis Cup team Monday to win the doubles event of the Ontario seniors tennis championships.

They beat out Lorne Main of Vancouver and Brendan Macken of Montreal 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Havelock Victors

Belleville Triumphs In First Peewee Tilt

Belleville defeated Anthony's, 8-3, Monday afternoon at Riverside in the first of a best-of-three peewee semi-final OBA series. The second will be played in Belleville Saturday, and a third, if necessary, on neutral ground. The winning team qualifies for final OBA playdowns, probably against a Toronto team.

Anthony's outhit the visitors 7-3, but three unearned runs in the first gave Belleville a margin the locals were unable to overcome. Wayne Haig started for Anthony's, and after a shaky first, twirled well until the sixth when Al Wade took over. Seven errors afield hurt the locals' cause, while the Quinte boys played steady ball behind Joe Ryan and Jack Elliott, who replaced Ryan in the eighth.

Wayne Haig had the longest hit of the game, a triple to deep centre in the eighth, while O'Connell had a double for the only extra-base blows of the game. The fielding of Mike Ryan featured for the visitors. A fair crowd of fans enjoyed the contest as the boys gave their best.

New Technique In Brain Surgery Getting Remarkable Results

By LEO MARKS

VINITA, Okla., Sept. 4 (AP)—A new technique in prefrontal lobotomy has produced results at the Eastern Oklahoma Mental Hospital decribed as "remarkable" by its superintendent.

Dr. Felix M. Adams says the 20-minute brain operation to relieve some forms of insanity has been satisfactory in a great majority among 15 cases performed since Jan. 1.

"We believe the work and observation accomplished so far opens a new field in certain types of mental illnesses," Dr. Adams announced recently.

All the patients "were chronically ill mentally — patients on whom all other treatments had failed," he said. They were suffering from dementia praecox, a disease manifested by extreme nervousness, illusion and agitation.

Not Cured

"They are not cured," Dr. Adams emphasized, "but we believe they will continue to show enough improvement to be allowed to go home and receive future care from their relatives."

The new method has made lobotomy—dangerous because a slip of the knife could leave the subject a psychological vegetable—relatively simple.

In the old operation, results were unpredictable because the [illegible] offending nerve pathway from the front of the brain—which makes us aware of life—to the thinking thalmus was cut, but others sometimes were damaged as well. Mortality was high.

Devises Guide

A neuro-surgeon, Dr. Robert A. Hayne, of Tulsa, devised a calibrated guide for the scalpel which directs it into position with mathematical precision.

Dr. Hayne's instrument is equivalent to a toolmaker's jig, spotting the cutting blade precisely where he wants it.

It is a rectangular, metal crown which fits over the head. Around its rim are blunt pins which, tapped gently into the surface of the skull, fix it immovably to the cranium.

Surmounting the crown is a bridge which extends over the top of the head. It supports the guide for the surgeon's knife.

Part Of Bone Removed

After the crown is affixed and oriented on lines determined by prior examination, a small section of bone near the front of the skull is removed.

Guide marks on the crown establish two dimensions, fore and aft and side to side. Guides on the knife establish a third dimensional reference, showing the surgeon how far he can insert his scalpel.

The severing of the desired nerve fibres is simplified; damage to other ganglia becomes highly unlikely and operative time—an important surgical factor—is sharply reduced.

Don't Take Vitamins Wholesale Too Many Can Poison You-Doctors

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—(AP)—Like too much of anything good, gorging n vitamin A or vitamin D can poison you.

Medical reports tell of this poisoning from terrific amounts of either vitamin. It shows in loss of hair, joint pains, dry itchy skin, bone changes in children, nausea, and other troubles.

Vitamins are good for you, and you need them. Most people get enough of them from well-balanced diets. Others need or benefit from supplementary doses of vitamin pills. Sometimes doctors give extra big doses to combat certain diseases.

A woman poisoned by too much vitamin A is described in the journal of the American Medical Association.

She had heard that vitamin A might help prevent catching cold. She began taking 600,000 units of vitamin A a day, and kept it up for 18 months.

The average person needs only 5,000 units a day, so she was swallowing 120 times her daily reqirement, not to mention the vitamins she was getting from her food.

Increased Dose

On days when she felt she might be catching cold, this woman would take 1,600,000 or 2,600,000 units of A.

She finally came to the doctors because her hair was falling out, and her eyebrows and eyelashes were almost gone. She had aches in bones and joints, soreness and cracks at the corners of her mouth, a dry, rough and itchy skin, with some discolored patches; night sweats and other complaints.

The treatment was to stop taking all the vitamin A. Within 10 days, the joint and bone pain went away, and so did the itching. Her hair soon began to grow again and her other troubles disappeared.

This case, the physicians said, is apparently the first one to be published of Vitamin A poisoning in an adult.

In children, too much vitamin A is blamed for causing loss of appetite and wieght, irritability, low-grade fever, skin rash, loss of hair, enlargement of the liver, blood changes and tenderness over the long bones of the body.

Have Terrible New Weapons In US Possession--Truman

UN Troops Fighting Bitter Battles For Korean Ridges

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 5.—(AP)—United Nations infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in east Korea today. They were locked in hand-to-hand combat with Communists on the crest.

Other UN troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill mass north of Yanggu. Then they pressed forward to assault another height just to the north. Reds, dug securely into crags and ridges, checked the American drive.

In the same sector other 2nd Division soldiers were locked in a heavy day-long fight with Communists atop two towering crests. The Americans have been trying to knock the Reds off these crests for a week. The Communists have withstood daily infantry assaults and continuous artillery bombardment.

The 2nd Division action, in the centre of a limited United Nations offensive, was the only significant engagement on the front Wednesday. Yanggu, at the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, is seven miles north of the 38th Parallel. Censors would not permit correspondents to say how much farther north the battle line is.

Get Three Red Divisions

UN troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the UN ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet's estimate of at least 26,000 Red casualties covered a period in which action was limited while both sides held truce talks—now broken off.

Van Fleet said that, even after front-line estimates were carefully evaluated and cut down, the figures showed 15,000 Reds killed, 10,000 wounded and more than 1,000 captured.

The pace of Red casualties undoubtedly increased during the last few days. Waves of Communists were committed in repeated counter-attacks aimed at stalling an Allied push in mountainous Eastern Korea.

Limited Offensive

The fighting subsided Tuesday but only after a limited offensive by three United States divisions, three South Korean divisions and an Ethiopian brigade had ground out gains up to five miles and seized the important punchbowl area 20 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

The Allies dug in Tuesday and consolidated their gains. The drive had pushed the United Nations' line within artillery range of Kumsong, a Red stronghold 29 miles north of the parallel in East-Central Korea.

For the first time in days no notes were exchanged between UN TROOPS

Believe Tourist Drowned In Pigeon Lake

A middle-aged United States tourist was believed drowned in Pigeon Lake about 11 am today when his boat was found overturned in the lake an hour after he set out on a fishing trip.

The drowned man is reported to be Calvin Wolf, 50, Akron, Ohio, who was vacationing at Tall Cedar Lodge. The lodge is four miles northwest of Lakehurst and the boat was found three-quarters of a mile away.

Wolf, a brother-in-law of the lodge proprietor, Fred Lachoff, arrived on Saturday for a vacation with his wife Eva.

OPP Constables J. G. Healey and T. Armitage arrived shortly after 1 pm to begin a search for the body.

The boat was found by other United States tourists, upside down and with an outboard motor attached. A hat, identified as Wolf's, was reported floating beside it.

There was no trace of Wolf himself.

He left his cabin and started out on a fishing jaunt about 10 am and that was the last time he was seen alive. Friends said he has recently been in bad health.

Proclaim Tallal King of Jordan

GENEVA, Sept. 5 — (AP). — Emir Tallal, Crown Prince of Jordan, left Geneva by special plane today for Amman, where he will ascend the throne Thursday.

In Amman, the Jordan Parliament gave final approval of his succession. He succeeds King Abdullah, who was assassinated in Arab-held Old Jerusalem, on July 20.

Before leaving Switzerland, where he has been under treatment for a nervous disorder, Prince Tallal held a brief reception attended by officials of the United Nations. He appeared rested and in good health as he received the press shortly before his departure.

Throughout his stay here, the Crown Prince declined to make any statement concerning the political situation created in Jordan by the assassination of his father.

Dangerous Driving Charge Against Driver

ARNPRIOR, Sept. 5 —(CP)—Ontario Provincial Police said Tuesday they have laid a charge of dangerous driving against Carl Laushway, 26-year-old driver of a chartered bus which crashed into a truck near here last Wednesday, injuring several of its load of 26 children and adults.

The bus was bringing the children home from a summer camp when it smashed into the rear of a Ontario highways truck and then overturned in a ditch. Laushway was injured in the crash and is still in hospital. He has been granted bail of $500.

Quick Police Action Saves 15 Children

HULL, Que., Sept. 5 (CP). — Quick police intervention was credited today with preventing serious injury to a group of 15 children found playing with dynamite caps on a Hull street.

The children, ranging from four to 13, had found a box of 25 caps left by well-diggers Tuesday night. They had bent some of the caps with stones and the heels of their shoes and had scattered others on the street. Luckily none went off.

Police, responding to a call, found the children setting fire to an ash can filled with paper in which they had placed some of the caps. The can blew apart in a cloud of dust and smoke as the children ducked for cover.

Police gathered up the caps and took them to the police station.

Expect Dollar Import Cut Discussed By UK At Parley

LONDON, Sept. 5 — (CP) — Plans for a reduction in Britain's dollar imports are expected to be discussed during the North American visit of Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

They would be the first big cuts imposed since 1949, when sterling-area members of the Commonwealth agreed to reduce their dollar purchases by 25 per cent.

Since then Britain's trading position has fluctuated. Soon after devaluation in September, 1949, the country began to pay its way in external trade. Then rearmament, coupled with an unprecedented peacetime rise in import prices, tightened the screws on an already-strained economy.

Whitehall now is known to be concerned over the balance-of-payments position. Gaitskell, who left London airport Tuesday night for talks in Washington and Ottawa, hinted in a speech earlier to the Trades Union Congress at Blackpool that the government might be "driven" to slash imports.

It is understood that the cabinet, at a meeting Tuesday, discussed a new import program based on calculations for the hard months ahead.

Some British commentators suggest that Gaitskell has taken with him to Washington two rough drafts of the new plans—one outlining what austerities Britain may have to face if she goes it alone, the other what might be done if some aid were forthcoming from the United States.

There has been no hint here what specific imports may be cut.

One hopeful trend is that the terms of trade appear at least to be turning in Britain's favor. In July British imports were cheaper for the first time in two years. Substantial price declines for rubber and wool products were chiefly responsible for the fall.

Exports to Canada reached a record figure during July, despite a sharp drop in automobile exports. Exports as a whole were valued at £15,600,000 — about £1,000,000 higher than the previous high-water mark last November, and 15 per cent higher than the average for the second quarter this year.

Senator Asks Norman Make Reply

Thinks He Should Tell His Side of Story After Pro-Red Charges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. — (AP)—Senator Arthur V. Watkins (Rep.-Utah) said today the Senate Internal Security Sub-Committee should invite Herbert E. Norman, Canadian career diplomat, to reply to testimony about him.

Norman, now Canada's acting permanent delegate to the United Nations, was named recently by Dr. Karl August Wittfogel as having been a member of a Communist student group in the United States in 1939. Wittfogel is a member of the Columbia University staff.

Watkins, a member of the subcommittee, told a reporter:

"I should think Mr. Norman would want the opportunity to testify. If an injustice has been done him by any witness, I for one would like to see it cleared up."

Do Own Investigating

The Canadian government said recently it feels completely competent to investigate its own officials. It called Norman thoroughly loyal and able.

Watkins said that so far as he knows, Wittfogel's testimony about Norman "was a complete surprise" to the senators, and that "since Mr. Norman was named at a public hearing, it would be a matter of common courtesy to give him a chance to come in and reply."

The sub-committee is in recess. Watkins indicated the matter might be discussed when it resumes hearings after the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco.

The state department is reported to have written Senator Pat McCarran (Dem.-Nev.) sub-committee chairman urging him to keep the names of officials of friendly foreign countries out of the public hearings. The Canadian government has protested the mention of Norman.

McCarran's sub-committee is investigating whether the Institute of Pacific Relations, a private research group, has influenced US foreign policy in the Far East.

Believe Enemies Slay Adamic

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5 — Louis P. Budenz, one-time Communist editor and leader, said today he believes it is "quite likely" author Louis Adamic was slain by Soviet underground agents.

Budenz is a former editor of the Daily Worker, New York newspaper which is the official organ of the Communist Party in the United States. He turned against the Communists years ago.

Adamic was found dead of a gunshot wound in his burning home near Flemington, NJ., on Tuesday.

Budenz' statement was made in a telephone interview with the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

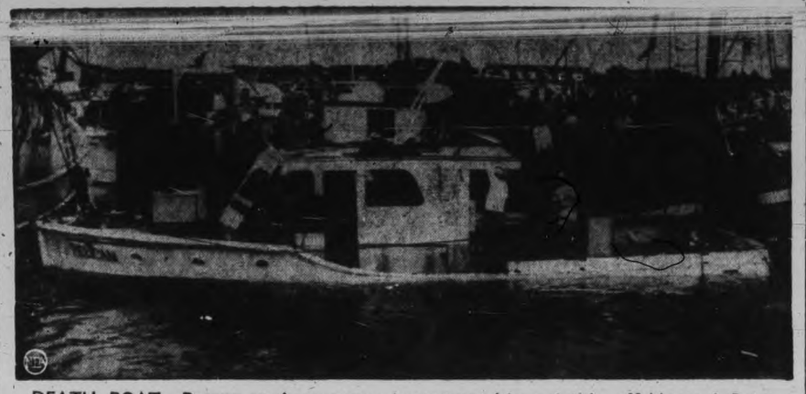
He was told that the investigation at Flemington had raised the possibility of murder.

"I think it's quite likely that that's taken place," Budenz was quoted as saying. "But the apparatus would go into action only against someone who, it was thought, was about, wittingly or perhaps unwittingly, to expose something that had been a closely guarded secret."

Search Sub-Arctic For Dentist, Barilko

KAPUKASING, Sept. 5 (CP)—RCAF searchers are ranging to the sub-Arctic in their hunt for hockey player Bill Barilko and his dentist companion, Dr. Henry Hudson, of Timmins.

Working on the theory that the lost plane might have been carried far to the north by 60-mile-an-hour winds, search officials ordered crews of long-range Lancaster planes to follow the east side of James Bay to the point where it widens into Hudson Bay and to scour the west side of James Bay as far as the Albany River.



DEATH BOAT—Rescue workers examine the fishing boat Pelican after it was towed in awash. Nine bodies were pulled from under the decks of the vessel, which overturned in a riptide, off Montauk Point, Long Island. Only 16 of the 56 persons aboard the 45-foot craft survived the accident. Many of the 40 victims are still missing. An inquiry is under way.

Gives UK 15-Day Deadline

TEHRAN, Sept. 5. (CP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today gave British negotiators a 15-day deadline to reopen Anglo-Iran oil talks or have British technicians ousted from Iran. The "get-tough" policy won an immediate vote of confidence from the Iranian Senate. It goes to the Majlis (lower house) Thursday. Mossadegh appealed for a vote after saying he would cancel residence permits of 300 technicians remaining at the refinery city of Abadan unless the British Government agreed to resume negotiations. Following the breakdown of negotiations, Britain made clear that she would retain her control of the giant British-built Abadan refinery until a settlement was reached. Earlier Britain said she would take "necessary measures" to protect British citizens in Iran.

Mossadegh said today talks should be reopened on the proposals Iran submitted Aug. 22, when the talks broke down.

He charged that the Britons are trying to bring an economic crisis to Iran by remaining in Abadan but refusing to ship oil from the refinery storage tanks.

Won't Stand It

"The Iranian government cannot tolerate the present situation any longer," he said.

He added that as long as the stalemate continued it would be impossible to hire other foreign experts to ship oil to new customers.

At a subsequent prices conference Mossadegh's assistant, Husseinn Fatemi, said the premier's decision to present an ultimatum had defeated a British plot "to sit on the fence" and await the fall of the government.

Fatemi said that if the Britons leave the oil industry the government will employ technicians from Switzerland, Sweden, Holland and perhaps the Soviet bloc.

He said Iran is not anxious to employ American technicians since these "would almost inevitably adopt the British line and attempt to bring Iran under the influence of the big oil trusts."

Boat Hit By Second Craft Driver Killed In Big Race

TORONTO, Sept. 5. (CP)—A speedboat race accident at the Canadian National Exhibition Tuesday took the life of Frank Smith, 55, veteran powerboat driver from Kingston. His outboard motor boat was hit by one driven by George Fulford III of Brockville, son of George T. Fulford, wealthy Liberal member of parliament for Leeds. The accident was declared unavoidable Tuesday night by Commodore Reg Sparkes of the Canadian Boating Federation and race officials, all of whom saw the mishap. Commodore Sparkes announced that the race, cancelled after the accident, will be held today.

After the accident, Fulford told friends he would never race again.

The fatality, first of the Canadian powerboat season, occurred in one of the last events of the year. The 135-class race, staged as an exhibition feature under the direction of federation officials, had been delayed briefly by false starts.

Tried For Straight Line

The drivers of the 11 boats tried to get away to a flying start in which they would be in a straight line at the crack of the starter's gun.

Race officials could see that Smith, in his home-built Nit Wit V, was going to get across the starting line ahead of the gun. As they watched, he apparently realized he was moving too fast and suddenly cut his throttle. The boat veered after losing way.

Fulford's boat, bought earlier this year, was only a few feet behind. The speeding craft plowed into Smith's boat exactly opposite the bucket seat in which Smith was crouched and threw Smith into the water.

Struck Second Time

As Smith was thrown into the water, the rocketing boat apparently struck him again. Lifebelted, he came bobbing to the surface as the spray disappeared and Fulford's boat swung wildly in an attempt to clear him.

Seconds behind Fulford came Bill Hodgson, Islington realtor, in his My Bet's. Without even slowing his boat, Hodgson jumped overboard and grabbed Smith, holding his head above water. A few seconds later, Dave Belfie, driving Family Curse, also plunged from his boat and joined Hodgson at Smith's side.

A harbor police boat, cruising only a few hundred yards distant, raced to the spot and picked up the men.

Smith was dead when he reached hospital. Doctors said he had suffered a fractured skull. Both his legs were broken.

Smith had operated the Queen's taxi business in Kingston for several years. His hobby for the last 10 years had been building and racing hydroplanes of the type in which he was killed. He built Nit Wit V last winter in a garage at the rear of his home.

Trucker Killed At Rail Crossing

KINGSTON, Sept. 5—(CP)—The third level crossing accident in the Kingston district within the past week Tuesday night claimed its first fatality when an Ottawa truck driver was killed in the head-on collision of a CNR freight train and a heavy transport truck.

Dead is Arthur George Waugh, 38, driver of a Taggart Service Company transport which collided with a slow-moving freight train at the level crossin about ½ mile north of the village of Elgin on Highway No. 15. Elgin is about 35 miles north of Kingston. Police said Waugh was badly mangled by the train.

The impact was so great that the cab of the truck was severed from the rest of the vehicle and turned sideways across the road. It was wedged against one of the box cars so tightly that provincial police, trainmen and civilian volunteers worked for more than an hour before they managed to untangle the wreckage.

Parts of the truck were strewn for yards along the highway and the victim's body had to be cut from the vehicle.

The Napanee-bound train had just started from the station some 100 yards away. Conductor R. Muir, of Belleville, estimated its speed at ¼ mile per hour. The train engineer was Cecil Burley, also of Belleville.

Princess Views Tour Clothes

LONDON, Sept. 5 — (Reuters). —Princess Elizabeth flew here from Scotland today to try on clothes she will wear on her tour of Canada next month.

She will return tomorrow evening to Birkhall on the King's Highland estate, where she is on vacation with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and their two children.

A large crowd greeted the Princess, dressed in a full length royal blue coat and fitting cockaded hat, as she stepepd out of a plane of the King's Flight at London Airport.

She saw Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, this afternoon to discuss new dresses ordered for the tour.

Aage Thaarup, Royal milliner, also saw the Princess about her new hats.

Fashion experts believe that Thaarup's latest collection, being shown here Friday, will feature the type of hats the Princess will wear on the tour.

Cougar Kidnapping

WALLACE Idaho, Sept. 5 (AP) —Men and dogs went out hunting this week for a cougar that tried to kidnap a two-year-old child.

Sam Peterson, of Wallace, said his small daughter, Jane, was carried 200 yards by a large cougar that picked her up by the back of her sweater. The animal dropped the child when Mrs. Peterson and her two sons ran after it, screaming, he said.

Peterson said the incident occurred Friday at the Hansey Copper and Gold Mining Company property.

The child suffered only scratches about the face.

Wife, Four Fiancees Gang Up On Romeo In Hospital Week To Learn Error Of Ways

TURIN, Italy, Sept. 5 (Reuters)—A modern Don Juan was in hospital today regretting the folly of becoming engaged to four girls at the same time — while his wife waited at home for him.

Tuesday afternoon Remo Menego, attractive, 35-year-old lingerie shop owner, hustled to keep an appointment with a woman he promised to marry. He found her, his wife and three other "fiancees" waiting.

After the cops rescued him, Menego was taken to hospital in an ambulance. Hospital authorities said multiple scratches and bruises would keep him in bed for at least a week.

Police told this story of what led up to the violent collapse of Menego's love life:

About six months ago Menego fell in love with a blonde, named Anna, he met on a streetcar. He told her he was a bachelor, and they became engaged. But he continued to live with his young, beautiful wife.

Then, in succession, he fell for Lucia, Rita, and Evelina.

Evelina was his undoing. She found in his wallet names, addresses and love letters aplenty. Evelina engineered an appointment with Menego Tuesday afternoon at a cafe in the centre of Turin, called up his wife and three other fiancees.

Menego walked unsuspectingly into the trap.

Would Destroy Civilization If All-Out War Should Break Out In World

Russia Blocks Immediate Adoption Of Rules For Control As Japanese Peace Conference Opens.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5. (CP)—President Truman disclosed Tuesday existence of new weapons that "would wipe out civilization" in event of an "all-out war." Truman, talking at a luncheon of democratic party workers, said: "It is terrible to think of what would happen if we should have another world war. No one can imagine the destruction, the loss of life." He suggested there were weapons more fearful, even than the atomic bomb and the projected hydrogen bomb.

"New weapons mean that an all-out war would wipe out civilization," he declared.

"It is the job of every American . . . to do all he can to prevent all-out war" but there are a lot of people who don't seem to understand this, and who are unwilling to pay the taxes to arm this country and its allies.

"These people are flirting with national suicide," he added.

He said that there are "fantastic" weapons that might be used in a third world war, and these include not only the weapon people "fear the most"—obviously a reference to atomic and hydrogen bombs—but some "fantastic in their operations."

"I hope we'll not have to use them," he said. "The US could not afford that gamble."

Blocks Adoption

Meanwhile Russia blocked immediate adoption of British-American rules for control of the Japanese peace conference today and protested Red China's absence from the meeting.

The conference was called to order at 10:10 a.m. (1:10 p.m., EDT), today by State Secretary Dean Acheson.

The Russian delegation, all in place, sat stolidly, leaning back in their chairs, listening to the translation.

Acheson recognized Sir Carl Berendsen, New Zealand Ambassador, who said the rules of procedure were adequate and formally moved for their adoption.

Oscar Gans, Minister of State for Cuba, seconded.

New Floods Threaten Kansas Area

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Sept. 5—(AP).—Surging rivers overflowed anew in eastern Kansas today and threatened Kansas City industrial districts still recovering from last July's million dollar flood disaster.

The rivers, fed by heavy rains forced evacuation of farm and some town areas.

In Kansas City, Kas., army engineers rushed bulldozers into the Argentine and Armourdale districts—both still digging out of the great flood of midsummer.

Rising waters also were being watched with apprehension in Kansas City, Mo.

Work continued around the clock in an effort to strengthen dikes along the Kansas river, the State's largest.

Federal officials have estimated damage in Missouri and Kansas from the July flood at $2,500,000,000.

Some dikes, wrecked by the flood, are still out and others are soft.

At the State capital of Topeka, Mayor Kenneth Wilke ordered the evacuation of North Topeka. Approximately 2,500 of the 10,000 residents had returned to their homes.

The weather bureau predicted the Kansas river would crest at 27 feet at Kansas City, but said additional rainfall could push it higher. Weakened dikes made some flooding a possibility at the 27-foot stage.

The crest was not expected until noon EDT.

Cost-Of-Living Boost Given GM Employees

OSHAWA, Sept. 5 (CP). — An additional cost-of-living allowance of six cents an hour to hourly-rated employees and of $30 a quarter to salaried workers was announced today by General Motors of Canada Ltd., following the 1.3 point rise in the cost of living index, announced in Ottawa Tuesday. The index now is 188.9, a record.

The increase to hourly workers is effective in the pay period starting Sept. 15. It is in addition to a 13-cent allowance paid during the previous quarter.

Salaried workers receive the increase for the three-month period Sept. 15-Dec. 15. In the June 15-Sept. 15 period, they received an allowance of $65. The total now will be $95.

GM salaries and wages are revised quarterly in line with the Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost of living index. Some 10,500 employees are affected.

Storm Misses Jamaica Area

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5 —(AP)—The tropical storm in the Caribbean Sea, much of the steam gone from its punches, today travelled westward over open waters after bypassing fearful Jamaica.

It had threatened to smack the hurricane-ravaged British island with 100-mile an-hour winds, but veered southward just in time. Kingston, the Jamaican capital, felt only light rain squalls.

As the storm turned, winds dropped to 60 miles an hour. The Miami weather bureau today placed the centre of the disturbance at 200 miles southwest of Kingston. It continued along a westward course clear of any land area.

Far out in the Atlantic, meanwhile, another tropical storm was located about 800 miles east-northeast of Antigua in the Leeward islands.

King Plans To Visit London For Medical Examination

LONDON, Sept. 5 (Reuters)—The King, now on vacation in Scotland, will pay a private visit to London Saturday to give his doctors an opportunity of making a thorough examination, it was announced from Buckingham Palace today.

It was understood the King's vacation is proceeding normally, and he is expected to attend the annual Highland Games at Braemar tomorrow. He will leave Scotland by train Friday evening and return Sunday.

It was reported last Thursday that the King, after a day on the moors, had complained of a cold. Dr. Geoffrey Marshall, chest specialist, and Dr. George Cordiner, the radiologist, flew to Balmoral on Saturday to see him and returned the same night.

Their attendance was described as purely routine.

It was their first visit since the King's arrival in Scotland a month ago. They are understood to have attended him several times since his illness in June, when he was attacked by catarrhal inflamation of the lung.

The King and Queen are due to leave Southampton January 22 for a tour of Australia.

Today's announcement from Buckingham Palace said: "The King will pay a private visit to London on Saturday to give his medical advisers an opportunity of making a more thorough examination. His Majesty will return to Balmoral on Saturday evening."

Living Cost Up Again 1.3 Points

Prime Minister Urges More Saving, Greater Production

OTTAWA, Sept. 5. (CP)—The Government is going to rely for the present on indirect price controls to combat inflation in Canada, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday [illegible] prepared for delivery in the CBC's free-time political broadcast series.

Mr. St. Laurent offered these suggestions for ways in which Canadians could help to hold down the cost of living:

"The first is to do what we can individually and in co-operation with others to produce more and to keep down production costs; the second is to save everything we can—both money and materials and the third is to postpone the buying of things we can get along without."

Living Cost Up

A few hours before the prime minister's address the bureau of statistics reported the cost-of-living index continued its upsurge in July, advancing 1.3 points to a new high of 188.9 from 187.6.

Prices moved up for goods, clothing, home furnishings, fuel and a group of miscellaneous items including street-car fares, health charges, theatre admissions and newspaper rates.

But on the wholesale side, the bureau reported price drops for a group of essential materials—from raw sugar to tin—pushing its weekly index for 30 industrial materials down to 288.2 on Aug. 24—a 7.8-point decline from 196.1 for July 27.

This drop in wholesale prices could mean a decline in some living costs in the months ahead.

Wants Action

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, issued a statement after hearing the bureau's latest cost-of-living report. He said in part:

"Another sharp increase in the cost of living makes immediate government action imperative... subsidies to compensate farmers for rising costs of production and to lower food prices are essential.

"Significantly, sharp rent increases demanded to take effect on Oct. 1 play no part yet in the oppressively-high cost of living Failing government action, when these are included the index may reach 200 by the end of the year. A government which fails to act now should forfeit the confidence of the people. Parliament should so record its opinion when it meets in October."

Mr. St. Laurent devoted his entire 2,500-word radio address to the cost of living.

A SCOTCH LASSIE atop a mechanized elephant joined Montreal's Labor Day parade under the sponsorship of the Tobacco Workers International Union. More than 3,000 workers, representing 46 unions, marched in the colorful holiday pageant.

Reduce Sentence

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday reduced 26-year-old Mrs. Doris Jamieson's three-year sentence on a narcotics charge to two years. It also cut $1,600 from her $2,000 fine, after expressing sympathy for her unfortunate life. "Bad men have influenced her all her life from the time she was 16, when she married an adulterer," said Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson.

Couple Wed 71 Years Ago Lived In Cobourg

ROSENEATH, Sept. 5. (ENS)—Seventy-one years of married life was celebrated quietly on Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Ash, Toronto, formerly of Roseneath and Cobourg district, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Fred Gableman, 18 DeForest Road, Toronto.

Mrs. Ash, the former Margaret White, was born on White's Island, Rice Lake, four miles from Roseneath, April 22, 1859. White's Island was named after her father, Mr. and Mrs. Ash were married in Rochester, NY, Sept. 3, 1880.

Following their marriage, they returned to Cobourg and lived there until moving to Toronto in 1903. Mr. Ash was a carpenter by trade. His family, United Empire Loyalists, were among the first settlers in Cobourg. His father fought in the Fenian Raids.

Mr. and Mrs. Ash are both 92 years of age and in failing health. They have two surviving children, Mr. Sam Ash, 504 Annette St., Toronto, and Mrs. Fred Gableman (who takes care of her parents); three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Ash's parents both reached 90, and Mr. Ash's mother was in her 90's when she died. Mr. Sam Ash has his summer home at Rolling Banks, Rice Lake.

Family Honors Mrs. Wm. Gibson

COLDSPRINGS, Sept. 5 (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shier, entertained their immediate relatives at a birthday dinner Monday in honor of Mrs. Shier's mother, Mrs. Wm. Gibson, who was marking her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Gibson was born at Coldsprings in 1861, daughter of the late Alexander Stevenson and Margaret Aitcheson. She is the last survivor out of a family of 11 and has spent all of her life in the vicinity of Coldsprings.

In 1882 she married the late William Gibson.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Shier, there is one son, Norman Gibson, who lives at Coldsprings and two grandchildren, Eileen and Ina Gibson, who were all present for this occasion.

Mrs. Gibson received many cards and individual gifts. During the evening two birthday cakes were cut, and passed to the guests.

Relatives attending the celebration were from Sault Ste. Marie, Cobourg, Orangeville, Coldsprings and many friends called during the day to offer congratulations.

Church Women Honor Departing Missionary

DARTFORD, Sept. 5 (ENS) — In spite of heavy rain Friday evening, ladies of Dartford United church and Warkworth Free Methodist church gathered at the home of Mr. Warren Atkinson to honor his daughter Clarice prior to her departure as a missionary.

Mrs. Charlie Honey acted as chairwoman for the following program: A song by all the girls, a reading by Mrs. Arthur Ward "Our Church," a solo by Ruth Hardy, duets by Clarice and Marjory Honey, also Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harnden, readings by Mrs. Percy Honey and Mrs. Raymond Richardson, a quartette by Misses Clarice and Carolyn Atkinson, Mrs. John Goodfellow and Mrs. Bruce Cole. Mrs. A. B. Moffatt then gave a talk on missions, telling why missionaries are needed and describing life in Africa where Clarice expects to work.

Mrs. Richardson then read an address and Mrs. Ewart Hardy presented Clarice with a purse of money for which she thanked everyone.

Industrials Advance On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP).—Industrials turned sharply upward today in late morning dealings and held the advance through the early afternoon.

The exchange's index of 20 selected issues jumped almost four points by noon to a record high of 351.40.

Utilities showed the broadest list of gains. Agricultures, foods, refining oils and miscelaneous industrials climbed moderately while constructions, liquors and textiles held firm. Papers, steels and retail stores turned mixed. Banks and manufacturing companies weakened.

Base metals climbed slowly. Highly selective buying resumed to boost a wide list of issues. Consolidated Smelters, Estella, Cassiar, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, Quebec Manitou, Steep Rock and United Keno Hill recorded the best advances. Barvue, East Sullivan, Minda-Scotia, Quebec Opper and Silver Standard eased.

Western oils made no decisive move. Selective buying strengthened some issues but others slipped quietly.

Senior golds weakened. Malartic, Teck Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves edged lower while Giant Yellowknife and Hollinger added fractions. Secondary issues remained trendless.

TUC Refuses To Blame US Interference

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 5 (Reuters) — Britain's powerful Trades Union Congress today rejected an attempt to blame the United States for "interference" with British trade.

By 5,213,000 votes to 1,795,000, delegates representing 136 unions at the Congress' annual meeting turned down a resolution urging more trade with Communist countries.

Arthur Deakin, leader of the powerful Transport Workers' Union, opposed the resolution. He claimed the measure, which demanded "a policy of world economic co-operation and an end to American interference with [illegible] Communist sponsorship.

"We want trade with the world on a basis of complete equality," he said. Russia would only cooperate on the basis of other countries accepting the policies and dictates of international Communism.

Refers To Help

Deakin referred to help under the Marshall Plan "so generosuly given by the American people supported by the organized labor in the US."

He rejected the suggestion that British trade suffers from American interference, saying "the British government maintains a sturdy independence in its foreign relationship."

Jim Gardner, general secretary of the Foundry Workers' Union and mover of the resolution, said American dollars had strengthened European cartels and had helped restore German and Japanese industry to compete with Britain.

The Congress passed unanimously a resolution protesting the arrival of an ambassador representing Franco Spain.

The resolution said diplomatic relations with Spain were not only an insult to the British people but a betrayal of the pledges made by the Labor government. It asked the government to "review the position."

Writer's Death Ruled Suicide

FLEMINGTON, NJ, Sept. 5 — (AP).—Local authorities today listed the death of Louis Adamic, writer and fighter for minority tolerance, as suicide. But they invited the Federal Bureau of Investigation to investigate the possibility of left-wing murder.

The 52-year-old Yugoslav-born author, who recently found Marshal Tito more to his liking than Russia's Stalin, was found Tuesday in his burning farmhouse with a bullet in his head and a rifle across his knees.

"There appears to be nothing to indicate anything other than suicide," county prosecutor H. T. Heisel said. But he added: "I have personally notified the FBI . . . in case they desire to inspect the premises because of Mr. Adamic's political writings."

After Adamic's secretary revealed that four unidentified persons threatened him about his forthcoming book on Yugoslavia under Tito, FBI headquarters in Newark said a decision would probably be reached later today on whether to enter the case.

Police found kerosene-soaked rags scattered about Adamic's house and his garage and kitchen on fire when they located his body in an upstairs bedroom. They said the fire was apparently deliberately set and the bullet "supposedly self-inflicted."

Even the Red radios, usually loaded with accusations and denunciations of the Allies, were comparatively quiet.

It was believed that Gen. Matthew Ridgway, UN Commander, had completed a message to send top Red commanders. It will reply to the North Korean Premier, Kim Il sung, and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai. Sunday they demanded that Ridgway either stop "instigating provocations" in the Kaesong neutral zone of Korea — where the negotiations were held—or call them off.

Andrei Gromyko, head of the Soviet delegation, walked to the stage and there was a stir through the hall as people grabbed for earphones.

He called attention to the fact that representatives of the Chinese Peoples Republic (Red China) were not represented.

Should Be There

He said for many years these people had fought against Japanese militarism and were victims of their aggression.

"The Chinese people have an indisputable right to take part in the settlement of peace with Japan," Gromyko said.

Gromyko insisted it was inadmissible and unlawful to ban the Chinese People's Republic from participating in the conference.

He declared the Soviet government proposed that an invitation be sent to the Central People's Government of China to participate from the very beginning.

"That is why I have asked the conference to take action on the matter right now."

Gromyko talked for six minutes.

Acheson said the matter of business before the conference was adoption of the rules and held that the Soviet proposal was out of order.

Acheson said the rules of order were now under discussion.

There were handclaps through the assembly.

The representatives of Czechoslovakia, Dr. Gertruda Sekanimova, Deputy Foreign Minister, speaking in English, rose and asked first that the motion of the USSR be considered.

Acheson denied the request.

Discover Pilot Survived Crash Search Renewed

EDMONTON, Sept. 5 (CP)—A note pilot Johnny Bourassa left in his crash-landed light plane in the North West Territories last May 23 has revived the RCAF search for him which was called off more than 2½ months ago.

The Peace River, Alta., pilot, about 30, said in the n[illegible] that he was leaving his damag[illegible] ca, on the rock-strew[illegible] shore o[illegible] Wholadaia Lake, to trek through the northern wilderness in hopes of finding civilization.

A USAF aircraft—the one that found two Wisconsin flying fishermen who had been lost for 29 days—sighted the Bellanca plane Friday. It was identified Tuesday by an RCAF pilot.

The note was found inside the plane by an Associated Airways pilot sent to the scene by Bourassa's former employer, Tommy Fox of Edmonton.

A Long Trek

Bourassa said in the note that he intended to walk in a northwesterly direction which he believed would take him to Great Slave Lake, somewhere near Fort Reliance. The distance is about 200 miles by air.

He was unhurt in his plane's ski-landing on the lakeshore May 18, which ended on a big rock, damaging the propeller and undercarriage of the craft. Bourassa took with him rations which he said he could stretch out for three weeks.

He had been on a 200-mile flight from Bathurst Inlet, one of the most northerly tips of the NWT mainland, south to Salmita Mines. But the clock on his instrument panel failed and he misidentified landmark lakes. His gas supply was too low when he discovered the error and he crash-landed some 325 miles southeast of his destination.

Bourassa, who knew the north well, having been rescued from a crash in the same region in 1949 and winning the British Empire Medal for a mail-carrying exploit with horse and dog team, carried a rifle, smoke flares, fishing tackle, maps and a tent.

Chances Good

"I would say he had a very good chance of surviving the 3½-month ordeal in that wilderness," said Mr. Fox. "Johnny knew the north well and how to take care of himself there. Barring ill health he'd make out all right.

The RCAF dispatched a search master to Yellowknife, NWT, and ordered four planes, two of them equipped to land on water, into the renewed search which was to get under way today. Ground search parties were to be organized in Yellowknife and flown into the region.

In the previous search for the bush pilot, twice a DFC winner in the Second World War, 13 RCAF planes covered 160,000 square miles without finding any clues.

Goodfellow Stresses Needs Of Ordinary People At Marmora Fair Dinner

MARMORA, Sept. 5 (ENS) — The need for "ordinary people" for a free hospitalization scheme was stressed here Monday evening by the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Welfare.

Mr. Goodfellow was speaking as guest of honor at the closing of the 1951 Marmora Fair.

He suggested that the provincial and federal governments should co-operate "to the full for the benefit of the people of Ontario."

No Handouts

"People in Ontario feel there should be some free hospitalization scheme," he said. "It is the ordinary people who need such [illegible] said he, is big business, and the people are the government, "for you elect us." It was important that members of parliament should meet their constituents at gatherings such as fairs. It was also good for rural people to meet with urban citizens in discussing matters of mutual welfare.

Mr. Goodfellow was introduced by Elmer Sandercock, MPP, and thanked by Canon J. M. Brownlie.

The banquet for the minister of welfare was sponsored jointly by the Marmora village council, Lake township council, Deloro village council, Marmora District Chamber of Commerce, the Marmora Agricultural Society, and the Marmora Progressive Conservative Association.

Chairman for the meeting was Irwin McCoy, reeve of Marmora and Lake townships. Reeve Vincent Lynch of Marmora village also spoke.

Receipts Doubled

John McAvoy, president of the agricultural society, thanked visitors to the fair for their patronage and said that gate receipts were almost double that of the preceding year.

Warden Harry Coulter brought greetings from Hastings county council to the village and its agricultural society. It was an uphill climb for all fair boards, as he knew from experience, he said. He expressed his pleasure that the village was "on the doorstep of a flourishing period."

General manager of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., R. G. Walsh, thanked the fair board for the "pleasant and interesting" day they had provided. He spoke of his company's progress in recent years.

Best Yet

Reeve Verney Heath of Rawdon township said he had been an exhibitor at Marmora Fair for the past 35 years, and he judged the 1951 fair to be the most successful ever held.

George White, federal MP, spoke, telling of his associations with Mr. Goodfellow. He said other federal members had mentioned to him the good points of the minister's administration in regard to proposed pension changes.

Alex Fraser, president of the Marmora Chamber of Commerce, extended congratulations to the agricultural society.

Many Schools Remain Closed

HALIFAX, Sept. 5 — (CP) — Schools in several Nova Scotia centres failed to open on schedule today because of a ban enforced to check further polio outbreaks.

Provincial Health officials hoped the disease had reached its peak.

Schools remained closed in Halifax city and county, Liverpool, Amherst, Chester, Mahone Bay, Parrsboro, Stewiacke, Truro and Bridgewater.

Admittance to hospital of polio victims dropped below norman here yesterday for the second successive day and officals hoped the cooler weather had slowed its progress.

Some 130 persons are under treatment here. About 50 have been discharged and there have been seven deaths.

Halifax and County banned children from public buildings and other centres have followed suit.

Summer Theatre Run Ends With Pawky, Happy Comedy

By T. J. ALLEN

The castle in "Castle in the Air" is draughtily decrepitly real and heavily set on earth of Aberdenshire; but feminine Marshall Aid comes to its flibberty-suave owner the youngish Earl of Locharme, by whom he gets his castle in the air . . . in Cuba. That is the plot and happy ending of this new play by Alan Melville, having its North American premiere on the Collegiate stage this week.

It's a bright and pawky play, with a good deal of charm. It is English pawk and urbane brilliance—Noel Cowardish — and one wonders how it will transpiant to Peterborough, let alone Broadway to which it is hopeully destined. But the first-night audience Tuesday went away with a pleasant taste in their mouths—as they should.

Grace and Wit

The play has grace and wit; it was expansively staged and deftly presented; and it is the last of the Summer Theatre season. This reviewer was glad to see a hearty, good-sized audience. It is no less than our hard-working Summer Theatre players, management and back-stagers deserve — a good send-off after a very good season and a rousing cheer to bring them back next season. Incidentally, most of them have their own castle in the air—their Cuba—Bermuda, to which they go next Tuesday, for an eight-week session.

There are five players. Cal Whitehead gives his best performance of the season as the man-of-all-work about Locharne castle. His Scotch sounds Scotch—so much so that this ear missed some of it in the large auditorium—and I would not vouch for its being Aberdeenshire. Kate Reid is the "boss" of the castle and is scintillating and vivacious (and where necessary raucous), and eventually gets her heart's desire. Miss Reid has been a real trouper this season and filled a variety of roles with elan.

The English socialist functionary is Peter Mews, played with warmth despite the staged cold and incipient sneezes to which the Earl and castle have condemned him—to the audience's amusement.

Stellar Performances

Betty Leighton gives a commanding performance as the American divorcee in search of ancestors, a castle and a second-summering romance. My guess is that she is the most accomplished actress on the Canadian stage today. Derek Ralston is the Earl of Locharne. He plays with grace, elegant ease and the over-emphasis—the extravagance—the play requires. His pitch and gesture are right for the half. Much of the charm is due to him and the experienced stage-craft which Miss Leighton give.

The last play of the season! Truly, winter sets in. It has been a good season; I think the best yet. Peterborough and its wide theatre district can be properly grateful for what we have had. Let us give Mr. Sadlier and his professional theatre folk, by attandance and applause this week, our heartfelt thanks and a warm invitation to come back next year.

There were some minor first-night flaws; for instance, the curtain rose at 8:28 instead of 8:20 as scheduled.

Constable Rose was formerly stationed in Peterborough, where he worked out of No. 8 district headquarters for about six months. He hails from Fort Erie.—Wm. W. Reid Photo.

Special Notice to Employers AND Those Enlisting in Armed Forces

By The Veterans Benefit Act, 1951, passed at the last session of Parliament, the Government of Canada has extended and made applicable the provisions of the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1946, to all persons enlisting in the Regular Forces of Canada after July 5, 1950, (nineteen fifty) and who serve therein for a term not exceeding three years.

This provision extends also to members of the Special Force who re-engage for service with the Regular Forces, the three-year coverage period beginning with the date of re-engagement.

This provision extends also to members of the Reserve Forces who after July 5, 1950, are called out for service with the Regular Forces and serve with the Regular Forces for a period not exceeding three years.

By an Order in Council passed in 1950 under the Canada Forces Act the provisions of the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1946, were extended to members of the Special Force and members of the Reserve Forces who serve on the strength of the Special Force. The reinstatement provisions of this Order in Council have now been incorporated in the provisions of the Veterans Benefit Act, 1951.

Under the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act a discharged person may claim reinstatement either verbally or in writing, usually within three months of discharge in Canada or four months if discharged overseas. There is provision for extension of this time when through a condition of health the employee cannot return to his employment this soon, but the employer must be notified in three or four months, as the case may be, and a Reinstatement Officer should be consulted.

B. C. McRonald, Chief, London Fire Department "We have installed 'Gasmasters' on the official Chief's car (1950 Pontiac) the Deputy Chief's car (1942 Pontiac) the Emergency car (1946 Ford) and the Maintenance truck (1949 Ford). The improved acceleration is a factor of great value to us where our vehicles have to respond from a cold start to peak performance in a matter of seconds. Improved mileage is another benefit which we find a great advantage as our cars seldom get outside city limits."

L. E. (Ted) Shaw, Lessee, Shell Super Service Station, London: "I am convinced the Vokes 'Gasmaster' is a sensible addition to any carburetor. We have installed about 40 for our customers. All report better starting, smoother operation, and better mileage. The average check for mileage follows this pattern: Fords—from 22 m.p.g. to 25 m.p.g. Plymouths—from 22 m.p.g. to 26 m.p.g. Chevrolets—from 20 m.p.g. to 23 m.p.g. The amazing thing about the 'Gasmaster' is that they give fuel economy even at high speeds. I do not hesitate to recommend them to any of our customers."

O. W. Gilmaster, Maclean's Magazine, Toronto: "I drive a 1939 Packard 120, 8-cylinder sedan that has gone well over 100,000 miles. Before installing a 'Gasmaster', average mileage was 16 to 17 miles on the highway. Since installing, on test runs of 520 miles and 220 miles mileage was increased to 20 m.p.g. Easier starting in cold weather has also been an advantage. I can recommend your product without qualification."

Our Weekend Magazine

On Saturday, with their regular edition of The Examiner, our readers will get Weekend, a picture magazine, and each week thereafter our Saturday paper will include this large supplement comic... valued addition to the Saturday Examiner. Next Saturday's Weekend alone, not counting the usual number of Saturday pages, will consist of 72 pages.

* * *

The Weekend Examiner is making Canadian publishing history. The magazine is a new venture in the Canadian daily newspaper orbit. It is Volume 1, Number 1—the very first issue of Weekend—which our readers will receive next Saturday. It is made possible by the enterprise of several daily newspaper publishers across Canada, who see in it an additional opportunity to serve their readers and extend the field of the daily newspaper. The Kingston Whig-Standard and The Peterborough Examiner are co-operating in this venture to bring Weekend magazine to East-Central Ontario. Therefore Weekend in this area will bear the imprint of these two newspapers. Selected other newspapers from the Maritimes to British Columbia are assisting to give the new magazine national coverage.

* * *

In the past, and with a few notable exceptions, "Sunday" papers and periodic magazines in Canada have hardly merited being called Canadian. Their stories, photographs and even articles have been largely American. The Weekend Examiner will have this special virtue—its articles, photographs and even short stories are Canadian. Written and edited by and for Canadians, and—apart from its international comics section—entirely printed and published in Canada, it will survey the Canadian scene in words, pictures and caricatures, and the world scene from a Canadian point of view. It is not a canned magazine imported from across the border in manuscript, mats or pulp, ready to dump on the Canadian market.

* * *

In addition to the extra service, interest and entertainment which the Weekend Examiner will provide our readers, it is our expectation that Weekend will assist Canadian writers and photographers by giving them a new medium of national scope for their work and talents. In the past many able Canadian commentators and creative writers have been starved for space, and either emigrated to the U.S.A. or turned to other work, because Canadian outlets for their talents were too few, too restrictive or too meagre. With its wide and large circulation Weekend will provide a new avenue, a Trans-Canada highway of ideas, information and entertainment. The Examiner is pleased to provide this Eastern Ontario link, and to offer Weekend to its readers every Saturday.

The Rape Of More Than Nine

In order to forestall any sense of public rape at the cutting down of trees behind the new City Hall, last July a committee of the Council announced before the axe fell that only nine trees were to go and these would be replaced by new young ones. We ourself hastened up to the city hall plot to survey the scene before the ravishment began and counted about fifteen trees. We were thus able to assure arboricultural readers that some trees would remain: a nucleus of a new phalanx.

But alas! when men get into the swing they cannot resist making a clean sweep. Every blessed tree beside and behind the new building has been razed, root and branch. The ground is now as bare and level as the Sahara. Fifteen or more trees were felled, not nine. We feel sure that the Council, Parks Department, architects or whoever else was responsible, know in their wisdom what they are doing, and that all is for the good and beauty of Peterborough. Perhaps a mass tree-planting ceremony is planned and every member of Council, the Board of Education, the Sanitation Department and Tax Collector's office is individually to plant his own tree; perhaps that is why a clean sweep was made of the flourishing old trees—to provide room.

But we see a little moral in this tale of official rape: sanction officialdom to take an inch and it will take an ell. It's the overweening urge of reformers, that's what it is; a zealot's itch rather than an axeman's surplus muscle. Old trees around our new City Hall! Not if they can prevent it; everything's going to be nice and orderly, in an even line—and new.

Canada's Obligation To Jamaica

Jamaica has suffered grievously from hurricane damage and thousands of its people are in immediate need of food and shelter. The British Government is providing three-quarters of a million dollars to assist the homeless and injured in the Crown Colony. Private benevolence in Britain is being given expression through a Fund for Jamaican relief. People and organizations in other countries are also assisting. Canada has a special duty apart from ordinary obligations of men to suffering humanity. Canada is the senior overseas Dominion; Jamaica is closer to Canada than to any other Dominion. Especially during the last dozen years Canada has had intimate economic, financial and cultural ties with Jamaica and has in fact be- ...fund for Jamaican ...the story and ill- up in Montreal under the chairmanship of the president of the Royal Bank, and the Canadian Red Cross has organized relief work. Individual contributions to either will assist in the humanitarian, friendly help Jamaica sorely needs now.

Busy Foreign Ministers

With this month a round of conferences begins which will keep the Foreign Ministers of most countries busy all fall. First is the Japanese Treaty conference which began yesterday in San Francisco. As originally scheduled, this was to have taken only three or four days but now that Russia has entered the scene its protraction may interfere with the next major conference of Foreign Ministers. This has been set in Ottawa, to begin September 15th. It is the first full-dress session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Another meeting of the Council is to be held in Rome in October. That will hardly be over before the General Assembly of United Nations convenes in Paris in early November. All these conferences require the presence of the world's leading statesmen and heads of national foreign offices.

The San Francisco Conference is not a U.N. or N.A.T.O. affair. It is a conference called by the United States and Great Britain as victors over Japan. All delegates have been invited by these two Powers. The two N.A.T.O. Council meetings are not U.N. matters, either, and, unlike the San Francisco meeting, included Western powers only—although Greece and Turkey are expected to be invited and their adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is anticipated.

Why are two Council sessions being held—the one in Ottawa, the other in Rome? The chief purpose seems to be to show that the North Atlantic Treaty is in fact a bridge across the Atlantic. Both the North American and the European bases of it are emphasized by holding these first Council meetings in the northern capital of Ottawa and the southern European capital of Rome. Russia which rightly sees N.A.T.O. as a formidable bulwark against Communist expansion would undoubtedly like to prolong the San Francisco conference so that it would intrude on the Ottawa conference.

The next Assembly of U.N. beginning in November will bring the East-West conflict to a head. It is the only one of the four Conferences to which all countries behind the Iron Curtain have a rightful entry; it is the only platform on which East and West can argue their cases and have them heard by the other side. San Francisco will be a prelude for Russian thunder; her tone and attitude there will give the Ottawa N.A.T.O. conference backstage rumbles, and set the key for the Eastern chorus at Paris in November.

The entire world picture should be more clearly defined and the issues between East and West definitive as a result of these four major gatherings of foreign ministers. Such an important series in so short a time will clear the air.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A zoologist says that an ape is more like a man than a monkey. It is just possible that apes may resent this aspersion.

Tourists, says a cynic, are people who motor two thousand miles in order to take pictures of themselves standing by the car.

Oddly enough it is quite possible to use polished language in telling the unvarnished truth. Indeed, it may even be used to give a fellow a thorough shellacking.

If St. Laurent Retires

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
In The Ottawa Citizen

THIS reporter, who perhaps deserved a better fate, has spent most of his life knocking about the dark fringes of Canadian politics. He has seen all the politicians of our time in action and known a good many of them intimately. But he has never seen a politician like Louis St. Laurent. Perhaps because Mr. St. Laurent, supremely successful in politics, has never been a politician at all.

If, then, Mr. St. Laurent is bent on early retirement one can hardly say that an era of Canadian politics is closing. Something much larger is coming to an end — a personal achievement, the story and il- Canadian, complete, rounded and dis... out of our own soil, that man is Louis St. Laurent. This single fact explains a career without plan, without precedent, almost, you might say, without effort. Where his predecessors needed a lifetime of toil, scheming and manoeuvre, St. Laurent has mastered Canada in three years simply because Canadians knew instinctively and instantaneously that he belonged to them.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE cannot guess how history will rate this man. Pretty high, no doubt. To persuade Quebec to accept conscription in wartime, to fight and defeat isolationism by his own fireside, to propose the North Atlantic Treaty and, through all this, to give Canada an internal unity it had never known before—these were surely great works, and all done almost overnight by a man who had come to Ottawa for a short shift of wartime duty. But among Canadians of this generation St. Laurent will not be remembered as the statesman. He will be remembered as the man.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEREIN lies the difference between him and Mackenzie King, his discoverer and mentor. King ruled by an unequalled talent for politics. The nation never liked him much but it knew he was the best man for the job. St. Laurent, you might almost say, had no talent for politics in the partisan sense, certainly no taste for it, but became our most successful politician mainly because the nation saw him as a man above politics. Essentially St. Laurent's extraordinary career has been built on that paradox.

We need not expect to see it repeated by anyone. Doubtless there will be great successors to St. Laurent, of one party or another. There can never be, after he has left, the same sort of government again.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVERY Prime Minister, if he is worth his salt, makes his own climate. A few Canadians can still remember the genial, laughing climate of Sir John A. Many more can remember the knightly grandeur of Laurier and the solid Scottish granite of Borden. All of us have lived through the long temperate zone of King. In the same fashion St. Laurent created his own atmosphere in cabinet and country.

It is, above all, a pragmatic, practical, candid and Canadian atmosphere, a process of trial and error, a continual experiment, a typically Canadian refusal to be bound by any precedent, a determination to seek the method which will work, however illogically.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL this was possible and natural for St. Laurent because he came to politics fresh, with no preconceived notions, no personal enmities, no old mistakes to cover up, no record to defend.

King (the least typical Canadian of his time) governed by sheer intuition, for in the secret and deeper side of his nature he was a mystic.

St. Laurent also has governed by his own intuitions—no one ever did anything of importance otherwise—but they have been intuitions entirely different from those of King.

Looking back we can see already that King's intuitions were all of political forces, historical processes and other still more obscure abstractions, which he laboriously concealed by his outward works.

✧ ✧ ✧

ST. LAURENT'S intimations all come out of the ordinary stuff of daily life in Canada, as his ancestors have lived it here for more than 300 years.

King, in every cell of his being, was a product of history, saw himself as such and built his own stone ruins at Kingsmere to celebrate that fact forever.

St. Laurent had no similar intimations of political immortality, was content to do the day's job and let history take care of itself. Yet in ignoring it he has made history.

He has also made mistakes, some grievous ones, which King might have avoided out of a larger knowledge of history or, at worst, would have better concealed and rationalized. It is part of St. Laurent's earthly nature that he made his mistakes openly and has not persuaded himself, as King could always do, that they were something else or, at all events, unavoidable.

✧ ✧ ✧

KING always thought he knew where he and events were going, however tortuous the trail might be. In this respect he belonged to the Victorian generation with its faith in inevitable progress and ineluctable principles. St. Laurent is especially a child of this era in his frank admission that neither he nor anyone else can know where anything is going or where the road ends. His whole method has been to do the best possible, never expecting too much.

That method, the method of all Canadians, has made this country, for better or worse. It has made St. Laurent in three years of office a large and important figure on our record but quite unconscious of his dimensions.

A Farewell To Trams

(Edmonton Journal)

We don't know whether the Edmonton Transportation System plans anything special in the way of a ceremony or a celebration to mark the passing of the last rumbling old street-car. To many, it would be a fitting occasion to say a few parting words—true, they might not be complimentary, but they certainly would be heartfelt.

PROUD LANDLORD

A proud father had given his small daughter a splendidly equipped doll's house for her birthday. On his return after a week's absence he asked her how she liked it.

"It's very nice, Daddy," she said.

"But where is it?" he inquired, not seeing it anywhere about the house.

"Oh, I've rented it furnished to cousin Mary for ten cents a week," came the reply.

Exclusive Interview With Tito

Following his conversations with President Truman's personal representative, Mr. Harriman, Marshal Tito last week made an important statement of policy in an exclusive interview with the Special Correspondent of The London Observer and The Peterborough Examiner, Mr. Lajos Lederer, at his hunting lodge at Brdo, in the Slovenian mountains.

Marshal Tito stated that, in his opinion, a danger of war exists. Yugoslavia, while not intending to join the North Atlantic Treaty, will consider any aggression in Europe as endangering herself. She may consider defence co-operation with Greece and Turkey even before aggression takes place.

Marshal Tito declared that the "prime condition" of a peace settlement is the renunciation by the Soviet Union of all pretences to the right of interference in the internal affairs of other countries, either directly or indirectly."

A peace settlement should be based on the United Nations, not on a Five-Power agreement arrived at over the heads of small nations whose interests were affected.

The Marshal expressed the opinion that, while the Stalinist regime had "in the main" succeeded in consolidating itself in the Soviet Union, it was encountering increasing difficulties in Eastern Europe, and that, outside Yugoslavia, blind subordinates to Moscow were destroying the influence of East European Communist Governments and Parties with their own peoples.

THE MISTAKES OF RUSSIA

From LAJOS LEDERER

Britain and others, without compromising their independence?

Naturally I think that this is possible, and that is one of the principles for which we are fighting; that complete equality is necessary in the co-operation between great and small countries.

In your opinion, what is the fundamental difference between co-operation with the Western Powers on the one hand and with the Soviet Union on the other?

The fundamental difference consists of the fact that in the case of Yugoslavia the Soviet leaders broke off co-operation because they wished to place us in a subordinate and unequal position; in a word, because they wished to exploit us.

Co-operation with the Western Powers after the break with the Soviet Union went along quite different lines. As a small country, we receive aid with no strings attached either as regards the giving of this aid or co-operation in general.

The Soviet Union demanded complete subordination from us, including subordination to her foreign policy. She required us to have no foreign policy of our own. The West made no such demands.

Do you think that the prestige of the Soviet Union in Eastern and South-East Europe has diminished? If so, how did this come about?

The prestige of the Soviet Union has, during the last few years, diminished not only in the Eastern countries but in the world as a whole as a result just of her policy towards Yugoslavia, because here her deeds and her words were so completely out of step that she unmasked herself.

What do you think of the extent to which your example has already caused national liberation movements in other South-East European countries and what do you think of the present-day strength and prospects of these movements?

There can be no doubt that our clash with the Soviet Union, the bankruptcy of their expectations that Yugoslavia would sell herself to the Western capitalistic countries, and of other prophecies in their propaganda directed against us, our consistency in internal and foreign policy—in the internal development of Socialism and, externally, in a firm stand on principle in all questions — there can, I repeat, be no doubt that all this has led to a tremendous enhancement of Yugoslavia's reputation throughout the world, including, of course, the Eastern countries. As a result of this the Russians are having increasing difficulties in these countries because the methods they apply there are absolutely alien to those countries, and the nations concerned are increasingly dissatisfied. The sympathy enjoyed by the Soviet Union has fallen off in Europe and in the world, and as a result of this those Communist parties under the influence of the Soviet Union and the Cominform suffer.

Do you think that national liberation and independence in these countries can be attained from inside the ruling Communist parties themselves, or would it be munist and non-Communist patriots? If so, how could this be attained?

I consider that by freeing itself from the imposition of leadership by Moscow and by a more independent policy each party could achieve a certain degree of success in every country individually. Blind subordination to Moscow, or rather to the supreme Cominform leadership in Moscow, harms working-class movements in their development and in the influence they can exert on the people. They lose their influence because they are regarded as agents of Moscow.

Do you consider that any threats directed at Greece and Turkey also constitute threats to your country, and do you envisage the possibility of some agreement between Yugoslavia and these two countries with the aim of co-ordinating their defence policy?

I have already said several times that every aggression directed against what country in Europe constitutes a danger to Yugoslavia and that consequently in the case of aggression against these countries Yugoslavia herself would be endangered. As regards closer co-operation in defensive preparations, we have had no negotiations with either of these countries. As far as I know, they intend to join the Atlantic Pact. I consider that they are quite right to take whatever steps they consider necessary for their security. This differs from our stand, because we are taking different steps. We are not joining the Atlantic Pact. But should there be any aggression—and possibly even before it takes place—the question of the form of collaboration between these countries and our own in the interests of their and our own security will naturally arise.

Do you think that there is a possibility of war between the Soviet Union and the West? Do you think that the present rearmament policy of the Western Powers increases or diminishes the possibility of such a war?

The possibility of war, of course, exists. That is why people are rearming. I do not consider that the rearmament of the Western Powers increases the danger of war as long as this rearmament is only aimed at the attainment of a balance of forces, that is to say, at the preservation of peace.

Under what conditions, in your opinion, could an intelligent solution of the problems attendant on the relations between the Soviet Union and the Western Powers be attained?

The most important and prime condition is that the Soviet Union renounce all pretensions to a right of interference in the internal affairs of other countries, either directly or indirectly. The second condition is that the Soviet Union and other countries get round the conference table, settle all outstanding matters with the greatest possible perseverance, desisting in so doing from imposing their will on other nations.

What would be the nature of such a general understanding?

It would solve such concrete problems as those of Austria, Germany, etc., including the question of disarmament and all other questions facing the United Nations.

ment between the Great Powers, having a direct bearing on the Balkans?

She would not welcome any agreement regarding the Balkans in general and Yugoslavia in particular which is arrived at without the participation of the small nations concerned. It is a Russian argument that the five Great Powers should arrive at an agreement among themselves. But this would only be at the expense of the small nations. It would mean that agreements are made outside the United Nations. We consider that agreements should only be made within them, either by the United Nations as such or by some body set up for the purpose by the United Nations. The United Nations is the only organization on which firm and lasting peace settlements can be based.

Do you know what goes on in the Politburo of the Soviet Communist Party?

I do not know what goes on at present; I can only make assumptions on the basis of what I do know of what has gone on in the past.

What do you think is Stalin's position in the Politburo to-day?

His position is dominant both as regards Russia and as regards the Cominform Communist Parties ouside Russia.

Have the Russian generals any influence on the Politburo and on Soviet foreign policy?

They do have a certain influence because in Russia the Politburo does not do everything off its own bat but sounds the feelings of the generals and, particularly, of the higher bureaucracy. But the Politburo distinguishes itself from all other directing bodies throughout the world by the fact that it is responsible only to itself for its decisions. And here I emphasize again that Stalin has the biggest say.

Why did Vyshinsky replace Molotov in March, 1949? Is Molotov still a strong figure in the Politburo?

I cannot answer this question with complete certainty, but knowing Molotov's part in the past and also recently, I do not think that he was replaced because he was a failure but because Stalin is ageing and it was necessary for Molotov, who has been a constant close colleague of Stalin's, to acquaint himself with various matters of State beyond the field of foreign affairs and consult with Stalin more closely on them.

Consequently Molotov is probably to-day the most important figure, apart from Stalin, in the Politburo, particularly in foreign affairs.

Has Stalinism succeeded in consolidating itself in Russia?

Why should it not succeed? After all, it has behind it a terrifying bureaucratic machine and constant propaganda. But it would be wrong to speak of complete consolidation because there are various elements of discontent, and things are not all they should be. There are a great many people in Russia who are opposed to the regime, but in the main consolidation has been achieved.—Copyright.

Vanishing Vision of Housing

(Ottawa Journal)

According to the Bureau of Statistics, there was a drop of nine per cent. in the number of housing units started in the first six months of this year. In June, in fact, the drop was 21 per cent.; 9,514 units started as against 12,065 in June of last year.

No mystery about this. The explanation, simply, is that we are pricing ourselves out of houses; have come to the point where homes are so costly that people of moderate earnings can neither build nor buy them.

Canada's population is increasing; we will take in 150,000 immigrants this year; more marriages create need for more homes. Yet instead of building more houses we are falling behind in building; this despite the fact that not at any time since the war did we put up a sufficient number of homes to meet the country's need.

Continuation of this condition could mean one of the most disastrous consequences of unchecked inflation.

The strange desire of the British to paddle at least once a year.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him. But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose and stood forth.

Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing: Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other. (Luke 6: 6-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15: 30, 31.)

Martin Defends Civil Defence Preparations

OTTAWA Sept. 5 (CP). — Health Minister Martin, possibly replying to recent criticism of Canada's civil defence program, said Tuesday that the program is being built on a firm and steady foundation.

Mr. Martin, who has jurisdiction over federal civil defence matters, spoke at the reopening of civil defence training courses at nearby Connaught ranges.

He made no direct reference to recent statements of Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator, who said that Canada should either speed a civil defence program for the country or kill it completely.

"There is no point in publishing a book telling Canadians to go to shelters in case of a raid when actually no shelters are being built," said Gen. Worthington in a statement last Wednesday.

Amplifies Statement

Later, the general issued an amplifying statement and said he was not referring to what the federal government has done. The government, he added, was doing all it could, but the public had to be aroused behind civil defence.

Mr. Martin listed some of the things which the federal government has done. Then he said:

"The civil defence co-ordinator (Gen. Worthington) now is touring the whole of Canada to discuss the next phase of development of civil defence with provincial leaders. Based on his reports and recommendations, the next step can be taken."

The federal government, said Mr. Martin, is well on its way to fulfilling its objective of training 400 people in civil defence by the end of the current fiscal year.

Courses have been given to instructors and doctors. Key men have been trained in defence against atomic, biological and chemical warfare. Provincial and municipal directors have been sent to the civil defence staff college in Washington in order to ensure the fullest co-operation and understanding between the two countries.

The federal government has offered to assist the provinces and municipalities with the purchase of some equipment.

May Be Good Guess

FREDERICTON, Sept. 5 (CP)—Liberal Premier J. B. McNair said Tuesday that newspaper speculation of a provincial election late next spring "could be a good guess." He said, however, that it was "pure conjecture." Under law, the present legislature has until July, 1953, to run.

Warsaw WA Plan Anniversary Meal

WARSAW, Sept. 5 (ENS)—The August meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school room with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. George Weller, presided for the meeting.

Mrs. Weller and Mrs. Digweed were appointed as members of the official board from the WA. Miss Clara McCracken had charge of the program. Miss Lulu Payne sang a solo.

Anniversary services are to be held on Oct. 14, and it was decided to hold a turkey dinner on the following Wednesday. Plans were discussed and the following committees appointed: Canvassing committee, Mrs. Digweed and Mrs. Sherwood Payne; the program to be given by the Warsaw Young People, who are practising a play; Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Digweed and Mrs. Sherwood Payne to purchase fowl; door committee; Gordon Payne and Allan Edwards; top of stairs, George Dyson; foot of stairs, Clarence Payne; kitchen door, Bert Ray; kitchen committee, Mrs. A. Darling, Mrs. N. Payne, Mrs. Clysdale, Mrs. Weller and Mrs. Allan Payne; tea, Mr. and Mrs. Rol Payne; table conveners, 1 Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. A. Edwards, 2 Mrs. Harold Payne and Miss Clara McCracken, 3 Mrs. Gordon Payne and Mrs. Wm. Darling, 4 Mrs. Thomas Russell, Mrs. Gordon Sharpe and Mrs. Ed. Bell; Mr. Bell and Alan McCracken were appointed to help the ladies in the kitchen.

The menu and price is to be the same as last year, if possible.

Mrs. A. Edwards gave a reading and Mrs. Harold Payne conducted a contest on animals.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Clysdale, Mrs. T. Russell and Mrs. Hilliard Ray.

Robbery Charge

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP). — Joseph Levy, 28, was arrested on Monday night for Montreal police on a charge of robbery with violence. Levy, along with Harry (Swabby) Swartz, alleged "Mr. Fix-it" in Ontario's probe of fixed horse races, already faces charges of conspiracy, assault and intent to rob the Skinner plant at Oshawa, last April. He was free on $10,000 bail awaiting the fall assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Wrecks Restaurant

LINCOLN, Lincoln, England, Sept. 5. (Reuters)—A mouse effectively demolished a restaurant Tuesday. It had chewed a hole in a rubber gas hose, causing a leak. A match struck by the proprietor touched off an explosion which ripped up the floor and brought the crockery shelves crashing down.

LONDON, Sept. 5. (Reuters) — Diamond rush has started in British Guiana following discovery of 500 carats of perfect gems in the Cuyuni River district, a report from Georgetown said today.

Police Drag Lake For Scaler's Body

GOGAMA, Ont., Sept. 5 (CP) Provincial Police Tuesday renewed dragging operations on lonely Sinclair Lake, 20 miles north of this bushland town for the body of Wilfred Gervais Jr., 22, a Deparement of Lands and Forests scaler and the son of Gogama's justice of the peace.

Gervais disappeared last Tuesday after he stopped on an island in the lake while he was crossing it to a camp of the Feldman Timber Company.

Timber company employees found his water-logged canoe dragging up on the shore of the island.

Referendum Chance To Crush Red Danger

MELBOURNE, Sept. 5 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Robert Menzies told Australians Tuesday a forthcoming referendum on outlawing the Communist party is their "one great chance to deal with Australia's most dangerous internal foe."

He broadcast a speech opening the campaign for a "yes" vote in the referendum, to be held Sept. 22.

If a majority agrees, the government will change the constitution to provide for dissolution of the Communist party and remove declared Communists from public service and executive positions in key industries.

2 New Squadrons Of Fighters Built Up By RCAF

OTTAWA, Sept. 5—(CP)—The RCAF announced Tuesday the formation of two new regular fighter squadrons in the drive to build up a strong fighter air force as the keystone of Canadian defence and Canada's contribution to European defence.

For security reasons, the announcement didn't say how many regular fighter squadrons there are now. The latest figure mentioned publicly was four. The RCAF has clamped down on such figures because they could help Russia.

One of the new squadrons will be stationed at Bagotville, Que., in the Saguenay country north of Quebec City, and is being formed already. The other will come into being [illegible] this month and will be the second stationed there.

The Bagotville Squadron, No. 413, will first fly British-type Vampires and later switch to long-range, all-weather CF 100 Canuck jet fighters made in Canada.

Officer Commanding

Its commanding officer is Sqdn. Ldr. Douglas Lindsay, 29, Arnprior and Edmonton, who shot down six enemy aircraft in the last war.

The Uplands squadron—second to be posted there—will be named No. 439 and will fly F86E Sabres, the day-fighting jets being built at Montreal. Its commanding officer wil be Sqdn. LLdr. G. D. Bricker, 30, of Grenfell, Sask., another wartime Spitfire pilot.

Other regular squadrons are stationed in England, at Montreal and Uplands.

No. 418 Squadron perpetuates a unit which served as a flying boat squadron and later a bomber squadron overseas in wartime and then was revived as a photo squadron after the war and disbanded last year.

It was a member of that squadron—Sqdn. Ldr., now Group Capt. L. J. Birchall — who spotted a Japanese fleet heading for Ceylon in 1942 and was shot down after flashing the vital warning.

No. 439 was the City of Westmount Squadron which was formed in 1944 in England and fought over Europe as a fighter-bomber unit.

3 More Casualties

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP). — Three more persons Tuesday were unofficially listed as victims of Saturday's Pelican fishing boat disaster off Montauk Point — bringing the probable death toll to 40. Only 19 bodies have been recovered.

Four-Day Week Starts In Ford Plant

WINDSOR, Sept. 5 (CP).—The four-day week forced by lagging auto sales and increased credit restrictions will go into effect next week at the sprawling plants of the Ford Motor Company of Canada here.

An official spokesman said that the 2,000-man layoff slated for August 31 had actually resulted in termination of employment of 1,700. Others, he said, had resigned to go to other jobs rather than wait for the work stoppage order. The remainder had been spared by shifting of personnel to other departments.

He said no further layoff was in prospect unless the situation changed radically for the worse.

Civil Defence Head

ALBANY, NY, Sept. 5 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey appointed Tuesday Lt.-Gen. Clarence R. Huebner, former commanding general of the United States Army in Europe, as State director of civil defence. Huebner succeeds Col. Lawrence Wilkinson in the $17,500-a-year post effective Sept. 15. Wilkinson is resigning to return to private business.

Four-Day Conference

SASKATOON, Sept. 5 (CP). — Officials of major oil companies and of governmental departments in charge of mines in 10 provinces begin a four-day conference today. Between 100 and 120 persons are expected. Host is Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank of Saskatchewan.

Defence is your duty, too!

The most important job in Canada today is defence. And defence is not the responsibility of just a few. It is a duty which every young and able man in Canada must accept — if we want to make sure we stay free.

You as a free Canadian citizen must be prepared to meet any challenge to your freedom. The least you can do in these uncertain days is to serve part time as a Citizen-Soldier in the Canadian Army Reserve Force.

You devote one or two evenings a week to training in the arts and skills of the modern soldier. In addition there are the occasional week-end exercises and two weeks of summer camp.

The Reserve Force soldier receives the same uniforms and equipment as used in the Active Force. He is paid Active Force rates of pay for all training periods.

There are Reserve Force units in towns and cities across Canada. There is one in your district. Visit it right away. Find out how you can serve Canada in the Reserve Force.

Defence is every Canadian's duty. It is your duty, too!

Join the RESERVE FORCE now!

Mimico Gets Second Over Juniors

MIMICO, Sept. 5—Defeating the Young Petes 10-5 here last night, Mimico took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior "A" lacross finals. The third game is in Peterborough on Saturday night.

It was 3-2 for the homesters in the first quarter, tied at 4-4 at the half, and Mimico took a 7-5 lead into the fourth. They had an edge on play in all but the second quarter. Peterborough drew six of the eight penalties, and considered the refereeing quite inconsistent. Goalie Nicholls turned in a good effort, despite the count, for Lou Vitarelli's team, while Jim Heffernan and Lou Nickel toiled hard throughout in the losing cause.

each going to Grant Burns, Jim Heffernan and Rock Batley. An assist each went to Burns and Bev Groves. The latter drew two penalties, as one each went to Carl Brioux, Gary Robinson, Steve Morrissey and Batley. The winners were paced by Millison with three tallies, one each being notched by Lubbock, Burgar, Meeke, Kelly, Hart, Sandford and Riley. McIntyre aided on three, Meeke and Burgar two each, and McNeill and Sandford one apiece. Their penalties were given to McNeill and Kelly. Teams:

Peterborough: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Groves, Nickel; centre, Powell; wings, Brioux, G. Robinson; rover, B. Robinson; alternates, Burns, Morrissey, Heffernan, Batley, Farley, Fitzgerald, O'Reilly.

Mimico: Goal, Tonichisher; defence, McNeill, Lubbock; centre, Millison; wings, Burgar, Hodson; rover, McIntyre; alternates, Rock, Meeke, Kelly, McLinn, Hart, Sandford, Riley, Mitchell.

Referees, Milne and Davidson of Mimico.

$5,075 Prize Money Not Much Good

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP). — Jerry Kerschner of Toronto and Columbus, Ohio, who won $5,075 prize money in the Canadian National Exhibition's world championship marathon swim, hasn't much more than newspaper clippings to show for it.

He won $5,000 for first place and $75 in lap money. From this he paid his father $2,500 which he had borrowed as expense money. The government took another $500 as income tax and a boat and crew for the race and for pre-race training cost him $800.

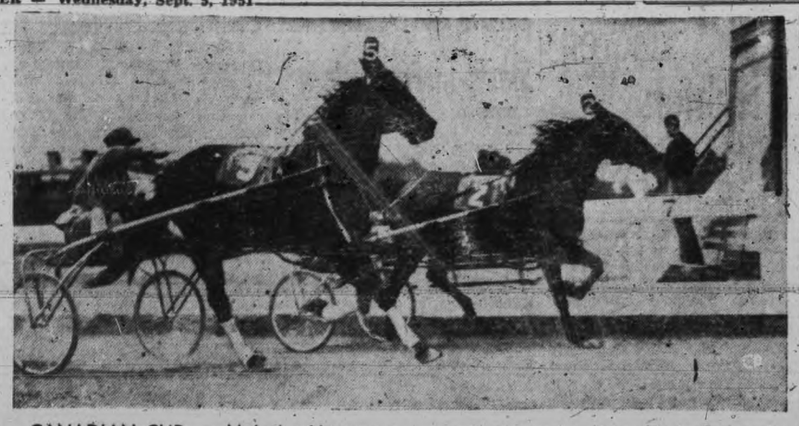
He kept a promise to the children in his neighborhood to pay them $10 each if he won the race and the whole account was topped off with room and board and incidental expenses.

Rays Move Ahead

Raybestos rubbed out Woollens 13-1 at Quaker Park last night to advance into the Industrial Fastball League semi-finals, opening against Mutuals tomorrow night at Quaker. Rays scored three runs in the second, one each in the fourth and sixth, six in the seventh and two more next time up, banging out 20 safe blows. Woollens were held to one run in the fourth on seven-hit hurling by Nichols, neither side kicking any. Teams:

Woollens: Welchorek 3b, Geonard 1b, McMillan rf, Nokes c, E. Leonard 2b, Hillier lf, Anderson ss, Manbeck cf, Coughlin p, Dorris p, Brooks p.

Hays: Crampton cf, E. Maudsley 1b, Batley ss, Halliday 2b, L. Maudsley lf, Crary 3b, Pryde rf, Greenlaw c, Nichols p.



CANADIAN CUP — Malcolm Hanover and Dr. Stanton split first money of $7,000 in the Canadian Cup pace stake at Toronto's Thorncliffe racetrack. Dr. Stanton, near rail, driven by owner Lindy Fraser, is shown winning the second heat in track-record time of 2:12 3/5 seconds for the 1 1/16-mile course.

2 More Jockeys Banished From Tracks

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP)—Two more apprentice jockeys have been banished for life from Ontario racetracks by the Ontario Racing Commission, which is continuing its inquiry into race fixing.

Robert Atkin, of Windsor, and Howard Hartley, of Toronto, were given the suspensions for accepting a bribe to pull thoroughbreds during the race meeting in Fort Erie in July.

About the same time as the Racing Commission handed down the suspensions, Mrs. Ann Swartz, the mysterious "Lady In Black" who backed a winner in one of the races the commission says were fixed, was questioned for two hours before the Foreign Exchange Control Board. She may face further questioning later.

Mrs. Swartz, whose husband is awaiting trial on a charge of conspiring to defraud the public through race-fixing, was asked to explain to the commission how she happened to have $1,500 in United States currency to bet on a race. If a Canadian has more than $100 in US funds, he must report it to the board.

Holds $8,000

The woman wagered $1,500 on North Drive, winner of a race on which the Racing Commission has made rulings against several jockeys and against one trainer, the owner of the beaten favorite Hemjohn. The board is holding $8,000 in US money, winnings from the bet placed by Mrs. Swartz.

The latest jockey suspensions were handed down after the racing investigation, in which sessions were held last week in Niagara Falls, swung back to Toronto.

The suspensions brought to eight the number of riders ruled off for life. Three of the eight are apprentices. Other jockeys given life suspensions were Robert Keane, Robert Wankmueller, George Thompson, Gordon Cox, Phil Marchese and Robert Marchant.

Wankmueller and Marchese are free on bail on charges of conspiring and Cox and Thompson are out on bail on perjury charges.

Apprentice John Bromby and Jockey Charlie Bright are under indefinite suspension while the commission continues study of their cases.

The Racing Commission will meet again today.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The team to represent Peterborough in the Ontario intermediate soccer cup competitions will be the winner of the match between UEW and O'Halloran's tonight at six in King Edward Park. The victor goes against the representative of the Simcoe County district in the first cup round, a home-and-home series with goals to count. Soccer season is rapidly drawing toward a close here. The UEW squad is favored in this match after a successful season in the Eastern Ontario League, but Art O'Halloran's team could pull an upset. Public school soccer takes over in the autumn for a whirl.

Bowlers have commenced action already on the indoor alleys as a long season gets underway. Some loops are just in process of reorganization, one being the lasses' city league which has an open meeting at 7.30 p.m. in Duffus' next Monday. Election, entries, etc. Men's Motor League is getting set, also, to play at 9.30 each Tuesday night at Playfair. Second year for it and 'tis expected a dozen teams of garage employees will be hitting the maples. Entry fee is refunded at the end of the season. Those interested can phone Ron Balaam at 4754. Yeah, there'll be the roar of balls and crash of pins heard regularly from now until late next spring.

Woollens Getting Hot?

A girls' softball playoff this e'en in the Bowl, weather being right. It's the first game of the second round PWSU junior playdowns, a best-of-three affair, between the local Woollens and either East Toronto or Lakeshores. Hadn't heard which at this writing. Woollens erased Kingston handily in the first round, and the junior damsels deserve fan support the rest of the rocky road. Lineup last game was: J. McIlwain, 2b; R. McInroy, cf; J. Walling, 3b; C. Ferguson, rf; D. Dunk, ss; D. Smith, c; S. Harris, p; R. Naylor, 1b; M. Cavanaugh, lf; and C. Reynolds. A good bunch of hustling young softballers on the prowl for a provincial championship. No further word on the Westclox protest against Agincourt in their PWSU intermediate series.

Considerable similarity in the exhibition softball tilt put on by Kiwanis Club here last night and the one last year betwixt the touring King and His Court and the Peterborough All-Stars. Both ended in low-scoring ties and both drew huge crowds. Very much the same interesting program, too. King Eddie Feigner certainly has perfected his trick pitching prowess, and is becoming a better showman all the time. He ought to, at that, as he is performing practically nightly here, there and everywhere. But local pitching by Doris, Eakins and Gordon also held the Court down well last p.m., also, not to mention some good fielding. Thus the 1-1 tie. Kiwanis haven't announced how large the crowd was yet, but it was another huge one.

Just Not Interested

There was a meeting of the Viaduct Baseball League executive last night to reconsider loop suspensions of Oshawa and the Petes, but Peterborough sent no representatives. Just weren't interested. Len Symonds, club secretary, said this morning: "We're all through for this season. Not interested in any Viaduct League playoffs, nor in entering OBA senior 'B' playdowns. Too costly. After our poor showing against Oshawa in that series, it's time to hang them up for this year." We suppose he is right. Meantime, Oshawa Merchants go in against Brantford of the Intercounty League in OBA senior "A" playdowns, and we wish the Merchants luck.

Mimico Mounties knocked out Hamilton Tigers in four games, taking 'em 10-3 last night, to enter Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals against the local Timbermen. Best-of-seven series opens here at 8.45 Friday night, going to Mimico next eve and back here Monday. A stiff series, the winner to open Mann Cup finals in British Columbia on Sept. 24. Any rained-out game goes the next night, and tied tilts must be played to a finish.' So, folks, it's Mimico vs. Petes in the blue chips game and the line forms on the left! Meantime, Mimico juniors downed our lads 10-5 last p.m. to lead their best-of-five series two straight games. Locals have to get in there and take the game Saturday night at Miller Bowl, or they've had it.

Havelock Victors

HAVELOCK, Sept. 5 (ENS) — Havelock Softball team defeated the Douro girls by a score of 29 to 10. The game was a sports feature at the annual Catholic Field Day. The award for the winning team was 10 dollars or a turkey dinner and the girls chose the latter.

While all the players gave a good performance, Virginia Ellis was the star player for the local team by hitting two home runs. Jack Adams of Havelock was umpire.

All-Stars Draw With Court In Neat Game

The King and His Court stopped off on his royal softball tour here for two hours last night and played a 1-1 tie with the local All-Stars. Proceeds from the huge crowd in Riverside Park—which provided more space than the Bowl—go to the sponsoring Kiwanis Club for welfare work.

The famous four-man softball squad, headed by its fabulous trick flinger, King Eddie Feigner, once again proved most entertaining during the game and in a separate show of shadow-ball and trick twirling afterward. The King pitched fast, slow, blindfolded, kneeling, from second and from the outfield, with a wide assortment of pitches.

During the seven-inning exhibition game, he allowed two hits and struck out 18. The hits went to Bernie Robson and Reg Gordon in the seventh to score their run. A hit in the sixth by Gord Meilicke, plus an error and an out, gave the visitors their marker. They had a few wild pitches but no miscues, while the All-Stars booted three. Ken White and Jerry Jones were their other two players. Lefty Doris in three frames and Haddy Eakins in two allowed no hits, and Reg Gordon gave but one in two heats.

Other local players were: Dave Casey, Buck Legrow, Jack Mackness, Howie Dalton, Jack White, Bob Wyatt, Bill Thompson and Tom Walton. The umpires were Pat Calladine and Wimp Borland. Kiwanis officials thanked the crowd for the big turnout, and Ed Feigner expressed his thanks to the fans, too. It was the second annual appearance here of the King and His Court, the game a year ago also winding up in a tie.

Orioles Split With Springfield

By The Associated Press

Marv Rickert, of Baltimore, Tuesday night just about insured his perch atop the International-League nest of home-run swatters.

He belted a pair of two-run homers, his 33rd and 34th of the season, as the Orioles won a 7-6, 10-inning thriller from Springfield in the second game of a doubleheader.

The feat brought his runs-batted-in total to 101, second in the league. Rickert is also runner-up in the batting average department, with .328.

Home runs by Ray Cash and Lou Mauro accounted for all the Cubs' runs as they captured the first game, 5-2, in eight innings.

Sweep Doubleheader

Rochester Red Wings swept a twin bill from Syracuse Chiefs, 2-1 and 4-1. Ed Yunas and Jack Faszholz each went the route for the Wings.

Hal Hudson annexed his 15th victory against five setbacks as Toronto Maple Leafs whipped Giants 4-2. The Leafs rallied for three runs in the seventh frame to win their eighth game in nine starts.

Veteran Bill Voiselle hurled the pennant-winning Montreal Royals to a 5-4 success over Buffalo Bisons. Jim Gillian collected four hits to lead the Montreal attack.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Intercollegiate football teams have started preliminary workouts in preparation for the season soon to open on the gridirons of Canadian universities.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs, 1950 champions can pick their squad from between 75 and 80 hopefuls, who include some holdovers from last year's teams as well as several veterans of the 1950 intermediate squad.

For the last four days, the University of Toronto Blues have been working out at Orillia. They have confined their practices to conditioning and drills, but coach Bob Masterson says he is pleased with what he has seen.

On the other hand, Queen's University faces the prospect of building its team from about five members of last year's squad and about 30 candidates without intercollegiate experience.

Glace Bay Miners have been officially admitted to the newly-formed Maritime Major Hockey League, president J. Elliott Hudson announced Tuesday night.

The five other clubs in the league are Sydney Millionaires, Charlottetown Islanders, Halifax St. Mary's and Saint John Beavers.

Bainbridge Oval at Cleveland, O., now an auto race track, has been purchased by J. H. (Jack) Harris and will be remodelled for night harness racing.

Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, coach of the Omaha club in the United States Hockey League for the last five years, Tuesday was named coach of St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League.

Johnny Mitchell, Flyers' coach last year, still has a year to run on a two-year contract but under the arrangement he will move to Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League to help with player personnel of the Hawk farm system.

Outfielder Archie Wilson, 26, of Buffalo Bisons, Tuesday was voted the most valuable player in the International League by the circuit's Baseball Writers' Association.

Wilson was hitting at a .315 clip and had driven in 102 runs and socked 26 homers latest official averages show.

Boston Bruins will return to their old stand of Tuesday and Sunday night home games, the National Hockey League club announced Tuesday night.

Tuesday had been traditional hockey night in Boston, save for the last few years when they played Wednesdays.

The home season will open Oct. 14 against Montreal Canadiens after road dates in Detroit, Oct. 11 and Montreal, Oct. 13.

Indians Drop 3-1 Decision To Chicago Sox, Yankees Back Into Lead

By RALPH RODEN

"We're home now and that's where we win." That's the opinion of Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, on the stirring American League pennant race that finds his team in first place by four percentage points over Cleveland Indians. The Yanks, who engage the dangerous Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series tonight, backed into the lead Tuesday as the Indians dropped a 3-to-1, 11-inning decision to Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

Here's the picture at a glance:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Be- hind	To Play
New York	82	48	.631	—	24
Cleveland	84	50	.627	—	20
Boston	77	51	.602	4	26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage. They have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "last column," and have Tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home—the Indians have three of 20 and the Red Sox 12 of 26.

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kielyn Krael, rookie lefthander, is manager Steve O'Neill's choice.

Eddie Lopat (13-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's doubleheader against Bill Wight (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

Brilliant Duel

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal 11th. One, Ed Robinson's 25th homer of the season, matched a fourth-inning homer by Cleveland's Luke Easter.

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentionally passed. Ray Coleman flied out but Fox beat the throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored on a double by Jim Busby.

Meanwhile, in the National League, Brooklyn Dodgers resume their pennant drive by opening a three-game series with the Phils at Ebbets Field. Following the Philadelphia invasion the runner-up New York Giants come in for a two-game set. The Giants, six games behind, tune up for their clash with the Dodgers by tackling the Braves in a three-game set at Boston.

Boone, Avila Sparkplugs For Indians

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5 (AP). — One day last April, Manager Leo [illegible] predicted Cleveland Indians could take the American League pennant "except that I don't know about the shortstop and the second baseman."

Experts agreed with Durocher that Shortstop Ray Boone and Second Baseman Bobby Avila were the biggest question marks. Even Al Lopez, newly-appointed manager, had his doubts.

Boone, 28, played about two-thirds of the games at shortstop last year and left much to be desired but he batted an acceptable .301.

Avila, starting late in 1950, hit .299 in 80 games but was not regarded highly as a batter.

That was in April. Today, Lopez says their play has improved to such an extent that they have been responsible for Cleveland's lofty perch. "I wouldn't trade them even up for any keystone pair in the big leagues," Lopez says.

Double Plays Clicikng

The double plays they failed so lamently to make early in the season now are clicking.

Avila has built up a batting average of around .310. Boone, hitting around .250, has been battling hard luck all season.

"Boonie hits about a dozen line-drive out a week," is the way teammate Al Rosen put it.

Boone and Avila are part of an all-sophomore infield that rates as one of the best in the league. At first there's a big Luke Easter, the lefthanded power man of the team. Luke, who hit 28 homers and drive in 107 runs in 141 games last year, has been out of the line up a great deal with leg injuries and his home-run production is down.

Rosen, slugging third-baseman, provides most of the righthanded punch. Rosen is a bit off from his 1950 league-leading homerun pace but he still tops the club with 22 homers and 91 RBI's. He has developed into the best fielding third sacker in the league.

Lindsay Walkwoods Edge Woodville 7-6

LINDSAY, Sept. 5. — Lindsay Walkwoods won their first Tri-County Baseball League round-robin series start by edging Woodville, 7-6, here. Young Harold Williams hurled shutout ball for five frames while his mates scored six in the third for a commanding lead. The visitors came back strong in the late frames to knot the count, but veteran Lou Hennessey came through with an eighth-inning triple to set up the winning run.

The victory put Walkwoods in a fourth place tie with Cambray Cardinals with one win in three games. The defending champs, Stouffville Red Sox, are leading the championship series with a trio of wins, while Sonya Braves and Sutton Green Sox are tied for second.

Sedgman Wins Davis Cup Tilt

By GAYLE TALBOT.

FOREST HILLS, NY, Sept. 5 — (AP)—Frank Sedgman of Australia has the men's cup locked up and 16-year-old Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., is expected to win her first women's title as the national tennis championships go into the final program today.

The 23-year-old Sedgman, first foreigner to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored a one-sided victory over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in Tuesday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

The Aussie ace and his Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the national doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament and in the final contest on Tuesday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly meets Miss Fry and she is favored to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament.

Maureen reached the final on Tuesday by finishing off Doris Hart, the Wimbledon champion and tourney favorite, 6-4, 6-4. She had won the first set the previous evening before rain forced an overnight suspension.

A BRILLIANT RACE

Chuck Volo paced a brilliant race on a rough track Tuesday to win the Commissioner's Cup at the New York State Fair, Syracuse, NY.

Prince Adios, driven by Clint Hodgins of Clandeboyne, Ont., was second to Chuck Volo in the opening heat.

Marmora Legion Holds Decoration Day

MARMORA, Sept. 5 (ENS)—Rain greatly interfered with the arrangements on Sunday for the annual Decoration Day service under auspices of Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion cutting down attendance of the general public.

The service was to have been held on the public school grounds but it had to be changed at the last moment to the Town Hall. About 50 Legionnaires and Auxiliary members were under Zone Commander Capt. Percy Gray and led by Havelock Kiltie Band and the color party en route to the place of service, stopped at the Memorial Hall to place two wreaths beneath the Rolls of Honor there.

[illegible] J. Cotten of Marmora Branch was in charge of the service. In his address which came later, he referred to The Divine presence which had been with comrades in both wars, under shell fire and in calmer zones affording them spiritual refreshment.

Rev. G. D. Young BA BD, read the scripture lesson and took the invocation. Following the address, Lieutenant George Herron of the Salvation Army Corps, and assistant chaplain of the Tweed Branch, offered prayer. Mrs. L. R. Rundle was accompanist for the hymns "Fight the Good Fight" and "God of Our Fathers."

Following the service the parade marched to the Sacred Heart cemetery where the Rev. J. A. O'Neill gave a short appropriate address in which he referred to the men who served as the pride and joy of their country. He read the list of men buried there and offered prayer. The Lament and Reveille were played by Pipe Major Harry Anderson and the two minutes' silence was observed.

A similar ceremonial took place at the Protestant cemetery and adjacent veterans' plot.

At both cemeteries, flowers were laid at the base of a white wooden cross.

On return to the Legion Hall a short halt was made outside the home of Comrade Wilbert Bedore (father of President Clayton Bedore) who has been ill for some time and was missing his first Decoration Day parade. The band played a selection and the indisposed comrade received a gift of flowers.

Legionnaires were present from Frankford and Tweed.

Decoration Service At Merrill's Cemetery

ROSENEATH, Sept. 5 (ENS)—Rev. P. C. Brown, Coldsprings, was the guest speaker at the annual decoration service held at Merrill's Church and Cemetery (north of Roseneath) on Sunday afternoon. The music was in charge of the Roseneath choir, with Miss Lois Arthur at the organ; Misses Linda and Joyce Arthur contributed a vocal duet.

Included among those from a distance attending the service were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arnold, Gore's Landing; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pollock, Warkworth; Mr. Orra Varcoe, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davidson, Willowdale; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rusaw, Hastings; Mr. Alex Brown, Peterborough; Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Wm. Stevens, Newcastle; Mr. W. Hoar, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Willis Blodgett, Lakeport; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parker, Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogg, Harwood; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Montgomery, Norwood.

Don't Make Love In Films Like Old Days

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5 (AP).—"They don't make love today the way we used to."

The man speaking was House Peters, the romantic star who fluttered many a heart in the roaring '20s. He is performing his first screen role in 23 years.

"The screen lovers of today just don't have the finesse with a woman," he sighed. "They look at a woman as though they were going to attack her. They have no consideration for the subtleties of romance.

"In the silent days, we were in no hurry when it came to making love on the screen . . . It is the preliminaries that count."

[illegible] that the screen lovers of his day had one advantage — the long kiss. Today's film idols are limited to a few seconds.

"Of course, I was never the overly-romantic type of lover like Valentino and the other Latins," he continued. "I was too manly-looking."

"Rags" To Riches

Peters appeared in "The Squaw Man," among other plays. He entered films in 1915, starting at the salary of $100 a week.

In later years his salary reached $1,000 a day at Universal. He was earning $2,500 a week at MGM in 1926 when he made his last picture, "Rose Marie."

Why did he quit pictures?

"I was getting tired of it," he recalled. "The talkies were coming in and everything was in a turmoil. The scripts that were offered to me were, to use a Hollywood word, lousy."

PROMISE — All decked up in a VFW hat, Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin tells the veterans that he would resign from the Senate if he could not prove before any jury his oft-repeated charges against Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup. Labor Congress to Debate Living Costs

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 (CP). — Wages and the soaring cost of living will be the dominating theme of Canadian Labor's two big annual gatherings this month.

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor, holding conventions in Halifax and Vancouver, are expected to lay down the line for new demands by close to 1,000,000 union members for direct price controls.

The 500,000-member TLC is to stage its week-long meeting in Halifax starting Monday. The CCL, representing 350,000 unionists, will follow it Sept. 17 at Vancouver. Each convention will have between 700 and 1,000 delegates.

Policy declarations by the conventions on the relationship of living costs to wages—currently the hottest issued before Canadian Labor—probably will be followed up by joint action by the two bodies and other groups before the government later in the year.

With Labor's housecleaning of Reds at an advanced stage, that headline-grabbing scrap of the last few years likely will take a back seat in the wage-costs issue this month. However, there will be scattered outbreaks.

Final Kick

In the CCL, which has spearheaded the anti-Communist drive, there will be a final kick from the last big Leftist unit remaining after a three-year purge. It will come from the Red-dominated United Fur and Leather Workers' Union, expelled by the CCL executive since the last convention. An appeal from the fur workers will come before the convention but is certain to be thrown out.

In the TLC, there may be some action on the status of the Left-led, 20,000-member Canadian section of the United Textile Workers' Union (AFL-TLC). The AFL has been nudging the TLC for a cleanup in that union. The Congress has been reluctant to jettison its membership, but will at least bar suspected leaders from the convention.

Others May Be Barred

Expectations are that Red suspects from a number of other unions also will be barred, under strengthened powers given the TLC executive a year ago.

Both conventions are likely to hear discussion on the question of a unified front for all Canadian Labor, now split into several camps. However, the prospects are there will be no move beyond the current stage of co-operation, which is the furthest Labor has gone towards common action in this country.

The set-up now is that there is a co-ordinating committee for the two biggest congresses, the 90,000-member Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor and the Independent Railway Brotherhoods. The committee drafts action on common objectives, such as the drive for controls.

Leading Members

Another topic that will be before both congresses will be that of furthering the aims of the new International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, formed by Labor groups of about 50 countries to replace the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions. Both the TLC and the CCL are leading members of the ICFTU.

The CCL likely will give more attention to specific wage problems than the other congress. While the TLC lets its member unions take the initiative on wages, the CCL has a national wage co-ordinating committee, which recently decided to sponsor a concerted drive for a new round of wage increases to meet living costs. The congress may discuss plans for this drive.

Also up before the CCL will be its political hook-up with the CCF party. While the TLC steers clear of politics, the CCL for some years has designated the CCF as the "political arm" of Labor and has a political action committee to work with the CCF. Constitutionally, the CCF link comes before the convention annually for renewal.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 54 — WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1951 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

Student Body Same in PCVS St Peter's

High School Reports Increase of 20 On Opening Day

Enrolments at PCVS and St Peter's High School Tuesday varied only a little from the 1950 enrolments. In fact, at PCVS the number of students beginning Tuesday was the same, 1,236, and at St. Peter's High, 90 more, 317.

C. S. Browne, principal at PCVS, said the number of Grade IX's this year is the same as last year, 12, which includes the general, industrial and home economics courses. The slight decrease, expected by the Collegiate, was due to smaller Grade VIII classes in the city last term.

50 More

Mr. Browne pointed out that, as last year, there are still about 50 students who have to register. These students have yet to determine which course they may take.

The only change in classes for the academic, commercial, industrial arts and home economics departments is in the industrial arts Grade 10. There the number of boys this year increased to require three forms instead of two.

Mr. Browne noted the other change in the opening day's arrangement this year, the Grade IX pupils attending in the morning for registration and the Grade X, XI, XII and XIII in the afternoon. This change eliminated the confusion caused last year when the whole school attended at various times in the morning.

Room For Increase

Out-of-town pupils, now attending St. Peter's, High, caused the difference in the school's registration this year. In spite of the increase the enrolment is finding the high school accommodation "comfortable now."

This year at St. Peter's there is one new room in the high school portion. Earlier this year one junior grade was transfered to St. Alphonsus school.

Two minor changes have been made in the classes; there are now three classes in Grade 10 instead of two and four classes in Grade 9 instead of three.

PCVS students will notice a change in the daily routine. The senior assemblies have been changed to allow an extra period, now 10 a day, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The intermediate assemblies, Grades IX-X, will be the same, Tuesday and Thursday.

Two Assemblies

Last year the senior students, Grade XI, XII and XIII, had three assemblies, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, each of 20 minutes duration. Now the schedule allows assemblies on Monday and Friday of 30 minutes each. During these assemblies the intermediate students will have regular classes.

The change was made with two purposes, to allow a period for a teachers' discussion on the Grade IX subject, occupations, and to allow a visual education period for the Grade IX pupils. Both these periods will be on the 10th period Wednesday.

Mr. Browne explained that the Wednesday afternoon visual-education class (education by films) is "not for entertainment but for education."

Five Cattle Found Dead Algae Blamed

LINDSAY, Sept. 5—Reappearance of algae on Pigeon Lake has been blamed for the death of five cattle and the sickening of seven others. Plight of the cattle was discovered Friday.

The animals were treated by Dr. A. F. MacKinnon of Bobcaygeon, who says he is giving almost the same treatment he would in the case of cyanide poisoning.

Owners of the dead cattle are Richard Goodhand, William Oliver, Archie Flett, Georgg Martin and Bruce Adams. Owner of the land the cattle were grazing on is Sam Tate, who said he had kept the cattle away from the water throughout July and as the water looked clear, he thought the danger was over.

A few hours before the cattle drank, the water had appeared perfectly clear. One cottager said she had taken clear water to wash clothes and when she returned to the lake for rinsing water, the algae was thick on the surface.

It is the second case of algae poisoning this year. Earlier in August, five cattle were poisoned on Clear Lake, near Young's Point.

Motorist Hits Tree May Face Charge

A charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol may be laid against 20-year-old James Calladine of Toronto after a car he was driving smashed a garbage can and hit a tree on Hunter St. E. Tuesday night.

An Ashburnham resident telephoned police to say that a car had hit a tree, knocked over a garbage can, and driven off.

Investigating, Constables D. S. Mackay and Vic. McConnell found a car on Armour Hill with garbage stuck to the front of it, and pieces of bark between the tire and rim of the left front wheel.

In the driver's seat was Calladine. On the way to the police station, the officers drove the car up to the tree. Damage to the car and tree corresponded, they said.

The officers said there was evidence Calladine had been drinking.

Labor Board Examiner Hears Evidence For Certification

An Ontario Labor Relations Board examiner Tuesday afternoon heard the evidence of Local 570, International Union of Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL) for certification among the production workers at the Western Clock Co. J. M. Flannery, OLRB examiner, presided as IUE officials filed 375 cards of members who they said were paid up. Receipts for the $1 initiation fee were also filed.

Company officials said there were 656 eligible workers.

Applied Recently

The IUE recently applied to the OLRB for certification at the plant, and the OLRB appointed Mr. Flannery to determine the size of the bargaining unit, receive the IUE's petition, and examine the evidence.

(Usual procedure is for the examiner to send his report to all interested parties. They then have a specified time in which any one of them can ask for an OLRB hearing. If no request is received disposition of the application is up to the OLRB.)

The union was represented by John G. Morton, IUE-Canadian director, and Fred Hannah, IUE representative.

"A check on the number of cards filed shows that we have 56.6 per cent of the bargaining unit," said Mr. Morton. "Because of this substantial majority we are looking forward to early automatic certification."

OBITUARIES

MRS. MARGARET FRANCIS CRAWFORD

Requiem mass was said today at St. Clare Catholic Church, Toronto, for the late Mrs. Margaret Frances Crawford, of 294 Boon Ave. Burial was at Mount Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Crawford died in hospital on Sunday following a prolonged illness. She was born in Peterborough, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah McCarthy, and has lived in Toronto most of her life. Her husband, Joseph H. Crawford and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bird, both predeceased her.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. E. Archer (Estelle) of Fort William and Mrs. G. Murdin (Myrtle) and two sons, Jack and Frank, all of Toronto. Her brother, F. J. McCarthy, lives in Peterborough. Mrs. Crawford was a very active member of St. Clare Catholic Church of Toronto.

MRS. JOHN O'DETTE

A resident of Peterborough for the past five years, and for 40 years before that in Chicago, Mrs. John O'Dette, the former Minnie Eano, died today in hospital after a long illness. Her home was at 35 Armour Rd.

Widow of John O'Dette, she was the daughter of the late Francis Eano and Elizabeth Mulcahey. She was a member of Immaculate Conception church and of the Catholic Women's League.

Surviving are two brothers, John Eano of Saskatchewan, and Louis Eano of North Bay, and one sister, Miss Annie Eano of Peterborough.

The body will rest at the Lane funeral home until 8.45 a.m. Friday, and then will go to Immaculate Conception church for requiem mass at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Utilities Has Own Steel Stock

When they were ready to go ahead with construction above the basement level, Utilities Commission didn't have to worry about steel supplies.

They had a private stock of their own, down at the foot of Simcoe St., and from it they came up with an assortment of 12-inch I-beams, various angle irons, and as R. L. Dobbin described it a miscellany of steel material.

The beams and other structural parts were taken from one of the two old gas containers, which was no longer in use. The new propane gas discarded this huge expandible tank. Part of its frame work was outlined against the sky, skeletal steel inviting the Utilities Commission to come and get it.

"We did not have our own steel workers, so we turned the salvage job over to Horton-Briggs Co., the people who erected the water tower at Civic Hospital," Mr. Dobbin said.

He has been assuring the Utilities Commission that the new building at Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets would be ready about the end of the year, an expression that permits a certain amount of latitude as to time. At any rate there is apparently no obstacle in the form of lack of steel.

Child Runs In Front Of Car, Injured

Facial bruises and a possible broken collarbone were suffered Tuesday by Rickey Blondin, 6, of 687 Walkerfield Avenue, when he ran in front of a car on Monaghan road.

Driver of the car, Uban Kubeca, 513 Parnall Street, said he had no chance to avoid hitting the boy. Two eye-witnesses said the boy darted in front of the car without warning.

The lad was treated as an outpatient at Civic Hospital shortly after noon on Tuesday. The accident was investigated by Constable Robert Menzies.

Drove After Warning Motorist Fined $50

Charged with driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol, William Fenton, 28, 891 Water St., pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

Det.-Sgt. W. E. Clarke testified that Fenton had driven his car despite a previous warning not to drive. Fenton was picked up by Constable C. J. McGillen.

Jennie Delaire Remanded On $3,000 Bail

Mrs. Jennie Delaire, 28, of 467 Elm St., was Tuesday remanded to September 11 on a charge of wounding her husband, Sylvester Delaire. She appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Port Hope.

Bail was set at $3,000 and it is understood that someone was willing to go bail for her.

John Corkery, representing Mrs. Delaire, said she would make no election or plea at the present.

The accused is a slight, pretty woman, who looks younger than her 28 years. She did not appear nervous as she stood in the prisoner's doek and heard the charge read to her.

Mrs. Delaire is alleged to have cut her husband's throat slightly with a straight razor Saturday evening after an argument at a neighbor's home. Delaire, who is 28, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, and was released Sunday morning.

Delaire's father, it was reported earlier, was said to have told a neighbor that his razor was the one used. Today, Mr. Delaire said he had not told anyone that it was his razor.

Missionary Causes Two Cars To Crash

A car and a truck collided Tuesday at 4:15 p.m. when a second car, westbound on King St., failed to stop for the stop sign at Aylmer St.

Driver of the car that failed to stop was James Davies, 294 Rubidge St., a Pentecostal Church missionary who returned to Canada from India only two months ago.

Davies said he didn't see the stop sign. He was half-way across the intersection when he stopped, and a car driven by Edward Elliott, Toronto, was forced to stop suddenly. A truck behind Elliott, driven by William Foster, 668 Orpington Rd., hit the rear of Elliott's auto.

Truck Topples Over Driver Escapes Unhurt

Swerving to avoid hitting a car on Highway 2 near Oshawa, Jerry Withers, 21, 43 LaFayette St., toppled his transport truck over into the ditch, but escaped uninjured.

He had nearly brought the 13-ton loaded transport to a stop when he turned onto the soft shoulder of the highway and the truck toppled over. Little damage was done to the truck.

Powerful Pullets

Mrs. Orville Young, South Monaghan, is today searching in her flock of pullets for one which laid an egg during the weekend which was an egg within an egg. The outer egg measured eight inches in diameter and nine inches in diameter lengthwise. She didn't see any suffering from the after-effects.

St. Peter's Grad Awarded "U" Scholarship

Carmel Shaughnessy, 525 Parnell St., a St. Peter's High School student, has been awarded a $100 scholarship by Brescia Hall, affiliated with University of Western proficiency.

Miss Shaughnessy has also been awarded a second scholarship of $100 by the Diocesan Catholic Women's League.

In the June departmental examinations Miss Shaughnessy's record was: firsts (75 to 100 per cent) in English composition, literature, history, physics, chemistry, Latin authors and composition; seconds (66 to 75 per cent) in French authors and composition.

Bursaries $675

Annual bursaries to St. Peter's high school amounted to $675 this year, two boys and a girl receiving the money.

A university bursary of $400 has been awarded to Arthur Jones, 371 Wolsley St. This is the third university bursary this year to Peterborough and district students, three announced Tuesday by PCVS.

A third Normal Schol bursary was received by St. Peter's high school student, Rita Casey, 219 Rogers St., amounting to $175. Two PCVS students also received Normal School bursaries this year.

Clare Hickson, Stewart St., also of St. Peter's high school, received a $100 bursary for Grade XIII, the second for Peterborough students.

Four Fined $100 On Liquor Counts

Four men were each fined $100 and costs Tuesday on liquor charges by Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Three of the charges were against Douro township men, the fourth against a Norwood garage operator.

John Thompson of Norwood pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor not bought on his permit. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, asked that Thompson's Peterborough home on Edgewater Blvd., and his room above the Norwood garage be declared public places.

"There is a suspicion of bootlegging," said the crown. The magistrate carried out the crown's request, and both residences were declared public places.

Two Douro township men, Joseph Nolan and Wilfred Roy Huggins, were charged with having liquor not bought on their permits. The third, Arthur Spencer, was charged with supplying liquor illegally to a woman.

All three live at the same house in the township, which is known as "the Nolan farm." It, too, was declared a public place.

Two other charges against Thompson, of illegal sale of liquor to a minor, were dismissed when the crown attorney offered no evidence on them.

Jr. Farmers Sponsor Field Day For Clubs

One hundred boys and girls of the local agricultural clubs are expected to take part in the sports field day at Morrow Park Saturday afternoon.

The program is being arranged for the youngsters by Junior Farmers headed by John Edmison. It includes a softball tournament and track and field events. The afternoon will constitute one of the season's meetings for the club members, and they are all asked to attend.

Bridge-Building Schedule Calls For Completion Of Four By End Of December

Largest Project Is $6,500 Bridge Slated For Chandos Township Creek; Estimate Total Cost of Four at $15,500

County workmen are busy on a schedule that calls for the completion of four bridges in Peterborough county by December. Total cost will be an estimated $15,500. They will also complete two other bridges for which the county will be reimbursed: one valued at $3,000 for Dummer township, and another valued at $1,000 for the Department of Highways. Today they are starting on a $3,000, 60-foot bridge over [illegible] Creek in Galway township. It will be a "multi-plate pipe arch" construction (a metal culvert running laterally through the cement and stone base) and will replace an old wooden bridge on the development road.

Another newly - completed bridge is the Findlay bridge over the creek in Norwood. It is of steel beam construction on concrete abutments, and the cost is about $2,000.

New Birdsall Bridge

A 75-foot span, steel superstructure on concrete abutments, replaces the old Birdsall bridge over the Ouse river. It is located a mile north of the Trent river in Asphodel township and is expected to cost $4,000.

The largest project of all is slated to begin in a month's time. It will replace the old wooden bridge over the creek, two miles east of Clysdale in Chandos township. Cost of the new reinforced concrete and steel bridge is estimated at $6,500.

The county will also build a $3,000 bridge for Dummer township. It will span the Ouse river on the fifth concession of Dummer, two miles east of Cottesloe.

A $1,000 project will be a small bridge built for the department on the second concession of Dummer, on the east shore of Clear lake. The second concession is a development road.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

WHISTLE HURTS

Falling with a tin whistle in her mouth, four-year-old Marilyn Holden, 282 McKellar St., suffered cuts to her mouth and was treated Tuesday as an out patient at Civic hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Melville Holden.

FINDS OLD PENNY

A one-penny bank token, dated 1850, was found in the garden of Mrs. G. Seely, 515 Romaine St., over the weekend. Mrs. Seely was digging in the garden when she found the coin. It was one issued by the Bank of Upper Canada.

DIES IN MONTREAL

Arthur James Jenkins, 71, former assistant secretary of the Crown Trust Company, died in a Montreal hospital Tuesday night after a short illness. He served for 25 years as secretary-treasurer of the Trent Valley Woollen Mills at Campbellford. Funeral service will be Thursday in Montreal.

FISH AND GAME CORN ROAST

Annual corn roast of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association will be held on Friday evening at Deb Whatman's place on Buckhorn Lake. Members are requested either to motor to the spot direct or to meet at the CNR freight sheds at 7:30 p.m. Friday evening where transportation will be arranged. The PFGPA is also sponsoring an amateur show on Sept. 20-21 at the Brock Ballroom. More information later on this, say the executives.

Bad Gravel Hill Removed, Spread On Roads

Engineer J. D. Kean and county workmen were recently able to accomplish a satisfactory bit of road work in Otonabee township.

They eliminated the bad gravel hill at the "duck pond" corner on the Keene-Hastings road. And the displaced gravel was strewn along roads that needed it in Otonabee and Asphodel townships.

The gravel as it was scooped out was loaded into a crusher where it was ground down to proper size for road purposes and then trucks distributed it. Work was completed by last week-end.

One Stone, Two Birds

"Killing two birds with one stone," was the comment of Engineer Kean.

An "S" turn on the same road, a mile west of Hastings village has been partly straightened out. This was accomplished in mid August.

A mile of mulch asphalt has been laid in the village of Keene—a half mile north and a half mile west of the crossroads. Formerly the surface was a mixture of gravel and oil.

Woman 65, Hurt In Car Crash

A 65-year-old woman was injured when two cars collided Tuesday afternoon at Mark and Robinson Sts. She is Mrs. Emily Gibbs, 18 Charles St.

George A Hunter, of Saskatoon, was driving east on Robinson St., and at the intersection of Mark St. was in collision with an auto driven by William Bloom, 934 Western Ave.

Mrs. Gibbs, a passenger in Hunter's car, was thrown out the right front door of the car by the impact. She landed on her head and back and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance.

Mrs. Gibbs was X-rayed for head injuries, but suffered only shock and bruises. She is resting comfortably, hospital officials say.

Damage to the Hunter car was to the right front wheel and fender, the hood and the right front door. The Bloom car was damaged on both front fenders, the grill and bumper and both headlights were broken.

Constables Harold Andrew and Grant Gillespie investigated. There is no stop sign at the intersection.

Central Mortgage Sells 470 Houses, Only 6 Left

Of all the houses Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation built for eventual sale, only six or seven remain in the list of possession, Mr. John W. Wocker, district administrator, mentioned to the Examiner today.

The 250 houses in the Parkhill Road area have been sold, and only one of the 125 comprising the "race track" project lying between Western Ave. and High St. is still in the corporation's hands.

There were 100 service men's houses built in 1917, and they are gone with the others.

The 326 dwelling units built in 1948-49 by Reynolds Construction Co. were restricted for the present to rental accommodation for ex-service men, and they are continuing in that use. The Burnham's Point project was first to change hands virtually as a subdivision.

The remaining six unsold are mostly in the Housing Enterprises block, selling for approximately $6,000.

The Hatton block is not being offered for sale. By agreement with the city, those houses are marked for removal from that site whenever the demand for houses slumps behind the supply.

Accident Led To Fertilizer For NZ Farms

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP).—The intensive farming methods which result in high yields in New Zealand and Australia are obtained by heavy application of fertilizer, accidentally discovered by a man who died here recently.

Sir Albert Ellis, who was 81 years ago when he died at Auckland, at the start of the century was a young analyst employed by a London company. He was visiting his firm's office at Sydney, Australia, when he spotted a large block of stone used as a doorstop.

Ellis was intrigued by the stone: The Sydney manager told him it [illegible] several geologists had classified it as a piece of fossilized wood.

The analyst however was not satisfied. He saw a resemblance to a special kind of hard phosphate he had found on Baker Island some years before. Ellis made a careful analysis which showed the doorstop was phosphate rock of the highest grade.

In a matter of weeks he had inspected Nauru and Ocean Islands, small dots on the Pacific near the Equator, and found they contained some of the world's richest deposits of pure phosphate.

Became Big Industry

He directed the industry from its birth, first as leader of the party extracting the phosphate, and then as local director of the company, and when control of the islands was acquired by the governments of Britain, Australia and New Zealand, he became one of the three commissioners.

Soon the islands were shipping vast quantities of the phosphates for top-dressing pastures in Australia and New Zealand. Modern machinery was installed, including a huge cantilever loader jutting out into the sea from Nauru so that ships could stand off the island and be loaded in a matter of hours.

The islands were devastated by the Japanese during the war, but were restored with such vigor that by 1949 the two islands were shipping a total of 1,250,000 tons of phosphate a year to maintain the productivity of the farmlands of the southern dominions.

Sir Albert Ellis maintained close touch with the islands until the time of his death. The door stop which changed the economy of the two countries is today preserved in the Auckland Museum.

ATHLETES WED [illegible] Fairlie of Vancouver, were married at Victoria. They met while competing in the 1950 British Empire Games at Auckland, N.Z. Both won Dominion titles this year. They will live at Pullman, Wash., while Bill completes his final year in physical education at Washington State College.

Clipper Ships Ruled Sea 100 Years Ago

By JOHN B. KNOX

BOSTON (AP).—A hundred years ago the swing of hammers on oak in New England shipyards was ringing a rising rhythm of speed — faster building of faster ships, clipper ships, to ride the winds of the world.

Clipper ships to speed the hopeful and the greedy, alike, to distant gold fields. Clippers to rush the first spring tea crop from China before time could steal its flavor. Clippers to lug grain from California to eastern marts and Europe; to reap high rates from merchants and passengers — all in a hurry 100 years ago.

For two-score years clippers had been evolving along a line of radical departure from an older concept—of broad-bowed ships, like ducks, riding over the waves. Designs of French naval scientists were borrowed in part. The new, sharp - prowed craft sacrificed breadth of beam, especially in the bow, plus carrying capacity, for speed. They were America's gift to the art of shipbuilding. They approached their highest development after the mid-40s and touched their pinnacle in the early 50s.

A cry of "Gold" in a western wilderness stimulated this great final era of sailing ships which developed such master builders as Donald McKay. It was not a conservative New England which, in 1845, lured McKay, the seastruck Nova Scotia farm boy, after his apprenticeship to a New York shipbuilder. It was a New England filled with the spirit of venture—the fever of gambling.

Answering Echo

That cry from California brought an answering echo of hammers, adzes, saws and planes from New England shipyards. Shipbuilding fever on the northeast coast matched the gold fever of the far west.

Even though steam had helped propel a ship across the Atlantic as early as 1819 it could not match the graceful clippers capable of speeds up to 18 knots. The inefficient steam engines and the enormous amounts of fuel they needed left little space for cargo.

That's why clippers which could be built quickly seemed a good investment. Only two months were required to build Donald McKay's "Stag Hound." She reaped an $80,000 profit on her first voyage.

Baltimore Clippers

Among the first ships of this type were the small, fast Baltimore clippers. First of the larger ships of this kind was the Ann McKim of 494 tons, built at Baltimore in 1833.

In the first four years after discovery of California's gold, 160 clipper ships were built. The westward rush of the clippers carried at its outset some 90,000 passengers to California.

Famous name craft were among the hundreds of new ships.

The "Flying Cloud" overcame obstacles of weather, greenness of crew, and even mutiny, to round Cape Horn to San Francisco in 89 days on her first voyage, previously, 110 days had been thought very fast.

Britain A Rival

Britons joined the clipper competition after changes in British navigation laws in 1850. Some clippers were bought from Americans. Other clippers from Aberdeen and the Clyde began to compete in voyages to China and elsewhere. Clippers crowded the routes to Australia after gold was found there. They carried an estimated 400,000 persons to that continent.

London tea merchants offered annual prizes for delivery at the earliest moment of the first of season's earliest tea crop in China. One tea clipper, the "Cutty Sark," set a tea clipper record of 363 miles in a single day.

But the golden age which produced so many sailing ships helped to bring its own end. By 1854 freight rates fell. The clippers, using costly hardwoods, became uneconomical. Construction turned for a time to less expensive "medium clippers," of larger relative carrying capacity. Financial panic in 1857 closed many shipyards.

Then came the Civil War and many clippers were destroyed. Extended use of steam power and building of the Suez Canal helped end the era of sail.

McKay built one more clipper after the Civil War and gave it a nostalgic name — "The Glory of the Seas." In the half century before she was sent to her funeral pyre—for scrap—she saw all her sisters vanish one by one from the oceans.

Building Begun In August Down

Peterborough's building enterprise emerged from summer with its total down slightly from the corresponding period last year by $84,419.

If the Canadian General Electric Co. new buildings were included in the August permits, the amount for the entire 12 months of 1951 would be close to that record figure of last year.

August let the season down with a total of $130,869 as compared with $242,190 a year ago; and the aggregate for eight months is $2,623,679 as against $2,707,098 for 1950 to the end of August.

Details of the permits of last month are: 24 garages, $6,964; 12 houses, $97,350; 51 miscellaneous $26,555; total $130,869, for 87 permits.

Permits issued at the office of City Engineer Chalmers in August last year were: 14 garages, $5,269; 17 houses, $140,000; 88 permits amounting to $242,190.

The Examiner recently asked the CGE for an estimate of their latest capital investment in their Peterborough works, but that question related to plant and equipment. The reply was that some details of machinery and other equipment had not yet been actually decided.

Village Holds Memorial Service

COLDSPRINGS, Sept. 5 (ENS)—"Our ships that sail for gold" was the subject of the address given by the Rev. R. C. White, of Roseneath, guest speaker at the Congregational Church cemetery memorial services, held on Sunday.

Due to weather, this service, which is usually held in the open air at the cemetery, was held in St. Paul's United Church. Miss Eunice Minifie sang a solo. Accompanying at the organ and piano for the congregational hymns were Miss Edith Hoskin and Warren Buttars.

Included among those attending the service were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Roberts and Mary Lou, of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Eagleson, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davidson and daughters, and Mrs. J. Davidson, Centenary; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Richardson, Dartford; Mrs. Frank Brown and Miss Nelda Brown, Roseneath.

Brigadier To Speed Rotation Of Troops

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 (CP).—The army is sending its director-general of personnel to Korea with power to make on-the-spot decisions to see that the rotation plan works. Brig. M. Leo Brennan will fly the Pacific in mid-September to direct the plan.

Only unit affected this year is the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. Men of the 1st Battalion, based at Calgary, will start moving to the coast in a few weeks to sail for Korea and replace the men coming home.

Those coming home will start moving when the replacements arrive, probably in October. Those living in British Columbia will go on 30 days leave on arrival at Vancouver. Others will go to Calgary and go on leave from there.

Brig. Brennan is expected to return to Ottawa once the homeward movement of Patricias is completed or well on its way.

37-Year-Old Story Has Happy Ending

AXMINSTER, Devon, England, Sept. 5. (Reuters)—A 59-year-old love story had a happy ending on Tuesday with the wedding of William Arnold, 80, and Elizabeth Drew, 86.

William was a soldier of 21 when he first asked Elizabeth to marry him.

"I'm too old for you at 27. Go away and try to forget," Elizabeth told him.

William married, travelled the world and became the father of nine children. Then his wife died.

Last year they met again. This time she said yes.

Gov't Approves Welfare State

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 5. —(CP)—The Ontario Government believes in the "welfare state" and is moving steadily in that direction, but will not jeopardize the economy of the province to achieve that end hastily, Reform Institutions Minister Foote said here Tuesday.

He addressed delegates on the second day of the week-long summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Every party was committed to the welfare state, he said, but "the real difference between those parties is in the manner of doing the job." The Progressive Conservatives felt that the best way to reach the goal was under private enterprise—indeed it was economically possible only under that system.

Aerial Guard Keeps Eagle Eye On Fliers In Canada

WINNIPEG, Sept. 5 (CP). —An aerial guard stretching from coast to coast keeps an eagle-eye watch on the safety of flyers in Canada's far-flung frontiers.

The RCAF has the task of protecting persons in distress, particularly plane passengers. Five air rescue and co-ordination centres scattered through Canada are on the alert 24 hours a day.

They are ready and equipped to go into action immediately, whether it's a call for an 800-mile mercy flight to the Arctic regions or a search for a missing plans that may be down anywhere in an area of several million square miles.

Rescue centres last year flew 218 missions of which 53 were air rescues and 112 mercy flights. A total of 3,548 hours were flown, many of them over Canadian coastal waters.

A typical rescue centre is No. 111 communications and rescue [illegible] just completed "Operational Tasche," an international air search that brought two Wisconsin fishermen from the Barren Lands of the Northwest Territories after they had been isolated 29 days.

Never Found

Another centre directed the biggest air search in Canadian history in January, 1950, when a United States C-54 with 44 persons aboard disappeared over the Yukon on a flight from Anchorage to Great Falls, Mont. Some 60 Canadian and American planes searched three weeks but missing plane was never found.

A rescue centre on the West Coast helped look for a missing Korean airlift plane when it disappeared in July carrying 38 passengers and crew members. The plane has not been found.

An Ontario centre now is conducting a search for Toronto Maple Leaf hockey player Bill Barilko and Timmins dentist Dr. Henry Hudson, lost in their light plane somewhere in the barren wilderness around James Bay. They disappeared Aug. 26.

Four search aircraft today were sent into the Wholadaia Lake district in the Northwest Territories in a continued search for bush pilot Johnny Bourassa, about 30. Bourassa, of Peace River, Alta., flying a Yellowknife Airways aircraft, disappeared May 18 on a 200-mile flight from Bathurst Inlet to Salmita Mines. His plane was discovered Friday by a USAF Flying Fortress searching for the missing Wisconsin fishermen.

The Winnipeg rescue centre is responsible for guarding an area which takes in the northern limits of Ontario, all of Manitoba, most of Saskatchewan and the Keewatin district in the Northwest Territories.

Commands Centre

The centre is commanded by 33-year-old Sqdn. Ldr. J. H. (Doc) Simpson, a tall sandy-haired man with 11 service in the RCAF. He has charge of four search planes and about 70 aircrew and maintenance personnel.

Some haven't had a day off since Aug. 1. One of them—FO L. Parakin, a dimpled 21-year-old navigator from Pincher Creek, Alta.—logged 170 hours in the air last month. Simpson himself admits he can no longer stand the steady grind of looking for lost aircraft—and there have been lots of them during recent months.

He and his boys are subject to call at any time. Searches have been made in areas where the wheels of aircraft sank up to the axles in rain-soaked landing [illegible] hard on search planes. Sixty below temperatures can freeze a plane's hydraulic system in no time flat.

All Types Used

All types and sizes of aircraft are used in the searches, from small private planes to large four-engined Lancasters. A special government appropriation is set aside each year to finance rescue operations. When Americans are involved, costs are shared by Canada and the United States.

Air searches in Canada by the RCAF grew from an international conference on civil aviation procedure called by the late President Roosevelt at Chicago in 1944. A body known as the International Civil Aviation Organization was the result. It now is part of the United Nations with Canadian headquarters at Montreal.

Canada, as a member of the organization, agreed to provide protection for all civil aircraft entering the Dominion as well as those flying over east and west coastal waters. The RCAF took over the job of protecting the civil air carriers in 1947 when it was also allotted the task of undertaking search and rescue missions.

Bishop Vanishes In Communist China

HONG KONG, Sept. 5 (Reuters).—A Roman Catholic priest soon to have become Bishop of Hong Kong, has disappeared in Communist China, church sources said today.

Msgr. Lawrence Bianchi was known to have been placed under [illegible] at Waichow, 50 miles north of here, earlier this year.

But sources claim the Communists moved him from there Aug. 26. No report has been heard of him since.

The Italian priest was Coadjutor to Bishop R. W. Henry Valtorta, who died last Monday.

Wagner's Grandsons Work Hard To Revive Grandfather's Music

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BAYREUTH, Germany, Sept. 5 —With the vim of Seigfried hunting a dragon, the grandsons of composer Richard Wagner are looking around for more operatic cows to slay.

When they staged the anniversary festival of Wagner's masterpieces, the carnage in old, fussy stagecraft conceptions was terrific.

The festival ended Aug. 26, but some starchy critics are still in a state of shock.

Undaunted, Wieland and Wolfgang Wagner already are girding for the 1952 season. Having pulled grandfathers' music nearly out of the red, they lack neither financial backing nor well-wishers.

Wieland, 33, staked his career as artistic director on "more culture and less cult" in Wagnerian presentations.

Wolfgang, 31, as business manager's widow, then his son, and finally his English-born daughter-in-law inherited direction of the festival. Winifred was entranced by Adolf Hitler and his moody passion for Teutonic mythology.

The grandsons got a chance at reviving the festival only after Winifred renounced all rights.

Junk Sets

One of Wielands' innovations was to junk sets cluttered with canvas and plaster for imaginative lighting effects. Much of the time, the stage was left nearly bare of props. Warrior gods and goddesses of the Rhineland shed their customary winged helmets.

Siegfried's funeral pyre was a small red glow and a few puffs of smoke offstage. Another red glow in the sky indicated the burning of Valhalla.

"Old Wagnerian productions were complete to the most elaborate [illegible] private sources to underwrite the revival.

Of their budget of $350,000 one-third was spent for new costumes and sets and repairs to the family-owned Festspielhaus, looted at the end of the war. Their deficit was only $35,000.

Had Harder Time

Grandfather had a harder time. He wanted a unique theatre in which to present his four musical dramas of the Nibelungen Ring: Rhine Gold, Valkyrie, Siegfried and Twilight of the Gods.

The Festspielhaus in its first season had a staggering deficit, which Wagner helped pay off by going to London to conduct concerts.

Financial troubles continued to plague the Festspielhaus. Wagner's widow, then his son, and finally his English-born daughter-in-law inherited direction of the festival. Winifred was entranced by Adolf Hitler and his moody passion for Teutonic mythology.

Junk Sets

One of Wielands' innovations was to junk sets cluttered with canvas and plaster for imaginative lighting effects. Much of the time, the stage was left nearly bare of props. Warrior gods and goddesses of the Rhineland shed their customary winged helmets.

Siegfried's funeral pyre was a small red glow and a few puffs of smoke offstage. Another red glow in the sky indicated the burning of Valhalla.

"Old Wagnerian productions were complete to the most elaborate [illegible] private sources to underwrite the revival.

Of their budget of $350,000 one-third was spent for new costumes and sets and repairs to the family-owned Festspielhaus, looted at the end of the war. Their deficit was only $35,000.

Had Harder Time

Grandfather had a harder time. He wanted a unique theatre in which to present his four musical dramas of the Nibelungen Ring: Rhine Gold, Valkyrie, Siegfried and Twilight of the Gods.

The Festspielhaus in its first season had a staggering deficit, which Wagner helped pay off by going to London to conduct concerts.

Financial troubles continued to plague the Festspielhaus. Wagner's widow, then his son, and finally his English-born daughter-in-law inherited direction of the festival. Winifred was entranced by Adolf Hitler and his moody passion for Teutonic mythology.

The grandsons got a chance at reviving the festival only after Winifred renounced all rights.

Attempts Rescue Man 39 Drowns

CALEDONIA, Sept. 5 (CP) — Nelson Ballard, 39, of Hamilton, was drowned Tuesday in the Grand river when he tried to rescue one of four boys he had taken on a fishing expedition. He jumped into the water to help Stephen Bennett, 9, who had slipped off a dam.

An unidentified Brantford man, who had also been fishing from the dam, saved the boy but was unable to find Ballard.

The group had set out on what was to be the last fishing trip of the season before the boys returned to school. The boys registered at school in the morning but were given the afternoon off to buy books.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD DIXON of Otonabee, the bride formerly Louise Jackson, pictured after their marriage Saturday in Keene United Church.—(Duke Studio Photo)

3 Sisters Attend L. Jackson At Wedding to J. H. Dixon

Keene United Church was the scene Saturday of a double ring wedding ceremony uniting Miss Jean Louise Jackson and Mr. John Dixon, both of Otonabee, the Rev. D. Herrington officiating.

Pink and white gladioli and ferns decorated the chancel. Mr. W. Morrow played the wedding music and Mrs. A. R. Bennett sang "I Love You Truly," during signing of the register.

The bride is daughter of Mrs. Jackson and the late J. R. Jackson, and she was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Jackson, and attended by her sisters, Miss Dorothy Jackson as maid of honor, Misses Audrey and Mary Jackson as bridesmaids. Her cousin, Shirley Carl, was flower girl.

She wore a gown of white slipper satin with nylon yoke in an off-the-shoulder effect edged with white lace. The full skirt had white lace inserts at the front and fell into a long train. The bodice was fastened at the back with covered buttons and had long pointed sleeves. Her veil was of embroidered net and was caught to a sweetheart headdress with tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade of American beauty roses.

The attendants' frocks were of bengaline in mauve, apple green, burnished copper and daffodil yellow. They were made in strapless style with pouf hipline and had matching boleros. Each wore a pleated headdress and mittens of matching material and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow 'mums.

The groom is son of Mr. Edward Dixon and the late Mrs. Dixon and was attended by his brother Mr. Wesley Dixon. The ushers were Albert Vowles and Earl Robinson.

The reception was held at the bride's home, RR 6, Peterborough. Her mother received, wearing navy tissue faille trimmed with French lace, navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's sister, Mrs. Frank Hayes, assisted in receiving wearing grey figured jersey with navy accessories and pink rose corsage.

Leaving on a wedding trip in eastern Ontario, the bride wore a mulberry suit with navy hat and accessories and her corsage was pink roses.

They will live on the groom's farm in Otonabee.

Audrey Allan In Brocade Marries Toronto Man

Miss Audrey Eileen Allan of Peterborough became the bride of Mr. Harold Myers Barnett of Toronto in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Charles G. Boyd at St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Saturday.

A beautiful setting was of all white gladioli in tall standards and baskets. Mr. Christopher Gledhill played the wedding music and Miss Jane Allan of Orillia sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "Because" while the register was being signed.

Miss Allan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. H. Allan, 184 Aylmer St., and was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white French silk brocade made with a picture neckline, tight bodice and long sleeves ending in lily points, with the full skirt extending in a cathedral train. White tulle veiling falling over the train was caught to her white feather cap. A bouquet of white gardenias and white baby 'mums completed her ensemble.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister Miss Dorothy Allan, and as bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Barnett, sister of the groom, and Miss Adeline Campanaro. The attendants were frocked alike in flame coloured Italian silk georgette over beige taffeta, made with full ankle length skirts, picture necklines and shirred elbow-length sleeves. They wore small caps of the dress material trimmed with moss green feather pads and they carried boquets of white gladioli and white mums.

The groom, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Barnett of Niagara Falls, Ontario, was attended by Mr. George P. Nablo of Toronto. Ushering the guests were Douglas Bates of Niagara Falls, A. McLaren of Ottawa, Edward McCaig and Robert Allan, brother of the bride, of Peterborough.

At the reception in the Empress Hotel, the bride's mother received in a gown of hunter's green with lace top and floor length crepe skirt. She wore a black feather hat and corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother, who also received, was gowned in beige lace over taffeta and had a beige feather hat and white gardenia corsage.

Leaving later for Lake Placid, New York, where they will spend their honeymoon, the bride wore a gunmetal coat dress with black velvet hat, shoes and handbag, white gloves and a white gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett will live at 779 Eglington Ave. Toronto.

Dorothy A. Milne Wed Saturday To Live In Toronto

The marriage took place in Immaculate Conception church Saturday, of Dorothy Ann Milne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. of Mrs. Bowen and the late James A. Bowen, all of Peterborough, with the Rev. J. O'Sullivan officiating.

The church was decorated with pink and white gladioli. During the signing of the register Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and net made with a bouffant skirt of net over crinoline. A bolero of lace was fashioned with a Chinese neckline and long sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil caught to a pleated Juliet cap with orange blossoms and carried red roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Irene Milne, who was frocked in ice blue fashioned after the bride's dress. Miss Cheryl Milne, of Cleveland, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a gown of pink nylon over a crinoline skirt. The hem was caught with clusters of hepaticas.

The groom was attended by his brother, Robert Bowen, and ushers were Bill Milne, brother of the bride, and Ted McCaig.

A reception was held at the ClubAragon, where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of navy blue crepe and matching velvet hat. Her corsage was of red and white carnations. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of cinnamon crepe with a hat of beige mesh. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a motor trip to New York City. For travelling the bride wore a navy box style suit with matching velvet hat.

The couple will live in Toronto.

Trip To Chicago Follows TwoRingWedding

The double ring marriage of Miss Maria Angela Andrews and Mr. Murray Elwood Wight was solemnized on Saturday in St. John's Anglican Church by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Andrews and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wight, all of Peterborough.

White gladioli decorated the church for the ceremony and Mr. F. G. Mann, organist, played the music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a dress of silver blue tissue faille, made in street-length and styled with a stand-up collar and softly draped skirt. Her hat was of white feathers trimmed with blue veiling. She carried a white prayer book with a cascade of pink sweetheart roses. Her attendant was Mary Milburn who was wearing a dress of honey-beige tissue faille similarly styled. Her hat was of dark green feathers and she wore a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Donald Foster and ushers were Garnet Pogue and Jack Hughes.

At the reception held in the Colonial Room the bride's mother received in a dress of olive green taffeta and wore a black feather hat. The groom's mother was in violet nylon mesh over taffeta and wore a black velvet hat. Each had a corsage of yellow 'mums.

Leaving afterward on a wedding trip to Chicago, the bride was wearing a grey suit with black and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The couple will live in Peterborough.

Many From Out of Town

Out-of-town guests at the Barnett-Allan wedding in St. Paul's church Saturday were: from Orillia: Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Perryman, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Perryman, Miss Catherine Perryman, Miss Beatrice Harvie, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allan, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Allan, Miss Jane Allan, Mr. and Mrs. H. MR. AND MRS. ROY RENWICK, the bride formerly Joan Munro, who were married Saturday in St. James United Church.—(Duke Studio Photo)

Renwick-Munro Wedding Double Ring Ceremony

Rings and marriage vows were exchanged in St. James United Church on Saturday by Ethel Joan Munro and Roy Maxwell Renwick, both of Peterborough, as the Rev. Hueston D. McCormick solemnized their marriage. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Munro of Stirling, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Renwick of Westwood.

Baskets of pink and white and bronze gladioli at the chancel formed a beautiful background for the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mr. Wm. R. Potter and Mr. Bruce Warr of Westwood was soloist. Before the marriage he sang "Because" and during signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You."

An original gown of white French lace over pink taffeta was worn by the bride. It was styled with off the shoulder neckline trimmed with small scalloped colar and had a small train on the full skirt, gathered to the fitted bodice which had long pointed sleeves, fastened with tiny covered buttons. Her fingertip veil was enhanced with a border of Chantilly lace and was caught to a headdress of lace in helmet style. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and pink Bettertime roses.

Given in marriage by her father she was attended by her sisters, Mrs. George Duffin of Madoc, matron of honor, Miss Erna Munro, Peterborough, bridesmaid, and her nieces, Miss Gail Munro, Smiths Falls, and Miss Barbara Duffin, Madoc, flower girls.

The matron of honor was frocked in cinnamon brown lace over pink taffeta, the bridesmaid in light green lace over pink taffeta, the dresses styled alike with pointed collars and cap sleeves on the fitted bodices and full, gathered skirts. They wore lace mittens to match their overskirts and braided halos of matching color adorned with an ostrich plume at the side. The flower girls' dresses were of yellow taffeta, the neckline and sleeves trimmed with lace. The skirts were made in tiers with plain panels at front and back. They wore braided bandeaux of yellow taffeta and carried baskets of yellow and bronze 'mums. The attendants carried bouquets of green and bronze carnations with pink gladioli.

Mr. Max Harrison attended the groom and ushers were brothers of the bride and groom, Allan Munro and James Renwick.

The reception was held in the YWCA, the bride's mother receiving in a gown of royal blue velvet and wearing a white feather hat and corsage of white roses. The groom's mother, assisting in the receiving line, wore a gown of teal blue tissue faille and black velour hat and her corsage was of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Renwick left afterward on a wedding trip to Ottawa and the eastern States. The bride travelled in a plaid suit of "dress Stewart" and wore navy and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

They will live at 13 Benson Ave. on their return.

200 Attend Trousseau Tea

A trousseau tea was given last Wednesday by Mrs. Fred W. Steinkrauss, R. R. 2. Peterborough, for her daughter Violet. Tea was poured by Mrs. Charles Fisher, Mrs. Herbert Dawson, Mrs. Lillian Craig and Mrs. Haig in the afternoon and in the evening by Mrs. J. W. Steinkrauss, Mrs. Herbert Dawson, Mrs. Stanley Blewett and Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss, all aunts of the bride and groom. The table was laid with a pink embossed cloth and centred with a rose bowl of sweetheart roses and pink candles. Those serving were Misses Beverley Dawson, Mary Eagleson, Margaret Steinkrauss and Mrs. J. Callahan in the afternoon, and Misses Marilyn White, Mildred Steinkrauss, Mary Quinn and Floris Ferguson in the evening. About 200 attended the tea. The trousseau and gifts were shown by Misses Ruth Steinkrauss, Betty Thompson, Violet Sanderson and Norma Ball.

SIGNING THE REGISTER of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church is the former Violet Steinkrauss who become the bride of Mr. Alan Eagleson on Monday.—(Roy Studio Photo)

Motoring To Vancouver After Labor Day Nuptials

A floral setting of gladioli was in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, scene of the double ring wedding ceremony on Monday of Violet Ruth Steinkrauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Steinkrauss, and Alan Dawson Eagleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eagleson of Bailieboro. The Rev. Charles G. Boyd officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown fashioned on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline and a small stand-up collar, the skirt falling into a short train. Her full length veil of illusion net was caught to a Juliet cap of satin and seed pearls. She carried an all-white cascade of pom pom 'mums and ivy.

Miss Ruth Steinkrauss, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing white nylon organza embossed in rose, fashioned with a tight fitting bodice and full skirt. Bridesmaids Miss Mildred Steinkrauss, cousin of the bride, Miss Mary Eagleson, sister of the groom, and Miss Norma Ball, wore similar gowns of white organza embossed in blue. All wore matching Juliet caps trimmed with lily of the valley and they carried baskets of mixed summer flowers.

Mr. Clarence Eagleson was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Frazer Steinkrauss, cousin of the bride, Robert Fisher, cousin of the groom, and Robert Greer.

Before the ceremony Mrs. John Knox of Norwood sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register she sang "I'll walk beside you." Organist Mr. Christopher Gledhill played the wedding music.

The reception was held at the Empress Hotel where the bride's mother received in a gown of mocha crepe and lace with matching hat of pressed feathers. Her corsage was of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Eagleson, mother of the groom, also received, wearing navy crepe and lace with a navy velvet hat and corsage of Bettertime roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Vancouver. For travelling the bride chose a suit of sea blue English wool and matching topcoat and she had navy accessories. Her corsage was a white gardenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Eagleson will live at Bailieboro.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Courageous Girl Takes Burdens of Entire Family

DEAR MISS DIX—I come from a poor family, but I am married now with two children. I have always vowed to do my best to better my life and my family's.

Now I have the chance, and wonder if I will succeed.

Dorothy Dix

My father is going to a veteran's hospital for the third time, and my mother, who is unable to do any housework, will be left with very little income. So my mother, two sisters, one brother and my own small family are moving into a large house. With mother's things and mine we will have a home with all necessities in it. Our income will be sufficient, with my husband's salary and my father's pension.

I want to teach my sisters how to do things to make a nice home, to cook and care for their clothes. Only one can cook a little, and as things were a little haphazard at home, they don't know how to plan meals or anything like that. I'd also like to make my other sisters and brothers realize that, when they visit with their children, the youngsters should not be given the run of the house to this one defect. However, I do seriously advocate using a toupee, or something along that line. As you say, most people will add ten years to your age, and a young man of 24 doesn't want to go around with a double handicap. You'd probably be greatly surprised at the number of men, even among your own acquaintances, who camouflage baldness.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — I'm very much in love with a man who was jilted while in the service. He loved the girl very much but says he no longer cares for her. I'm in love with him but he has told me he doesn't love me and doesn't want to go steady. He wants me to go out with him; we do have good times together.

ELIZABETH G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: To capture a man's heart on the rebound is not a difficult job, but it does require patience. If you really want him, accept his dates on a friendship basis; make no mention of your love for him or of the girl who jilted him. Don't be too eager for his attentions and above all, don't

GINNY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—You are a wise and courageous girl to undertake the terrific job ahead of you. I hope your family appreciates what you are trying to do and co-operates with you.

Keep Visitors In Line

When the visiting families arrive and see the changes you are trying to make in the old home they should have sense enough to see that their marauding offspring are kept within bounds. If not, you will have to take a firm stand and tell both children and parents that toys must be put away, feet kept off furniture and food eaten only in the rooms assigned for that purpose. Your efforts at ordliness should impress both the sisters at home, and those married.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX — I am a young man of 24 and unfortunately, prematurely bald. Although there have been many times when I've been desirous of the company of some charming female, I've hesitated to make an acquaintance because of the aforementioned "handicap." Although I may be wrong, I feel sure a girl would take one look at my hairless pate and turn me down for a date. Most people think I'm eight or ten years older than I am. Lately I've become quite interested in a young lady and seem to be adopting the same course of inaction that I've followed on similar previous occasions. Do you think a girl coud become seriously interested in me?

MAT.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—While a bald head may not be the most attractive thing in the world, it certainly is not the drawback you fear it is. You undoubtedly have enough good qualities to counterbalance

Royal Message On 100th Birthday

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP). — Mrs. Elizabeth Adams had a grand time celebrating her 100th birthday.

The King and Queen sent their congratulations; the deputy mayor's wife presented her with a corsage; and Alderman W. G. Davies called by with heartiest wishes on behalf of the city.

A birthday-party room was decorated with colorful streamers, bouquets, bells and golden letters spelling "Congratulations" and "100."

Mrs. Adams was all "pepped up" about the party, said the sister superior in St. Anthony's Home where Mrs. Adams has lived since 1943.

Although her eyesight and hearing are failing, Mrs. Adams still gets about by herself, using a cane. Until this year she went for long walks each day.

She has a remarkable memory and can recite many poems by Tennyson, Longfellow, Service and others.

Born in Bristol, England, in 1851, Mrs. Adams came to Canada in 1910. Her husband died in 1895.

One of her nine children is living. She has seven grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren in Toronto.

LIFE BECOMES DULL

MONTREAL, Sept. 5 (CP). — John Creasey, English author, on Tuesday told a Montreal service club that in the last five or six years there has come upon the English people a dullness, drabness, orderliness, and discipline never there before. He said there was little choice of food and with increasing austerity came increasing frustration. Shopping, instead of being a pleasure for women was an ordeal.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

September Vegetable Plate As Special Purpose Menu

September Vegetable Plate:
Baked Stuffed Tomatoes
Baked Crumbed Eggplant
Corn on the Cob
Cream-Cheese and Pepper Stuffed Celery
Blueberries in Melon Halves
Marianne's Oatnut Drops
Coffee

Directions:

All ye who hate rabbit fodder and health food look the other way. This meal abounds in fruits and vegetables and is a joy to health addicts.

We have just finished eating it. Marianne and Pete are washing the dishes while I type this out before I forget how I made that delicious blueberry and melon combination.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes

Scoop out centres of 6 large firm tomatoes. Fill with mixture of scooped-out tomato chopped, soft breadcrumbs, grated cheddar cheese, crisp bits of bacon, grated onion, salt and pepper. Top with buttered crumbs and a little more grated cheese. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes.

Baked Crumbed Eggplant

Pare eggplant and slice ¼ or ½-inch thick. Dip in beaten egg then in fine cracker or stale breadcrumbs. Place on pre-heated shallow baking dish, slices slightly overlapping, in which you have melted 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Raise to top rack in oven to brown these just before they are finished. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 35 minutes.

We took half of a package of white cream cheese and mashed it with a little mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper, and filled 2-inch pieces of celery stalks with it.

The Blueberry Melon combination was what impressed me though. I boiled together 2 tablespoons sugar, grated rind half lemon ½ cup water and 1 tablespoon lemon juice for 1 minute. I removed this from the heat and added slightly more than 1 pint of plump blueberries and as soon as it cooled to room temperature I chilled it. The melons were chilled too. I filled each half melon with this blueberry compote. To me it was new and certainly a success.

Marianne's Oatnut Drops

Marianne has a notion that all cookies are liable to be deceiving and spread too much in the oven. When she discovered that all drop cookies don't spread she became interested in making this batch. (Of course the fact that her boy friend was coming for dinner may have spurred her on.)

One cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup shortening (we used no butter), ½ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 4 cup corn flakes, 2 cups rolled oats, 1 cup chopped almonds, ¼ cup finely shredded cocoanut. Cream the shortening then add the sugar and salt and cream. Beat in the eggs and vanilla until the mixture is very creamy. Sift the unsifted bread flour with the soda and baking powder and stir into first mixture Add all remaining ingredients. Mix well. Drop onto buttered cookie sheet from teaspoon and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 12 to 15 minutes. This made 82 cookies, which had dwindled to 72 by the time the last ones were taken from the oven. Not one was burned with her hawkeye watching that oven.

What's Right?

When a man is a dinner guest he notices the hostess start to move chairs to the table.

WRONG: He sits still and lets her move them.

RIGHT: He jumps up to help her.

Superstitions Dying Out Expert Says

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 — (AP) — A lot of old superstitions and misbeliefs are dying out, a psychologist says, but new ones keep cropping up.

Many superstitions or misconceptions current in 1925 apparently are becoming extinct, Dr. Eugene Levitt of Columbia University today told the American Psychological Association.

Such as: children are born with distinctive knowledge of good and evil; lines in a person's hand foretell his future; women are inferior to men in intelligence, but they are purer by nature; a square jaw is a sign of will power, and a high forehead means you're bright, and the person who does not look you in the eye is probably dishonest.

Dr. Levitt gave a list of these beliefs to 110 college students. He compared their answers with the same questionnaire given to students in 1925.

Far smaller percentages still thought the statements were true, he said.

But, he said, a different list was tried on other students. This showed tthat many false beliefs still are pretty current today.

Such as: all criminals are feeble-minded; the American Indian sees better than the white man; the complexity of life is causing more insanity; the color red excits a bull (it's waving anything, of any color, he explained); men judge by reason and women by feeling and intuition.

British Name Guerrilla Head

SINGAPORE, Sept. 5 (Reuters).—A call of "get Ching Peng —he's dangerous" went out tonight to anti-guerrilla fighters in Malaya, naming for the first time the leader of Communist rebels who have tied up hundreds of British troops and terrorized white settlers.

Ching Peng, of Chinese descent was once a trusted fighter with Britons in jungle warfare against the Japanese invaders of the Second World War.

He was identified tonight as new secretary-general of the Communist party by Eliot Watrous, deputy head of emergency information services in Malaya. Watrous said Ching had taken over leadership of the party, succeeding a mysterious "Mr. Wright" who was expelled from the post.

A reward of 80,000 Straits dollars ($26,500) awaits anyone who delivers him alive to British authorities. They will pay 60,000 Straits dollars for his corpse.

Compliment Engineer Who Sounded Alarm

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 5 (CP)— A railway engineer who alerted the village of Mount Brydges to a major fire was complimented today on his alertness by Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways.

Frank J. Pok of London, Ont., was credited with arousing the sleeping residents of the village to the danger of a large fire which he saw gaining headway in the Mount Brydges Lumber Company July 28.

Engineer Pok was introduced to his company president as Mr. Cordon started out on a tour of London CNR facilities.

Pok gave the alarm by blowing the locomotive whistle.

Lakefield Couple Mark 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Grylls of Lakefield marked the silver anniversary of their wedding on Sunday, September 2nd, and were given a celebration by Mrs. H. J. Brown of Lakefield and her daughters Mrs. Lloyd McMullen of Lindsay Mrs. J. N. Brown of Bancroft and Mrs. Ronald Kemp of Peterborough at the latter's home on Sherbrooke St. W.

Gladioli and fall flowers were used to decorate for the occasion and the tea table was laid with lace cloth, pink candles in crystal holders and centred with a wedding cake.

A silver tea service, inlaid silver salad bowl with servers and gifts of money were presented to the couple.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Brown, Mr. J. D. Grylls, Miss Lanura Grills, Lakefield; Mrs. S. Nugent, Miss Eva Nugent, Mr. Bob Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McMullen, all of Lindsay; Mr. S. Switzer of Pembroke; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sharpe of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Erskine, Carol and Anne and Lynn of Burlington; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brown, Joyce, Beth and Bill of Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kemp and family.

Ottawa Woman To Greet Princess

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 (CP). — A woman will be the chief greeter for the city of Ottawa when Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip visit the capital Oct. 3-5.

City council last night decided to defer action on the appointment of a successor to the late Mayor Grenville Goodwin for "one month of 31 days."

The action means acting mayor Charlotte Whitton will head Ottawa's civic delegations in welcoming the Lord Mayor of London this weekend and for the Royal visit early in October.

Miss Whitton, a member of Board of Control, from which the mayor will be chosen, has been acting mayor since Mr. Goodwin's death Aug. 23.

He Took a Chance

BRITOL, RI, Sept. 5. (AP) —The accurate throwing arm of a policeman solved a difficult situation today. Mrs. William R. Arciero reported that a skunk was in her yard with its head stuck in a bottle. The police approached warily. From a safe distance, one heaved a rock that smashed the bottle. The skunk scuttled off into the woods.

Three Injured In Korean Action

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 (CP).—The Army today issued its 47th casualty list of the Korean war, reporting one man wounded in action and one officer and one man injured in action.

The list was the first in which the Army used the expression, "injured in action." Previously such casualties were classified as "battle accidents," but this was found confusing.

The latest list brought to 236 the number of casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korea, including 58 dead, 158 wounded 19 injured in action and one missing.

Wounded in Action

Humphrey, Frank Vincent, Pte.; RCIC; Mrs. Violet Jean Humphrey (wife), RR No. 4, Bothwell, Ont.

Injured in Action

Heath, John Kenneth, MC; Capt.; RCA; Toronto; Mrs. Mary Marjorie Heath (wife), 3661 Ste. Famille Street, Montreal.

Melanson, Alyre Joseph, Cpl.; RCIC; Mrs. Unice Melanson (mother), Sackville, NB.

Rob Montreal Bank Pair Steal $10,000

MONTREAL, Sept. 5 (CP). — Two men wearing rubber masks today held up a Sherbrooke Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada and fled with $10,000. One robber was caught almost immediately.

The robbery took place soon after the bank's 10 a.m. opening.

The robbers brandished guns and ordered two customers and 15 employees to the rear of the bank. Then they rifled the cash drawers in the tellers' cages.

Urge US Wheat Export Curbed

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Corn and Trade News today urged the expansion of export wheat growing in Canada, Australia and Argentina and its curtailment in the United States as a means of promoting cheaper and more economically grown supplies for the world market.

The United States has dominated the world wheat market ever since the war, through its ability to raise large amounts of grain for export combined with its aid programs which have supplied money to wheat importers to buy the grain.

This American influence "has undoubtedly been beneficial and the world would have been lost without it," said the Corn Trade News, a daily journal devoted to the grain trade. "It is, however, a political and philanthropic interest rather than an economic interest."

Australia can still produce surplus wheat much more economically than the USA," said the paper.

The international wheat agreement now "relies too much on the United States and on the willingness of that country to continue paying out subsidies on the present scale indefinitely" and the agreement soon will be coming to an end "without any planned effort by the world" to lift itself out of an artificial distribution of its wheat supply.

"Canada, Australia and Argentina should be schooled gradually to take over from the United States some part of her war and post war responsibilities of meeting the world's wheat demand," the Journal said.

Hundreds of Ducks Die On St. Lawrence

MONTREAL, Sept. 5 (CP). — Officials of the Quebec Fish and Game Department and the RCMP are today trying to locate the source of oil on the waters of the St. Lawrence river, which has caused the death of hundreds of ducks along the east end tip of the island of Montreal.

Charles Lefrancois, district superintendent, says the plumage of ducks has become so oiled that they cannot fly, and that hundreds of ducks have been found dead near smaller islands which dot the river near Bout d'Ile.

Attempts are being made by government workmen to clear away the weeds and rushes which have become saturated with oil and are traps for the birds.

Marmora News

Miss Stella McWilliams of Toronto is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Eggleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones and Mr. and Mrs. William Jones attended the Marmora Fair on Monday.

Miss Eva Shannon has returned home after spending three weeks with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nayler and daughter Janet of Madoc spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nayler.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nayler and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grant are holidaying at Baptiste lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Nickle have moved into the residence on Forsythe street, recently vacated by Mrs. Grace Pack.

Make Eighth Arrest

TOKYO, Spet. 5 — (Reuters)— Police today arrested the eighth member of an eight Communist Party leader on charges of anti-occupation activity. Kanichi Kawayami, 63, member of the party's supplementary policy committee, was arrested today. Seven others were arrested on Tuesday.

Must Pay Tax On Dividends

OTATWA, Sept. 5 — (CP). — The Income Tax Appeal Board has ruled that a man must pay income tax on dividends from stock he has given his wife, even when she later exchanges the stock for another security.

The board, in a decision announced today, decided that Harry C. McLaughlin, Galt industrialist, must pay the tax on $30,000 in stock dividends received by his wife in 1948.

According to the evidence, he presented his wife with 400 shares of a stock in 1939. Later, she exchanged them for stock in another company. At the same time, she agreed to renounce the original gift and to buy the original stock from her husband, giving him a note for $40,000.

Chairman Fabio Monet ruled Mr. McLaughlin avoid paying income tax on the dividends.

He commented that the evidence "clearly shows that the appellant (Mr. McLaughlin) tried, in what he thought would be a clever and easy way, to reduce his taxable income. . . ."

Old Landmark In Montreal Being Razed

MONTREAL (CP)—A century-old landmark is disappearing from this city's downtown architectural scene, as workmen demolish the former home of Senator James Ferrier.

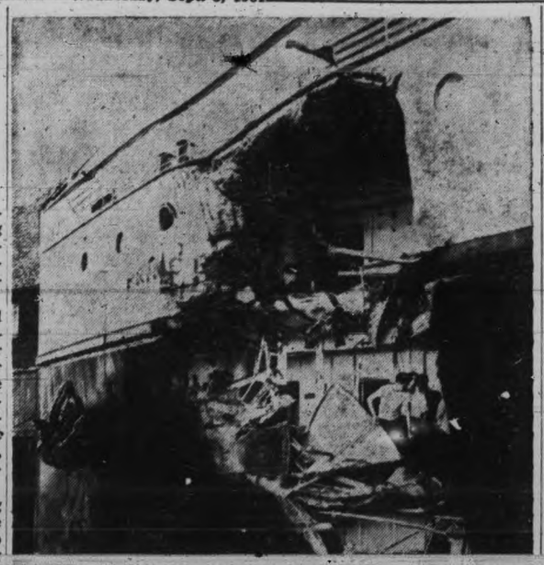
A former mayor of Montreal and chancellor of McGill University from 1844 to 1846, Senator Ferrier built the home in Beaver Hall Hill district to house the families of his four sons in intimacy and privacy. The building occupied land that was part of the estate of Joseph Frobisher, fur-trade king of the 18th century.

A network of inter-connecting rooms made it possible for the four sons and their families to visit one another without leaving [illegible] lived in an adjoining building which houses the Montreal Engineers' Club.

After remaining unoccupied for years, the site was purchased by the Canadian Industries Limited, and most of the plans for the war plants in the district were drawn in offices opened in the building.

The walls of the "castle" are five feet thick and the oak beams and joists used in the original construction showed no sign of rotting and are in perfect condition.

Demolition experts say that it will take some weeks before the building is finally cleared and a careful search is being made of the ruins for any documents of historical value of the building's era.



COLLISION DAMAGE—This gaping hole was torn in the port bow of the C.P.R. steamer Princess Kathleen when she collided with the Prince Rupert, C.N.R. passenger vessel, 34 miles northwest of Prince Rupert, B.C. Both vessels made port under their own steam. They carried 480 passengers, none of whom were injured.

Alleged Churchill Campaign Enlivening UK Political Doldrums

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Sept. 5—(CP)—An alleged whispering campaign against Conservative leader Winston Churchill now enlivens an otherwise dull period in British politics.

The scope and origins of the campaign, if any, are difficult to judge. There have been wars and rumors of war within the Conservative Party since its 1945 defeat, but nothing to justify reports of real dissension.

Now The Daily Express, always pro - Churchill if not always pro-Conservative, says that a Socialist-inspired "smirch - and - smear" campaign is being directed against the wartime leader. It warns that it is starting "to permeate the ranks" of the Tory party, too.

A. J. Cummings, political correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle, embellishes the conversation piece with a report that, indeed, Churchill is the "victim of something akin to a party whispering campaign." Cummings says Churchill has sometimes antagonized Tories by frustrating new policy proposals, sometimes by insisting on going his own way.

Prefer Eden

Other gossip has been that some Conservatives would like to see Churchill step down in favor of Anthony Eden, who is thought to be politically "safe." The theory is that Eden, representing a moderate middle-of-the-road approach, might sway more marginal voters than a man who made his reputation largely as a leader in war.

Recent samplings of public opinion are reported to give this idea a measure of suport. One survey indicated that those polled would rather have Eden than Churchill at the head of a Conservative government. Even among Conservatives, the survey indicated, Churchill had only a five-per-cent edge over Eden.

In the past, there have been reports that opposition existed among the group of Conservative members nominally led by R. A. Butler, the party's chief policy planner. In a conversation with this correspondent, Butler said then there was nothing to his talk. It almost certainly has no substance now. In a speech at Camborne, Cornwall, during the weekend, Butler said:

Need Churchill

"This country needs Churchill, this great world - respected Liberal-minded leader, and we Conservatives mean to have him once again."

Another prominent Conservative during the weekend that the risks of war would be halved overnight if Churchill were back in Downing Street and Mr. Eden at the Foreign Office."

On balance, it seems probable that some Conservatives are restless after six years of playing second fiddle to the ruling Labor party, but highly doubtful that any kind of organized whispering campaign exists, inside or outside the party.

On Way Home

HONG KONG, Sept. 5. (Reuters)—A team of Japanese experts has reached Hong Kong on their way home after surveying the possibilities of salvaging Japanese ships sunk in Indo-China waters during the Second World War. A spokesman said that about 100 Japanese ships totalling about 500,000 tons were sunk off the Indo-China coast.

2 Men Conquer High Spires In Alta. Rockies

COLEMAN, Alta (CP)—All but one of the "Seven Sisters," in the foothills of the Canadian Rockies, now have been climbed.

The Sisters, bare and jagged rock spires averaging 750 feet, were tackled by two Swiss-born mountaineers, Bruno Engler and Fritz Frey.

Before their attack, only "the placid one" had been climbed. It took them three weekends to defeat five more.

Their most difficult climb was the main spire, "the old sister."

Engler, an Alberta Government photographer, said they had to inch their way up the last 120 feet using hand holds only.

I had to hang on and continue," he said.

80-Foot Leaps

The descent was made with the help of rappels, rope-offs, and the climbers swung through the air in 80-foot leaps.

During their leaps, the ropes were attached to pitons driven into crevices in the rock.

Near the bottom of the spire, the climbers had to make a blind rope-off to reach the ground.

"We took a pot-luck chance and it paid off," Engler said. "At the end of the last rope-off, there I was dangling just two feet from the ground."

They said they plan to come back to climb the only spire that they couldn't manage this time. It's No. 2—"the witch"—with barren perpendicular sides and a bleak overhang.

Chinese Bullets To Change Story

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 (CP).—Chinese Communist bullets have opened a new chapter in the Ming Sung story.

Government officials, still lacking confirmation, were pondering Tuesday a news report from Hong Kong that one of the seven Ming Sung Corporation ships flying the Canadian flag has come under Red fire off Hong Kong.

It is the Yu Men which news report said, was machine-gunned Sunday but suffered no casualties. She was returning to Hong Kong from Macao.

An External Affairs Department spokesman said today it is too early yet to tell what the government will do about it.

But it was recalled that during the heated Commons debates of last session Prime Minister St. Laurent said the possibility of Communist action against the Canadian flag was one of the factors the government had had to weight in considering whether to grant the Chinese firm the right to a Canadian charter for the seven ships.

Opposition members called for cancellation of the charter but the government declined on the grounds that the Chinese firm had done nothing illegal.

The government is backing a Canadian bank on a $12,000,000 mortgage held on the seven ships.

African Chiefs Urge Britain Send Exiled Leaders Home

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 5 — (Reuters) — Tribal chieftains in the African protectorate of Bechuanaland Tuesday asked Britain to send home exiled Bamangwato tribe leaders Seretse Khama and his uncle, Tshekedi Khama.

The Khamas were banished last year following a dispute over Seretse's marriage to a white English girl.

The chiefs made their demand in a 12-point memorandum issued after a meeting in Mafeking. They also: Accused Britain of showing dictatorial tendencies in her attempts to iron out the tribal squabble and charged that the British administration governing the protectorate tried to cover up its original mistake of banishing the Khamas from the Bamanwato reserve by deliberately confusing matters.

Trouble among the Bamangwatos began more than a year ago when Seretse, 30, married blonde London typist Ruth Williams, 27, and brought her home

Seretse's uncle—also Regent of the tribe—objected to the match, went into voluntary exile and touched off a violent tribal squabble.

To avoid serious internal trouble, the British government banished Seretse for five years early in 1950. Soon after Tshekedi was also banished.

Seretse, his wife and baby daughter are living in London. Tshekedi recently returned to a part of Bechuanaland outside his home reserve.

Birth Under Difficulties

SAUGUS, Mass., Sept. 5 (AP)—A 22-year-old woman gave birth to a healthy seven-pound girl Tuesday four hours after she was shot accidentally in the abdomen with a rifle. Mrs. Bernice Sturnolo and the baby were reported resting comfortably. Police said Harold Smith, 20, was cleaning his rifle when it discharged twice. The bullets pierced the wall of the Sturnolo home and struck Mrs. Sturnolo.

Didn't Waste Time

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP). — A 55-year-old man who had quarrelled with his estranged wife walked into an east-end hardware store Tuesday, purchased a clothesline, asked where the washroom was and was directed to the basement, then hanged himself.

Lots of Water

MONCTON, NB—(CP)—Moncton's rainy summer may be unpopular with tourists and farmers, but it's having one good effect. The two city reservoirs in July had about 400,000,000 gallons more water than at the same time last year.

MINE PRODUCTION

Canadian mines produced metals valued at $901,110,026 two years ago.

Harwood News

Captain and Mrs. Meldrem of Toronto spent the weekend with Mrs. Meldrem's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McEwan-Neill, at their summer home on the lakeshore.

Mr. and Mrs. George U. Isaac were entertained by the Harwood community and their relatives on Wednesday evening in the Community Hall in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in dancing, and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac were presented with a silver cream and sugar set and tray, a cushion and an occasional chair.

Pauline Drope won the third prize at the public speaking contest in the Coliseum at the Canadian National Exhibition on Tuesday, and an award of $25.

Mrs. Charles Rogers, who has been ill, is convalescing at her home on the lakeshore road.

UN Troops Fight Way Out of Trap

18-Hour Battle Rages Before Allies Make Way To Lines

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 6.—(AP)—An Allied unit tonight fought its way through encircling Chinese Communists and reached safety after an 18-hour battle on the western Korean front.

An estimated 3,000 Chinese, reinforced by tanks and artillery, had attacked the United Nation's unit in two spots. The fight began Wednesday midnight. The UN force took out its wounded on tanks and armored vehicles.

The Allies said they killed 300 to 400 Chinese. At least eight Reds were taken prisoner.

One Allied officer said the abrupt attack by at least a regiment of Reds might be the beginning of a new offensive. An Eighth Army spokesman said it was too early to tell.

Another officer suggested it was a Red attempt to clean UN troops out of the "Trans-Imjin" area, 30 miles north of Seoul, in preparation for a build-up for an ultimate major Communist offensive.

The Reds attacked with two tank-supported forces of about 1,000 men each.

Pulled Back

The British Northumberland Fusiliers were sent in to try to reach the surrounded Allies. They ran into heavy Red fire and were pulled back.

Allied planes pounded one attacking Red force fiercely.

British 25-pounder guns took the second Red outfit under fire.

Eye-witnesses said the final escape of the UN force was a "mad dash" by armored vehicles and foot troops.

The Red attack last midnight precipitated a battle that lasted throughout Thursday in the low hills 25 miles northeast of Kaesong, site of the disrupted truce talks.

Hundreds Of Planes

Hundreds of planes swarmed in to rocket, bomb, strafe and burn the Chinese. At least two Russian-type T-34 tanks were knocked out.

An Allied tank infantry force fought through a hail of Red fire trying to relieve the encircled unit.

At least one tank and two armored vehicles got through. They joined tanks already with the trapped outfit in carrying out the wounded.

Red fire slackened at nightfall.

Then the UN unit began its fighting pull-back toward its own lines. Allied planes provided air cover.

Ball "Fixer" Gives Up

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—An alleged big-time basketball "fixer" who had been sought from coast to coast since July 24, surrendered today. Jack West, 40, described as a "big-time bookmaker," walked into the district attorney's office with his lawyer. West was indicted in July charged with offering a $10,000 bribe to Gene Melchiorre, Bradley University player, to throw a 1950 championship game with City College. Melchiorre said he refused the bribe.

If Want Parley Get New Site Ridgway Says

TOKYO, Sept. 6 (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the Reds in a stinging note today that if they want to end the shooting in Korea they should agree to start truce talks anew somewhere else.

The United Nations' Commander also brusquely told the Communists to stop their "constant deceit and treachery" in manufacturing incidents for "false and malevolent" charges against the Allies.

Ridgway left it completely up to the Communists whether negotiations are to be resumed. But the UN Commander made it clear the talks won't be at Kaesong. His information office said it is not a suitable site because "it is within Communist lines."

Purpose Forgotten

A release by the Information Office said the situation has reached a point "where the question of the neutrality of the Kaesong zone has overshadowed the original purpose of the meetings."

The Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23 after charging the UN violated the neutrality zone. Ridgway reiterated Thursday that that charge, and others that followed it, were "without the slightest basis in fact."

His proposal to set a new locale for negotiations actually changes the situation of the stalled talks only slightly.

He said that if the Reds are ready to start negotiating a cease-fire again, their liaison officers could talk about a new site. The Communists have said repeatedly they would resume negotiations only if Ridgway admitted responsibility for their charges.

If Communist commanders — North Korean Premier Kim Il sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Tehhuai—agreed to go ahead with negotiations now they would in effect be admitting their charges were false.

Ridgway's note indicated he doubted the Communists really want peace.

Three Escape By Leaping Two Storeys

Mother Killed Trying To Rouse Others In Household

SEPT ILES, Que., Sept. 6.—(CP)—Seven members of a family of 11 were burned to death today when flames roared through their two-storey frame home.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Leger Lapierre, 45 and 39, and their children, Gerard, 11; William, 8; Raymond, 5; Jean-Yves, 3, and Nicole, 1.

Two other children of the Lapierre family and a cousin leaped to safety from a second floor window.

Dr. Gerard Beaulieu, who investigated what he called "Sept Iles' most tragic fire," said a cigarette apparently started the roaring blaze at 3 a.m., EDT.

Dr. Beaulieu said another son and daughter of the Lapierres did not live at home.

Vain Rescue Attempt

The three who escaped from the blazing house told the doctor Mrs. Lapierre died in a vain attempt to save her husband and children.

"She was the first one up and cried out to wake everyone. A boy went downstairs to see where the fire was located. The mother told a daughter and a cousin to leap out of a window and went back into another room to stir up her sleeping husband so he could help to bring out the children. She never came back. The boy who had gone downstairs only got out because someone smashed down the front door with axes," Dr. Beaulieu said.

Princess To Make Radio Address At Ottawa Dinner

OTTAWA, Sept. 6. (CP)—A state dinner with a broadcast address by Princess Elizabeth will highlight the visit here Oct. 3 and 4 of the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh, it was announced today. Details of their stay in the capital were disclosed with the release of the official program. The Royal couple will arrive in the capital at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 3, at a railway siding at Ottawa's picturesque Island Park Driveway. A royal salute of 21 guns will be fired.

They will be greeted by the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent and acting Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa. An inspection of a guard of honor will follow.

The royal couple then will meet members of the Federal Cabinet, the Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, Commonwealth High Commissioners, Speakers of the Senate and the House of Commons, the chiefs of staffs of the armed services, and other official welcomers.

From the arrival spot, they will be driven to Lansdowne Park where Ottawa school children will be assembled for the presentation of a bouquet of flowers to the Princess.

Place Wreath

They will place a wreath at the Capital's national war memorial and motor to Government House, home of the Governor-General, and their residence while in Ottawa, at noon.

A press reception will follow their arrival there and they then will lunch privately with Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent at the Prime Minister's official residence at No. 24 Sussex Street.

Accompanied by Works Minister Fournier and Mrs. Fournier, they will visit neighboring Hull, Que., that afternoon for an official welcome at the Hull City Hall. Mr. Fournier is member of Parliament for Hull.

Visit Parliament Buildings

At 4 pm, they will visit the Parliament Buildings and present Queen Mary's Carpet to the National Gallery of Canada. A half-hour visit will be made to the Archives of Canada.

The State dinner will take place at 8 pm. Princess Elizabeth will deliver a brief address in reply to the toast by the Governor-General. Her address will be broadcast. An official reception will begin at 10 pm.

Thursday, October 4, the royal couple will attend a civic luncheon at the Chateau Laurier given by the City of Ottawa and will make a boat trip on the Ottawa River, weather permitting.

From 5 to 7 pm, they will attend a Canadian Government reception at the Chateau Laurier, dining later at a buffet supper at Government House. They will leave Government House late in the evening to board the royal train, which departs from the Capital at 1:05 am Friday, October 5, to open their tour of Ontario centres.

Oil Ultimatum Strikes Snag Premier Finds

TEHRAN, Sept. 6 — (AP). — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's proposed ultimatum to Britain on the stalled oil talks struck a snag today when more than half the members of the Lower House of Parliament boycotted a session called to approve the premier's policy.

The ultimatum would give the British two weeks to re-open the talks on the nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's properties. If they refused, Iran would expel 350 British tecnicians remaining at the company's giant refinery at Abadan.

After vainly trying to round up the missing deputies for two hours, Mossadegh postponed the session until Sunday.

The lack of a quorum was in sharp contrast to Wednesday's session of the Senate which gave the premier a vote of confidence without a dissent.

The boycott was the most serious expression of opposition to Mossadegh since he came to power last May. It was clear the deputies feared to vote openly against the nationalistic Mossadegh on the oil issue, but by staying away they avoided committing themselves.

To Bring Pressure

Mossadegh is expected to whip up his supporters to bring pressure on the absent deputies before the Sunday session.

The bazaars and shops of Tehran closed down today as a demonstration of support for the premier.

Police turned out in front of parliament and trucks filled with armed soldiers stood in the square in anticipation of possible disorders.

Russian Attempt To Stall Conference Fails Won't Sign Peace Treaty

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Soviet Russia, crushed Wednesday in her big move to stall the Japanese peace conference, angrily denounced the Japanese peace treaty sponsored by the United States and Britain and indicated she would not sign it. But the Western powers, jubilant over their unexpectedly-swift victory over the three-power Communist bloc, predicted the conference will roll along steadily to the treaty signing Saturday.

Representatives of 10 countries were listed to speak in two working sessions today, the second full day of the historic meeting.

Russia's Andrei Gromyko called the treaty "an aggressive military alliance with the United States" and branded it a "preparation for a new war in the Far East."

He took such a battering on every move he made Wednesday that some delegates believed he might be seeking new instructions from Moscow.

Expect Walkout

Anything from a walkout to new and stronger threats of war in the Far East was considered possible for the Russians and their Polish and Czech satellite delegations.

Gromyko told the conference that what the United States and Britain are sponsoring is not a treaty of peace but a treaty for the preparation of a new war in the Far East.

"The draft treaty," he charged, "creates conditions for the re-establishment of Japanese militarism, creates a danger of a new Japanese aggression."

Instead of providing for withdrawal of foreign (American occupation) troops, he went on, "it insures the presence of foreign armed forces on the territory of Japan and the maintenance of foreign military bases in Japan even after the signing of a peace treaty."

"Under the pretext of self-defence of Japan," he said, "the draft provides for the participation of Japan in an aggressive military alliance with the United States.

UN Observer Quitting India

NEW DELHI, Sept. 6 (AP) — Dr. Frank Graham's United Nations mission is preparing to leave soon—with the Indian-Pakistani dispute over Kashmir still unsettled.

Graham, who arrived here on his mission June 30, is said by sources close to him to have been concerned by the publication in several New Delhi newspapers of apparently inspired articles which, in effect, seemed to be telling Graham "here's your hat —what's your hurry?"

It is understood here Graham failed to penetrate India's opposition to the demand that her troops be withdrawn from disputed Kashmir before any plebiscite to determine whether the Kashmiris want to be Indians or Pakistanis.

Jilts His Bride Second Time

FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 6 — (Reuters) — Vittorio Jannitti-Piromallo, the reluctant groom, today left his bride waiting at the church for the second time in a year.

The 34-year-old Rome lawyer refused to leave his prison cell—where he's waiting trial on theft charges—to marry pretty, blonde Claudia Scalco, 23, in the prison's chapel.

Claudia was also arrested for theft here with him this summer. But she was released pending their joint trial Sept. 19.

"The wedding is off," tersely announced the prison chaplain to reporters.

He would not explain the groom's second last - minute change of mind. Jannitti-Piromallo jilted Claudia the first time last October. He astounded all Italy when at a swank ceremony in Rome he replied "No" after the priest asked him: "Do you take this woman...?"

Then he dashed out of the church.

He later became reconciled with Claudia and they went on a long vacation together, then were arrested here two months ago for theft of a car and three radios.

Have Money Troubles

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6. — (AP)—Hollywood is having its money troubles, too. Errol Flynn's last yacht (he's down to one) is the basis for a demand by Los Angeles county for $3,230.01 in back taxes and penalties. And Joan Bennett filed a suit yesterday seeking to prevent foreclosure on her $150,000 residence.

Gaitskell Starts Talks With US

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—Britain's treasury chief, Hugh Gaitskell, talked with two US cabinet officers today in the first of a series of high-level US-British-French discussions to be held here over the next week.

The whole range of the free world's problems will be covered in the conferences which reach their peak with meetings of foreign ministers of the three countries beginning Monday.

Gaitskell talked for 30 minutes alone with treasury secretary John Snyder. He told reporters afterward that their talk was devoted chiefly to making arrangements for financial discussions sometime Friday.

Gaitskell later went to the office of commerce secretary Charles Sawyer for a talk dealing chiefly, he said, with trade matters.

Talal Becomes King Of Jordan Kingdom

AMMAN, Jordan, Sept. 6—(AP)—King Talal I today took the throne of the Hashemite kingdom of Jordan, succeeding his father, the late King Abdullah.

The 40-year-old monrach took the constitutional oath before parliament shortly after his return from Switzerland, where he had undergone a rest cure.

The elevation of King Talal raises the question of Jordan's future relations with Britain. King Abdullah was Britain's staunch ally in the Middle East.

Dispatches from the region have called Talal anti-British, but in a statement in Athens Wednesday night he said he will continue "the same old, friendly relations" with Britain.

Friends Convinced Adamic Murdered Over New Book

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6 — (AP)—A Yugoslav newspaperman said today he is convinced that Louis Adamic was murdered. The author was found dead from a rifle shot Tuesday, was listed as a suicide pending investigations.

M. Anton Smole, correspondent for the Yugoslav News Agency Tanjug, said he had been a close friend of Adamic since 1947.

Smole told The Associated Press: "Mr. Adamic's life was threatened four times, twice by an American connected with Cominform agents operating in the United States."

The Cominform (Communist Information Bureau) is a Russian Propaganda Agency.

Smole said he last saw the 52-year-old writetr in June in New York. He said Adamic told him the threats began in 1949 when he returned from Yugoslavia with material for an Anti-Soviet, Pro-Tito book.

Adamic said he was beaten and kicked unconscious one night last March near Los Angeles. He blamed persons determined to see that the book was not written. (Adamic's secretary said the manuscript for "The Eagle and The Roots," complete but for one chapter, is missing).

The first threat was made in the summer of 1949 when a man went to the Adamics' isolated farmhouse near Milford, N. J., Smole said.

"This man advised Adamic to cease writing favorable articles about Yugoslavia and particularly warned him against publishing the book.

"In October, 1949, the man came back and threatened 'stop writing that book. You are a traitor to the working people. You are connected with the Fascist clique, the Tito clique. There will be a bad ending for you.'

Tanks Explode 2 Said Missing

AVONMOUTH, England, Sept. 6 (AP)—An explosion of undetermined origin touched off a raging fire late today in a compound containing 30 huge oil tanks. Two men were missing.

An hour after the blaze began nine tanks, containing 90,000 tons of petroleum, were aflame, and firemen said the other 21 tanks were likely to go.

The tanks belonged to the Regent Oil Company. Avonmouth is at the mouth of the River Avon, six miles north of Bristol.

Two Boxers Attend Funeral For Flores

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP) — The man who knocked him out and a fellow boxer who barely escaped a similar death attended the funeral today of 20-year-old George Flores, who died of brain injuries after a Madison Square Garden bout.

"I hope they keep all the promises they made to the widow and family," said Carmine Vingo, a young heavyweight boxer who hovered between life and death two years ago after suffering a brain injury following a Garden fight.

Roger Donoghue, Flores' conqueror, in the fatal welterweight match, sat tight-lipped through a 15-minute funeral service.

2 Hurricanes Menace Ocean Shipping Lanes

MIAMI, Sept. 6 (AP)—Shipping lanes were menaced today by two hurricanes whirling westward across the Atlantic, but neither was in position to arouse any immediate concern to land areas.

The nearest and most dangerous was reported by the Miami Weather Bureau at 6 a.m. EDT about 480 miles east-northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and travelling westward at 20 miles an hour.

Winds of 135 miles an hour were reported at the centre of the storm. Forecasters expected it to grow more powerful. Warnings went out to ships at sea to avoid it.

The other hurricane was spotted Wednesday about 1,700 miles west of Antigua in the British West Indies. It was moving west-northwest at 15 miles an hour with winds of hurricane force (75 miles an hour).

No reports were received on this storm during the night.

Murray To Retire

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP). President Philip Murray of the CIO wants to retire next year and leaders of the union have been advised to look for a successor, an ACIO official said today.

World Series Oct. 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP). — The world series will open Wednesday, Oct. 3 unless Cleveland wins the American League pennant in which case it will start Thursday, Oct. 4 in Cleveland.

Using Cameras In RCAF Search

KAPUSKASING, Sept. 6 (CP) —The RCAF called in a camera-equipped Lancaster today to aid in the search for Bill Barilko, Toronto Maple Leafs hockey player, and Dr. Henry Hudson, a Timmins dentist.

The Lancaster will photograph burned-over areas south of James Bay and an area in which a gasoline cache, an overturned canoe and a teepee were spotted earlier this week by a low-flying search plane.

The films will be flown to Trenton to be put under microscopic examination by air force photo evaluators.

Indians say the plane in which the hockey player and the dentist disappeared Aug. 26 after leaving Rupert House on the bay headed inland along the Nottawa River.

Hugo Watt, federal administrator of the James Bay beaver preserve, Wednesday night quoted a party of Indians as saying they sighted the plane flying just above the tree tops through heavy mist and bucking strong winds. The Indians, who were running some rapids 25 miles upriver from Rupert's House, said they thought the pilot was going to try to land on the river.

But the plane, with 120 pounds of fish aboard, roared off and faded from the Indians' view.

Gifts For Princess

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP). — Toronto's personal gift to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be a diamond-encrusted maple leaf pin and a pair of diamond-inset gold cufflinks, civic officials announced today. At the same time, an oil painting of a typical Canadian scene will be presented to the Royal couple.

UK Unions Nearly Censure Attlee On Teeth, Glasss

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 6 —(CP)— Leaders of the Trades Union Congress today narrowly prevented the giant Labor organization from censuring the government for imposing charges on false teeth and spectacles.

A resolution calling upon the Labor government to "abolish these charges forthwith" was beaten by a vote of 3,775,000 to 3,272,000.

One union, which presumably would have voted against the government, lot its tally card and was not recorded on the vote.

If the result had gone the other way it would have been an outstanding victory for Aneurin Bevan and an embarrassment to Prime Minister Attlee.

Bevan resigned from the government earlier this year partly because of the imposition of charges on teeth and spectacles. He also disagreed with the size of the government's rearmament effort.

Resolutions expressing Bevan's dissatisfaction with the British rearmament policies were swamped earlier by the 8,000,000-member T.U.C.

Earlier the Congress passed a resolution urging the government to nationalize the buying, marketing and distribuation of basic consumer goods —especially food.

It was under stood that the resolution particularly had milk, meat, fresh, vegetables and fruit in mind. It asked that "unnecessary intermediaries" be cut out.

There was no oppostion from the Congress leadership, which was already called for state control of meat and milk distribution.

Government experts are already working on a scheme to streamline vegetable and fruit marketing by cutting out middlemen and setting up state markets.

Grades Changed For PO Workers 10,000 Affected

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 (CP).—A reshuffle of grades affecting the jobs and salaries of some 10,000 postal workers across Canada is made effective by an order-in-council announced Wednesday by the government.

The order, back-dated to July 1 abolishes the position of junior postal clerk and postal clerk and replaces them with the new classifications of postal clerk grade 1 and postal clerk grade 2, respectively.

In addition, the order stipulates that letter carriers, mail porters and postal dispatchers in small cities will henceforth be on the same standing as men holding similar jobs in larger cities A differential which existed between postoffices of different sizes is wiped out.

Starting wage for the new position of postal clerk grade 1 is $1,812 annually, rising to a maximum of $2,364, compared with $1,536 rising to $2,232 for junior postal clerks. Postal clerks grade 2 salaries are unchanged at $2,028 to $2,904.

Meanwhile, reports are prevalent in Ottawa that a cost of living bonus will be given to all federal civil servants. The civil service commission is said to be preparing a report on the latest request of the civil service federation for a bonus of $288 a year or $24 a month to all government employees.

Finance Minister Abbott is said to prefer a straight salary increase rather than a cost of living bonus arrangement.

Won't Allow Norman Testify

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6 — (CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, Wednesday turned down a suggestion by Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep. Utah) that the Senate Internal Security Sub-Committee should invite Canadian diplomat Herbert Norman to appear before it.

Norman, here as chief adviser to the Canadian delegation to the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference, declined comment to a reporter. But Pearson, chief of the delegation, said in a brief statement:

"We have already indicated to the proper United States' authorities what we think of Dr. Wittfogel's statement and no further action seems to be required," Pearson said.

Dr. Karl August Wittfogel, one-time German Communist and now a member of the Columbia University staff in New York, named Norman recently as a member of a young Communist student group in the United States in 1939.

The Canadian government protested the mentioning of Norman's name by the sub-committee.

Red Wings Obtain Coflin From Hawks

DETROIT, Sept. 6—(CP)—Detroit Red Wings have obtained Chicago Black Hawks' defence man Hugh Coflin of Blaine Lake, Sask. as final payment of the largest player and cash transaction in National League history.

The deal, in which Black Hawks bought six Red Wingers for $75,000 and one player was announced Aug. 20.

Coflin was named today as the Hawk player in the deal.

Red Wings officials termed him a "good NHL prospect" and said he would be farmed out this year to their International team to get more experience.

Coflin spent some time with the Black Hawks in the NHL last season and also with Chicago's Milwaukee Sea Gulls farm club.

Senate Approves $5 Billion Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP). The Senate Wednesday approved a $5,387,669,178 expansion of American military bases at home and abroad—the largest construction program of its kind presented to Congress in peacetime. The overall defence bill is $56,500,000,000.

The measure now goes back to the House of Representatives for reconsideration.

The bill would extend and strengthen air force bases now being built around Soviet Russia and its satellites. It also is intended to provide forts, camps, naval bases and depots for an armed force of 3,500,000. Many of the projects are highly secret.

The bill carried $3,567,029,800 for the air force, $1,473,791,528 for the army and $846,847,850 for the navy.

Chairman Russell (Dem., Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee told the Senate that despite the bulk of the bill and its huge dollar total, if all-out war comes, it would be just a drop in the bucket.

Obituary

MATTHEW BELL NICHOLS

One of the district's top guides for 55 years, Matthew Bell Nichols, Main St., Bobcaygeon, died Wednesday at his residence after a lengthy illness. He was in his 70th year.

He was sought after as one of the best guides in the Bobcaygeon district, hunting or fishing. And he continued at this work until July when illness struck him.

Mr. Nichols was born in Smith township, son of the late Garner Nichols and Jane McConkey. He was educated in Smith and moved to Bobcaygeon 55 years ago.

Besides his widow, the former Mary Ellen Windover, he leaves two sons — William Garner and Clayton Ellsworth, both of Bobcaygeon; a daughter—Mrs. Elmer Kimble (Amy) of Brantford; six brothers—Richard, Silas, Garner, Alfred and Percy, all of Bobcaygeon, and Roland of Toronto; and two sisters—Mrs. William Junkin, Bobcaygeon, and Mrs. Albert Graham, Peterborough.

The funeral will be at his residence Saturday, 2.30 pm, the Rev. S. Littlewood, Bobcaygeon United Church, officiating. Burial will be in Verulam cemetery, Bobcaygeon.

MRS. WILLIAM HARRINGTON

One of Ennismore's oldest residents, Mrs. William Harrington, RR 1, Ennismore, died after a short illness today in her 85th year, at the family residence.

All her life a resident of Ennismore, Mrs. Harrington was born there, Elizabeth Scollard, daughter of the late James Scollard and Mary Ann Young. Her husband, William, survives her.

She was a member of St. Martin's Church, the Altar Society and the Catholic Women's League.

Besides her husband surviving are: daughters, Mrs. Patrick Murray (Loretta), Ennismore; Mrs. J. J. O'Connor (Clara), of Windsor; Mrs. M. McAuliffe (Kathleen), and Mrs. Arthur Walker (Mary), both of Peterborough; sons, John, James and Frank of Ennismore, William of Peterborough; sisters, Mrs. Clara Flood, Mrs. T. T. Crough, both of Ennismore, Mrs. Charles Connelly of Calgary, Mrs. William Houlihan and Mrs. M. Spang, both of Grand Rapids, Minn., Mrs. Patrick O'Connor, of Toronto; 34 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by sisters Mrs. W. D. Cavanagh, Miss Mary Scollard and Mrs. James Killen, and by a brother, William.

The funeral will be Saturday from the family residence to St. Martin's Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Burial will be at St. Martin's cemetery.

Oil Ultimatum

Parliament officers reported that a quorum of 67 was needed to conduct business but only 62 of the 136 deputies appeared.

There has been no public criticism of Mossadegh's ultimatum, but privately many deputies expressed concern at his tough talking.

British negotiators already have said they could not relinquish control of the Abadan installation without a satisfactory agreement with the Iranians, and that they would take all "necessary measures" to protect their personnel.

British government officials said Wednesday in London that Britain is ready at any time to resume the talks if Iran comes forward with worthwhile proposals.

The talks broke down two weeks ago, after Iran rejected projosals for British management of the oil production and refining.

Nothing To It

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 6. (CP)—A small English car was parked outside a downtown hotel today when coalmen called to deliver a load. The car, blocking the entrance to the coal chute, was in gear, locked and with the brakes on. The owner wasn't around. So the coal-heavers lifted the rear end of the car, walked forward a few paces, and set it down again.

HIS WORSHIP MAYOR MAX SWANSTON presents Mrs. Robert Cheel, 425 Rogers St., Peterborough, with a cheque for $1,525.00. Mrs. Cheel won the big Nucoa Margarine Jackpot on the show "Who's Talking" Monday, September 3rd. "Who's Talking" is aired over CHEX Monday through Friday at 10.45 a.m. Mrs. Cheel is the second Peterborough housewife to win this Nucoa award in the past year.*

Despite King's Opposition Papagos' Party Dominates

ATHENS, Sept. 6. (AP)—Despite the opposition of King Paul, Marshal Alexander Papagos' new Greek Rally Party is expected to dominate the next Greek parliament. Even his opponents admit he may have the largest bloc of deputies after the Sept. 9 elections.

Some observers predict he will have 90 to 100 deputies in the 250-man house.

Fifteen to 20 per cent of the Greek vote is generally independent. A shift of these floating ballots to the 67-year-old military hero would insure him of a substantial majority.

If Papagos does win, King Paul will be in an embarrassing position. In a recent interview he voiced his dissatisfaction with Papagos's candidacy, although the throne is not supposed to express political opinions.

Anti-Papagos newspapers displayed the interview as the king's official position. Pro-Papagos newspapers accused the king of meddling in politics.

Doesn't Need Help

Papagos announced his candidacy as a Royalist who would "reinforce" the crown. The palace said the king didn't need help.

King Paul has made known his dislike for two of the three major party leaders.

After the March, 1950, election, he tried to avoid giving the mandate to General Nicholas Plastiras, leader of the Progressive Union of the Centre.

It was only through direct intervention by the United States that the king gave the mandate to Plastiras.

Only the parties led by Papagos, Sophocles Venizelos and Plastiras will be of any significance in the new parliament. That leaves Venizelos, leader of the traditionally - Republican party, the palace favorite.

Russian Zone Reds Turn Another Screw

BERLIN, Sept. 6—(AP)—Russian zone Communists turned another screw today in their harassment of Berlin's lifeline traffic with the west. They barred mail cars loaded with parcel post for the West German republic.

This newest interference was disclosed while the Western Allied High Commission met here to debate what counter-measures could be taken against the Communist road tax which is squeezing traffic with the west.

Reverse Trend

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba's egg and poultry markets are operating in reverse. For the first time in at least 20 years the province is importing quantities of both eggs and poultry from the United States.

Stock Market Prices Climb On Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP). — Stock market prices climbed rapidly today in early afternoon dealings. Wednesday's strong final hour support continued in opening trade and gathered strength as the session progressed.

Steels and papers continued as the market strong points. Changes ranged from fractions to more than a point. Utilities, agricultures, constructions, textiles and miscellaneous industrials were strong. Banks held firm while liquors, refining oils, manufacturing companies and retail stores turned mixed. Foods weakened.

Base metals edged steadily higher. Heavy selective buying strengthened a broad list of penny issues. Hudson Bay, Noranda, and Waite Amulet added fractions while Barvue, Fenimore Iron, Reeves, Tungsten, and Yukeno climbed pennies. Callinan Flin Flon, Cassiar, International Nickel and Quemont eased.

Western oils turned mixed as support weakened.

Senior golds showed little trend. Junior golds stayed mixed.

Switch Attack

The outbreak, seven miles west of Yonchon, switched the scene of action to the western front. Previous hard fighting was in the east-central mountains, where Allies cleaned Reds off key ridges Wednesday.

The scene of the new fight is seven miles north of the 38th Parallel and west of the Imjin River.

The regiment of 3,000 Chinese had at least eight Russian-type T-34 tanks. It was the first time the Chinese had employed tanks in Korea.

One Red plane—a Russian type YAK-9 fighter emblazoned with the red star of North Korean forces—appeared in the area. The US Fifth Air Force said it "made ineffectual passes" at an unarmed allied spotter plane.

Fifth Air Force flights going to relieve the embattled allies were so heavy at times that the roar of the engines shook windows in Seoul as the planes passed over the South Korean capital.

Can't Live In Coop

KITCHENER, Sept. 6 (CP) — A woman who bought a 12-by-30 foot chicken coop with the intention of making it her home will not be able to carry out her plan. Village council at nearby Bridgeport Wednesday night refused to allow Mrs. Esther Lee, a widow, to live in the building.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Sept. 6 — (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5 21/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.05 21/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95 13/16, also unchanged.

2 Youths Jailed For Car Theft

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 6 (CP)—Two Woodstock youths who had pleaded guilty to theft of a car which they drove 2,200 miles before being arrested at North Bay were sentenced today to reformatory terms.

Kenneth Charles Orris, 18, was given 18 months definite and six months indeterminate. James Robert Hale, 19, was sentenced to 12 months definite and three months indeterminate.

A similar charge against 19-year-old John William Barnes of Woodstock, who last week pleaded innocent, was dismissed. Orris and Hale said in statements to police that Barnes, although with them during the long ride, was unaware the car had been stolen.

Portugal-US Sign New Pact On Bases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The United States and Portugal today signed a new agreement which is expected to enable Atlantic Alliance nations to use bases in the Azores "for the purpose of the common defence."

The agreement takes the place of the post-war arrangement by which the United States uses Lagens Field in the Azores. It was signed at Lisbon by Foreign Minister Cunha and US Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh.

The State Department said in announcing the action that the agreement gives the United States "certain new rights in addition to" those already in effect. A spokesman said that "an entirely new relationship is being established."

Boy 2 Drowns In Trestle Fall

HAWK JUNCTION, Sept. 6 — (CP) — Two-year-old Maxwell Pefer Pipoli, of Toronto, was drowned Wednesday night when he and his father, Max Pipoli, fell 12 feet from a railway trestle into the swirling Agawa River, 35 miles south of here.

The father swam to shore after vain attempts to rescue his son. The body was recovered nearly two hours later, 15 yards downstream from the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Pipoli and their son had just arrived in Agawa, where Mr. Pipoli was to take up duties as sectionman for the Algoma Central Railway.

Pipoli told police he was carrying his son over the open trestle when he lost his sense of direction in the dark and slipped off the bridge.

Hawk Junction is an ACR centre, 164 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

Proposes 13 Amendments

"The draft treaty not only fails to provide for obligations that Japan should not join any coalitions directed against any of the states which participated in the war against militarist Japan, but . . . is clearing the path for Japan's participation in [illegible] blocs in the Far East created under the aegis of the United States."

Gromyko proposed 13 major amendments to the draft. These included provisions to force American troops out of Japan, bring Red China into the peacemaking, and give Formosa to Red China. Only such changes, he said, would make the treaty acceptable to Russia.

Booing spectators were reprimanded by conference vice president Percy C. Spender of Australia as Gromyko stalked to his seat.

Altogether the day was one of the roughest a Soviet delegation ever experienced in a public session of a major international meeting. In two hours Gromyko lost the rules fight that had been expected to last all day. A tight set of rules limiting debate and barring changes in the treaty was adopted 48 to 3.

Had No Chance

Volunteers were the first to arrive on the scene after the parish church bells sounded the alarm.

A break in the electricity service reduced firefighters to throwing buckets of water on the blazing home. It was some time before hoses obtained from the McNamara Construction Company installations nearby could be used.

The company is engaged in the construction of a 360-mile railway from Sept Iles to Ungava's iron ore fields.

This town, 30 miles northeast of Quebec City, on the St. Lawrence north shore, is in the midst of a boom because it is to become the shipping terminal of iron ore mining operations.

The leaping crackling fire was so hot it seared the paint off homes 20 feet away.

Gerald Blaney of the provincial police said four bodies and parts of three others have been removed from the ruins. "Most remains are burned beyond recognition," he said.

Martial Law Lifted

BANGKOK, Thailand, Sept. 6 (Reuters).—Martial law was lifted in Bangkok today, after being in force since June 29 when rebels kidnapped Premier Pibul Songgram. The Premier, who escaped, clamped down martial law while naval men and civilians were arrested for an alleged plot to overthrow the state.

Flvina Pests

HALIFAX—(CP)—Bathers in the Northwest Arm reported thousands of flying ants descended in large swarms, covering the water and heavily concentrating on the shoreline. The ants didn't bother the swimmers, however.

Loneliest Island Has Crawfish Boom

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (CP).—One of the world's loneliest islands—Tristan da Cunna, south of Cape Town—is being transformed into a bustling centre of commercial development by the lowly crawfish.

A modern cannery on Tristan will soon be in full production, largely financed by the British Colonial Development Corporation. Within the first year the cannery expects to export 10,000 cases of canned crawfish and 30,000 cases of frozen crawfish tails.

Islanders for many years seldom saw a ship. Now one regularly makes runs to and from South Africa and another is scheduled to join it before the end of the crawfish season.

The Development Corporation also exploits the fact that the island is free of virus disease. As a sideline it is producting a strain of seed potatoes which will carry a "virus-free" guarantee.

Hear Application To Decertify Guild In CP

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 (CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board today began hearings on an application from a group of employees of The Canadian Press, national news-gatherinng agency, for decertification of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) as collective bargaining agent for a unit of CP editorial employees.

The Guild was certified by the board in April, 1950, after getting a 53-35 majority in a representation vote.

Today, Forbes Rhude of Toronto, CP business editor and one of the sponsors of the decertification move, said the group's petition had been signed by 42 of the 76 employees in the bargaining unit at the time the application was made last May.

Mr. Rhude said the news agency's management had no connection with the petition, and he and three other signatories said there had been no coercino in getting them to sign.

John Osler of Toronto, counsel for the Guild, contended that the application had been knocked out by the fact some of the signatures had been obtained before a year had expired after the Guild's certification. Arthur Brown, board chairman, said that point would be considered later.

Rene Lagace of the Montreal editorial staff, national vice-president of the Guild in The [illegible] told that Guild policy was to have its members sign the petition to "avoid undue pressure." When he went to the Montreal bureau member handling the petition to sign it, he said, he was advised it had been "sent in" and he would have to write a personal letter to Gillis Purcell, CP general manager. There was no further evidence on that point.

A letter from CP's legal counsel, read at the morning session of the board, said CPP does not intend to oppose or support the application for decertification and feels the matter is one to be decided by the employees, preferably by a secret ballot.

The hearing is continuing this afternoon.

Landmark Goes

REGINA (CP).—One of downtown Regina's old landmarks, the home of R. J. Tinning, has been demolished. Tinning was a wine merchant in Regina before his death in 1907. The land is needed for school expansion.

Timber Record

REGINA— (CP). — A government statement here disclosed that total Saskatchewan timber production for the 12 months ended March 31 was $9,758,000. The previous record of $8,142,891 was set in the 1934-1944 season.

Teachers Homes

QUALICUM BEACH, BC (CP) —British Columbia school teachers hope to build their own low-cost homes through a co-operative plan. The project aims to sell $5 shares to teachers and raise investment capital from private interests.

Tom Gard's Note Book

It is good to see how our recreational facilities are being steadily improved, and how so many recreational directors are being trained to take their places in our communities.

I have made it a practice to dabble in several hobbies, any one of which can be carried over to my retirement years. You will see illustrated one of my articles that can be easily made. The chief reason I like this particular pastime is the number of excursions that must be planned to the country and to the woods in search of native material to decorate the plaques. Weed and flower seeds, grain, cone scales, lilac husks and nut burs are only a few of the items collected.

Interesting and decorative arrangements can be mounted on wallboard, Amer-wood, sand blasted or etched plywood, similar to the one shown.

Gift Boxes

Have you ever wished for suitable gift boxes that are solid enough to withstand the onslaught of express carriers? Try using the versatile butter box. By cutting a section out of the middle, the box can be made any depth. By adding a plywood top and bottom, even the centre part can be used in a similar fashion.

Open Shelves and Tables

Always salvage waste plywood or packing box lumber for use in making shelves and tables. Knick-knack shelves can be easily made from the thin pieces in which prefabricated windows and doors are shipped. Book shelves will require heavier boards. Attractive tables can often be built from scrap plywood that might otherwise be thrown out. It will take some scurrying around to find the right source for material of this nature, but once located and safely stored in your basement, it will be worth the effort.

ONE OF A SERIES PRESENTED BY Molson's

Israeli Group To Put On Music Concert

The noted Israeli concert group who gave an outstanding program in Peterborough last year are returning to the Collegiate auditorium on Monday, September 24th. The artists are Zvi Zeitlin, violinist; David Bar Ilan, pianist; Zamira Gon, dancer, and Ingrid Rypinski, mezzo-soprano. This will be Miss Rypinski's first appearance. She was scheduled to appear in last year's concert but illness prevented her and soprano Ruth Biller was substituted.

The distinguished concert group is being sponsored locally by B'nai Brith and Hadassah, in association with the American Fund for Israel Institutions.

Outstanding Violinist

Zvi Zeitlin gave his first public performance in Haifa, Israel at the age of nine. Two years later he went to New York and won a scholarship at the Juilliard Institute of Musical Art where he studied under Sascha Jacobsen. Returning to Israel after his graduation in 1939, he was a frequent soloist with the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra and has been acclaimed one of Israel's foremost violinists. During the war he served in the Royal Air Force and toured for the Allied troops from North Africa to Teheran. In 1947 he returned to the United States to resume post graduate work at the Juilliard School of Music and studied under Louis Persinger and Ivan Galamian. At the invitation of the late Dr. Serge Koussevitzky he has been a member of the Chamber Music Faculty at Tanglewood for the past two summers.

During the past two seasons Mr. Zeitlin has been presented by the American Fund for Israel Institutions in numerous cities in Canada and the United States. He gave his New York debut at Town Hall on April 11, 1951.

David Bar-Ilian, born in Haifa in 1930, gave his first public piano recital at the age of 10. When 17 he came to the United States to further his study at the Juilliard School of Music. When the independence war broke out in Palestine he returned and joined the Israel army. After the war he continued his studies and concert performances in the United States; he was graduated from the Juilliard in June 1950.

Interpretive Dancer

Zamira Gon has danced from Bagdad to Carnegie Hall. Born in Jerusalem, she wanted to dance and received her training from Danya Levin, famed as Palestine's foremost interpretive dancer. At eight, Zamira was soloist at children's concerts. At 17, she starred in her first formal concert at Tel Aviv and was acclaimed as a dance discovery.

Zamira Gon was program director for the American Red Cross and enlisted in the British RAF, performing in Egypt under heavy bombardment; more concert tours. Brought to the United States after her discharge, she advanced her studies and gave more performances. She was assigned to direct dancing in the Broadway play "A Flag is Born"—in which Paul Muni starred.

Conductor's Daughter

Ingrid Rypinski, talented young Mezzo-soprano is the product of a rich musical background. Her father, Philip Rypinski, was a conductor of the Stuttgart Opera Company. Her mother, Elsa Rypinski is a harpist and singer—and her grandfather was a violinist with Johann Strauss in Vienna.

Fleeing from Germany in 1936, Miss Rypinski lived in Palestine until 1940 in a Kvutza (Cooperative). After coming to the United States, Miss Rypinski studied intensively. She has appeared in recitals at Carnegie Hall, Times Hall, Hunter and City Colleges. She has sung in Radio City Music Hall and has appeared as soloist with the Carnegie "Pops" Orchestra.

Request Bylaw Be Changed To Build Church

COBOURG, Sept. 6 — (ENS)—The Fellowship Baptist Church, which desires to build in the east end residental section, wrote council at its regular meeting to request that the residential restricting bylaw be amended so as to permit erection of a church.

Early in the summer, the pastor the Rev. R. Vanderlip asked for a building permit but was advised that it was a restricted area and that the proper proceudre was to seek an amendment to the bylaw. In its recent request, the church spokesman pointed out that the bylaw had not alway been so strictly enforced and that a church should not be barred under it.

Council deferred action pending investigation into whether or not the land had been purchased yet by the church.

A letter from th Civil Defence Branch advised that there would be no vacancy for the course until October. The Council appointed Wing Commander W. Riddell of Cobourg as its candidate on the course.

Want Appointment.

A communication from the Counties Clerk said a five-man counties court of revision board was to be appointed, and asked for a nominee from Cobourg. It was decided to see if Les Wilson, retired newspaper publisher, would be interested.

The CPR, in reference to the request by the town to run a sanitary sewer under the tracks on D'Arcy Street, advised that the town must assume all cost and liability and the work must comply with company regulations. Council will advise the railway that this will be done.

A tender of $2.90 per linear foot of curbs and $1,617 for the driveways on Spencer street, was accepted by the council. In order to facilitate parking on King street, council directed the engineer to ascertain costs of widening the street between College and west of the liquor store.

Two Cases of Polio

COBOURG, Sept. 6 (ENS)—A case of polio in Haldimand township and a suspected case of polio in Cobourg, is reported for the week ending September 1, by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Total number of communicable diseases recorded for the week is 15, with mumps and whooping cough predominating.

Commander To Die

PUSAN, South Korea, Sept. 6 —(Reuters) — A South Korean army court martial has condemned a training-camp commander to death for embezzling funds and treating draftees "inhumanly." Another officer was sentenced to five years in jail. The camp commander, Maj. Lim Pyong Yon, is the sixth South Korean officer to be condemned on embezzlement charges.

Heavy Rain Cancels Flying Competition

KINGSTON, Sept. 6 (CP)—A heavy rain resulting in extremely poor visibility this morning, forced cancellation of the Webster Trophy flying competition after three pilots had completed part of their tests. Officials said they would have to wait for the weather to clear before continuing the trials.

The Webster Trophy competition is held each year to decide Canada's best amateur airman.

The three pilots who started their tests today were Don Fisher of Kingston, Gurth Claydon of Winnipeg and Norman Vose of Vancouver. Other contestants are John Steeves, Moncton, NB, Maurice Margree, London, Charles Nagrath, Regina, and Roy Brown, Edmonton.

Gaisberg Dies

LONDON, Sept. 6 (Reuters)—Fred Gaisberg, 78, the man who first recorded the voice of Enrico Caruso—against the orders of his firm—has died, it was announced today. He first heard Caruso sing in Milan in 1902. He asked permission to pay £280 for 10 recordings. The company called the fee exorbitant but Gaisberg ignored the orders.

Government's Job To Get Workable Regulations

"We are not going to recommend any form of control unless and until we can honestly tell the public we believe it will work," Prime Minister St. Laurent told his fellow-Canadians Tuesday evening. A few hours before his radio address the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported another rise in the cost-of-living index: up 1.3 points during July to a new high of 188.9 above the 100 average for 1935-39.

* * *

The Prime Minister is taking a realistic point of view and not panicking into any cumbersome, bureaucratic scheme of price and wage controls. The reality is this: these times are not abnormal; they are normal compared with any other year since 1920. The truth is that normality during the last thirty years is the unstable, the violent change, inflation and deflation. If any decade of the last three is 'normal', this one has been—a continuous period of full employment, expanding production, and higher prices and wages. The Government does not want to impose controls in 'normal' times; the thesis that these are normal times is just as valid as the Opposition charges that the times are abnormal and controls should therefore be put on to check the abnormality.

* * *

Mr. St. Laurent takes a practical view: no direct controls until and unless the government knows they will work. The United States has controls, and they are not working at all well. Britain has full controls, and has had them since 1939—the Labour Government continued and extended them when it came to power in 1945. Yet Britain is suffering from inflation and the Chancellor of the Exchequer has warned the Trades and Labour Congress that "the cost of living will go on rising here in 1952, even with stable world prices, if we go on pushing up our own costs through further substantial rises in wages and salaries." Because direct controls worked well in Canada from 1940 to 1944 is no guarantee that they will work now. In fact, the war-time controls were beginning to crack wide open in 1945 before they were removed. They had put a lid on the pot; and not 'cured' a situation. When the lid was taken off—just before it was blown off—the true state of affairs was revealed and we had the first sudden pangs of inflation.

* * *

But the reality now cannot be brushed aside as lightly as we have done above. Another aspect of it is this: the cost of living in Canada is higher than it is in the United States. For years we have been used to thinking that, except for cars, refrigerators, certain types of clothing and odds and ends of gadgets, costs were lower in Canada, especially food costs. Now even food is higher here than across the border, and American tourists this summer have found that out. Further, the costs are increasing rapidly month by month. That is a kind of 'normality' which cannot be allowed to go on. If it does there will be a shocking explosion.

* * *

If the Government is not prepared to impose direct controls yet, it is the Government's job (and Ottawa has an army of financial and economic experts hired for the purpose) to get some way or ways which will work and effectively regulate the inflationary spiral. Several months ago some basic indirect measures were taken (credit restrictions and the like) to get at the root of the trouble. Perhaps they will be sufficiently effective—but Canada and Canadians cannot afford to wait much longer for the evidence, while contrary evidence piles up a new cost-of-living high of 188.9.

"Involuntary Homicide"

It isn't pleasant to realize that if it were not for pure food laws, large numbers of people would be sickened or killed because of the unwillingness of a few to suffer loss or because of heedless avarice. Nevertheless, it is a fact, attested to in many lands on many occasions; even with such laws, there are violations by persons bent on profit or protection against loss, heedless of the effect on the health of others.

The latest instance of this we have noticed occurred in France. A fortnight ago there was an outbreak of a violent malady in the town of Point-Saint-Esprit, on the Rhone River in Southern France. It was similar to outbreaks which periodically occurred in European populations from the tenth to the seventeenth centuries; the last recorded epidemic was in France in 1816. The malady was a fever variously known as "fervent fire" or "hell's fire"; we are also told it was known as "Saint Anthony's fire." It was agonizing and often deadly.

All the old symptoms were present in the outbreak at Point-Saint-Esprit. Increased blood pressure, muscular spasms, violent hallucinations were noted; scores went mad and four persons died. Modern medicine had established that the outbreaks prior to 1816 had been caused by ergot, a black fungus that grows on grain during damp, cold weather. Today's medical experts reported that the epidemic at Point-Saint-Esprit had probably been caused by ergot in blighted flour.

Further investigation revealed that a miller and a baker in a small town one hundred miles away had shipped a bious lot of flour to Point-Saint-Esprit. They didn't want to sell it to the neighbours—but they didn't want to see it become a total loss to them. It is an unpleasant story—a grim companion to those North American reports of persons prosecuted for selling harmful and tainted products.

Ho! The Eskimo Americana

The following letter to the editor of the New York Times Book Review has a strong nationalistic whiff of blubber:

"I am rather disturbed lest the readers of your review of Rev. Roger Buliard's 'Inuk' and the readers of the book may form a derogatory opinion of all Eskimos. It is true that the Eskimos of northeast Canada have practiced infanticide on a wholesale scale. Newly born girl babies have been cruelly treated and their bodies fed to the sled dog, but then we arrogant whites certainly have no right to criticize . . .

"The shocking and unmoral practices of the Canadian Eskimos are not found among the Eskimos of Alaska. The Alaska Eskimos are loyal, patriotic American citizens, diligent and thrifty. This may surprise a majority of the members of Congress. For far too many years Congress has considered the Alaska Eskimo a thing to be endured." L. B. MAUPIN.

Lincoln, Neb.

So the Canadian Eskimo is shocking and unmoral, Mr. Maupin, and the Alaskan Eskimo a patriotic, loyal American? Let us tell you Mr. M., that the last time we wintered in an Alaskan igloo, mine host pickled the toes of his five infants, ate out his squaw's heart, and thriftily braided her hair for reins to his sled dogs. When short of fodder for his aforementioned critters he eyed our thighs voraciously, but we were able to bring him to a sense of his American moral rectitude by a cold Canadian glance and his own glance at a last American Camel we proferred.

Higher Telephone Charges

Like other businesses in this country the Bell Telephone Company has had to meet higher operating costs and the need for expansion in a costly constructional period. Its 1952 and 1953 construction plans call for the spending of $184,800,000. Like other businesses still being caught in the inflation squeeze it has had had to put up its prices. Unlike most other corporations, before the Bell increases its rates it must get approval from the Board of Transport Commissioners. It has now asked the Board to approve further increases in charges applying to local service in Ontario and Quebec.

The prospect of higher telephone rates is disturbing, particularly since its last authorized increase went into effect as recently as January. Peterborough has really had two recent increases; that of January, and an earlier one made possible by re-zoning Peterborough and putting it into a category for which higher rates applied.

The Bell Telephone Company has a virtual monopoly in Canada, except in the three prairie provinces in which provincially-owned systems operate. It has become a major public utility under private control. Only three years ago it further consolidated itself as a mighty power in the land by doubling its capital; this tremendous increase was authorized by Parliament after a long wrangle in the House. Many parliamentarians were worried lest the Bell become so formidable that not even Parliament could keep it in rein. But Parliament still has authority over the giant, since the Bell Telephone Company operates, like the other two major public utilities, under regulation of the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Before further increases in charges are granted there should be a careful examination to ensure the public that the Bell is operating at high efficiency and merits as well as needs the increases. The Ottawa Citizen suggests that the experience of provincially-owned systems be studied, to compare the Bell with them. If the Dominion Government did not institute an inquiry, the provinces of Ontario and Quebec—which would be affected by the proposed increases—could make an investigation on their own behalf.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A revolving knife has been perfected which will cut 250,000 slices from a one-inch steak, and what is more these slices are reported to be so thin that you can read a newspaper through them. Frankly though, we find that a good pair of bifocals has it all over a slice of steak as an aid to vision.

British Conservatives Regain Lost Confidence

By PHILIP VERNON

WHENEVER politics are discussed in Britain today it is the Conservative Party—its chances of being returned to power at the next election, its policy once it is returned, and the men to whom it will entrust the most important office of state—which excites the most interest. This is not surprising, because it is now generally admitted by disinterested observers that the Conservative Party will win the next election, perhaps with a surprisingly large majority, certainly with a majority which will enable it to govern without the daily fear of defeat in the House of Commons.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are three reasons why a Conservative victory is now almost taken for granted. First there is the evidence of the Gallup Polls, which are published regularly in the London "News Chronicle". These have in the past proved their reliability, and the latest figures to be published show that the Conservatives are again increasing their lead over the Labour Party. This is a fact of considerable significance. It is no unusual thing for a government to lose support in the winter months—as the Labour Government did last winter — when food and fuel are scarce and life generally is uncomfortable. But it is unusual for a government to lose support in the summer months, particularly in the holiday month of August.

✧ ✧ ✧

MOREOVER, the Gallup figures are confirmed by one's own observations. There can be no doubt that the mood of the country—or, to put it more precisely, the mood of the middle voters who decide a general election—is now hostile to the Labour Party. There is a widespread feeling — though it may not always find articulate expression—that the Labour Government has exhausted its capacity for imaginative and constructive statesmanship. It is stale—and to the middle voter, who is not interested in party doctrines, that is a sin which cannot be forgiven.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE third reason for believing that a Conservative victory is all but a certainty is that the swing of the pendulum is still a fact in British political life — and once it starts to swing, it does not turn back before the swing is completed. British political history of the last 80 years, during which the conditions of modern party government have prevailed, shows that a left-wing government, however large its original majority, rarely survives more than one election. Labour just survived in 1950. It would be a political miracle if it succeeded in surviving the next appeal to the country.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Conservatives then have every right to feel confident that they will be returned at the next election; but it is a thought which has chastened them. They have not really recovered from their defeat of 1945. They still feel psychologically on the defensive. They still feel that they are not trusted by the electorate. They still suffer from a sense of guilt and sin, and spend much of their time protesting that they are as virtuous as their opponents.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS was the main reason why the speech of Mr. David Eccles, one of the younger Conservative M.P.s, on Conservative policy created such an impression. There was nothing very original in his speech. He merely tried to define a modern Conservative and his role in terms which Baldwin, the shrewdest of Conservative leaders, might have used 20 or 30 years ago. Yet the speech has been read and re-read by Conservatives, discussed and discussed yet again in newspapers and political journals of all political persuasion, and has even uplifted some of the most experienced and hard-hitten of the Conservative leaders.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT is the explanation? Surely it is this — that Mr. Eccles has succeeded in giving back to the Conservative Party most of the confidence in itself which it lost in 1945. He drew a picture of the modern Conservative as a person who exists in his own right, and not just as a pale shadow of a Socialist. He has re-asserted the Conservative role in history—a positive role, not just a negative resistance to another creed. He has wiped away the sense of guilt which has persisted since 1945, and told the Conservatives they have a right and duty to govern—and that they need make no excuses to the electors for claiming that right.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANY intelligent Conservative might have said what Mr. Eccles said, but he happened to make his speech just when the Conservative Party was waiting to be told these things. The effect is likely to be more than a temporary revival of the Party's spirits. In 1950 the Conservatives were so uncertain of victory that they produced a programme which in most important respects was only a milder edition of the Labour manifesto, and it has always been possible that they would do just the same at the next election. That possibility is now, for the first time since 1945, remote. The Conservatives are much more likely at the coming election to present to the people a programme which is distinctively Conservative — at any rate which is clearly their own. If they do not, it will not be Mr. Eccles's fault.

"Canned" Speeches Useless

(Brantford Expositor)

The U.S. economic mobilization chief, Charles E. Wilson, is asking Congress to provide him with half a million dollars to tell the people of the United States about the problems of managing the country's defence economy. Industry and labour, says Mr. Wilson, just don't understand what controls are all about. He thinks what is needed is more economic education.

Mr. Wilson's idea of "economic education" is to send out a batch of prepared speeches each week for use by advocates of price and wage controls to convince both management and organized labour that controls are necessary and desirable. Right now, says Mr. Wilson, neither management nor labour will "cooperate". Forty people are to be hired to prepare the speeches and distribute them.

"Economic education" such as advocated by Mr. Wilson isn't likely to impress either management or organized labour much. "Canned" speeches from Washington, or, for that matter, from Ottawa, wouldn't make anything like as great a dent on public consciousness as would the firm and well-reasoned convictions, based on experience, of half a dozen business or labour executives. Moreover, as even Mr. Wilson (who says that he has only recently been converted to the belief that controls are a good thing) would be the first to admit, it is always possible that even the experts in Washington may be wrong.

"LOOK AT ME—BOTH HANDS!"

Unshackle A Province

(SAINT JOHN TELEGRAPH-JOURNAL)

THE population of Canada has trebled in the last 60 years. That of New Brunswick has not even doubled. Decade after decade we have failed even to retain our normal increase in population.

At the bottom of it all is the universal problem of cash income. Every man with a spark of ambition knows the urge to improve his lot. The great flood of immigrants to North America in past generations was induced by the prospect of a better life. In this country the Prairie wheat boom and the Klondyke gold rush were dramatic manifestations of men's anxiety to make more money.

During the past few years the industrialization of British Columbia, the oil boom in Alberta, and the dynamic expansion of Central Canadian industry have excited the imaginations and attracted the persons of thousands from other provinces and other countries.

If all were well in New Brunswick, these phenomena still undoubtedly would have promoted an exodus from this as from other provinces.

Can we do nothing about it? Shall we, like past generations, resign ourselves to continued migration from the province and—with the realism of defeatism and indifference—pronounced it inevitable? Or, like the Israelites, shall we work and pray for a rebirth in the valley of the Saint John, on the shores of the Fundy, and in the land of the Mirimichi and the Restigouche?

New Brunswick's story is one of arrested development. Our natural resources are rich enough to challege any man's imagination. We have here a storehouse of untapped wealth within easy reach of the world's big markets.

Burial Of A Hero

(NEW YORK TIMES)

ON the 6th of September last, the First Cavalry Division was fighting desperately to hold the northwest corner of the battle line above Taegu. It was a low point of our fortunes in the Korean war; Inchon was still more than a week away. There could be no retreat; the line had to be held. It was held—because men were willing to die to hold it.

One of those men was Sgt. John R. Rice, a Winnebago Indian. No one then asked whether the men who died in the mud in Korea that September day were black or white or red or brown.

No one should have asked—then or ever. But when Sergeant Rice was at last brought home and the military rites were over, his body was left resting above the grave because he was not a white man. The cemetery had a contract with its lot-holders; and the contract said: restricted to Caucasians. No Indian could be buried there, whether he died for his country or for the world.

Now, through an impulsive Presidential gesture that all Americans will applaud, Sergeant Rice is to be buried at Arlington. He will lie not far away from the shrine of another warrior, of name and creed and colour and race unknown. This is a fitting end to the story.

If the incident has shocked the American people, as we believe it has, then the name of Sergeant Rice will be twice honoured: not only as a hero of Korea but also as a symbol of our fundamental rejection of that blind and stupid prejudice that would divide Americans one from another and would segregate even the valiant dead.

Arabian Oil Sheik

(St. Catharines Standard)

Kuwait makes an interesting story. It covers about 1,950 square miles and is inhabited by about 100,000 Arabs, and how lucky it is to be a Sheik when the oil production has now been stepped up to 600,000 barrels a day, making Kuwait the fourth largest producer in the world.

As the report goes, this black golden little patch of the earth is ruled by one who is handy with the dollar. Sheik Abdullah al Salim al-Subah, who is 56 and the husband of many wives, is now receiving $45,000 a day in royalties, but has just contracted with the Gulf Oil Corporation, of the United States, and the Anglo-Iran Oil Company, of Great Britain, for continued operation of the properties under which they will pay him $250,000 a day. The Sheik has intimated this wealth will be shared with the natives. In addition to building schools and hospitals, he will give some of the money to the populace.

Sidewalks and Money

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Men were busy ripping up an old wooden sidewalk. As they worked, one "sidewalk superintendent" slowed his step to a halt and stood watching. He was an old-timer and to himself, he said:

"I wonder if they are finding anything."

His thoughts had flitted back to his boyhood days when another wooden sidewalk in a small town many miles from Fort William had yielded the odd copper and five cent piece which had fallen through the cracks.

Yes, he reflected, modern paved sidewalks deny to modern youngsters yet another thrill enjoyed by children of past generations.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Praise ye the Lord. Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord, that delighteth greatly in his commandment . . . Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness: he is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous . . . Surely he shall not be moved for ever: the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance. (Ps. 112: 1, 4, 6.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands. (Ps. 138: 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit . . .

And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgement: because as he is, so are we in this world. (I John 4: 12, 13, 16, 17.)

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect. (Matt. 5: 48.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Mr. Jones: Under an assumed name.

Mrs. Smith was vigorously powdering her face before going out.

"Why do you go to all that trouble?" asked Smith, impatiently.

"Modesty, my dear," was the reply.

"Modesty?"

"Yes—I've no desire to shine in public."

✧ ✧ ✧

"For the life of me I cannot understand why my daughter wastes so much time and money on her face," remarked the visitor.

"H'm!" exclaimed the visitor. "It's plain to see!"

Prison Governor (addressing convicts): "I've let you have radios, given you concerts, let you play football and smoke, and still you grumble. What is it you want?"

Old Lag: "How about a cross-country run?"

✧ ✧ ✧

He was talking of coincidences: "The most amazing thing happened to me at the races. It was the eleventh day of the eleventh month. My boy was eleven that day. We lived in a house numbered eleven and I arrived on the course at eleven. Later in the day I found that eleven horses were to run in the big race, so I backed the eleventh horse on the card."

"And if won?"

"No. It came in eleventh."

The hot gospeller was getting excited.

"We have got the devil in chains at last," he cried. Then, after a pause, "But don't flatter yourselves; he can still reach you people in the front pew and even you young fellows at the back of the gallery."

Came a voice from the gallery: "Well, the blighter might as well be loose!"

The president of a large business concern bought a number of signs reading, "Do It Now," and had them hung around the office, hoping to inspire his employees with promptness and energy in their work. In his private office one day soon afterward a friend asked him how the scheme affected the staff. "Well, not just the way I thought it would," answered the proprietor. "The cashier skipped with thirty thousand dollars, the head bookkeeper eloped with the private secretary, three clerks asked for an increase of salary, and the office boy lit out to become a bank robber."

Field Bindweed Toughest To Eradicate

Field bindweed (sometimes called wild Morning Glory) is the most difficult of all Ontario weeds to eradicate, once it has become established in a field. In fact K. S. Murphy, Fieldman for the Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, feels that there is probably no other weed threatening the farmer with such a loss as field bindweed. He says it is even harder to kill than perennial sow thistle even though the seeds are not as widely dispersed by the wind. It thrives in both wet and dry seasons and, once it is established in a field, no crop will grow. According to Mr. Murphy, these facts alone should lead the farmer to take steps to prevent its introduction to his farm.

Bindweed has extensive, creeping, cord-like root stocks which penetrate the soil to a depth of four feet or more. Mr. Murphy says that any root stock possessing one or more buds is capable of reproducing another plant. The slender and branching stems either trail on the ground or twine around other plants. There is a resemblance between the morning glory and bindweed, mainly in the shape of their leaves and flowers. It may produce about 160 seeds which may be distributed as an impurity in cereal grain. However, the usual method of dispersal is by the creeping root stocks.

Mr. Murphy states that patches of bindweed may be kept from spreading further by working them separately. Chemical weed killers such as 2-4-D or a sodium chlorate based weed killer also provide a means of control. 2-4-D may be applied at the rate of ½ lb. active material per acre in cereal crops or corn. Spraying several times per year over a number of years may be necessary to completely eradicate bindweed. Sodium chlorate weed killers, such as Atlacide or Eroside, at 1½ lb.-2 lb. per gallon per 100 square feet, also gives good control, but may leave the soil relatively sterile for a year or so. These latter herbicides also give effective control when used in the dry form.

Another recommendation he puts forth is to plant corn or other hoe crops in hills 42 inches apart so that cultivation may be carried on both ways. When the crop is taken off in the fall, cultivation should be continued as late as possible. Then ridge up the land in drills and allow to stand over the winter. Cultivation should be started as early as possible the following spring, to prevent bindweed from getting started at that time.

Cultivation is very important during midsummer. Experiments conducted by the OAC have shown that 100 per cent of the root stocks of bindweed were killed by the sun's rays at this time. Following a hoe crop he suggests that the field be seeded down to clovers and left as long as it is profitable. In this way, bindweed will not get a chance to spread further in the sod.

In summing up the control and eradication of bindweed, Mr. Murphy declares that perseverance is necessary, if this troublesome pest is to be completely eliminated. The job may take several years, but it will be well worth the effort.

Marmora high school students registered Tuesday morning with a new high of enthusiasm. There was the usual fun and novelty of opening day plus the feature attraction: a new, spacious, well-lighted, $180,000 high school.

The school is in the last stages of completion and has not been formally opened.

Reflecting the spirit of pride felt by the whole community was the observation of Principal Len Begley: "When all the rooms are available it will compare with high schools anywhere—Peterborough or Toronto."

The student body, grown this year from 90 to 110, can appreciate their change of accommodation. Last term they took their lessons in a poorly-lighted, two-storey brick mansion built in the Victorian era.

The standard classrooms were inadequate: so were the science rooms; and there was no provision for the new home economics and workshop courses. Overcrowding was taken for granted.

Different Now

Things are different now.

The new high school, designed by Craig and Madill of Toronto, is divided into wings; one 135 ft. long and the other 72 ft. by 55 ft. They are joined by a 21-ft. glass foyer that serves as the main entrance.

In the 135-ft. wing are all the main classrooms and administrative offices. Besides the washrooms, principal's office, teachers' room and boiler room are two standard classrooms, an agriculture-science room, home economics room and workshop.

But the other wing is what delights the students most. It contains a gymnasium, 60 ft. by 40 ft. (slightly less than standard size, marked out for basketball, volleyball, badminton and other indoor sports. An ample gallery with four tiers of seats on either side of the entrance gives the collegians a chance to cheer their favorite team on when inter-school competition gets under way.

Just as easily the gym becames a dancing floor or auditorium. At the south end of the mastic-tile floor is a wide wooden stage. One wing has a dressing room and space for stage properties.

Both the boys and the girls have a dressing room with showers.

Glass Wall

Motorists passing along Highway 7 through the village are struck at once by the trim lines of the long one-storey building. The first impression is that the south wall is an uninterrupted length of glass panes held in wooden frames. The purpose is utilitarian: to let in the maximum of natural light.

In summer curtains will be required to reduce the glare through the south windows but this will probably not be necessary along the windows facing north.

The St. Lawrence Construction Co. of Belleville were the contractors. The school is of concrete block construction and the exterior is an attractive rubbed yellow brick.

A spacious east-west corrider divides the school and 163 built-in individual lockers, painted in light blue, line both sides of the corridor. The corridor is terrazo and the individual rooms have mastic tile floors and light-colored painted walls.

All lighting is of the drop type.

Additions

Future additions will be added, room by room, to the west end of the building. As the school is one storey high the inconvenience and cost will be reduced to a minimum.

The problem of accommodation is a real one in Marmora. Rapid industrial expansion is promised, particularly since the Bethlehem Steel Co. has decided to drill for iron ore nearby.

200 Families

One report is that 200 families are expected in the near future. Their children must be educated and this means that school accommodation will be strained even further.

At present Grades 12 and 13 go to other schools in the Centre Hastings High School District, and there are only four classes—110 students in all—going to the Marmora high school. Educational authorities decided there was not sufficient students involved to make it worthwhile hiring extra teachers.

Fifty-eight per cent. of the students now attending the Marmora high school are from rural districts. Principal Begley points out. They commute on four bus routes in a radius of 10 miles. The most distant point for students is a section of Cordova Mines.

Hot Soup

And here's a welcome innovation for wintertime: the home economics class will have prepared each noon a quantity of hot soup or cocoa for the students who remain at school for lunch.

"It cost a lot of money to build it but everything is expensive these days," remarked an elderly Marmora resident. "Besides you don't get anywhere these days without an education."

His remark, like Principal Begley's, was indicative that the progressive residents of Marmora intend to see their community keep pace in the educational field as they have done in the industrial.

Vanishing River Supplies Ample Water

BANFF, Alta (CP)—This river keeps moving around and then just disappears.

Sometimes it looks as if it has dried up completely. Yet the Calgary Power Company manages to get 8,000,000,000 gallons of water from it every year to be used when its regular source, the Bow River, runs low.

The mysterious Ghost River has its headwaters in the "Devil-Devil" country of the Canadian Rockies. The water from the top 20 miles is diverted into Lake Minnewanka for replenishing low periods in the Bow.

Yet a few miles below the diversion point, the Ghost is running as strongly as ever.

Scientists say the reason the Ghost River keeps appearing and disappearing is the gravel it flows through. At times the water flows underground through the gravel. Then, when the water table rises, the river re-appears.

Lots Of Room

The gravel beds, several hundred yards wide, give the river lots of room to choose its course.

For added atmosphere the Ghost does its disappearing act in a district famed for Devil's Head Mountain, a 9,174-foot peak; Devil's Fang, another jagged peak, and the Devil's Gap, which leads to the storage lake.

Indian legends claim that a large rock balanced atop Devil's Head Mountain assured Indian supremacy as long as it balanced. But when it crashed to the ground, the Indians supremacy would be gone. And tribal lore has it that the rock fell just before the first white man came to this territory.

Juniors Drop Opener To Kingston

Kingston juniors blanked the local East City baseballers 5-0 here yesterday to open their best-of-three OBA junior playdowns, the return being at Kingston on Saturday. Stotts pitched six-hit ball for the winners, whiffing 11, and he had good support. Batchelor, on the mound for Gord Snape's squad, was in good form, also, allowing nine hits, fanning four, and his mates booted but one behind him.

Dumbleton, Rank and Davidson each came through with two safe blows for the visiting club, and Thompson shone at bat for East City with three of their six safeties in four times to bat. Bigford, Casey and Wilson got the others. Some neat ball was seen on both sides in this encounter. Kingston scored three runs in the second and two more in the eighth. Teams:

Kingston: Cliff, cf; Gilroy, 2b, Davidson, ss; Locherrie, c; Rank, 1b; Dumbleton, lf; Purcell, 3b; Gazley, rf; Stotts, p.

East City: Young, cf; Foley, rf; Thompson, ss; Bigford, c; Casey, 2b; Sullivan, 1b; Wilson, 3b; Jensen, lf; Batchelor, p; McCarthy Wyatt.

Umpires—Murphy and Heffernan.

Toronto Blanks Ottawa 6-0, Baltimore Wins

By The Associated Press.

It may be like locking the barn door after the horse is gone, but Toronto's Maple Leafs are making a spirited bid to get in the International League post-season playoffs.

It looks as though the games will run out before they can achieve their purpose.

The Leafs made a clean sweep of their four-game series with Ottawa by shutting out the Giants Wednesday night, 6-0. It was their ninth victory in the last 10 games.

That put the Leafs just three games back of fourth-place Buffalo, which bowed to Montreal 2-1, in 11 innings on a home run by George Byam.

Buffalo has five games to play, Toronto seven.

Orioles Win

Cliff Fannin pitched the shutout for Toronto, limiting the Little Giants to eight hits. Vince Plumbo, Grover Bowers, and Frank Coleman hit home runs for Toronto.

In other games, Baltimore won two from Springfield, 2-1 and 6-3, on some pitching by Steve Ridzik and Jack Brittin. Syracuse thumped Rochester 3-1 in 11 innings in a contest which had been ordered replayed, then won the regularly-scheduled contest, 9-5.

Syracuse had protested an apparent 2-1, 11-inning defeat on Wednesday night after the umpire had missed a play. The game was ordered replayed from the eighth inning—this time Syracuse won.

UEW Too Strong By 4 to 0 For O'Hallorans

UEW defeated O'Halloran's 4-0 at King Edward Park last evening to earn the right to represent this city in the Ontario intermediate cup competition. UE plays Kingston United at 5.30 p.m. at King Edward Park in an Eastern Ontario League match.

The first part of last night's game was pretty even, but UEW finally clicked on Halroyd's boot. Woodcock made several good saves but G. Smith counted with a hot drive to make it 2-0. Payne was dangerous at times but poor finishing spoiled scoring chances. On another attack, Robertson hit a fine low drive in the score. It was much the same in the second half but there was no further scoring until Robertson made it 4-0 from close in. From a corner, A. Smith all but scored when his centre hit the post.

From the other end, O'Halloran's came close on a number of occasions but the UE defence scooped the ball off the goal line. As the light grew poor the ball was hard to follow and the final whistle came without further scoring. Teams:

UEW: Craig, Allen, Mundy, Davis, Cotton, G. Smith, Holroyd, Robertson, Strong, A. Smith Ward.

O'Halloran's: Woodcock, A. Downer, D. Downer, K. Downer, Foster, N. Lane, Payne, G. Downer, O'Halloran, Halliday, E. Lane, J. Downer.

Baltimore Nearing Finals In Loop

COBOURG, Sept. 6. — Baltimore Millers moved one step closer to the finals of the Cobourg and District Softball Loop here Tuesday night, defeating CGE, 16-11, in a wide open tilt. Donny Ball, Baltimore's ace lefthander, outpitched Don Platt, holding the losers to 10 hits, while his mates were gathering 16 blows.

Art Jones and Herb Galley hit home runs for the losers, but a big eight-run rally in the fifth by the village crew settled the issue. Jack Ball and D. West had four for four in the winner's cause, all singles. The winners in the best-in-three series meet Mathews, league winners, in the best-in-five final, set for next

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

If the weather holds fair there should be a big crowd at the bowling green this evening. This visitors' night is going over big.

Several of our lady bowlers are playing in the ladies' open tournament today in Oshawa.

It is more than likely that R. F. Downey and G. Coleman Jr., will be asked by the committee, to play their postponed schedule game tomorrow evening. The result of this game has a direct bearing on the standing of Group No. 1.

Last Night's Winners

Mt. Pleasant Victors

Mount Pleasant Supertest eliminated McGinness 4-1 in a nifty fastball playoff last night at Quaker Park. It was their second straight series victory. The winners got a run each in the fifth and seventh, clinching it with two in the ninth, after McGinness tallied once in the sixth. The losers were limited to three hits while the Mounts got but six in the fine fray. They had the only error of the game. Teams:

Mt. Pleasant: Dracup, Craig, K. Bryan, J. Bryan, Jamieson, McKnight, Crawford, Parker, Mitchell.

McGinness: Ferguson, Gordinier, Killingbeck, Caccavella, Leether, Corrigan, Hill, Fowler, Sabourin.

Major Bowling

Woods had high pinnage of 3430 and team high single of 1354 to open the Major Bowling League season. J. Playford had 902 to lead trundlers in threes and best single of 350. Other good triples were: K. Guilfoyle 844, J. Barnes 792 (139), Max Hill 748, M. McCarrell 738 (303), E. Reynolds 732, E. Dixon and K. Mills 725, T. McPhate a single of 326 and J. Dormer 319. Six points were taken by Odeon, Stud. Champs, B & E and UEW over Hunt, Wonder, Brew Retail and Kawartha, as 4-2 wins, went to Sun Life, Campbell, Crowley, Wade, Herb's Revenoors and Wood over Darling, Bickell, Examiner, Mongraw, Coughlin, Plaza, McLeod and Lillian's.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

A hockey item from Brockville recently said there was talk of a senior international setup of Cornwall, Gananoque and Brockville in Ontario, and Clinton, Lake Placid and Canton in N.Y. They all have artificial ice to make for a long season, with the Canuck teams maybe drawing a bye into OHA playdowns or staging an elimination series to put a team in Allan Cup playdowns. However, we don't think they'd be strong than senior "B" calibre. It is of interest up this way as Gananoque were in our senior "B" group last season and probably would be in again this autumn, unless the Gans join the new setup. Bill McMaster of the Petes played last winter for Lake Placid.

Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals open here tomorrow eve at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, against Mimico. First of the best-of-seven, second one there Saturday, and third back here Monday. This is the big one, the last real money series local gutted-stick followers will see in 1951. If the Petes win it, they'll go after the Mann Cup in British Columbia on Sept. 24. Hence, fans, you've got just two or three more games to see, and they're highly important playoff ones. We don't need to plug this series as new attendance records are practically assured at these Miller Bowl tilts, regardless of weather. This is the end of the long trail for Mimico or the Timbermen.

McPhail And Wipper

It will be interesting to see how the two leading snipers in the OLA schedule stack up against each other now. Scrappy Don McPhail of the Mounties led 'em all in points with 108, Harry Wipper of Petes getting 90. But Harry scored 67 goals, while McPhail had 53, the rest being on assists. Ike Hildebrand edged Ken Dixon of Mimico 82 to 81 in the sniping race, and then Arn Dugan, Curly Mason and Russ Slater of the Crowe-Creighton crew led other Mountaineers in points. Whether or not the layoff — while Mimico was eliminating Hamilton — hurt the Petes will not be known for a game or two. We doubt if the rest harmed 'em any. Miller Bowl will be bulging tomorrow after dusk.

Minor baseballers here are up to their ears in OBA playdowns. Welch's bantams drill at 6.15 tonight in Riverside and go to Oshawa for a joust Friday. Return game or games will be in Riverside at three (and maybe six) Saturday. Anthony's peewees play in Belle Villa this weekend. Juniors are in a series with Kingston. Some of these teams may not do much — and some might — in provincial playdowns, but at least they're getting a chance. On the PMBA executive this year were some non-workers and the minor setup wasn't as good as it should have been. Southend fell down on entries, whereas East City did well. A new deal is indicated another year. Gord Snape manages the juniors, Ray Clifford and bantams, and R. Brady the peewees.

Typical Of The TBA

Viaduct Baseball League still says Oshawa and the Petes are suspended from organized ball—but it's a pretty safe bet that the Merchants will meander into OBA playdowns. As we expected, the door was left open for loop re-instatement if the two clubs kicked in 10 per cent of their gates the first two games and if Oshawa posted $100 to take part in a round-robin Viaduct League playoff series with Kingsways and Croftons, plus the usual league cut of games. Naturally, they refused. Whole trouble stemmed from the typical Toronto attitude taken by the TBA and Viaduct League in barring the strong Oshawa and Petes' clubs from representing the TBA in OBA playdowns. Told 'em to arrange their own series. So did the OBA, and that's what the clubs did. Toronto wants the Oshawa and Peterborough money, but neither one as loop representatives in OBA playdowns. Goofy, eh?

In soccer at King Edward Park last gloaming, the strong UEW squad downed O'Halloran's 4-0 in a good match. The win puts UE into the Ontario intermediate cup competition. O'Halloran's gave them a stiff test but were up against the top team in these parts. UEW has an important game this Saturday e'en at 5.30 in King Edward Park—not at the Ex. —when they play Kingston United, their strongest rivals in the Eastern Ontario League. The Uniteds won out last season and will be gunning for the local footballers in this match on Saturday here. Likely a lot of followers of the sport will take it in.

Dese, Dem And Dose

Toronto beat Woollens 23-4 at the Bowl last p.m. to begin their PWSU junior series . . . Orphans and UEW have a seven p.m. playoff there tomorrow, unless Orphans have to go to Oshawa for an OASA joust . . . Mt. Pleasant Supertest ousted the McGinness fastballers 4-1; Rays are listed to start semi-finals with Mutuals at Quaker Park tonight . . . Bell and Foresters are billed to open Civic League finals this e'en in the Bowl in a twin bill . . . East City juniors dropped a 5-0 OBA tilt here to Kingston . . . Lindsay erased Port Hope on Loucks' five-hitter to make lakeshore finals against Colborne . . . Dick Golden has returned to college in the States . . . Don Griffin and Eric McIlveen are expected out with Queen's gridders this week . . . Caddy tourney starts at nine Saturday morn at the Peterborough Golf Club . . . Jack Playford rolled high single of 359 in the Major Bowling League . . . Annual open meeting of the Lakefield Hockey Club intermediates will be Sunday at 1.30 in the village Memorial Hall . . . Junior lacrossers drill at seven tonight; in case of rain they'll meet at the clubhouse . . . Third game of their big series with Mimico is at 8.45 Saturday night here . . . PMLA tadpoles are to be at Miller Bowl on Saturday at 9.30 a.m. for playoffs . . . That's all.

Robinson Busy Preparing For Turpin Fight

By WHITNEY MARTIN.

POMPTON LAKES, NJ, Sept. 6 (AP).—It will be back to the salt mines for Sugar Ray Robinson today as the ex-champion resumes heavy training for his middleweight title bout with Randy Turpin next Wednesday night.

A full schedule of sparring, meaning at least five rounds, is on Sugar Ray's schedule for the day following a comparative rest Wednesday when he boxed only two rather pattycake rounds with Terry Moore for the benefit of visiting reporters.

His performance was greeted with mixed reactions by the crew of experts assembled in the bleachers surrounding the outdoor ring.

"He's fast with his hands on attack but slow with them on defence," one observer noted as Robinson left himself wide open after missing a hook.

"He looks the same as he always did," said Jake Lamotta, from whom Robinson removed the crown. "You can't tell much in two rounds. After four or five rounds, when they throw in a fresh man against him, you can tell what shape he's in."

Thinks He'll Win

"I think he'll beat Turpin, but wouldn't say he'll win by a knockout," said Rocky Graziano, a former middleweight champion himself. "Turpin's tough, and what he lacks in experience he makes up in stamina and aggressiveness.

"Robinson will knock him stiff," sparring-partner Moore declared emphatically.

Robinson appeared snappy and in high spirits. He was throwing many combinations, and putting some steam in his punches. He was getting set to punch, digging in with his feet instead of flitting around on his toes.

The challenger expects to reach peak condition this weekend, and to hold it with a light workout Monday.

Hastings Winners

HASTINGS, Sept. 6—(ENS)—Hastings intermediates showed championship form on Tuesday night as they defeated Pickering 4-2 in their first of their best of three series on the Pickering diamond. McComb went the route for Hastings and earned the nod, as he scattered five hits and fanned seven. Both runs were unearned the result of dropped flies in the outfield, the only two errors the team committed.

Beavis and Crawley shone in the infield, with Scott doing a great job of receiving and helping out on the offence with a long homer in the fifth to tie the score.

Pyette went all the way for Pickering and for four innings looked like a winner as he faced but 13 batters, but in the fifth Scott broke the ice, and then Hastings bunched together four hits for three runs, and that was enough to come home a winner.

Next game is Thursday in Hastings under lights.

Hastings: Phillips, LF; Scriver, 2B; Crowe, RF; O'Sullivan, 1B; Scott, C; Beavis, SS; Jones, CF; McComb, Pitcher; Crowley, 3B.

Pickering: Bryant, SS; Bye, 3B; Banks, LF; Kach, 2B; Holter, RF; Stewart, C; Fallaise, CF; Kaiser, 1B; Pyette, P.

40TH HOCKEY SEASON — Lester Patrick is preparing for his 40th season in professional hockey. Now manager of Victoria Cougars of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, 67-year-old Patrick says retirement is in sight, but not just yet. A member of hockey's Hall of Fame, he was one of the great figures of hockey from 1903 till his retirement from playing in 1927. Since then he has concentrated on the managerial side of the sport.

Toronto Takes First One Over Woollens

Toronto Gartens pounded out a 23-4 victory over Woollens here last night to open their best-of-three PWSU junior series. The return game will be in Toronto, probably this Saturday. Though the visitors at the Bowl last night showed a lot of class, Woollens played below form, kicking in with seven errors, most of them proving costly. A lot of the Toronto runs were tallied in the late innings.

I. Dickson pitched seven-hit ball for the Gartens, fanning nine and getting good support. She walked nine, also. The winners got 22 hits and several walks. M. McDonnell and I. Dickson looked best defensively for Toronto, as J. Walling and R. Naylor looked good for Woollens. J. Walling led them with three hits in five. C. Graham got four for five for Toronto, as homers were hit by B. Baker and D. England. The teams:

Toronto — C. Graham lf, B. Baker 3b, M. McDonnell 2b, B. Forbes ss, L. Gledhill c, I. Dickson p, J. Bates 1b, P. Nealy rf, D. England cf.

Woollens — J. McIlwain 2b, R. McInroy c, J. Walling 3b, C. Ferguson lf, D. Dunk ss, S. Harris cf, R. Naylor 1b, L. Derry p, H. Rehill p, M. Cavanagh rf, C. Reynolds rf.

Indians Whip Detroit 5-2 To Regain First Place In American Ball League

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sport Writer

Al Rosen and Luke Easter, Cleveland's classy one-two punch, are using their big bats to deflate the theory that the Indians are a "no-hit, good-pitch" club. Rosen and Easter were the big guns Wednesday night as the Indians defeated Detroit Tigers, 5-2, and regained first place in the American League. Each walloped a home run with a man on base. The Indians wrested the lead from New York Yankees, who dropped a 4-2 decision to the visiting Boston Red Sox. The triumph moved the third-place Sox to within three games of the defending champions and left them four behind Cleveland. Boston trails the tribe by only one in the important "lost" column.

New York's Giants refuse to give up their fight to overhaul the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers. They swept a double-header from Boston 3-2 and 9-1, to cut Brooklyn's lead to 3½ games. The Dodgers whipped Philadelphia Phils 5-2.

Philadelphia's Athletics took two from Washington 4-1 and 9-7; Cincinnati defeated Pittsburg 6-3 and St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs split. The Cubs won the opener 3-2, in 11 innings, the Cards grabbed the nightcap 6-5.

The homers by Rosen and Easter were all Cleveland's Early Wynn needed to register his 17th triumph against 12 losses. He surrendered only four hits.

Brilliant Pitching

Brilliant pitching by Leo Kiely and Maurice McDermott, a pair of young southpaws, helped Boston to its 10th victory in 15 meetings with the Yankees. Kiely hurled seven runless innings before weakening. A brilliant rescue job by McDermott helped the 21-year-old to his fifth victory in eight decisions.

Billy Goodman's two-run double in the first inning, Ted Williams' 28th homer in the third, and Bobby Doerr's single in the fifth accounted for the Red Sox runs. Vic Raschi lost his ninth decision against 17 victories.

A grand-slam homer by Gil Hodges, the sixth of his career, gave the Dodgers and Ralph Branca their victory. It was Hodges' 37th circuit clout and Branca's 13th triumph.

First Victory.

Sal Maglie pitched his first victory over the Braves and Sheldon Jones hurled his first complete game of the year as the Giants made it 23 wins in 26 games.

Don Mueller's single in the eighth hung the 12th defeat on Warren Spahn in the opener; Monte Irvin slammed his 18th homer and drove in four runs in the nightcap.

Perfect batting days by Billy Hitchcock, who got four for four in the opener, and Ferris Fain, who hit five for five in the second, featured the double win by the A's.

Smoky Burgess' 11th-inning single scored Hank Sauer to give the Cubs the first-game win. Homers by Stan Musial and Peanuts Lowrey gave the Cards their split.

Herman Wehmeier gained his fourth win for Cincinnati, despite giving up Ralph Kiner's 38th home run of the season.

Winnipeg Girl Places First In Swim Meet

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP).—A 20-year-old department store clerk stepped out of Lake Ontario Wednesday and collected $1,650.

Vivian King of Winnipeg took the money as first prize for the women's world professional three mile championships at the Canadian National Exhibition.

She finished almost a quarter of a mile in front of second place Lies Putt, 25, of Montreal after an hour and 23 minutes in the water. It was Vivian's first professional swim, having won the women's Canadian amateur championship at the CNE last week.

Miss Putt took $750 for second place. She picked up a lamprey eel minutes after entering the water and it still clung to her thigh as she crossed the finish line.

Next In Line

Winner of the $500 third prize was Mrs. Irene Barr Van-Fleet, 28, of Toronto and Mrs. Marion Townsend of Hamilton, fourth, won $300.

Two of the "swimming Mercers" of Tiverton, RI, won the last of the $3,500 prize money. Thirteen-year-old Faith, came in fifth a quarter of a mile ahead of her sister, Althea, 25, who won $100 for sixth place. Faith takes home $200.

Standing in the crowd of 6,000 who watched the race was Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuzler, first Canadian to swim the English Channel.

Winnie, a veteran entrant in the championship swim, said:

"I'm here, but I left my bathing suit at home."

Lindsay Beats Pt. Hope Enters League Final

LINDSAY, Sept. 6.—Lindsay Merchants gained the Lakeshore Intermediate Baseball League final by coming from behind to whip Port Hope Ontarios, 5-2, on Doug Loucks' five-hit pitching here Wednesday night. The Merchants, who won the best-of-three series, will play Colborne Dodgers in a best-of-five final.

The Merchants won the game in the seventh inning on singles by Grant Wickett and Vic Jewell and a double by Harv Heatlie. Port Hope made a bid in the eighth but Loucks, after walking in their second run, fanned Horace Baxter and forced hitter Bob Thickson to pop up.

Meet To Make Plans For 1951 World Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP). — Representatives of four American League and two National League clubs meet today to make plans for the 1951 world series.

The annual autumn baseball classic is expected to open Oct. 3 in the city of the American League winner.

The four AL clubs are Cleveland, New York, Boston and Chicago. Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants represent the National.

FANNING FACTOR — On his way to racking up 100 strikeouts for the fifth successive year, Ralph Branca gets the sign, cocks his arm and follows through. Branca stars in relief for the Dodgers as well as finishing more than half the games he starts. Despite early-season injuries that sidelined him for three weeks, he narrowly missed a no-hitter in the ninth against the Pirates, pitched a two and a three-hitter.

Girl 16 Wins Tennis Finals

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 6 (AP). —Women's tennis has been on the dreary side since the war, really not worth watching, and followers of the game were beginning to wonder if they ever would see the likes of Helen Wills or Alice Marble again.

They can relax. She's here—an apple-cheeked 16-year-old from San Diego named Maureen Connolly who is destined to be one of the game's most glamorous figures here and at Wimbledon and wherever they can get her to play for a lot of years to come.

In defeating Shirley Fry by scores of 6-3, 1-6, 6-4 in Wednesday's women's final to become the youngest winners in the history of the championships, Maureen brought a new and genuine interest to the women's division. At midweek, with the holidays just ended and no other match on the program, 2,500 fans paid their way in to watch the new phenomenon perform.

And the wonderful thing was that she didn't disappoint them.

Headaches From Hate

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP)— Headaches due to hate are described by Dr. J. Bostock in the Medical Journal of Australia. Repressed hate leads to a war in the mind, between the desirable and the obtainable. There is underlying frustration and no easy way out. Psychotherapy often solves the headache problem.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Stan Heath is heading for Calgary to take over for Keith Spaith, Stampeder quarterback, who is out with a broken little finger on his pitching hand.

Heath, who played Canadian football with Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four last season, has obtained his release from the Tiger-Cats.

In Hamilton, Carl Voyles, coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, said that Heath has been released "because he wouldn't have made the team."

Ottawa Senators, building for the new Quebec Senior Hockey League season, Wednesday announced acquisition of 14 players in the most sweeping reorganization in top-flight Ottawa hockey in 40 years.

Old-time hockey followers said the biggest previous shuffle came in 1908-09 when the famous Silver Seven was replaced by Ottawa Senators in the National Hockey League. The Senators dropped from the NHL 15 years ago.

Most members of last year's also-ran team will get a chance to try out again. But they will be against a classy array of stars headed by Leo Gravelle, speedy forward purchased outright from the NHL's Detroit Red Wings.

The purchase of Gravelle alone is reported to have cost Senators around $10,000.

At Winnipeg, Britain's Marylebone Cricket Club Wednesday trounced Manitoba in an exhibition game by five wickets and 179 runs to score their 15th victory in their current Canadian tour.

The MCC won by a wide margin, counting 270 runs for five wickets declared against Manitoba's 91 all out. The second unofficial test match between Canada and the touring Marylebone Cricket Club team will be played at Toronto this weekend. It will be a three-day contest and for the records will rank as a "first-class" match.

Basil Robinson of Ottawa, Canadian born Oxford Blue, will captain the Canadians and R. W. V. Robins, veteran international player, will lead the touring eleven.

In the first test match at Vancouver, a two-day affair, the MCC won by an innings and 100 runs. A second test was scheduled for Calgary but was rained out. A one-day match was substituted and the Canadians won by 36 runs.

Including the Vancouver test, the MCC team to date has played 17 games, winning 14, losing two, while one ended in a draw.

Hal Newhouser, once the mainstay of the Detroit Tigers pitching staff, may be offered a provisional $1-a-year contract for the 1952 season. Newhouser, who is receiving $42,000 for the current season, is not making the current road trip to Cleveland and Chicago and the swing through the east. Charley Gehringer, new general manager of the Tigers, said at Detroit "we would like to see him pitch a game or two before the season ends to allow us to make a judgment on him but he may not be able to."

At Trenton, NJ, first-baseman Richard Giedlin Wednesday signed with Detroit Tigers for a bonus estimated at $50,000.

Giedlin, 21-year-old Notre Dame star, is scheduled to report next spring to the Florida training camp of the Toledo Mudhens, the Tigers' American Association farm team.

Hastings Winners

HASTINGS, Sept. 6 (ENS). — Hastings Juniors defeated Madoc last night 11-4 in their first game of a best of three series on the Hastings diamond.

West went all the way for the winners, and kept the game in hand as he gave up but six well scattered hits, and took out nine via strikeouts.

After the first frame, it was strictly a pitcher's duel, but West helped his cause with a long homer, while Madoc threatened constantly but couldn't produce when the chips were down. Next game is in Tweed Saturday under the lights.

Madoc: Tufts 2b, Chadbolt lf, Blakely 1b, Pigden ss, Downey c, Radmor p, Comerford cf, Carswell 3b, March rf, Heyworth p, Falkner rf.

Hastings: Kelly 3b, Fife rf, Wilson 2b, West p, McGowan ss, Morrow lf, Oliver c, Montgomery cf, Orr 1b, Brown rf.

Madoc ..... 001 030 000— 4
Hastings ..... 500 200 40x—11

Umpires: Gayer, Belleville; Puffer, Norwood.

Jurist's Lament

PORT TALBOT, Wales (CP)— A leaking roof brought reminiscences from County Judge Temple Morris. "During the last 10 years," he said, "I have presided at court with whooping cough, I've ridden to court in a hearse when my car broke down—and I am now, it seems, establishing a record by sitting under a waterfall."

Credit Lopez With Improving Players' Spirit

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6—(AP)— "The big difference between the Indians of 1951 and last year's fourth-place outfit is the spirit," said Cleveland president Ellis Ryan.

"The credit for this must go to our manager, Al Lopez. He, more than anyone or anything, must be recognized at the chief factor in the club's surge."

"Lopez has the confidence of every one of his happy players. Win, lose or draw in this race, Al is the No. 1 pilot of the year . . .

"He is the absolute boss . . . Lopez is getting a good salary to make the decisions. When the time comes that we have to make them for him, he's no longer of use to the Cleveland Club."

Lopez, from the start, had the co-operation of Ryan, general manager, Hank Greenberg and the players, but not the fans.

Fans Resentful

They wanted no part of him. They were still resentful over the dismissal of popular Lou Boudreau and they weren't in a mood to cotton to any new manager.

"Al is one of the best managers in the business," said veteran catcher Birdie Tebbetts. "Having his own experience as a player, he treats everyone the way he wanted to be treated when he was a player. He's one of us, but there's never any question as to who is in charge."

The 41-year-old Lopez, a major league catcher for 18 years and holder of the endurance record of catching 1,918 games, has his own simple philosophy when it comes to running a ball club.

"We're dealing with men, not boys," he says, "and I treat them accordingly. They're all big leaguers . . . I believe in letting players do their own thinking and make their own decisions. It gives them confidence."

Lopez, who launched his big league career at 22 spent six seasons in Brooklyn, five years with Boston Braves and six with Pittsburgh before being traded to Cleveland in 1947. He managed Indianapolis of the American Association three seasons, never finishing lower than second.

Barons Acquire Lund

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6 (AP) — Cleveland Barons have acquired Penti Lund, 25-year-old right wing and the National Hockey League's "outstanding rookie" in the 1949-50 season. Lund was announced today as the "unnamed player" in an earlier deal which sent Hy Buller and Wally Hergesheimer to the Rangers in exchange for Eddie Reigle, Freddie Shero, Jackie Gordon, Fern Perreault, Dutch Delmont.

Ancient Homesteads

OSLO—(CP)—Homesteads, believed to be 4,000 year old, have been unearthed by a Tromso archaeologist. Located in the Varangerfjord district of Finmark Province, the find included slabstones with red-painted figures dating from the stone age.

HE MISSED THIRD—A hatless, breathless Willie Mays crosses home plate in the second inning of the Giants-Phillies Labor Day opener, apparently the owner of an inside-the-park home run. But the umpire ruled him out because he failed to touch third base. Philly pitcher Robin Roberts, who tossed a neat six-hit, 6-3 win, is at left, and Giant catcher Wes Westrum, the next batter, is looking toward third, possibly hoping Willie's error of omission would pass unnoticed.

Used As Pinch Hitter Midget Struck Out

SYCAMORE, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP) —Midget Eddie Gaedel was finally struck out.

The three-foot seven inch mite, who was used as a pinch hitter by St. Louis Browns and drew a walk and also an ouster from the American League, was humiliated Wednesday night.

In a game between two Sycamore teams, Gaedel sauntered to the plate to pinch hit (for a price).

As the third strike whizzed past him, Gaedel yammered: "You're the worst umpire I ever want to see," and he trudged back to the bench.

TWO DOORS FROM THE ODEON THEATRE

AN OLD MASTER in a dying profession, who claims to have close to 5,000 tattoos across his body, put in a good day's work recently when he tattooed the Lord's Prayer in Chinese on an old seadog's scalp. Drilling the ancient symbols into Bert Langton's head was Prof. Simmons, alias Sailor Joe, who has returned to Montreal after spending the summer with the Ringley Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus. Sailor Joe and Bert Langton, out of Liverpool, met about five years ago when Bert had an "ordinary" tattoo embedded in his flesh. Bert wanted his head tatooed to impress his many friends sailing the China Seas and naturally Joe obliged.

Industries Bring Changes To Ancient Gaspe Scenes

By RICHARD DIAGNAULT

QUEBEC, Aug. 16—(CP)— Industry, upsetting centuries-old habits in many remote parts of Quebec, now is moving into the Gaspe Peninsula where life still consists largely of lumbering and hauling in fish.

For 350 years the peninsula lived an isolated life—sea-girt to the north by the broadest part of the St. Lawrence river; to the east by the Gulf of St. Lawrence; and to the south by Baie Des Chaleurs, which separates it from New Brunswick.

Then, less than 25 years ago, a new highway brought tourists to the jagged coastline; and, indeed, gave Gaspesians of the south side a chance to get acquainted with their fellows on the north side.

Since then, thousands of tourists have come, providing precious extra income for the frugal people. And now, 400 years after Jacques Cartier planted a cross on the land which Micmac Indians had named Gaspe(The extremity), industry is seeking the wealth hidden beneath its 9,221 square miles.

The advance is led by a $25,000,000 copper development by Noranda Mines, Ltd., which plans a copper-ore processing plant at Gaspe Village—the tourist centre—situated on Gaspe Bay, a natural salt-water harbor.

Mineral Wealth

Lead and zinc deposits have also been found, and a search is on for oil which Quebec Government geologists believe is present somewhere. Gaspe oil has been talked about since Sir William Logan found traces in 1843.

The Quebec Government has decided to bring electricity to the whole peninsula.

Gaspe's eastern tip — where most of the resources are found—is a good industrial location. It juts out into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Sept Isles, terminal for Ungava's iron ore development, is only 189 miles away by water. Cape Breton coal is about twice that distance to the south; and while coal is not yet an active factor in Gaspe's development, it could mean a good deal later on.

All this means that the simple, rugged fisherfolk, lumberjacks and their bare-foot children, toiling on the wind-blown shores and living in low-roofed houses, will in time be enveloped by modern business enterprise.

The change won't come overnight, but it has started, and already towns like Matane, on the approaches to the peninsula, have taken on modern ways.

Need Check-Ups

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 6 (AP)—For at least 10 years after polio every patient—particularly children—should be examined for curvature of the spine. This warning was given today to the International Poliomyelitis Conference by two American doctors, Robert L. Bennett and John R. Cobb.

Plan Brazilian Branches

RIO DE JANEIRO — (CP)— Eight big European firms in the fields of industrial chemicals, steel and machinery are planning establishment of Brazilian branches in the near future, it is reported here.

KID STUFF — Sixteen-year-old Maureen Connolly, of San Diego, Calif., smiles after downing Doris Hart, 6-4, 6-4, to move into the finals of the US women's tennis championship at Forest Hills, NY. If she beats Shirley Frey for the title, she'll be the youngest player to win the championship.

Rule Bromby Off Race Track

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP). — Apprentice jockey John Bromby of Toronto Wednesday became the fourth apprentice rider ruled off Ontario race tracks for life.

The Ontario Racing Commission, investigating allegations of fixed races on provincial tracks, said Bromby accepted bribes from other jockeys and other persons to induce him to interfere with the true running of horses entered in racing during the July meeting at Fort Erie.

Bromby drove North Drive, winner of one of the allegedly fixed races.

All told, nine riders, counting the four apprentices, have been ruled off for life since the race-fixing investigation started early in August. One owner-trainer has been given a lifetime suspension. Four jockeys face criminal charges and a fifth still is sought.

Charges Government Grows Too Remote

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 6 — (CP)—Government is becoming more and more remote from the people and political parties are not living up to their responsibilities, Philip Farmer, of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce, told the annual Young Progressive Conservative summer conference here Wednesday.

Mr. Farmer outlined the policies and purposes of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. It worked for betterment generally, he said, not for special groups as political parties were inclined to do. He urged better training in public affairs for those aspiring to political office.

Women were urged to take part in politics and run for office by Mrs. Marjorie Hamilton, Mayor of Barrie.

Three other men have been arrested on criminal charges.

VETERAN SEAFARER — Capt. B. B. Grant, master of the Empress of France, will retire after his ship brings Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada in October. Capt. Grant started his naval career at the age of 18 and saw action with the Royal Navy in two world wars.

Believes Russia Wants Japan

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP).— John Foster Dulles, chief American architect of the Japanese peace treaty, said in a copyrighted interview published Wednesday that Japan has been the main object of Soviet aggression in the Far East.

"I have always believed," he said in the interview published by Newsweek Magazine, "that the Soviet-inspired attack upon South Korea was due to the Soviet desire to get control of Japan."

He quoted Stalin as writing in 1925 that a union between Japan and Soviet Russia "would be invincible."

"That is a purpose," Dulles said "which the free world must frustrate."

550 Miners Return To Jobs In Timmins

TIMMINS, Sept. 6 — (CP). — Approximately 550 Hollinger miners most of them off work since July 9, went back on the job today. About 950 others will go back to work on Monday.

Most of the miners reporting for work today are on the mill and maintenance staff. They will get mine equipment in condition to resume operations, interrupted when the mine staff went on strike for a wage increase and a union dues checkoff.

The strike was settled last Friday with granting of a 16-cent-an-hour increase.

Visit Recalls Romance Of Elizabeth and Philip

LONDON. — (CP) — A young woman of 25 soon will arrive in Canada for a coast-to-coast tour with her husband. It will be their first visit to the Dominion and their two little children will be left at home.

Probably Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, feel—like so many parents—that Prince Charles, at 2½, is a little young for travelling. And Princess Ann, at one, is still a baby.

But it's still a safe bet that the two will keep in close touch with their children during the five-week tour. Perhaps they will record their voices to send greetings home. That's what the seagoing duke did the weeks he was away.

In their happy marriage Princess Elizabeth and her husband have set an example for hundreds of young couples just starting out. Elizabeth on more than one occasion has expressed her views on what constitutes the ideal family life.

Raps Divorce Rate

For instance about three years ago she took Britons to task for their rising divorce rate.

"We live in an age of growing self-indulgence, of hardening materialism and falling moral standards," she said. "I would go so far as to say that some of the very principles on which the family and therefore the health of the nation is founded are in danger."

Britons still like to recall the fairly-tale wedding four years ago when the pretty Princess took as her husband the tall, blond member of the Royal family of Greece. He gave up his rights to the Greek throne to become a Briton and her husband.

CHILDHOOD SWEETHEART

Prince Philip of Greece, then 26, was the son of the late Prince Andrew of Greece and Princess Andre. He was Elizabeth's childhood sweetheart. In fact, so the story goes, at the age of 12 she announced firmly that one day she would marry Philip.

Actually, their romance blossomed in wartime. And when Elizabeth accompanied the King and Queen on their South African tour it was known that she wrote to him three times a week.

For months rumors of the pending engagement crowded out other news in British papers. Then it was announced July 10, 1947. And Prince Philip—known in private life as Lieut. Philip Mountbatten — gave his fiancee an engagement ring containing a large diamond and two smaller diamonds set at the side in platinum.

From then until the big day—Nov. 19—Britons were taken up with a round of pageantry such as hadn't been seen since the more affluent pre-war years.

300 Work On Gown

It took 300 girls two weeks to complete the bridal gown of ivory satin with its 15-foot train. Canada gave the Princess a wild mink coat and some silverware. Treasures poured in from the four corners of the world.

Now Britain's most-talked-about young married couple live at Clarence House in the heart of London and are raising two youngsters who are just as full of mischief as other children.

Princess Elizabeth and her husband like to entertain, frequently hold small semi-formal dinner-parties to which guests are invited by phone the same day.

Elizabeth's favorite menu? Lobster soup, chicken maryland (pieces of chicken dipped in egg and breaderumbs) and fresh fruit trifle served with ice cream.

Procter & Gamble's great new discovery!

NEW! PATENTED!

cheer

NO MATTER WHAT SOAP YOU'RE NOW USING,

CHEER GUARANTEES YOU

A CLEANER, WHITER WASH!

Also available in the giant economy size

You're probably using a perfectly good soap now.

But because new CHEER is, beyond question, an important improvement in washing products, you owe it to yourself to try new CHEER—at least once.

And the very first time you do use it, you'll see, at every washing step, how new Cheer works to give you a cleaner, whiter wash than any soap you ever knew . . . even in the hardest water!

Next washday, you be the judge!

1 Prove Cheer's Guarantee— IN YOUR WASHING MACHINE!

You'll find new CHEER isn't just another washing product, but the grandest help a woman ever had to do her wash. You'll watch thick, long-lasting suds spring up in a flash . . . see them work to remove, not only toughest, greasiest dirt, but also the dulling film left on clothes by soap-washings! And without bleaches, bluing or water softeners.

2 Prove Cheer's Guarantee— ON YOUR WASHLINE!

When you rinse and wring out, you'll hang up a wash so clean and white it fairly shimmers on the line. You'll see your clothes dry so soft and fluffy, so fresh and sweet-smelling, you'll want to hug them! And you'll discover new CHEER is safe for colored washables, kind to hands.

3 Prove Cheer's Guarantee— ON YOUR IRONING BOARD!

You'll find your clothes iron beautifully—gleam white and bright as the iron sails over them. CHEER leaves no soap film to yellow under the iron's heat! They're cleaner, whiter than any soap will get them! If you don't agree, just mail the CHEER box top to Procter & Gamble and get your money back.

P.S. Wonderful for NO-RINSE WASHING, too!

If you wash without rinsing, no washing product on earth can give you a cleaner wash than CHEER. CHEER will give you the cleanest no-rinse wash that it's possible to get.

Try cheer once... and you'll cheer forever!

Weight Of Grain Snaps Beam —Barn Havoc

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 6 (ENS)—Percy Frankish, of Douro Township, wound up his 1951 threshing season in an unprecedented fashion Wednesday morning.

Mr. Frankish who lives two miles north of Lakefield on Highway 28, went out to do his milking and found 2,000 bushels of freshly threshed grain mixed up with five calves in his cow stable.

Fortunately for the calves, they were in a pen to one side of the barn sill, that snapped off in the granary above, and only a corner of the mountain of grain cascaded into their pen.

Mr. Frankish said that despite the mishap he feels fortunate that more damage was not done, because as the beam crashed down it snapped the hydro wires and might easily have set fire to the whole barn.

The crash started the automatic barn pumping system and pumped hundreds of gallons of water into the grain, only stopping when the well went dry.

The owner is now busy hauling his soaked grain into Peterborough where much of it may be salvaged in a drying process.

Has No Problem

FORT LEE, NJ, Sept. 6 (AP)—Having five babies can do things for your figure—good things. Mrs. Caroline Peterson, of Jersey City, proved that last night when she won the title of Mrs. Hudson County. The proud momma of five will compete in the Mrs. America, contest next Sunday at Asbury Park.

Police Round Up 280

PARIS, Sept. 6 — (Reuters) — Police early today rounded up 280 persons in a 20-minute sweep of prostitutes and people without identity cards. It was the second stage of the capital's clean-up campaign. Last week 400 prostitutes and postcard sellers were rounded up.

OSCAR, a white-faced, ring-tailed monkey, is back in the car from which he escaped after giving more than a score of persons a two hour chase in Philadelphia. It seems that Oscar was sitting in the car when he decided to walk so he rolled down the window, hopped out and was on his way. Harold Felix, 5, holds him at bay here, so all's well again with Oscar.

Friends Honor Lakefield Couple

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 6 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Grylls, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, were guests of honor to a party held at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Erskine on Clear Lake.

The Rev. Walton Tonge expressed the sincere good wishes of their friends assembled to Mr. and Mrs. Grylls. Mrs. W. Gillman and Mrs. Charles Hunter then presented them with a lovely silver rose bowl. A miniature silver fish ash tray, with net, and gaff hook was given to Mr. Grylls, who is an ardent fisherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Grylls thanked their friends for the lovely gifts and good wishes.

The evening was spent in playing games and dancing.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. T. Chaplin, Mrs. J. N. Brown, Misses Carolyn Ann Erskine, Joyce and Beth Brown.

A beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. J. N. Brown of Bancroft, was cut by the bride of 25 years.

LEGAL MIND AT WORK?—Thousands of acres of wastelands, ruined by recent heavy floods in Kansas, will be reclaimed thanks to the "brain child" of law student Don Carttar of Lawrence, Kan. It's a huge plow that bites 40 inches into the earth and mixes the productive subsoil with sand and silt left by the floods. The big plow "reconditions" flooded land at the rate of three-fourths of an acre an hour. The inventor is seen above with his plow.

Bilingual Laws Tightened In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (CP) Strict application of South Africa's language laws and regulations by Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist Government has blocked promotion to civil servants who are not competent in both of the country's official languages—Afrikaans and English.

While there have been cases of Afrikaners losing promotion because they are not bilingual, the English-speaking officials in South Africa's extensive civil service have been the hardest hit.

Their case is being taken up by opposition politicians and newspapers who allege that language tests are being operated unfairly in the civil service, that a "gestapo" atmosphere is being created and that political pull counts for more than service and ability.

Denies Allegations

All these allegations have been denied by Dr. Malan and his ministers. They point out that the South African constitution requires every civil servant to be fully bilingual and say they are only carrying out the law.

The language issue, Dr. Malan told the South African Parliament, was being exploited by the United party opposition for political purposes.

Promises Justice

"I have said before that if an injustice is done to English-speaking people or to their language, I would like to be the first to see to it with all the power at my command that justice is done to them."

The United Party, the Prime Minister said, would move heaven and earth to get back to power. "It has only one weapon, and that is to stir up the racial feelings of the English-speaking people and so frighten them that they will refuse to vote for the Nationalist Party, no matter how good the merits of the case may be."

A more lenient interpretation was placed on the language laws by the United Party when it was in power, with the result that many English-speaking officials rose to senior positions although they were not bilingual.

The present Minister of Transport, Paul Sauer, has said "The law and regulations with regard to bilingualism were watered down very considerably during the regime of the last government. I am going to tighten them up again. I am going to make people realize that they cannot attain the highest standard of efficiency unless they can speak both official languages."

"The Afrikaners are the most bilingual section of the population," Mr. Sauer said, adding that he was glad to see that the English-speaking section was now making rapid progress towards bilingualism.

All Face Test

"Tightening up" is achieved through language tests, obligatory on all civil servants who are eligible for promotion. Not even the highest ranks are exempt and failure means that an official loses promotion.

The tests are imposed in a surprising number of occupations. They apply to all grades of railwaymen up to the position of general manager. They also apply to harbor pilots, tug-masters, harbor staffs, soldiers and sailors of all ranks, pilots and mechanics of the air force and the airways, radar and radio operators, medical men, scientists, and men and women in many other walks of life.

Mr. Sauer said the policy of bilingualism would apply equally to both sections of the population. He was applying the policy for the protection equally of Afrikaans and English-speaking officials who had made themselves competent in both languages. The majority of Afrikaners were bilingual, but Afrikaners who did not learn English would also miss promotion. This had happened recently in the post office.

Thousands Of Fishermen Hit Hard By BC Drought

VANCOUVER, Sept. 6 (CP)—Thousands of fishermen today joined thousands of loggers in the unemployed ranks—the result of British Columbia's continuing drought. Drought cost has so far been estimated at around $30,000,000. Southwestern BC has only had one heavy rainfall in the last 14 weeks.

The fisheries department ordered closure of commercial salmon fishing in 12 major areas embracing more than a third of the BC coast.

"We had to order the closure because of the unprecedented condition of some of the spawning streams," said A. J. Whitmore federal supervisor of fisheries here.

"The water is so low that in some cases only part of the fish will at best be able to get up to the spawning beds and further fishery would be ruinous."

Some of the areas involved have never before been closed for such a reason in the 90-year history of the BC salmon industry.

The closure order came just as seiners and gill netters were at the peak of the run of summer cohoe, chum and pink salmon. Similar action was taken in Washington state.

Fire Hazard

At the same time, virtually the entire logging industry along the coast was shut down because of the fire hazard brought on by the lack of rainfall and high temperatures.

More than 130 forest fires, all reported under control, burned throughout BC today. But foresters said that if winds were not light, there would be no halting the flames.

The forest closure has kept come 12,000 loggers idle almost continuously since July 12. In winter, the snow-bound forests are usually closed, which means loggers will probably get only 138 days' work this year.

Many have quit the woods to take lower-paying jobs. Once the drought is over there may be a shortage of woods labor.

In another drought development, the BC Federation of Labor urged the provincial government to hurry up its decision on increased prices for milk. The federation asked for increases at a meeting of the provincial milk board Aug. 13.

Federation secretary Charles Walls said in a letter to Premier Johnson that farmers, faced with lack of feed because of the drought, were selling off their dairy herds. This would aggravate a shortage of milk this winter.

UK Conservatives Struggle To Show Change Of Heart

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Sept. 6—(CP)—In this century of the common man, Britain's Conservative party has a tough time trying to persuade people that it really believes in welfare capitalism.

Rightly or wrongly, Conservatives are prisoners of their past. In the minds of many moderate voters, the word "Tory" still suggests a wicked capitalist, a privileged property owner or at best a defender of the status quo.

It seems fair to say that if Winston Churchill and his colleagues win the next general election, as majority opinion now takes pretty well for granted, they will do so less because of their own irresistible appeal than because important sections of the electorate have largely lost faith in Labor.

Party Of Privilege

The Conservative effort to slough off the wolf's clothing of privilege and reaction is difficult. The Tories go back a long way to the days when all politics were dominated by the wealthy landed classes. Now, in a policical climate where security and humanitarianism are perhaps more potent influences than in the flourishing free-enterprise economies of North America, every move the Tories make is suspect.

Since 1945, they have tried to broaden their base. Every annual conference has at least one speaker who boasts he is a son of toil from the Old Kent Road. There is an "industrial college" in the north of England and the party says it approves in principle of the welfare state, including the national health service.

All the way, it is an uphill fight.

Tories Defensive

In this curiously defensive mood, Conservatives face a difficult choice. Most feel that the political pendulum has swung too far to the left. The Country is in real difficulties, they say, and if solving those problems happens to include trimming social expenditure, well, that's the way it has to be. At the same time, they know that such policies are unpopular among sections of the population which remember the period between the wars as the "bad old days" of Tory rule.

Something of this spirit was hinted at in a recent speech by David Eccles, an influential Conservative back-bencher. The party, he said, must try to get rid of its reputation as the party of privilege.

Favorable Comment

The speech rang freshly in an atmosphere weighed down by stalemate politics . . . many British newspapers commented favorably, and some predicted it would form one of the chief plaks in the Conservative platform at the next election. But there were some skeptical reactions.

The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, called the policy "perilously vague,, and asked whether the Conservatives have really moved away from the restrictionist ideas of the 1930s.

The Weekly Economist, an independent publication, said there were two tests. One was whether a Conservative government would reduce surtax on large earned incomes, while raising the impost on large inheritances. The other was whether it would really try to break up monopolies and price-fixing associations.

"That is the necessary policy for a capitalism of opportunity," the Economist said, "but . . . It is the leaders of the price rings who are among the party's most active supporters."

11 Canuck Engineers Sail for Great Britain

QUEBEC, Sept. 6 — (CP) — Eleven engineers from Canadian universities, first holders of Athlone Fellowships, left Wednesday night aboard the liner Scythia to spend two years in United Kingdom industrial centres.

The aim of the fellowships, named after the Earl of Athlone, former Governor - General of Canada, is to provide Canadian engineers with a knowledge of Britain's engineering industry.

The group included W. C. Breck and A. J. Williams, Queen's University.

Cavan News

Body Found Of Tourist In Pigeon L.

Overturned Boat Discovered; Unable To Swim

The body of 52-year-old William Calvin Wolfe, a tourist from Akron, Ohio, was recovered Wednesday night in Pigeon Lake, a mile northeast of Tall Cedar Lodge where he had been staying.

Tall Cedar Lodge is four miles northwest of Lakehurst.

Wolfe set out from the lodge on a fishing trip about 10.30 a.m. Wednesday. His wife, Eva, also a keen fisherman, did not accompany him on this trip in which he was trying out a new boat.

Half an hour later the over turned skiff, with the outboard motor still attached, was found floating 25 yards from shore, a mile northeast of the lodge. His cap and jacket were floating beside it.

Wolfe was a non-swimmer.

The discovery was made by James Hodges, also of Akron, who was returning from a fishing trip.

OPP Constables J. G. Healey and T. Armitage were dispatched from headquarters in Peterborough and they started dragging operations about 1.30 p.m. They were assisted by other tourists and a party from Bobcaygeon.

Wolfe's rod and reel were found first and then his body was located at 8 p.m., not more than 20 feet from where the overturned boat was discovered. The body was brought to the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, before being taken to Akron for funeral services at the Long funeral home, Akron, Monday, and burial.

Just what caused the boat to overturn is not known. Police report that the motor was turned on to full speed but the anchor was out.

There will be no inquest.

His wife was a sister of Mrs. Lachoff, wife of the proprietor of the lodge. He and his wife arrived Saturday to begin their vacation. He was a statistician with the Goodyear Rubber Co.

Fruit Crop Heavy This Year

Ontario has been picking and relishing a great harvest of fruit this year, according to information coming to the dealers.

Grapes reached the market this week, with an estimate of 13 per cent more than last year. Reds will be about the same tonnage as 1950, but both blues and whites are up.

The peach crop, ripening earlier than last year, and probably ending two weeks earlier than usual, offers 10 per cent more than a year ago.

The harvest of pears is estimated at 627,200 bushels, which would be 31 per cent more than 1950.

There are also more apples in sight in this province. The crop may reach 690,000 barrels or 13 per cent above the 1950 yield. Eastern Ontario orchards indicate 22 per cent increase at 416,700 barrels.

All the way down the list, the promise and actual fulfillment are substantially higher than last year. Raspberries were 10 per cent more; there was a good strawberry crop; and the harvest of cherries may be 29 per cent over last year's 255,900 bushels.

In general farming and also in the orchard crops this year deserves the appellation of a banner year.

Substitute Needed

CASTELDERG, Tyrone, Ireland —(CP)—A substitute minister had to be called when William Sproule and Cissie Patterson arrived for their wedding at the Presbyterian Church here. The regular minister had married the week before and was still honeymooning.

Henry Cotton Inducted Minister Of St. Andrew's

A congregation of 175 men, women and children Wednesday night welcomed the Rev. Henry Cotton as the new pastor of St. Andrew's United Church. The induction service was followed by a social evening.

Mr. Cotton, who came from a nine-year pastorate in Newmarket, has been an ordained minister for 31 years. He succeeds the Rev. M. J. Aiken, minister of St. Andrew's for six years.

His first service in his new church will be next Sunday. For the past month he has been conducting the service in Trinity United Church.

The induction service was conducted by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, president of the Peterborough presbytery. The charge to the new pastor and the congregation was delivered by the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews, George St. United Church. And the sermon was delivered by the Rev. B. S. Morwood, Mark St. United Church.

Community Centre

Mr. Morwood said that within the last 30 years there has been a change in the church so that now it is "more of a community centre." Church organizations have multiplied and the minister himself, besides being a minister, has to be a business organizer and often a "financial wizard."

Because of this, he said that the essential characteristics of a church might become lost. No church is worthy of the name that has not Christian fellowship and worship.

Mr. Cotton was introduced to the presbytery and members of sessions by the Rev. Harry Herrington, Keene, secretary of the presbytery.

Previous pastorates of Mr. Cotton include Copetown, Cainsville, Brantford, Stoney Creek, Fort Erie, and Newmarket. He was graduated from Victoria University in theology and from Toronto University in social sciences.

War Record

In the First War he was a captain in the Royal Flying Corps, and was a prisoner of the Germans for two years. He shot down three enemy planes and was mentioned in dispatches.

When the Second World War came he joined up again, becoming a chaplain in the RCAF. During war bond drives in the United States and Canada he made more than 400 addresses.

In 1940 he was elected president of the Hamilton Conference of the United Church.

Nelson King Buried

Funeral services for Nelson King, 71, 551 Chamberlain St., who died Monday were held Tuesday night by the IOOF and by the Rev. Maurice P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church on Wednesday afternoon, both at the Nisbett Funeral Home.

In charge of the IOOF service was acting chaplain James Price and noble grand master R. P. Fulford.

Pallbearers were H. Butler, George Warboy, C. Ellis, W. King Jr., Jack King Jr., and Lloyd King. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

East Technicians To Visit CGE Study Canada

A hydro electric mission composed of nine technicians from India and Pakistan will arrive in the city this evening and will spend Friday studying work departments at the Canadian General Electric plant.

They are touring Canada under the Technical Assistance program of the Colombo plan for the development of South and Southeast Asia.

The delegates will arrive in Peterborough after having visited various large power developments on the Ottawa River and will go to Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara before proceeding west to British Columbia on their eight-week tour.

Members of the party to visit Peterborough will be S. A. Gadkary, chairman of the Central Water and Power Commission and member of the Central Electricity Authority, New Delhi; T. J. Mirchandani, chief engineer of Bombay Electric Grid, Public Works Department, Bombay; Ras Bahuadur S. B. Rama, chief operation officer, Electricity Department, State of Madras; A. R. Khanna, Deputy Secretary (Technical) Ministry of Natural Resources and Scientific Research, New Delhi, and G. C. Coswami, chief electrical advisor for the State of Assam, Shillong, State of Assam.

Two others from India, Shri V R. Vaidya and U. C. Nair, and two from Pakistan, Y. A. Zia and Capt. M. Kahn, are also among the delegates.

Most Beautiful Grounds Award Given To Western Clock Co. By Horticulturists

Western Clock Company has been awarded first honors this year in the industrial section of Peterborough Horticultural Society's recognition of community beautification.

De Laval Company placed second and Nashua Paper Co. third.

The judge, A. E. Hick of Lindsay, wrote the following comment in his report: "The judging of factory entries continues to be most difficult, and in several classes left little to choose between them. The fine, well-kept flower beds at Westclox gave them a slight margin over De Laval.

However, De Laval should be commended for the fine lawns and foundation plantings of evergreens. Nashua Paper has an outstanding lawn and attractive showing of evergreens."

The larger industrial firms fall into a class that is defined by minimum lawn area of 5,000 sq feet. A second class is for factory and business properties under 5,000 sq. feet in which the awards were:

Bus Lines Win

1st: Peterborough Bus Lines; 2nd: Canada Packers Ltd.; 3rd A. Wander Ltd. (Ovaltine).

Special mention is again made of the Quaker Oats Company rock garden overlooking the Otonabee river, north of Hunter St. bridge. Some home owners of the city and district have examined both the Quaker and city rockeries at the east end of Hunter St. bridge for ideas of detail arrangement. One in particular is reported to be laying out a private rock garden on a scale of 57 ft. by 7 ft., an indication of the influence in beautification which is accentuated by the splendid rockery arrangement across the river.

Peterborough Horticultural Society is the only one in Ontario sponsoring industrial beautification.

"The Society could not emphasize the high standard of beautification that has been attained by industries of this city without the co-operation and keen interest of their executives," Wm. C. Wilks writes in a note on this season's excellent work in the beautification of industrial properties that is a perennial asset to the appearance of the city.

Home Garden Awards

Results of the competition for home owners were as follows:

Class A, lawns and gardens of houses built prior to 1946: 1, R. C. Millard, 424 Stewart St.; 2, L. G. Dunstan, 740 Hurley St.; 3rd, T. Burke, 103 Parkhill Rd.

Class B, lawns and gardens of houses built since 1946: 1, S. H. Perks, 509 Cambridge St.; 2, Mrs. J. O. Meehan, 727 Lock St.; 3, Mrs. M. V. Powell, 661 Rubidge St.

Class D, rock gardens: 1 Ray Stabler, 541 Bethune St.; 2, Mrs. George Benton, 782 Water St.; 3, Mrs. S. O. Shields, 9 Anne St.

Class E, pools: 1, Mrs. J. O. Meehan, 727 Lock St.; 2, Mr. L. Titterington, 207 King George St.

Class F, vegetable gardens, 1, Harry Gabbutt, 533 Chamberlain St.; 2, Mrs. A. C. Simmons, 250 Euclid Ave.; 3, Mr. S. E. Stevens, Port Hope Highway.

Class G, window boxes, 1, H Gabbutt, 533 Chamberlain St.; 2, Mr. T. Burke; 102 Parkhill Road.

No Professionals

There were no entries in Class C for lawns of homes where professional help was employed.

Judging of rock gardens was assigned in early June to Mr. A D. Butcher and Mr. J. S. Mason, guided by Clarence H Bacon.

Members of the lawn and garden competition of the Horticultural Society are: D. J. Emery, chairman, Mrs. H. Neal, Mrs. A W. Clysdale, Miss A. Bowles, Mrs. C. Baker, Mr. F. Biddle and Mr K. R. Kemp.

Mr. Hick, principal judge, reporting his impressions, said: "Having been familiar with Peterborough for some years now, I noticed this season considerable improvement in the parks, homes, factories and even some vacant properties.

"The citizens appear to be taking considerable interest in their public parks, and many of them evidently wish to co-operate by developing beauty spots at their own homes.

"Your parks board should be commended for the fine work they are doing, also the many industries who are definitely improving the grounds surrounding their buildings. You have an active society whose leadership and membership are doing much to induce the home owners and industrial executives to continue this fine enterprise in beautification of the community."

The report from Mr. Wilks also mentions the initiative of Peterborough Lumber Co. in planting a large flower bed at the corner of their property facing an important highway, which must be an attractive sight to most visitors.

Mr. Wilks said the number of entries was the largest in many years.

DOUBLE TALK . . . BUT CORRECT . . .

In his charge to the congregation at the induction service Wednesday night of the Rev. Henry Cotton, the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews stated that good attendance at church is always encouraging to the pastor. But he expressed it somewhat differently: "The best way to get behind your minister is to get out there in front of him." The St. Andrew's congregation chuckled and nodded assent.

Phony Cheques Passed Jailed 5 Months

Phillip Corrin, 148 Antrim St., was sentenced to five months definite on three charges of cashing cheques under false pretences today in police court. The sentences will run concurrently in the Ontario Reformatory.

Corrin was charged with cashing three cheques, supposedly signed by Ross Greenly, on the Bank of Montreal at two gas service stations and a George St. clothing store.

The first cheque was cashed on August 18 at C. D. Connolly's service station on Park Hill Road for $27.65. It was followed by cheques cashed for $46.18 at Keith Innes' service station on August 24 and for $42.18 at V. A. Selkirk's store on August 25.

Sgt.-Det. John Stevenson testified for the cheques cashed at Connolly's and Innes' stations and Mr. Greenly for the cheque cashed at Selkirk's.

Mr. Greenly had employed Corrin from early April until late July.

Similar Offences

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw KC, submitted Corrin's record which included similar charges of false pretences in Guelph and Sudbury, where Corrin was sentenced to three months both times.

Mr. Bradshaw told Magistrate W. R. Philp that Corrin was "capable and quick-brained." He pointed out that only in the past year and a half has Corrin been in trouble adding "that unless he gives a reason for his 'going haywire' I'll be forced to ask for six months on each of the three."

Corrin, who is 23, could give no reason. He added that when he realized the seriousness of the charge, "I gave myself up; I wasn't arrested."

In passing the sentence Magistrate Philp told Corrin that he looked like a man who could hold a job.

Russians Accept Social Invitations

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6 (AP) The Russians almost isolated their women out of invitations to entertainment planned for wives and friends of delegates to the Japanese peace conference.

Mrs. Paige Monteagle, chairman of the Citizens' Conference Women's Division, finally caught up with Andrei Gromyko at a reception Wednesday night.

She told him she'd been unable to reach the Russian delegation at its rented suburban mansion. She just wondered if he couldn't relay to the five Russian women bids to luncheons, tours and other entertainment.

"That would be very nice," Gromyko accepted.

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif., Sept. 6 (AP)—Russia's delegation to the Japanese peace conference has cold shouldered newspapermen and the curious. But they've fed six Americans—two airmen and four policemen.

Air Force Sgt. Myrton Pitt and Pte. James Bakum were invited to breakfast Wednesday when they arrived at the Russians' rented mansion here to drive the Soviet delegation into San Francisco.

They were given grapefruit, boiled eggs, French bread, cheese and coffee.

The previous night as four policemen were going off duty, a Russian staff member invited them in for a dinner of omelet, salad, French bread, watermelon —and vodka.

$6,900 Sewer Needed Who Will Pay Costs?

A collapsed storm sewer on Queen Street, Lindsay, and its replacement cost of approximately $6,900, caused a great deal of discussion at a recent meeting of the Town Council.

Reeve Richard Butler stated that some members of the Water Board said that their department was prepared to pay part of the cost. Alderman Cote pointed out that the sewer actually drained county property, and suggested that Victoria County Council be approached to bear a share.

Nothing was settled, although Mayor Lamb said that the sewer would have to be replaced no matter who had to pay or what it cost. It was held over until next week's council meeting.

Second Soldier Dies As Result Of Accident In Dense Fog Near Lindsay

Two Others Escape As Car Rolls Over, Driver Charged With Dangerous Driving, 4 On Way To Camp Borden From Montreal

Sgt. David Woodard, 31, of Camp Borden, died Wednesday night in Lindsay hospital, the result of a fractured skull received in a car accident early Monday morning west of Lindsay. Four Camp Borden soldiers were in the car. He is the second fatality from the accident. William Robert Sawers, 20, a permanent force member of the RCASC, was also thrown from the wrecked vehicle and was instantly killed. Driver of the car that failed to make a turn on Highway 7, two and a half miles west of Lindsay, was an RCAC trainee, Peter Brooks Wilson, 20, Montreal. The fourth soldier was an RCMC trainee, H. H. Smith, 24, Kingston. He received a slight cut on the head.

$4,000 Bail

Wilson, who was only shaken up in the crash, Wednesday was remanded in Lindsay police court on a charge of dangerous driving. Bail was set at $4,000.

Police report that the four soldiers were returning to Camp Borden after a weekend in Montreal. About 4.30 a.m. they were driving west along the highway in a dense fog and the driver did not see a sharp jog in the highway in time.

He swerved and a front wheel buckled and the car went out of control. It skidded and turned over a couple of times, coming to rest upright some 200 feet down the highway.

Woodard and Sawers, sitting in the two left hand seats of the car were thrown clear. Sawers was killed instantly and Woodard was taken to hospital and never regained consciousness.

OPP Cpl. W. G. Milton and Constable Al Russell of Lindsay were in charge of the investigation.

Says Congestion At Lakehead Caused Crisis

TORONTO, Sept. 6 —(CP)— Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, said today that the crisis in the movement of the western grain crop has been caused by congestion in the Lakehead terminals.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Transportation, Communications and Commercial Travellers day luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition, Mr. Gordon hit back at reports blaming the grain crisis on a shortage of railway box cars.

The difficulty confronting the railways, he said, is not in accepting the grain for shipment, but in getting rid of it when the rail haul is completed.

"Throughout April, May, June and July," he continued, "the CNR moved a daily average of 508 cars from the prairies, a quantity that surpassed the quota set by the Canadian Wheat Board. Congestion in Lakehead terminals developed to the point where we had as many as 4,400 cars in the yard awaiting unloading. The average number detained during July was around 2,000 cars.

Mr. Gordon said it is uneconomical in normal circumstances to use box cars as warehouses on wheels when the railways are hard-pressed to meet the requirements for moving wheat and other important commodities. To avoid aggravating the congestion it was necessary to make adjustments in the loading of cars at prairie points. The facts will show the CNR now has in the western region some 24,000 box cars in readiness for the new crop and all other traffic offerings.

"This pool of cars amounts to no less than 37 per cent of our total box car ownership on Canadian lines."

Engineer Surprised Bridge Stood So Long

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 6 (CP).—The chief engineer of the Dominion Bridge Company said today he had wondered why the Duplessis Bridge had not collapsed when fissures first appeared in main girders a year before the structure plunged into the St. Maurice river.

The engineer, Robert Eadie of Montreal, was testifying before a two-man commission inquiring into the bridge collapse last January.

He told the court that his first reaction after viewing the fissures in February and March 1950 had been one of wonderment at seeing the structure still erect.

Two Accidents At Same Corner Woman Injured

Mrs. Reid MacFarlane, Bourlamaque, Quebec, had an ankle dislocated Wednesday in one of two accidents at the corner of Park and Lansdowne Sts.

She was taken to the Civic Hospital after a truck, driven by Kenneth Grainger, 255 Reid St., met in Collision with a car driven by Reid MacFarlane, at the intersection. Mr. MacFarlane told police that he didn't see the red light.

The MacFarlane car received $300 damage.

The other accident at the same intersection was during the supper hour rush. A car, driven by William DeMarsh, 564 Howden Ave., was struck in the rear when it stopped for the red light by a car driven by Robert Gilmour, 659 George St. N. There was slight damage to both cars.

One block north, at the corner of George and Princess Sts., two passengers in a car were shaken in a second supper hour accident.

William Hamilton, a bruise above his eye, and Robert Graham the frame broken on his glasses, were passengers in a car driven by J. C. Hamilton, Cordova Mines. The Hamilton station wagon had stopped in the line of traffic on George St. and was struck in the rear by a car driven by George B. Houck, 223 Wilson Ave.

The fourth Wednesday accident was minor, involving a car, driven by Kenneth Byrd, 520 Glengarry Ave., and a truck, owned by Frank Covle, of Lakefield, and driven by Ernest Payne, RR 1, Warsaw. It happened at the Water-Hunter Sts. intersection.

Children Moved To Polio Hospital

Although no new polio cases have been reported in Peterborough in the last 24 hours, two young patients have been transferred by ambulance from the Civic Hospital to Toronto Sick Children's Hospital since Monday.

The first, on Labor Day, was Lilly Blodgett, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blodgett, of RR 3, Peterborough. Lilly attended Grade VIII at Queen Mary School.

Wednesday, Linda Hall, aged 12 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, of 503 Chamberlain St., was also taken to Toronto.

The second case reported in Victoria County was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Young, of Omemee. He was also removed to Isolation Hospital, Toronto. No paralysis development has been reported on the case to date.

Defence College Guests Experts for New Courses

KINGSTON (CP). — The man who directed Winnipeg's 1950 Red River flood battle will find himself working alongside an RCMP counter-espionage expert here.

They are both among the class for the fifth year-long course at the National Defence College, the one school in Canada where the whole broad problem of running a modern war is examined and studied.

The flood veteran is Brig. R. E. A. Morton, DSO, 50, of Regina, coming here from the top job in the Canadian Army's prairie command. The espionage expert is Supt. J. R. (Jim) Lemieux, who has done a lot of work with the Mounties' special branch, the section that is the core of Canada's internal security organization.

There will be 19 others checking in with these two for the fifth class which opens Sept. 6. The fourth class which finished on Aug. 25 had 23. Such classes include senior military officers and high-ranking officials of other Government departments, as well as of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Board of Transport Commissioners and of the British forces.

New Class

These are the men starting the new course:

Navy—Capt. D. W. Piers, DSC, 38, Halifax.

Civilian—J. H. Trotman, Defence Research Board; A. S. Duncan, Department of Trade and Commerce; Y. O. Fortier, Department of Mines and Technical Surveys; H. M. Palmer, CBC; R. Watley, Defence Department; R. J. Groves, Department of Agriculture; G. Y. Loughead, Trade Department; H. F. Davis, External Affairs Department, and R. G. Chestnut, CNR.

Obituary

M. W. MATCHETT

The death occurred Tuesday at his summer home in Fruitland of M. Wellington Matchett, 90 Ontario St., Hamilton after a lingering illness in his 82nd year.

Mr. Matchett was born in Otonabee township, the son of Richard Matchett and Rebecca Neithercut. He attended Coldsprings public school and Peterborough collegiate before going to the Ottawa Normal school.

He then taught at Stewart Hall, Coldsprings and Mather's Corners school before becoming principal of Ashburnham school.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. William Short (Iola), Calgary; Mrs. J. C. Higgins (Vyra), Komoka, Ont.; one son, Dr. Roger W. Matchett, Toronto; and five grandchildren.

His youngest son, Major Elwood Matchett of the Hamilton Light Infantry was killed in the Dieppe raid in 1942.

His brother, Oscar S. Matchett lives here.

He was one of those who helped organize the Coldsprings Union Sunday School in 1888 and was superintendent for a number of years. He was a member of Peterborough Lodge, 175, AF and AM and Peterborough Lodge 111 IOOF of which he was a PNG and at one time was a District Deputy Grand Master. He moved from Peterborough about 40 years ago. He was a member of the First United Church, Hamilton, and was a member of the board. For over 35 years he was the teacher of a large mixed bible class in the Sunday school until his failing health forced him to resign.

Funeral announcements were to be made later.

Wolf Menace Increases

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Yugoslavia's wolf population has increased since the war. They have killed 1,450 donkeys and mules, 1,850 horses, 4,800 head of cattle, 2,370 goats and 29,980 pigs, in Bosnia and Herzegovina alone during the 12-month period ended last June.

GUARDING GROMYKO — Patrolman Pete Fena of Hillsborough, Calif., stands guard at the entrance to Crocker Mansion, where the Russian delegation to the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference in San Francisco is staying. At least two men are on duty at all times. As the parley got ready to open, the Allies were confident that a proposed set of tough rules would block Red efforts to "sabotage" the conference.

Miss America Winners Narrowed Down

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ, Sept. 6 (AP)—Miss Alabama and Miss North Carolina Wednesday night won the first preliminary contests of the 1952 Miss America pageant.

Miss Jeanne Moody, of Cherokee, Ala., took the talent trophy with a dramatic scene from the motion picture, "Sorry, Wrong Number." Miss North Carolina, Lulong Ogburn, won the first bathing suit contest in the pageant.

The 51 girls included Marjorie Kelly, of Courtland, Ont., Miss Canada of 1951.

Frogs Delay Trains

HUNMANBY, England (CP)—Railway schedules were thrown out of kilter when swarms of small frogs from nearby swamps invaded the railway station in this Yorkshire village. As fast as they were swept away others took their place on the platform and tracks.

Slowing Up

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — (Reuters)—The earth, rotating on its axis, is "losing time," according to astronomer Georges Tiercy of Geneva. The professor told an assembly of astronomers here that, as a clock, the earth "runs slow" by approximately 5.3 seconds per century.

Won't Accept More Tass Applications

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Standing Committee of Correspondents voted Wednesday night to consider no further applications of Tass (Soviet news agency) correspondents for admission to the Congressional press galleries "at the present time."

Action of the committee, composed of correspondents elected by their colleagues to govern the press galleries, does not affect the standing of four Tass reporters now accredited to the galleries.

A statement by the committee did not mention the case of William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent imprisoned by Communist Czechoslovakia.

Ex-Detective Given 2 Years In Robbery

SUDBURY, Sept. 6 (CP). — John Murray, 34-year-old former Toronto city detective, Wednesday was given two years on a charge of robbery by threat.

Druggist Bulmer Larocque said Murray entered his store July 21, threatened to shoot him and stole $67 from the cash register. When arrested five minutes later, Murray had no gun.

The court was told Murray spent 10 years on the Toronto force. He had been working in a mine here for seve... hs prior to his arrest.

Mercer To Get Special Course

TORONTO, Sept. 6 — (CP) — Reform Institutions Minister Foote Wednesday announced that a domestic training course will be established this fall in the Mercer Women's Reformatory here and that the present business course is to be approved.

He also announced plans for opening an alcoholism treatment centre at suburban Mimico Reformatory Sept. 17. Later, similar centres may be set up in other reform institutions such as those at Guelph and Burwash, near Sudbury.

Mr. Foote said no consideration is being given to a general investigation of conditions at Burwash, although all specific complaints about that institution are investigated.

He was commenting on a letter last month from J. B. Salsberg, Labor-Progressive Party member of the Legislature for Toronto St. Andrew, who said prisoners were abused there.

UK Turns Spotlight On New Rocket Motor

LONDON, Sept. 6 — (Reuters) —Britain turned the spotlight for the first time Wednesday on its newest rocket motor—one that can double the power of the fastest jet fighters at high altitudes.

Called the Snarler, it was built by Armstrong Siddeley, designers of the powerful Sapphire jet engine.

The engine, kept secret since the fall of 1947, has been flown extensively in an experimental aircraft, the P-1072.

Union Opposes Envoy To Spain

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 6 — (Reuters). — Trade unionists Wednesday struck four blows at Leftist opinion in world affairs at their annual conference here.

But they also condemned the Labor government for exchanging ambassadors with Franco Spain—"an insult to the British people."

The 90 delegates of 8,000,000 workers forming the Trades Union Congress voted to:

1—Reject a resolution condemning Britain's $4,000,000,000 defence plan and asking a new initiative for peace.

2—Reject a resolution condemning rearmament for Germany and Japan.

3—Approve a manifesto charging Russia with "systematic campaign of aggression" and supporting United Nations action in Korea.

4—Reject a resolution criticizing "American interference" with British trade and urging more commerce with Eastern Europe.

In all these motions the voting was supported by the Congress executive, traditionally loyal to the Labor Government.

The executive said nothing when the Spanish resolution was unanimously accepted.

Young Man Arrested With $10,000 Jewels

VANCOUVER, Sept. 6 (CP)—A young man with a suitcase containing $10,000 worth of jewelry was arrested here Wednesday night and charged with breaking and entering. Police arrested Louis Phillipe Masson, 24, as he left a swank westend home. They took him to his rooming house where they found the suitcase full of gems. Most of the articles were packaged in jewel cases or neatly wrapped in tissue paper.

Cliff Popular Suicide Spot 62 Japanese Jump Daily

TOKYO, Sept. 6 (Reuters). — Like everything else in post-war Japan—the cost of living, westernization, and the birth-rate — the not-so-gentle art of suicide is on the increase.

For centuries, hara-kiri (self-disembowelment) has been recognized in Japan as an honorable form of wiping out a stain on one's character, family or country.

Occupation authorities frowned on the practice, but despite vigorous efforts to stamp it out, suicide is one of the most popular methods of personally solving the problems of love, debts, and fear of another world war.

In the year ended last April, police records show that 62 Japanese took their lives every day, or 18 per cent over the previous year. And this "season" is unofficially reported to be heading toward a record.

Since the last war, the popular tendency has been to indulge in family suicides.

Jump Off Cliff

Modern suicides seldom practice hara-kiri. The most popular means now is to jump off a cliff.

Nikko, 90 miles north of Tokyo, and with a population of less than 30,000, has gained the unenviable reputation of the Suicide Resort in recent years. More than 400 Japanese on an average go there each year for the sole purpose of killing themselves.

Nikko has been hard pressed to cope with this situation. The town council decided to erect barbed wire barricades to prevent approach to the Kegon Falls, a popular suicide spot.

Hotel keepers protested. Unable to jump over the falls, the would-be suicides returned to their hotel rooms and variously stabbed, shot, gassed or hanged themselves.

When their protest went unheeded, hotel owners gathered after nightfall and tore down the barricades.

Appoint Cavell As Supervisor

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—A 57-year-old Briton who has been a soldier, horse-breeder, sheep-rancher and big business man in the Far East and Canada was named Wednesday to head a new division of the Trade Department charged with supervising Canada's role in the Colombo plan.

He is Reginald George Cavell, of Toronto, who will supervise Canada's commitments under the Colombo plan for the development of South and Southeast Asia, the $5,200,000, six-year program to help save India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and other countries from Communism.

Mr. Cavell, widely known as an after-dinner speaker, spent 20 years in the Orient and came to Canada in 1934 to take up a business position. He is chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. He is quitting his job as vice-president of both the Automotive Electric (Canada) Ltd., of Toronto, and the Phillips Electrical Works Ltd., of Brockville.

2 Men Seeking $10,000 Damages For False Arrest

WINDSOR, Sept. 6 (CP). —Two employees of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, arrested last March on charges of stealing tires and subsequently cleared, have filed action against the company in which they ask $10,000 damages each for false arrest and imprisonment.

Claiming that their arrest in the Ford plant and their being held at the Windsor police station overnight caused them annoyance and disgrace, and loss of time and wages and loss of credit and repuptation, Gordon C. Williams, and Keith A. Jacobs filed the actions through their counsel.

Both were tried before Magistrate Hanrahan, April 6, on a charge of theft of two tires. In dismissing the charges, the magistrate commented that there was no foundation for the proceedings.

In the statement of claim filed in the Supreme Court, Williams and Jacobs claim they were stopped in the plant, March 30, questioned by Ford plant security men, then turned over to a city police officer who had them locked up overnight.

The company's statement of defence alleges that both men went voluntarily to the police station, where they were arrested and placed in custody by a detective.

Steel Lacked Manganese Report On Duplessis Bridge

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 6 (CP).—Analysis of steel used in the Duplessis Bridge five months before its collapse revealed that it had too much carbon and not enough manganese, a research expert of the provincial Mines Department said Wednesday.

The two-man commission inquiry into the collapse of the bridge last Jan. 1, reopened hearings into the tragedy which claimed five lives. Four were killed in the collapse and a man drowned when the tractor he was using in an attempt to salvage a submerged automobile crashed through the ice on the St. Maurice river.

Dr. Maurice Archambault, director of research, said he sent a letter on Aug. 22, 1950, to the provincial government, which was turned over to Yvon Vallee, provincial deputy works minister. It contained a paragraph which said the steel showed a lack of sufficient manganese. Dr. Archambault said analysis by his department and by J. Bayot, a metallurgist, showed the grain in the steel was not uniform, the chemical composition was not similar in every piece, and the steel used was not of uniform quality.

Bayot's inspections had substantiated Dr. Archambault's analysis that the composition showed a lack of manganese.

Earlier, Lucien Perrault, manager of the Industrial Laboratories of Montreal, said reports of his company on steel samples showed nothing to indicate poor steel had been used.

Reports on checks by the Dominion Bridge Co. on the material and subsequent inspections by four other companies also showed nothing wrong with the steel. Perrault said the metal met all specifications called for in the plans.

12 Poles Find Home In Canada

TORONTO, Sept. 12 — (CP) — Among passengers aboard the SS Castilbianco when it reaches Quebec City from Copenhagen Sept. 11 will be four thieves and eight mutineers. But they'll be welcome.

Their story was made known Wednesday by the International Rescue Committee, Inc., of New York City, which recently established a Canadian branch in Toronto.

The four—three young pilots and a 20-year-old girl—reached Sweden in a rickety plane that they stole from the Warsaw airfield in Communist-dominated Poland.

The others, eight Polish sailors, escaped Communist tyranny by overpowering the officers of their minesweeper and taking it to Sweden.

Copper Workers Ordered Back To Work

DENVER, Sept. 6 — (AP). — A back-to-work order went out today to union members whose strike virtually shut down domestic production of copper, lead, and zinc.

John Clark, president of the independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, telegraphed all locals to have their members back on the job as soon as possible.

His order followed a district court move to halt the strike.

Judge Alfred P. Murrah of Oklahoma City, granted an order restraining the union and 31 operators in the non-ferrous metals industry from continuing in any way interference with the production of copper, lead, zinc, manganese, molybdenum and tungsten.

Cut Off Production

The strike started August 27, and cut off virtually all production of the metals needed in defence as well as other production.

Union leaders predicted that the majority of members would report for work some time today.

At the beginning, the strike made idle an estimated 58,000 members of the Mine-Mill Union and 42,000 members of other unions who refused to cross picket lines. An agreement with the Kenecott Copper Corporation put 9,400 back to work in Utah last week-end. It called for a pay increase of 15 cents an hour and pension arrangements worth 4½ cents an hour.

The unions had asked an increase of 16 cents an hour. The industry's wage range has been from $1.31 an hour for laborers to $1.62 for miners.

THE UNINVITED—An unofficial delegation to the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference from the Republic of South Korea arrived in San Francisco. Heading the group is Col. Ben C. Try To Import Magic Earth From Brittany

LONDON, — (CP) — Officials of the British board of trade are puzzled over an application for special authority to import a hundredweight of black earth from France, to further the pursuits of witchcraft in Britain.

Cecil H. Williamson, 46-year-old film director, wants to get the earth from a spot in Brittany to complete the "magic circle of power," in the witches' den he has constructed on his farm in the Isle of Man.

The circle has been laid out in the design of Dr. Dee, Queen Elizabeth's astrologer, who is credited by devotees of the craft with having brought on the storm that wrecked the Spanish Armada off the shores of Britain in the 16th century.

Mr. Williamson said there were 30 to 40 witches in Britain today, but declined to name them because of "continued prejudice." He also claimed it would be possible to endow the magic circle with power to accomplish strange things, but doubted if it would be wise to do so.

Plans, he said, were being made for the first witches' convention to be held on his farm on midsummer day next year. At the same time the den, with its magic circle, would be opened to the public.

HAVELOCK, Sept. 6 (ENS)—The Havelock Girls' Athletic Association met at the home of the president Mrs. Ronald Ellis on Tuesday evening.

The main item on the agenda was to adopt some way of raising money for equipment for the softball team and later to purchase sweaters if a hockey team is formed. To commence activities it was decided to hold a euchre party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams on September 24th.

Assets Available

HONG KONG, Sept. 6 (Reuters). — The Hong Kong government announced today that Japanese assets here, estimated at more than $3,500,000, will be available for distribution under the terms of the Japanese peace treaty. The sum of $2,800,000 will be devoted to form an endowment fund for Hong Kong University. The balance would be made available to benefit the community.

Typhoon On Way

SAIGON, Indo-China, Sept. 6 (Reuters) — The Meteorological Service today reported a typhoon approaching the Indo-Chinese coast from the Paracelse Islands, 264 miles east of Hue, capital of Annam State. Eighteen persons were killed and 15 injured when a 50-mile-an-hour tyhpoon struck the texitle and manufacturing district of Namdinh on Monday and Tuesday, the report said.

800 Houses Destroyed

HONG KONG, Sept. 6 (Reuters)—About 800 houses were destroyed in Hainan Island by the typhoon which lashed the South China coast last weekend, delayed reports said today. Sixty-three fishing vessels were destroyed and 275 badly damaged. In the capital, Hoichow, two persons were killed and 15 injured.

Call Peace Conference Rubber-Stamp Meet

MOSCOW, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Soviet press reported today that the United States is trying to turn the Japanese peace treaty conference into a "rubber-stamp" ceremony.

Tass dispatches from San Francisco complained that "large numbers" of delegations at the conference are from countries that "did nothing towards the destruction of Japanese militarism."

Pravda said the treaty prepared by the US and Britain is in direct violation of pledges undertaken at Cairo, Yalta and Potsdam.

Coldspring News

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ford and family, Kirkland Lake, were Wednesday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ford.

Labor Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wallace were: L. Lawrence, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burtch and Heather, of Port Hope; Mrs. Wm. Greer, Mrs. Ted Cook, and Miss Helen Greer, Cobourg.

Several from the community attended the Labor Day celebrations at Harwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Nixon Timlin, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Linton, Miss Edith Hoskin and Ross Timlin and Harold Taylor, attended the CNE on Tuesday.

St. Paul's United Church service will resume at 10 a.m. on Sept. 9, with Sunday school at 11 a.m., after the August holidays. The Rev. P. C. Brown will be in charge.

Guests the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Artless Taylor, were Mrs. R. Lancaster, of Montreal; Miss Audrey Robertson, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Eagleson and John Robertson of Cobourg.

Men Banned

LONDON, Sept. 6 — (AP) — A London department store has banned men from its fashion shows today because they were crowding out the women. An official at C. and A. Modes said: "If a man arrives with his wife or girl friend, he will be politely asked to wait outside," he said.

Norwegian Officer Denies Spy Charge

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 6 (Reuters)—Per Edvard Danielsen, 33-year-old Norwegian naval reserve officer accused of espionage, today denied he had discussed the political views of Norwegian officers with a Russian naval attache.

Police alleged that Danielsen, son of a former chief of the Norwegian navy, earlier said he sometimes discussed the views of other officers with Capt. Vladimir Koshalev, a Russian naval attache in whose company he was arrested last April.

May Rocket To Mars Some Day On Beam

LONDON, Sept. 6 — (AP). — A British atom scientist said today man may some day rocket to Mars on a beam of electrified particles called ions. Dr. L. S. Shepherd, one of Britain's leading physicists, said the strange space craft could operate between an artificial moon of the earth and one of the tiny martian moons. He gave the theory in a paper prepared for the 12-country international Congress of Astronautics—space navigation.

Estonian To Wed Keenleyside's Son

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 — (CP) — A pretty blonde Estonian will be married Saturday to the son of the former head of Canada's Immigration Department to whose home she came four years ago to serve as a domestic.

The wedding of Hilda Alev and 23-year-old Miles Keenleyside, son of Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, will take place Saturday in St. Peter's Lutheran Church here. Dr. Keenleyside now is a member of the United Nations staff, but was head of the Immigration Department when Miss Alev came to Canada in 1947. He gave her a job in his Ottawa home.

Miles Keenleyside is a student at the University of British Columbia at Vancouver, where the couple will live.

I'm In Favour Of Time OUT Of The Kitchen . . . time to spend with the youngsters or friends or with a good book. That's why I'm "sold" on this kitchen "time-saver" . . . BLUE BONNET MARGARINE in that handy Yellow Quik bag! No pounding a mixing bowl . . . no washing up . . . all you do is press the colour button on the Yellow Quik bag, knead it, and in just two minutes, Blue Bonnet is a scrumptious, golden-yellow . . . ready to put on the table for dinner. Of course, there's more to Blue Bonnet than its grand time-saving qualities. It saves you money, too. And you can always be sure of its wonderful, country-sweet, fresh flavour . . . so good in baking, pan-frying and as a spread for bread.

"Decrepit" is the word you may apply to that ageing refrigerator or range of yours. But to your Frigidaire dealer they're good, saleable appliances. He can recondition and refinish them so they'll give a lot of service to some other customer of his. That's why he's ready to take them off your hands and give you such a handsome trade-in allowance on a new FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATOR or FRIGIDAIRE ELECTRIC RANGE. That trade-in allowance will go a long way on the down payment. And budget terms will take care of the balance. Yes, it's easy to get that wonderful "lift" a really modern kitchen will give you. Talk it over with your Frigidaire dealer soon.

The Smell Of Grapes, warm off the vine, is an aroma that defies description. But I've discovered how to capture it, in the best jellies and jams ever. You see, with CERTO Liquid Pectin I can do down grapes when fully ripe—at the peak of their flavour perfection—and their fresh, delicious flavour is retained because a one-minute boil is all that's necessary with Certo. The same with all fruits. And with Certo, results are always so sure, if you follow the easy instructions found in the booklet under the label of every Certo bottle. Besides saving up to 2/3 the time of the former long boil method, with Certo you get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

Wonderful Cook And Hostess is an enviable reputation for any woman to have. That's why so many housewives keep a supply of JACOB'S GOLDEN PUFF ENGLISH BISCUITS always on hand—for guests and for family mealtimes, too. For Jacob's Golden Puffs are very special taste-treats when they're used as patty-shells (they separate in the middle) with Welsh Rarebit, Creamed Salmon or Chicken. They're ready-to-serve as they come from the air-tight carton—light, fluffy and flavourful. Good? Yes, and it's no wonder!—for they're made of finest, softest English wheat flour, as are those famous Jacob's Lemon Puff Biscuits. Next time you're shopping, pick up a package of Jacob's Biscuits—you'll be delighted!

Nothing Is More Important than your family's health. Yet I know many housewives who neglect one simple, inexpensive precaution that might make all the difference between a care-free September and a hospital bill. Keep your home free from disease-carrying houseflies by spraying every room, every day, with Fly-Tox. Your neighbourhood store stocks this finest of all insecticides at budget prices. Ask, by name, for triple-action FLY-TOX HOUSEHOLD SPRAY. Or better still take home the new FLY-TOX INSECT BOMB . . . containing 11 ounces of highly concentrated Fly-Tox that will last for weeks and weeks . . . yet priced at only $1.39.

Here's A Dish Fit For A HUSBAND . . . made with the Heinz Soup of the Month for September—delicious HEINZ CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP. Buy it now in the new pack made of mellow, vine-ripened tomatoes picked every year at this time. And try it tonight in this recipe for Savoury Swiss Steak . . .

2 c. flour
2 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
2 lbs. round steak
2 tbsp. fat
1 medium onion, sliced
1/2 c. chopped green pepper
1 10-oz. can Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, diluted with an equal amount of water

Rub flour, salt and pepper into the steak with a saucer. Brown on both sides in fat. Circle and top the steak with onion slices and chopped green pepper. Add diluted soup. Simmer slowly, covered, on top of stove for two hours. Serves 6.

Ever Noticed how often men look at your hands? Well, they'll look twice (in admiration) when you give your hands the beauty-care of JERGENS LOTION! No matter what your daily chores may be—dishwashing or the family wash . . . your hands will stay soft and smooth with Jergens-care . . . even if you're a detergent-user, as I am! Just try it!—you'll find there's nothing more soothing to detergent-dry hands than Jergens Lotion. Being liquid, Jergens quickly supplies the softening, smoothing moisture dry, thirsty skin needs. Use it after every watery chore! Keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion in your kitchen and bathroom, too. 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

There Are A DOZEN Reasons Why golden-brown, toasty Quaker Muffets are so popular with everybody. One of them is that QUAKER MUFFETS are 100% whole grain . . . far more nutritious than ordinary cereal because it contains all the valuable benefits of natural grain. In Quaker Muffets you get 100% Whole Wheat—yes, the bran and valuable wheat germ are there with the body-building protein, minerals and energy-giving qualities of the whole grain. For a breakfast that's really different, try Quaker Muffets with fruit and milk or cream—you'll be back for more and more! Right at this moment I'm adding Quaker Muffets to my shopping list—how about you?

Carefree Confidence is a woman's birthright on every single day of the month. That's why I'm persistent in talking about TAMPAX—to make you realize what a big difference this modern, monthly sanitary protection will make . . . on days you probably now mark zero for swimming and sunning dates. Try Tampax and you can swim, tub or shower when you please. It lets you wear "next-to-nothing" play-suits—for there'll be no bulges to show with this internal protection—no chances of odour or chafing! Designed by a doctor for internal use, Tampax is made of pure cotton . . . is dainty, simple to use. It comes in three absorbencies, Regular, Super, Junior.

Planning A Fall Wedding? Well, when all the excitement—the rice and the wedding cake and the guests have vanished—here's something I'd like you to remember!—Something every bride should know about is this truly satisfactory method of feminine hygiene . . . ZONITORS. Zonitors are greaseless, stainless, snow-white vaginal suppositories—dainty and convenient to use—powerfully germicidal, yet absolutely safe to delicate tissues. Jeannette MacMorran Weds Will Live In Edmonton

Trinity United Church was setting on Tuesday afternoon at two thirty o'clock for the wedding of Miss Jeanette Elizabeth MacMorran to Mr. William Tyler Hamilton, performed by the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacMorran of 590 Sherbrooke St., Peterborough. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton of Powell River, BC.

A princess-styled gown of white satin with hand rolled satin roses falling from the waistline and a skirt which swept into a slight train was the bride's choice. Her fingertip veil of net fell from a crown headdress, covered with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Lillian Coones, who wore a gown of golden yellow taffeta with strapless bodice of lace and lace bolero jacket. Her headdress was of matching taffeta and she carried a bouquet of bronze 'mums.

Mr. Jack Davies attended the groom and ushers were Harry Coones and Robert Girdwood.

The wedding music was played by organist Mr. Donald Kennedy and Mrs. D. Bruce Gordon sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Mrs. MacMorran received her guests, gowned in ravine blue lace over taffeta with hat of black velvet and wearing a corsage of red sweetheart roses. Mrs. S. S. Shepherd received for the groom, in the absence of his mother. She was wearing navy linen and a navy hat and her corsage was pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton went on a short wedding trip before leaving for Edmonton, Alberta, where they will reside. Travelling the bride wore a powder blue gabardine suit with flame red feathered hat and accessories in the same shade.

Joan McFadden Is Bride Of W. G. Rowbotham

All Saints' Anglican Church, decorated with pastel shaded gladioli, was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Miss Florence Joan McFadden to Mr. William George Rowbotham. The Rev. E. C. Moore performed the ceremony.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George O. McFadden of Belfast, Ireland, and came to this city from Ireland in June, 1950. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rowbotham of Peterborough, and is a Flight Cadet with the RCAF.

Given in marriage by Mr. Ross Wylie, late of Edinburgh, Scotland, the bride wore a gown of ivory slipper satin, made with a yoke of Chantilly lace and peplums of satin and lace. Tulle illusion veiling edged with lace fell to fingertip length from her headdress of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses with white gladioli florets. Her only attendant, Miss Eleanor Carleton, was frocked in blue marquisette over blue taffeta. She wore a pleated halo of pink net and carried a cascade of pink roses set with pink tinted gladioli.

The groomsman was Mr. Frank Wright and ushers were Ted Carleton and Lorne Rowbotham, brother of the groom.

A reception was held in the parish hall. In absence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Seymour-Rouse, late of Monaghan, Ireland, received with the bridal party. She was wearing black and white silk taffeta with a picture hat of black Milan and had a corsage of talisman roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, wearing a grey pic and pic suit, a black felt hat trimmed with velvet and a corsage of American beauty rosebuds.

Later the bride changed to her going-away ensemble, a navy blue and white faille dress with matching fitted jacket, navy velvet hat and navy accessories.

The couple will live in London, Ontario, until the groom receives his commission from the Air Force in October. He will then be stationed for a time in Winnipeg.

Beggs-Davis Rites

A double ring ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Lloydtown, Ontario, united in marriage their daughter, Lois Doreen, and Mr. Robert M. Beggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Beggs of 244 Lansdowne St., Peterborough, the Rev. M. E. Birch of Mimico officiating.

Gladioli and mixed flowers decorated the house for the occasion. Mrs. Glenn Davis played wedding music and Mr. John Nattress sang "I'll walk beside you" during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore blue sky nylon marquisette over taffeta, trimmed with gathered satin sash, and a jacket featuring rolled collar and bracelet length sleeves. A crown of white feathers held her shoulder veil and she carried a bouquet of white 'mums and stephanotis.

Miss Joan Birk of Peterborough was bridesmaid, wearing pink marquisette over taffeta, a small halo of seed pearls and carrying a bouquet of blue 'mums and stephanotis.

Mr. Ernest Drury attended the groom and ushers were Ross Rumbell, cousin of the bride, and her brother, Douglas Davis.

The bride's mother was gowned in amethyst marquisette and wore pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and stephanotis. The groom's mother was in pale blue tissue faille and wore navy accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to United States, the bride wore a navy and grey suit with navy accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Beggs will live in Peterborough.

Dillon-McNeeley

In the Immaculate Conception Church, the Rev. James A. Greenan solemnized the marriage of Irene Simpson McNeeley to Mr. George Bernard Dillon of Peterborough. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. Simpson and the groom is son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dillon.

Mr. G. Brown gave the bride in marriage. She wore an ankle length gown of lady love French Chantilly lace over taffeta, made with sweetheart neckline. Her headdress of matching lace was trimmed with ostrich feathers and she carried a prayer book with white rosebuds and baby 'mums. Bridesmaid Mrs. Wilfred Rankin, sister of the groom, wore an ensemble of sandstone crepe and imported lace with hat and shoes in matching tones. She carried a nosegay of bronze baby 'mums.

Mr. Timothy Walsh was groomsman and ushers were Wilfred Rankin and Vincent Powers.

Following a reception in Hooper's Palm Room the couple left for Toronto and other points. They will live on Steele Ave., Peterborough.

James Hawthorne Marries Leading Dancer Joan Mann

HYANNIS, Mass., Sept. 6 — Miss Joan Mann of Manhasset, L. I., well-known dancer and choreographer, and James Hawthorne of New York City and Peterborough, Ont., popular tenor were married Sunday afternoon before a gathering of several hundred guests who filled the Federated Church, while at least 500 who could not gain admittance to the church waited outside to see the couple.

The Rev. Dr. Carl F. Schultz, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony at 4 p.m. Miss Beverly Hunzicker of New York was soloist, and Mrs. Warren Cook, organist. The altar was banked with white gladioli and orchids.

The bride wore a gown which combined a bodice of lace with a ballerina-length skirt of pink net, a lace dutch cap and she carried a heart-shaped spray of white orchids and orange blossoms. She was escorted to the altar by her brother, Frank T. Mann of Manhasset.

Brown lace over beige was worn by Mrs. Frank T. Mann, matron of honor, and Miss Sharon Dean of New York, maid of honor, wore green net and tulle. Both carried heart-shaped bouquets of white and rust-colored chrysanthemums. Three-year-old Cathy-Jo Mann, niece of the bride carried a basket of white gladioli, orchids and rose petals which she scattered daintily. Raynor Howell of New York was groomsman.

Wilton Clary, Maurice Burke, David Baker and DeForest Cole were ushers. Mrs. Adelaide Mann, mother of the bride, wore black taffeta with velvet trim, and Mrs. Jessie Hawthorne of Peterborough, Ont., mother of the bridegroom, wore a white suit.

Among the guests were the full casts of the Falmouth Theatre production of "Pal Joey," where the bride is leading dancer, and the Cape Playhouse, where Mr. Hawthorne is playing, together with many other theatrical friends of the couple.

The new Mrs. Hawthorne has been a dancer and featured player in several Broadway musicals, choreographer of the musical "Tickets Please," and several television shows during the last year.

Mr. Hawthorne was a resident member of the Cape Cod Music Circus last year and took the leading role in this year's presentation of "Student Prince." He also has been in several South Shore Music Circus shows.

A reception in the VFW Hall, Iyanough Road, followed the ceremony.

4-Day Program CWL Convention Starts Friday PM

Opening sessions of the fourth Provincial Convention of the Catholic Women's League will start at three o'clock this Friday afternoon, in the Empress Hotel second floor parlor. Official opening of the convention is at nine o'clock Friday evening, following a Eucharistic holy hour at St. Peter's Cathedral.

The afternoon meetings are of the executive of Provincial Council, Miss Catherine Toal, president, presiding; a conference of the Diocesan Directors, Most Rev. William J. Smith, Provincial Director, presiding; and an exhibition of the Catholic publications and other reading matter.

Miss Agnes Grant, president of Peterborough Diocesan Council, will be chairman of the opening program in the Kawartha Room at the hotel. The address of welcome will be made by Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough. Greetings will be extended by Mayor M. J. Swanston, the Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP, Senator J. J. Duffus, Senator Iva C. Fallis and Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, MP.

There will follow greetings from the Knights of Columbus, extended by Mr. W. J. Cunningham, from the Separate School Board by chairman Mr. J. G. McCarney, and the Parent-Teachers' Association by Mrs. J. F. O'Brien, president of the Diocesan Council PTA. National CWL greetings will be brought by the president, Miss Button, of Ottawa.

Mrs. Joseph Smith will be the supper hostess Friday when the local Diocesan Council entertains all delegates and visitors in St. Joseph's Hospital nurses' residence.

Convention mass at eight o'clock will open Saturday's schedule of which the highlight is the luncheon at which Mrs J. J. McHale, National Convener of Girl Guides, is to speak.

Most Rev. John C. Cody, DD, LLd, National Director, will speak at the Sunday evening banquet in the hotel.

The convention will conclude at noon Monday.

Dixon-Hurtibese

In the rectory of St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church, Oshawa with the Rev. P. M. Dwyer officiating, the marriage took place of Catherine Regena, daughter of Mrs. Berville Hurtibese of Oshawa, and the late Mr. Hurtibese to Wesley Edmond Dixon, son of Mr. James E. Dixon, Otonabee, and the late Mrs. Dixon.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles Hurtibese of Barrie, the bride wore pale blue nylon marquisette over satin with matching blue feather hat. Her sister, Mrs. Frank Hill, as matron of honor, wore a similar gown in navy with navy accessories. Each wore a corsage of talisman roses. Mr. Frank Hill attended the groom.

At the reception in Hotel Genosha the bride's mother received in a mauve printed nylon dress, wearing grey accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon left afterward on a trip to the Adirondack Mountains, the bride wearing a navy dress and accessories and squirrel neckpiece. They will live in Peterborough.

Devotions Follow 3 Themes

Opening fall meeting of Bridgenorth WA took place Tuesday evening in the basement of the United Church. Vice-president Mrs. C. Hartman presided and welcomed the members back after a holiday recess. The Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer. Mrs. J. Hardill, in charge of devotions, dwelt on the theme for July, "The house on the rocks," and Mrs. F. Ray read scripture. The August theme "Laborers in the vineyard" was then taken, followed by a scripture selection. Theme for this meeting "The good Samaritan" was read by Mrs. J. Johnston from Luke 10, followed with an article "Being a good Samaritan today" read by Mrs. Hardill. Mrs. C. Telford reported 13 calls made by the visiting committee in the summer months and several cards of thanks were read by Mrs. Hardill. Mrs. K. Blewett reported $13.90 had been collected from the apron in which members had sewn money. The minister announced a special flower service to be held in the church Sunday evening and plans were made for the children to place small bouquets at the front of the church. A vote of thanks was tendered those who had led the devotions at meetings in the past year, also the social convener and others who had performed many services. After benediction, refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Smith.

September Group Serves Tea

Following the induction service for the Rev. Henry Cotton at St. Andrew's United Church on Wednesday evening, a social hour was provided by the September group of the Woman's Association. It was convened by Miss Marion Manning and Mrs. L. Nelson poured tea. President of the WA, Mrs. C. C. Pilon, received the guests who were then presented to the Rev. and Mrs. Cotton and their son Ross by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris. Mr. E. F. Reid conducted a brief program of welcome. Members of the Presbytery were special guests.

✧ ✧ ✧

Smith WCTU Entertains

About 40 attended the garden party Wednesday afternoon on the lawn of Bridgenorth United Church when Smith WCTU members entertained members of the Peterborough Union. A meeting was conducted by the president Mrs. Gordon Mann and the Rev. D. P. Morris led a devotional period. An instructive Biblical quizz was given by Mrs. Ralph Scott and a geographical contest by Mrs. Elmer Milburn. Mrs. James Young and Mrs. Joseph Mann favored with a duet. Two minutes silence was observed in respect for the late Mrs. J. A. Porter of Lakefield. Mrs. W. A. Poast, president of Peterborough Union, thanked the hostesses.

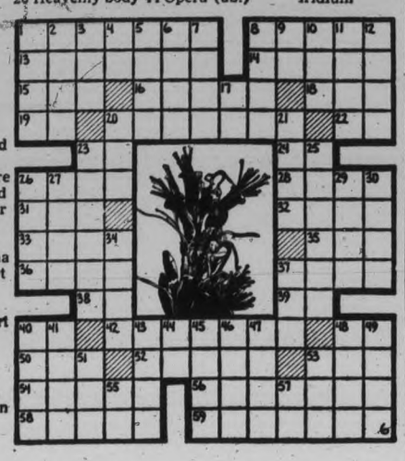
Answer to Previous Puzzle



DOROTHY DIX

Lack of Self-Confidence Arouses Questioning Trust

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is the summation of all my girlhood dreams. His is intelligent, kind, a wonderful father and very dear person. Our life is very harmonious. I am most positive he has never been unfaithful to me but frequently he asks that I do not leave him if he should stray from the straight and narrow, for, he says, man is weak and someday he may slip. I trust him implicitly, so this situation is very embarrassing to me. I don't think I could retain the same feeling of love and respect for my husband should such an incidence arise. He gives me a feeling of waiting for the inevitable situation to develop. J. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband is beset by a sense of insecurity that makes him constantly seek reassurance. Since you've only been married three years, he hasn't acquired the feeling of permanence that will eventually make your trust a foregone conclusion for him.

Demonstrate Your Faith

Until that point is reached, you can continue to show by action and word that you do trust him completely. The contingency of his infidelity is very remote and you had best proceed on the assumption that it is not going to happen. You must have enough faith for both, and build up your husband's confidence both in himself and in you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I are having a terrible struggle trying to make ends meet. Several years ago my husband worked for his father, to whom he returned all the money he earned. My husband also worked his way through college while the younger children were sent to college and didn't have to lift a finger to help themselves. Now, I would like to get back the money my husband gave his father. My father-in-law pays no attention to my request, and my husband is angry with me for asking for the money. We need it so badly that I am resorting to every means to get it. F. A. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's difficult to judge from the meager facts just who is right in your case. If your father-in-law is well off, it seems only just for him to help you out if your need is so great. If he, too, is struggling to make ends meet, and regards the money in question not as a loan but as assistance rendered by the oldest son, it is probably unlikely that you will ever receive it. Trying to make an adjustment of a matter that goes back several years usually presents difficulties. If your in-laws are adamant about their inability or unwillingness to give you this money, you had best let the matter rest before you stir up hard feelings among everyone.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time ago I met a man who was very nice in every way. We went steady for two years, then he told me he didn't want the responsibilities of married life, and we broke off. Now after six months of not seeing each other, he wants me to go out with him again. I feel I am in love with him, but do you think I'd be foolish to go with him again? When we broke up I dated a number of other men and right now have another chance to marry. I'm 28.

EMILY R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your friend still has the same feeling about matrimony you would be very foolish to go with him again. Unless you just want pleasant company, you're wasting your time. A man who is not willing to marry is not in love. Don't get too involved, and run the risk of heartbreak that you can now avoid. As for the other matrimonial opportunity—just be sure you are really in love with any man you decide to marry. Don't grab second-best just for the sake of a wedding band. It's too tenuous a tie to hold a recultant husband.

New Equipment Aids Teachers

MONTREAL (CP).—The first audio-visual centre for Canadian school teachers will be opened at Macdonald College at nearby Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

This type of equipment has been used in Provincial Protestant schools for instructing pupils for the last 15 years, but it will be the first time a centre has been opened exclusively for teachers.

The main feature of the centre is the recording room where teachers have their voices recorded and then have imperfections in their deliveries pointed out by a professor when the disc is played back.

Dr. Frank Hanson, assistant professor education and chairman of the centre, said the recordings are proving an excellent means of ironing out flaws in planning corrective exercises. A series of recordings are taken throughout the term, and a test case has shown improvement each time.

Weber-Nixon Rites

The wedding was solomnized in St. Paul's United Church parsonage, Warkworth, on Saturday, of Florence Vivian Yvonne Nixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ireland, and Carl Eugene Weber, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weber of High River, Alberta. The Rev. H. G. Lester officiated.

The bride given in marriage by her step-father, wore a street-length dress of powder blue sheer with headdress of orange blossoms and shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath. Bridesmaid Reta Yule wore fuschia taffeta with a corsage of white mums and baby's breath. Fred Nixon, Cobourg, was groomsman.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Nixon received the guests. A buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Fred Nixon, Mrs. Morley Cane, Cobourg, and Mrs. Marvin Bailey.

The couple left on a motor trip east. On return, they will live at 55 Chatham St., Brantford.

What's Right?

When you have dinner guests you notice that the bread or rolls on the table are almost gone.

Wrong: Say "If anyone would like another roll, I'll get some."

RIGHT: Unobtrusively refill the bread plate and offer it to each guest.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"It's our 'Man in the Street' program—care to comment?"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Canned Peaches A Standby In Every ~~Canadian~~ Cellar

By MARY MOORE

The peach season is a serious all-absorbing business in the Niagara Peninsula in September. It interferes with traffic, it thwarts my hospitable urges, it overflows my fruit cellar and gluts my kitchen and family.

When I invited some folks for a Sunday Barbecue Supper only one of them could come: "You see Mary, Dad has to be on hand Sun-evenings for the peach shipments." (He's CPR agent.)

When I tried to switch to Saturday night I realized I had bought so many peaches I had to can them or do something with them—so had to backtrack on that idea. We compromised on Sunday night; father came late and I fed him peach pie with peach ice cream. Pete said I should be summonsed for cruelty to humans.

Now if you want to operate on these luscious but seemingly over abundant peaches—here are canning and jamming ideas. Be strict about all steps in sterilization.

✧ ✧ ✧

CANNED PEACHES
Cold-pack Oven-method

Use only fully ripened fruit Dip about 15 peaches in boiling hot water for about 1 minute. Tip off the water, chill in cold water and peel peaches and cut into halves, remove stones and drop in sterile jars fitted with new hubber rings. (The same instructions are used for canning in tin cans.) Do not fill more than 3 quart jars before filling jars to overflowing with syrup. Make syrup in proportions of 1 cup sugar to 3 cups water, boiling it for 5 minutes.

For oven canning stand jars in shallow pan on a rack. Add 1 inch of boiling water. Process in oven at 275 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes. Remove from oven and tighten seal and invert to cool.

(If hot water bath is used, lower jars in hot water bath rack into hot water; count time after water boils, giving them 35 minutes. If peaches are slightly precooked before packing in jars and jars are sealed boiling hot they require only 20 minutes in oven or hot water bath.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Canned Peaches Without Sugar

Use same method as for canned peaches BUT substitute boiling water for the boiling syrup. On no account ever open jars to fill them full when shrinkage occurs after processing. This applies to peaches canned in sugar syrup too.

✧ ✧ ✧

Peach Conserve

Four lbs. peaches, 3 lbs. sugar, 2 oranges, 2 teaspoons unchopped peach pit kernels, ½ lb. best quality walnuts, 1 cup sliced maraschino cherries and juice. Blanch, peel and slice peaches. Add the sugar as you slice to prevent browning. Add the grated rind of the oranges and the juice, the syrup from the bottled cherries. Boil gently, stirring very frequently, until of desired consistency, but not until peaches darken. Stir in blanched peach pits, which may be chopped a little, the broken walnuts and sliced cherries. Boil up for 5 minutes, then pour into sterile jam jars and seal with very hot new paraffin at once, adding a second coating as soon as jam cools. Cover and store in cold place.

McCallum Concedes "Judas" Strong Talk

TORONTO, Sept. 6 — (CP).— Mayor Hiram McCallum today conceded that his term "Judas Iscariot" for Ald. Nathan Phillips was a bit strong, but declared in an interview:

"I had to strike back or Council would have walked all over me."

Mayor McCallum used the name Judas at a stormy council meeting Wednesday in reply to criticism by Ald. Phillips.

Chapter News

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

First fall meeting of Major Bennett Chapter, IODE, was held Tuesday evening at the YWCA, regent Mrs. William Taylor presiding.

Family welfare convener Mrs. Robert Gibbons reported on two girls who were sent to the YWCA camp this summer. Post war convener Miss Jessie Johnston said a sewing bee will be held in October. Mrs. Reg. Reid, in charge of overseas parcels, announced that 15 boxes will be packed and sent this month.

A summary of current event was given by Mrs. Hugh Fallis, Empire study convener. It was reported that five members attended the closing exercises of the adopted Indian School at Burleigh Falls, last June, Mrs. Wm. Taylor, Mrs. Doug. Hill, Mrs. C. Dominic, Mrs. M. Craig, and Mrs. B. Metcalfe. A flag and flagpole and sports equipment has been provided for this school.

A weiner roast is to be held at Mr. Gordon K. Fraser's home on September 15th, convened by Miss Joyce Alexander and Mrs. Tom MacMillan.

A harvest tea is to be held on October 17th at the YWCA with Mrs. Reg. Reid and Mrs. Robert Gibbons convening. Some fall fashions will be modelled during the afternoon.

At close of the business, refreshments were served by the social committee.

POODLES—The gayest and newest gloves for fall have been designed by Dawnelle to go with the poodle cloth and texture fabrics. "Poodles" are made of poodle cloth at the back of the hand and a matching fabric at the palm.

Produce, Livestock Markets

HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, Sept. 6 — (CP) — Hog prices at Stratford were established today at $35.75 for truck hogs.

Other markets were unreported.

Finds Canadian Attitude Too Superior

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP)—Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent in Korea, suggested Wednesday that Canadian soldiers proceeding overseas ought to be educated on geography, culture and customs of countries to which they are posted.

Boss, adressing the Empire Club of Toronto, said Western troops serving in Korea had acquired a "superiority" attitude which was reflected in their dealing with the Koreans.

The pattern had been set by other countries' troops but that apart from two battalions, the Canadians were tending also to conform to it.

The 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and the Royal 22nd Regiment, he said, were less guilty of the attitude than were others of the Canadian force. But generally, the Canadians were more sympathetic to the Koreans than were others.

No Personal Significance

Boss, home on leave after nine months in Korea, said it might also be considered that the troops abroad had acquired their attitude because they had not yet reached the point at which the ideological issues involved in the Korean conflict had personal significance. He said:

"By this I mean that while the army can make good soldiers of them, and also could prepare them for service in foreign theatres, it is no part of the army's job to teach them religion or a personal philosophy.

"That is the job of our homes and our schools right at home.

"It might be that—as these men are our personal representatives abroad—all of us ought to redefine our appreciations of the issues."

Comics List Qualities Needed For TV Success

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6—(AP)—What does it take for a comedian to succeed in television?

Every established comedian and all hopeful ones have wrestled with this problem. Some have conquered the new medium, others have been conquered by it.

I discussed the subject with two young but well-qualified men. One is Roger Price, formerly a gag writer for Bob Hope and now a comic in his own right. The other is Leonard Stern, writer for Abbott and Costello and Milton Berle.

What It Takes

These two analysts offered four factors which successful TV comics need:

1. A likeable personality. "You can't cover up in TV If a guy is a jerk, the TV screen shows him as a jerk."
2. A 39-week try-out. "That's the normal TV season and a comic needs that much time to correct his mistakes and develop his format."
3. Plenty of material. "This new medium swallows material like a whale eating sardines."
4. A fair-sized I.Q. "Television requires not only talent but memory as well. Many a performer who has been tied to a radio script for 20 years can't do an hour TV show by memory."

Who Has It

Price and Stern went on to classify the various types of comedians who have succeeded in TV:

1. Eccentric personalities. These are comics whose very nature make them funny, such as Jimmy Durante and Ed Wynn.
2. Specialty comics. They can assume a variety of characters in different sketches and generally are as good as their material. Examples: Sid Caesar, Imogne Coca.
   son assume characters which
3. Emcess or entertainers. These are the masters of timing and pacing who can do enough singing, dancing, acting and cutting up to get into every act. Examples: Milton Berle, Eddie Cantor.
4. Talking comics. These fellows, such as Arthur Godfrey and Don McNeill, get laughs through their own easy-going personalities.
5. Acting comics. Such examples as Alan Young and Jack Carare apart from their own personalities.
6. Situation comics. Best examples are Burns and Allen.
7. Martin and Lewis comics. Best examples of this type are Martin and Lewis.

More Children Back To School In Havelock

HAVELOOCK, Sept. 6 (ENS)—There was a small increase in the public school enrolment this year, the total attendance on Tuesday being 184. The attendance according to roms is as follows:

Room 1, Miss G. Hunter, 33; Room 2, Miss S. Dolden, 32; Room 3, Mrs. R. Backus, 31; Room 4, Mr. J. Linten, 44; Room 5, Principal H. Hunter, 44.

Mr. Linten of Campbellford, is the new member on the staff teaching grades 5 and 6, which were taught previously by Mr. Hunter. When the principal, R. D. Buchanan resigned, Mr. Hunter was engaged to take over the duties of principal.

The High School enrolment was 73, which comprised two first forms, one from Norwood and one from here, with an enrolment of 28 each. The second form with an enrolment of 17 made up the balance of the attendance.

The staff is the same as last year: Principal, J. Caskey; A. R. McNab and Miss P. Belt.

No Room

MONTREAL — (CP)—Medical faculty officials at McGill University report a continued demand for medical training but lack of facilities for expansion. The officials say only 116 of 2,000 applicants can be admitted to the university.

CANADA is still a land of opportunity for men willing to work, it appears from the case of Estonian-born Arnold Kasak. Kasak, only a year in Canada, has managed to set up his own business, increasing one employee (himself) to eight, and carry on his profession as a civil engineer, from while bringing something new to the business of furniture making in Canada. The comfortable bed on which Kasak lounges, above, can in seconds be converted into a decorative bookcase. Like others of Kasak's furniture conceptions, all carried out on light lines and with light woods in the increasingly popular style known as "Swedish modern," they're designed to be decorative and useful.

Juniors Take Part In Judging Tests

TORONTO, Sept. 6 — (CP) — Junior farmers' groups from 24 Ontario counties took part Wednesday in livestock judging competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition.

In judging of heavy horses, winner of the senior group was Harry Moore, of Orton, with Glenn M. Johnston, of Moorefield, and Dick Kinsman, of Hannon tied for second. John Fennell, of Bradford, was third. In the junior group, Elwood Jerry, of Stayner, was the winner, with James McNair, of Clandeboye, second, and Andrew Lowden, of Glanford Station, third.

Other results included:

Dairy cattle, senior: 1, J. B. Thomson, Brooklyn. Junior: 1, Martin McGriskin, Agincourt, and Gerald Harry, Trenton (tie).

"Have Syntona to Thank For Being Well," Says This Man

Recurring Stomach Distress, Gas Pains, Heartburn and Other Symptoms Troubled Me for Years. "Get Best Relief by Taking Syntona."

The best proof of the wide satisfaction given by Syntona Herbal Compound is found in the reports of many men and women who have used it repeatedly. Many people have turned to Syntona time and again for relief from common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and say it has given the best results they ever had. Nearly always the results are the same.

Here, for instance, is the experience of Mr. William E. Zimmerman, 174 Mount Pleasant avenue, London, Ontario, who says:

"I have suffered from recurring stomach troubles for years with dizzy spells, heartburn, gassy pains, and awful distress in my stomach. A few years ago I found that I got the best relief from this trouble by taking Syntona. It cleared up the distressing symptoms and made me feel better for a long time.

MR. WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN

"So recently when I began to have this trouble again accompanied by pains and pains in my back, limbs and muscles as well I got some more Syntona. Now, after taking it awhile I am feeling so well again that I recently put in a large garden which all my friends think quite a chore for my 80 years."

"I feel that I can thank Syntona for this and don't know how I'd get along without it."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Wants Statue Of Tecumseh

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP). — Chief White Owl of the Six Nations Indian Reservation, Brantford, Wednesday appealed for funds to erect a bronze statue of Tecumseh, a chief of the Six Nations more than a century ago.

Wearing his full regalia, the Indian chief spoke to a luncheon meeting of the Women's Canadian Historical Society. He said that Tecumseh—an ancestor of his — could be credited with winning the war of 1812 against the United States.

Tecumseh, commissioned a Brigadier General in the British Army, persuaded the senior British officer, Col. Henry Proctor, to stand against an American advance in October, 1813, the chief said.

Proctor joined battle with the American General William Herrison at Moraviantown on the Thames river and Tecumseh died in the battle, leading 1,500 Indians. The battle was the turning point of the war.

Defence Industry Gets More Workers

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 — (CP). — Government policy of using indirect pressure to shift labor into defence industry from non-defence trades is showing effects, Wednesday's fortnightly review of the Labor Department indicated.

The report showed that layoffs and short-time work in consumer goods industries, which first developed in May, are enlarging, while at the same time defence industries are picking up workers.

The over-all totals showed that unemployment in Canada generally had shrunk to 130,000 as of August 2, representing almost complete employment of the labor force of more than 5,000,000. It was 5,300 less than at July 19 and 27,300 less than a year earlier.

Increasing Tension On Albanian Border

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 6 (AP).—Signs of increasing tension and patrol activity on the border between Yugoslavia and Russian-dominated Albania increased Wednesday night.

The official Belgrade radio reported that a 2½-hour gun battle between border guards of the two countries occurred Tuesday. It did not mention casualties.

This was followed Wednesday by another exchange of fire across the border in which one Yugoslav and one Albanian were killed, it said.

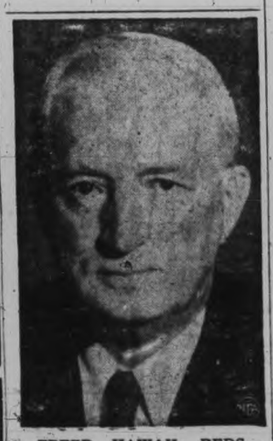
Famous Clock

CANTERBURY, England (CP) —The famous clock in St. George's Tower, damaged by German incendiary bombs in 1942, has been saved from demolition. A fund of $600 has been raised to repair it.



FREED HAWAII REDS—Federal Judge Delbert F. Metzger, above, was subject to stiff criticism in Congress for his action in freeing seven Hawaiian Communist party leaders on bail of $5,000 each. The government pleaded for $75,000 bond each. Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), called the judge's action "outrageous," and predicted Metzger would lose his job.

GUARD GROMYKO AS PLOT RUMORED

Search Plane Crashes On Take-Off

Two Trenton Fliers Suffer Injuries, Aircraft Smashed Up

KAPUSKASING, Sept. 7. — (CP)—The crash of an RCAF Dakota injuring the pilot and navigator, marred the take-off this morning of 17 planes continuing the search for missing hockey player Bill Barilko and Timmins dentist Dr. Henry Hudson.

The pilot, FO Don Lewis of Trenton, suffered a broken ankle. The navigator, FO Johnny Atkin, also of Trenton, suffered cut face and hands. Spotters aboard the aircraft were shaken up.

The plane, leading search aircraft into the air, was barely six feet off the ground when it plowed into the earth about 100 feet off the end of the concrete runway. The port engine was shattered, the right wing was pierced by a small tree, and the nose and landing gear were damaged.

Just Missed Crash

Alex Barilko, brother of the missing hockey player, aiding the search as a spotter, was scheduled to take off earlier than usual this morning, but arrived at the airport late. It is thought that by doing so, he missed being aboard the crashed plane.

The planes, still seeking a clue to the disappearance August 26 of the two sportsmen while returning from a fishing trip to James Bay, were to investigate a mystery teepee near a canoe and a gasoline cache on a lonely Northern Ontario lake.

With skies clear today after foul weather Thursday grounded searchers based at this outpost 80 miles northwest of Timmins, a float-equipped Norseman plane was slated to land on Little Opinaka Lake, near the James Bay mission of Rupert House, for a look at the teepee.

The crew of a searching Lancaster spotted the gas cache, mounted on a stand and covered with canvas, several days ago. The canoe and teepee were 15 miles along the lake. Another plane flew over them since then, but search officials said they would not be satisfied until they could investigate on the ground.

Car Misses Truck On Highway

Police Escort Hits 70 MPH On Trip To Conference Hall

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—(AP) — An overturned truck blocked both traffic lanes as Russia's Andrei Gromyko sped to today's session of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

His heavily increased police escort, speeding at 70 miles an hour, led the Russians' cars into the path of oncoming traffic, which was cleared by sirens, and all made it safely around the obstruction.

The truck had overturned some time before the Russians reached the place.

The accident occurred within hours after the Federal Bureau Investigators had heard a report that an attempt would be made to assassinate the Russian Deputy Foreign Minister as he drove up "Bloody Bayshore" highway to the session of the Japanese peace treaty conference. The report said a truck would smash into Gromyko's car in an apparent accident.

As a result of the FBI report, the Russian delegation was given an extraordinary police escort

Fast Swerve

With sirens screaming and speedometers pointing to 70 miles an hour, the heavy police escort and the Russians topped the grade of "Boneyard Hill," just south of San Francisco.

In the path of the cars, blocking both northbound lanes, was an overturned truck, with two beer trucks lined up behind it.

The highway patrol car leading the parade swerved into the path of the oncoming traffic and all got by safely.

Although police generally expressed scepticism that any attempt would be made on Gromyko's life, the FBI report stirred much excitement.

The FBI notified state police. The report said White Russians, resentful of the Communists, had designed the plot.

Britain Breaks Off Talks On Oil, Ask Premier Fired

LONDON, Sept. 7. (AP)—Oil talks between Britain and Iran reached a complete breakdown today following a thinly-veiled British demand that Iran throw out Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. The Foreign Office, stung by Mossadegh's threat to expel 350 British technicians from the shut-down Abadan refinery area unless Britain comes up with new proposals within 15 days, said Thursday night: "The recent speech by the Persian (Iranian) prime minister in the Senate shows conclusively that no further negotiations with the present Persian government can produce any results."

The government now considers that the negotiations begun by the Lord Privy Seal, Richard R. Stokes, are no longer in suspense, but broken off.

This was regarded here as putting it squarely up to Iran to produce entirely-new proposals as a basis for negotiations or bring in a new government to tackle the difficult problem.

Won't Be Helpful

Mossadegh could lose the premiership by parliamentary action. Or he might be decisively voted out of office in the Iranian general elections scheduled for next month. It is doubtful, however, that the implied British ultimatum will be helpful to Mossadegh's opponents, considering the inflamed Nationalist feelings in Iran.

The Foreign-Office statement also indirectly warned that Britain would not sit idly by if Iran carried out her threat to expel British employees of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

"As regards the threat to withdraw the resident permits of British company employees, it is evident that any attempt by the Persian (Iranian) government to evict them would be a further breach of the interim decision of the Hague international court," it said.

Top government leaders have previously intimated that Britain would use force if necessary to keep a toe-hold at Abadan.

Her major hope for avoiding trouble, however, is the court's recommendation to keep the industry working until a settlement is reached.

Drive Chinese Off 2 Hills After Barrage

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Allied troops drove Chinese Communists off two hills today on the western front where Reds earlier encircled two United Nations outposts.

Both surrounded units fought free. One immediately counter-attacked.

A front-line dispatch reported two companies of Reds fled from a hill without firing a shot after the Allies' artillery blasted them. The recaptured knoll is northwest of Yonchon, which is seven miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Farther north UN infantrymen won a second hill after three hours of close-in fighting.

Reds fought and attacked all along the western half of the front in actions that had the earmarks of a prelude to a new offensive.

In the mountainous east, stiffening Communist resistance checked two attacks by US 2nd Division infantrymen.

Second Division troops were engaged in a pitched battle with Reds atop one ridge north of Yanggu. A 2nd Division assault on another hill was stalled by fiercely resisting Reds.

While the Reds were showing new aggressiveness in the west, several groups of 300 to 800 were spotted moving away from the Movie Actress Maria Montez Drowns In Bath

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP).—Movie actress Maria Montez died here today, apparently from drowning in her bathtub.

She was found unconscious in the bath by her sister, who immediately called a doctor and firemen. The firemen used artificial respiration for three hours but were unable to resuscitate her.

The actress was married to Jean Pierre Aumont, French actor. They have been living in France for about two years. It was in their home in suburban Suresnes that she died.

Beginning in 1941, she had appeared in many pictures which emphasized her siren-like qualities of sex appeal. These pictures included: "The Invisible Woman," "That Night in Rio," "Bombay Clipper," "The Mystery of Marie Roget," "Arabian Nights," "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," "Cobra Woman," "Pirates of Monterey," and "Siren of Atlantis."

Miss Montez, noted for her Latin spitfire personality, said of her age that she was "still in my 20s."

Gromyko Walkout Expected

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7. (AP)—Andrei Gromyko and his Russian delegation, centre of speculation concerning a possible walkout, were the first to arrive for today's sixth working session of the Japanese peace conference, which opened at 10:12 a.m. (1:12 p.m. EDT). Less than one-fourth of the 52 national delegations were in the San Francisco opera house at the 10 a.m. scheduled opening time. Second to arrive was Ethiopia's two-man team, followed by the Japanese, minus Premier Shigeru Yoshida. The opening was the tardiest since working sessions began Wednesday. Percy C. Spender of Australia was presiding.

Predictions of a Russian walkout came from Ambassador John Foster Dulles, second-ranking US delegate. Dulles said in a radio interview Thursday night he doubted that the Russians would sign the treaty "and they won't want to be spectators to the signing."

The treaty is scheduled to be signed Saturday. Late this afternoon Poland's Stefan Wierblowski is listed to speak.

There was no reason to believe he would depart from the line taken by Andrei Gromyko Wednesday and by Dr. Gertrude Sekaninova of Czechoslovakia Thursday. Both insisted that Communist China should take part in the peace-making and that the American-British - sponsored treaty, now publicly endorsed by more than a score of delegates, is a "treaty for a new war."

This likely will be the last oratory-filled day of the meeting. Secretary-general Warren Kelchner asked all delegations to give him by 6 pm (9 pm, EDT) the names and titles of the relegates who will sign the pact.

The signing ceremony is scheduled Saturday.

Then on either Sunday or Monday, said Senator Styles Bridges, (Rep.-NH) the United States and Japan will sign a defence treaty. Under that pact US forces would remain in the Japanese islands after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Police Catch Stolen Ferry Passenger Just In Hurry

NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—The hatches were battened down today on 36-year-old Woodrow Facchinetti, who soloed around New York harbor in the 40-foot ferry, the Sea Eagle. But, as he put it, "It was such a nice day for a ride." Facchinetti boarded the ferry Thursday at Carteret, NJ, from where the craft makes its regular runs to Staten Island, his home. The crew was out for lunch, and Facchinetti was out of patience. So off he went, alone. An alarm soon was sounded.

Helicopters and police launches raced to the scene.

They've hunted stolen buses and bathtubs, missing baby carriages and flagpoles, but seldom—if ever—have police run down missing ferryboats.

Finally, came radio word that the ferryboat was cruising briskly along a wide channel toward Perth Amboy, NJ.

A police launch roared in pursuit. As it approached the ferryboat put on speed, veering toward the Jersey shore. Then, a fire broke out on the fleeing vessel's beams. Suddenly, it swerved, heading toward Staten Island.

Police pulled up alongside.

Smoke was pouring from the craft's cabin—on fire from an overheated exhaust.

A police boarding party put out the flames and demanded an explanation from Facchinetti.

"Now let's not lose our tempers," he said. "I am a taxpayer and I want no trouble. I am just anxious to get home but it seems this tub ain't fireproof."

Facchinetti was booked on charges of grand larceny and transporting a stolen ship.

Ontario Harvest Tops Estimates

QUEEN'S PARK, Sept. 7 (CP) — Ontario's agricultural harvest will exceed all previous optimistic estimates with the total value being close to $1,500,000,000, Agriculture Minister Kennedy said today.

"Barring early frost, I fully expect this province will produce this year an agricultural crop of from $1,350,000,000 to $1,500,000,000 in value. Last year's bumper crop was valued at $1,150,000,000," said Mr. Kennedy.

The minister said the overall picture at present in Canada is one of the greatest of all crop years. He has just returned from a tour of the Western Provinces and some of the Western portions of the United States.

Mr. Kennedy said that there had been unanimous agreement at the conference of Dominion and provincial agricultural ministers in British Columbia that there should not be too much interference from technical experts.

"Nobody but the farmer knows anything about the soil," said the minister.

When the conference reconvenes in Ottawa in November to send their recommendations to the federal government the need for conservation of soil and water will be stressed.

Troops Fight Raging Blaze

AVONMOUTH, England, Sept. 7 (AP) — Troops today joined firemen in a grim battle against a raging blaze that already had licked up 14,000,000 gallons of oil at the Regent Oil Company's storage farm.

Two more tanks exploded with deafening roars early today, bringing to 20 the number of containers destroyed in what was described as Britain's worst peacetime oil blaze. Firemen fought desperately to keep the flames from exploding the remaining tanks.

Two employees, who were on top of one of the tanks when the fire broke out Thursday afternoon, were reported missing.

There still was no official explanation of the cause of the blaze or its probable cost.

Some 250 soldiers and sailors from nearby service installations joined 200 firemen in trying to check the blaze.

Fresh coastal winds whipped the flames toward a second compound of tanks 150 yards away. They contain highly-volatile aviation gasoline.

Cat Mothers Chicks

SIERRA MADRE, Calif., Sept. 7. (AP)—It's a little off her beat, but Puff, a spayed cat, is acting as chicken sitter for a brood of motherless chicks. The chicks' mother, a French Bantam hen, lost her life a few days ago while defending her eggs. A prowling dog strangled her. Puff must have sensed the consequences of the backyard tragedy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stirton. Puff has lost two litters of her own, and although she cannot have kittens now, she went to the nest, sat on the eggs, and has hatched out several chicks. She washes and nuzzles the chicks after they peck their way through the shells.

Adjourn Hearing On Que. Bridge

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 7 —(CP)—Judge Rene Lippe today adjurned to Sept. 13 the hearing into the collapse of the Duplessis bridge here Jan. 31 with the loss of four lives.

The adjournment, second since the hearing began late last month, followed testimony Thursday by Robert Eadie, Chief Engineer of the Dominion Bridge Company, builders of the bridge. He said an explosive charge could have caused marks of "heating" on one of the failures.

Gives Bogus Cheques Madoc Man Jailed

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 7 (CP)—For passing bogus cheques in several Eastern Ontario communities, Raymond Dean of Madoc township must serve at least a year in Ontario reformatory.

Dean who pleaded guilty to passing cheques in Frankford, Stirling, Tweed and Napanee, was sentenced yesterday by Magistrate T. Y. Wills to 12 months defnite and 18 months indeterminate.

Car Hits Train Five Killed

McGIVNEY JUNCTION, NB, Sept. 7 — (CP). — Five persons were killed today when a car crashed into the coal tender of a 41-car Canadian National Railways freight at a level crossing here.

Four were killed in the crash and another, an unidentified woman, died en route to hospital at Fredericton.

The dead: August Lapeigne, St. Simeon, NB, driver of the car; Antoine Nowlan, Bathurst, NB; Odecia Saulnier, 7, St. Simeon, and her mother, Melaine Saulnier.

The five victims were the only occupants of the car and there were no witnesses.

The front of the car was badly smashed, but the train was moving slowly and the wreckage was not carried for any distance.

Tree Damages Boat

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 7 (CP)—Earl Carr, 54, marine engineer who lives alone aboard a cabin cruiser here, had a rude awakening this morning. High winds uprooted a tall willow that fell across the pilot house of his craft, tied up in the Sydenham river. The tree did $200 damage to the boat.

Flaming Red Beard Wins Navy Contest

ABOARD HMCS CAYUGA off Korea, Sept. 7 (CP)—The champion beard aboard this Canadian destroyer is a flaming mass of red hair belonging to Able Seaman Desmond Davison of Calgary.

AB. Davison won the honor in open contest against 35 of his fellow sailors, the number who stood up for official examination after a ship-wide beard-raising contest lasting over a period of weeks during Korean war activities.

The contest was climaxed with due ceremony and high jinks. It saw AB. Davison nose out PO. Robert Churcher of Brandon, Man., for first place and OS. Allan Dobson of Queenstown, Alta., win the dubious honor of taking the booby prize.

To the first two went bottles of shampoo. To booby-prizer Dobson went shaving soap and package of razor blades.

Fleeing Volcano

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 7 (Reuters).—Thousands of natives are fleeing from an erupting volcano on the island of Ambrin in the New Hebrides group in the southwest Pacific, reports reaching here said today.

Gives Soviet Taste Of Own Medicine West Berlin Mayor Starts Seizing Vehicles

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP) — The mayor of a West Berlin borough today began a reprisal against the Communist road tax by seizing vehicles coming from Soviet East Berlin. He had them searched and slapped a toll on them.

Within two hours, 200 East Berlin vehicles had been stopped and impounded by Willi Kressman, mayor of the American-sector borough of Kreuzberg.

Kressman said he assessed eastern drivers the same tax the Communists are exacting from West Berlin drivers on Russian-zone roads.

He said he was also conducting a campaign against illegal east-west trade. All cars and trucks impounded were to be searched and their drivers questioned to determine if they are engaged in unauthorized commerce.

Kressman undertook his reprisal campaign as the Allied High Commission met for the second day to decide on counter measures against the Communist levy which has curtailed Berlin's highway traffic with the west.

Shells Fall Like Rain

UN Soldiers Hold Their Fire Till Enemy Almost On Them

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Sept. 7 (AP).—Americans who fought their way through an 18-hour Chinese attack and 15-to-1 odds told about it today.

"It was midnight and everything was quiet," said Pte. James Hightower. Not even the wind was blowing.

"Then all of a sudden all hell broke loose. The shells started coming in like rain."

Hightower found himself in the middle of waves of attacking Reds.

"I was way out ahead of my company on my listening post," he said. "There was nothing to do but try to crawl back through the Chinese all around us."

He worked his way back on his stomach.

"Bullets were all around me and the shells were dropping and the wounded Chinese were moaning," Hightower said.

"I crawled toward one group of wounded Reds—there were about a half-dozen of them. I figured they wouldn't be shooting close to their own men."

Then he heard women crying.

"I thought I was crazy. I saw two women with the wounded. They were trying to give them first aid. I could hear them crying as they worked."

Needed Ammunition

Hightower finally edged his way back to his company.

In a moment his hands were on the trigger while the regular gunner ran to the rear for more ammunition.

"That was our problem, more ammunition," said Capt. Richard J. Bederski.

He ordered his men not to shoot until they could see the faces of the attackers.

"Every round they fired," Bederski said, "was another dead or wounded Chinese."

A jeep-load of extra ammunition saved the situation until tanks crashed through with more supplies—and to bring out American dead and wounded.

Russia Racing West To Get Space Station

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP) — A A German rocket engineer said today that Russia is racing the west on a project to set up a military space station 300 miles from the surface of the earth.

H. H. Koelle of Stuttgart, said it is "an open secret" that "the west and east are both working on this project with the greatest energy."

He told the Second International Congress on Astronautics — space navigation—that such an artificial moon could be placed in the sky at a cost of about $500,000,000.

Such a space station, rocketed into an orbit around the earth, could be used as a platform for launching guided missiles with atomic war heads. It would be invaluable as a military observation post.

Scientists interested in space flight point out that it also could be used as a takeoff point for rocket trips to the moon and other planets of the solar system.

Door Not Completely Closed

UN Mediator To Leave India Refuses To Say Mission Fails

NEW DELHI Sept. 7 (AP). — Dr. Frank P. Graham United Nations mediator in the Kashmir dispute, will leave the Indian subcontinent on Sept. 12 for Geneva where he will write his findings for the security council.

Graham refused to say at a press conference today that his mission was a failure. He still believes the Indian-Pakistan rift over possession of Kashmir can be settled.

The former United States Senator presented a formal proposal for settlement to Prime Minister Nehru today, reliable sources said. Up until now all his approaches to both Indian and Pakistan leaders have been on an informal line. The formal proposal was not accepted by Nehru.

Sources close to the mediator said he was severely shaken by his failure to move Nehru from the position the Indian leader has taken on the Kashmir issue. It is believed Graham will now present the same formal proposal to Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan in Karachi. The mediation team will begin final conferences with Liaquat Ali tomorrow.

A spokesman said Graham himself feels the issue can be solved if only both factions will "compromise a little bit."

Graham's departure finds tension between India and Pakistan —which was boiling towards war fever a month ago—somewhat eased. Although troops of both nations are massed along the frontiers, the fear that open war might erupt is greatly reduced—at least it is in New Delhi.

Pakistan, a Moslem state, claims Kashmir because the northern state's population is mostly Moslem. India's claim is by virtue of the accession to New Delhi by the Hindu Kashmir Kaharajah just after Britain pulled out of the sub-continent.

Need Controls Whip Inflation Coldwell Says

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 7 — (CP). — M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, suggested Thursday night that controls both internally and internationally must be instituted if Canada and the democracies are to lick inflation.

He criticized international action to allocate materials as unsuccessful and termed results of a Canada-US agreement to pool economic resources for defence as "disappointing."

If inflation is to be defeated, greater international co-operation among the democracies must be obtained.

"If we are to maintain public support for essential preparations for defence, the intolerable burdens which high prices have placed on the great majority of our population must be eased immediately.

Overall Action

"This is a problem which can, in part, be dealt with by approximate measures in our country, but if we are to maintain the unity of the democratic nations, international action is essential."

Mr. Coldwell's speech was made before the Westminster United Church Men's Club in St. Catharines.

He long had advocated, he said, that the North Atlantic nations pool scarce materials and distribute them on a co-operative and planned basis.

The North Atlantic's international materials conference, set up in Washington, had, however, failed in its objective to prevent stock-piling by any one nation or group of nations.

After the outbreak of the Korean War, he said, excessive buying by the US caused world prices to "spiral overnight, thrusting the seriousness of inflation home to Canadians."

The US was not alone in driving up prices.

"Canada has not been innocent . . . our near monopoly of nickel and newsprint enabled us to establish increased prices on these essential commodities. British, Dutch and Belgian interests caused the price of tin to rise sharply through their control of an international tin cartel."

East German Police Wound US Soldier

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (Reuters). — East German police Thursday night shot a United States soldier in the hip and carried him off into the Soviet zone, an American official said today.

US authorities asked Soviet officials for details of the incident, which occurred on the boundary between West Berlin and the Soviet zone.

Eye-witnesses said East German police fired into a car and wounded the driver, an American enlisted man.

US officials believe the missing soldier lost his way in the dark while travelling from Tempelhof Airport, in the American sector, to barracks at Lichterfelde South.

Stock Market Prices Waver Indecisively

TORONTO, Sept. 7 — (CP).— Stock market prices wavered indecisively today in early afternoon dealings. After nine consecutive sessions of advance, the support weakened in early trading and prices turned mixed.

Liquors and retail stores show the best gains. Utilities, constructions, steels, banks and miscellaneous industrials were firm. Papers, agricultures, foods and manufacturing companies turned mixed while refining oils, textiles and manufacturing companies weakened.

Strong support appeared for golds during the mid-session. Senior issues showed eight gains and no losses. Increases ranged up to 25 cents.

Western oils were mixed. Canadian Collieries, Commonwealth Oil, Federal Petroleum, General Petroleum, Jupiter, Redwater-Piccadilly and Scurry registered gains up to 25 cents. Calmont, Home Oil, Richfield, and Tower Petroleum slipped moderately.

Base metals weakened. Consolidated Smelters headed the declines as it dipped more than a point. International Nickel, United Keno Hill, Falconbridge, and Pend Oreille slipped fractions. Anaconda Lead, Ascot and Waite Amulet went against the trend for small advances.

Dollar Higher

MONTREAL, Sept. 7 —(CP)— The American dollar today opened at 5 21/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1/32 higher than Thursday's close.

The pound sterling was $2.95 13/16, up 1/16.

Good For a Plot

LONDON, Sept. 7. (Reuters)—Sir John Cockcroft, Britain's No. 1 atom scientist, boarded a stratocruiser Thursday night and sat next to the man who stole the atom bomb and nearly blew up London—in a movie. The man was actor Barry Jones, who played a mad scientist in the film "Seven Days To Noon."

Hurricane Points Toward Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 7 (AP). — Hurricane "Easy" continued today to churn ominously over a west-northwest course aimed at the coast of Florida.

The next 24 hours, the Miami weather bureau said, may determine whether the dangerous tropical storm eventually will strike the mainland or run a harmless course over open waters.

At 6 a.m., EDT, the centre of the hurricane was estimated to be 350 miles north northwest of San Juan, Puerto Rico, roughly 1,000 miles east-northeast of Miami. Winds in excess of 140 miles an hour whirled around the centre. Its forward speed had slowed from 20 to 12 miles an hour.

As "Easy,"—fifth hurricane of the season—continued its menacing approach, another tropical storm tailed it 1,000 miles to the rear.

Deakin Elected TUC Chairman

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 7 (Reuters)—Arthur Deakin, 61, today was elected chairman of the powerful Trades Union Congress at the end of its five-day annual meeting here.

He succeeds Alfred Roberts, 53, general secretary of the Amalgamated Association of Blowing and Ring Room Operatives.

The TUC represents about 8,000,000 organized workers.

Deakin is general secretary of the biggest trade union in the world outside Russia—the 1,200,000-strong Transport and General Workers' Union. It was founded by the late Ernest Bevin, who subsequently became foreign secretary.

Deakin led British withdrawal from the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions and was a British representative at the 1949 London conference which formed the new International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

Plan Tri-color Drapes To Decorate City Hall

TORONTO, Sept. 7 — (CP)— Large square drapes — with red, white and blue vertical stripes—covering more than a quarter of the face of the City Hall, will form the decorative background during the October 5 royal visit to Toronto.

A civic committee, in making the decision Thursday, added that a large canopy will be erected over the platform on which Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will stand during the civic reception.

Obituary

THOMAS SMITH

An employee of the Peterborough board of works for 15 years, Thomas Smith, 451 Rogers St., died today in hospital after a lengthy illness.

He was born 80 years ago at Richmond Hill, son of the late George Smith and Rebecca White. His widow is the former Elizabeth Davidson.

Mr. Smith has resided in the city for 34 years, coming here from Cobourg. After his employment with the board of works, he retired.

He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home, the Rev. C. G. Boyd, St. Paul's Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

To Cut Red Tape On Marketing

WINGHAM, Sept. 7 —(CP)— Premier Frost said Thursday night that his government intends to slash the red tape that surrounds marketing of agricultural products in Ontario.

"We intend to give the farmers a substantial say in the marketing of their own goods," he told a Progressive-Conservative convention which nominated John W. Hanna, member of the legislature for Huron-Bruce, as the party's candidate in the riding in the next provincial general election.

"If necessary, we will go to the courts to seek removal of constitutional stumbling blocks to giving the farmers a greater say in the sale of their goods. It is not a simple problem, but the farmers are entitled to a greater degree of freedom than they now have."

Trains Collide Four Injured

TILLSONBURG, Sept. 7 (CP) —Four persons were injured — two severely—when the locomotive of a train collided Thursday with a combination baggage-passenger car of another.

A locomotive hauling a dozen coal cars up a long, steeply-curved grade splintered the rear car of the train ahead of it on a Canadian Pacific Railway main line.

One of the four injured—Mrs. Julia Thomasomis, 45, of Verdun, Que. — remained on the serious list in hospital here today.

In "satisfactory" condition were George Keslick, 29, of Port Burwell, fireman of the coal train; Howard P. Creighton, 62, London, in hospital at London; Arthur Scanalan, 36, Port Burwell, of the coal train.

There was no explanation for the crash. Both trains were bound from Port Burwell to Woodstock. The accident occurred on the town outskirts here.

Creighton, a CPR bridge and building master, and Mrs. Thomasomis were passengers on the passenger train. Both had to be dug out of the wreckage of their telescoped coach.

Discuss Mediator In Tobacco Strike

QUEBEC, Sept. 7 (CP)—High officials of the Imperial Tobacco Company and Labor Minister Barrette met here Thursday to discuss appointment of a mediator in the strike of employees of the company in two Quebec province plants.

Some 3,000 members of the International Tobacco Workers' Union (AFL) walked out last month to enforce wage demands. The strike tied up Imperial Tobacco plants in Granby, Que., Montreal and Hamilton.

(A company spokesman in Montreal said "a statement by the minister may be forthcoming.")

Will Sign Treaty

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Indonesian government decided today to sign the Japanese peace treaty, Information Minister Mononutu announced after a two-hour cabinet meeting. Indonesia joins Ceylon, Pakistan and the nations of Indo-China in deciding to go along with the United States draft treaty. But whether parliament will ratify the treaty is another question.

Chinese Officers In Bad Books Seek US Home

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)— A story of intrigue involving millions of dollars unfolded today around two Chinese Nationalist air force officers who may seek asylum in the United States to escape a possible firing squad on Formosa.

The two officers are Bt.-Gen. P. T. Mow, deputy commander of the Chinese air force and his executive officer, Col. Hsiang Wei-hsian. They have been accused by their government of failing to account for $19,400,000 in government funds.

Friends of the two men say the charges are absurd and grew out of Mow's determination to block grafting in Chinese air force purchases made in the US.

They saw Mow and Hsiang will account for all the money at the proper time.

Won't Go Home

The Nationalist government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has ordered Hsiang home but he has refused. The status of Mow is not clear—but he, too, is fighting recall.

The story was broken Thursday by The New York Times and was confirmed by friends and associates of the two officers.

These friends say Mow and Hsiang were so fearful of an attempt on their lives that they were guarded by hidden gunmen when they attended a dinner Aug. 24 given by the Chinese ambassador, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, in the fashionable northwest section of the city.

The dinner was held three days after the Chiang government on Formosa had dismissed and denounced the two officers. It was given in honor of Mow's successor, Gen. Tu Ta-wei.

Mow nad Hsiang decided reluctantly to attend the dinner but arranged for bodyguards to be outside the house armed with automatic shotguns and a pistol.

Friends say the two airmen will ask for politcal refuge in the US if any move is made to send them back to Formosa.

battle line. They also moved two tanks that the UN air force had reported knocking out Thursday during a heavy Chinese attack near Yonchon—south of today's largest engagements on the western front.

Low-hanging clouds shrouded most of the battle area, hampering Allied warplanes and furnishing cover for Red troop movements.

Communist strikes at patrols indicated they wanted to move into the wide belt of no-man's land which has separated opposing forces in the west for months.

Costly To Reds

The Red movement encircled one American company Thursday and two other UN outposts Friday. Ensuing fights proved costly to the Reds.

An allied divisional officer estimated the Communists suffered 2,000 casualties, including 400 killed.

Nurses apparently accompanied some of the attacking Communist outposts. The sound of women crying on the battlefield was reported by one American soldier.

The Reds did not use tanks in their encircling attacks on allied outposts Friday, although they were rumored to have 50 to 100 behind the lines in this sector.

Screaming Chinese infantrymen swarmed around the units in the Imjin river sector west and northwest of Yonchon before dawn. One attack was preceded by an artillery barrage. The other was under a smoke screen.

Allies Fight Free

Both allied outfits fought free. Tanks came up to support one allied group and it promptly launched an attack on its own to regain a hill due west of Chorwon, 17 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Both actions followed, on a smaller scale, the pattern of a Red attack on an American company Thursday.

The Chinese opened the assault with "the damnedest artillery and mortar barrage. . . It turned the place black with shell craters," said Lt.-Col. Robert J. Demeres, battalion commander who directed the escape.

The Americans—about 200 — fought their way out through a gauntlet of 3,000 Chinese firing burp guns and hurling hand grenades. Demeres called his men "a bunch of fighting fools who wouldn't give up."

A group of about 1,000 Chinese apparently badly hurt, was seen Friday pulling north from this area, about seven miles north of the 38th and 25 miles from Kaesong.

Night-flying Marine fighters and B-26 bombers, operating by the light of flares, reported they destroyed or damaged 857 trucks, a record for the Korean war.

Uranium Find Rouses Interest

SASKATOON, Sept. 7 (CP) — Dr. J. B. Mawdsley, head of the geology department of the University of Saskatchewan, said Thursday that uranium ore around Lake Athabaska in Northern Saskatchewan is a "phenomenal concentration."

Speaking to the mines ministers conference, Dr. Mawdsley said while uranium is not particularly rare it has not been found previously in large quantities except in the Belgian Congo and at Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories. He spent the last three summers doing mapping in Saskatchewan uranium areas.

The conference, being held in Saskatchewan for the first time, brings together nearly 150 representatives of provincial governments, and private mining companies to discuss mining industry problems.

A Ticklish Moment

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP) — An earth-moving machine, excavating for a building site Thursday, struck what appeared to be a heavy stone. Workmen dug down and discovered the obstruction was a "live" 500-pound bomb. Experts removed the fuse in a ticklish 15-minute operation.

Schools May Open Now Weather Cool

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 7 (CP)— Cooler weather today may result in earlier opening of school here.

School, which usually opens after Labor Day, was ordered kept closed until Sept. 17 because of the large number of poliomyelitis cases.

However, board of health officials have decided now that if the cool weather continues, thus checking the spread of polio, school might open earlier.

85 Recruits Arrive At RMC

KINGSTON, Sept. 7—(CP)— New recruits—about 85 in number—will arrive this afternoon at Royal Military College preparatory to taking up their course of studies on Sept. 17.

The new arrivals will bring total enrollment at the College to approximately 360.

About 30 cadet officers—fourth year senior students who will assist in training the newcomers—have already arrived. The rest of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th year students are expected to be enrolled by Sept. 14.

Chosen on the basis of competitive examinations written earlier in the spring, the new recruits will be arriving from every province in Canada and one of them, R. A. E. Cullwick, has given his home address as Dundee, Scotland.

A number of cadets are attending the college on scholarships from either the Federal government or the various cadet leagues throughout the country.

Belgian Rifle Adds Fuel To Weapon Row

ANTWERP, Sept. 7 (CP). — Belgium Thursday unveiled its own version of the best rifle in the world, adding fuel to the Atlantic Pact arms standardization squabble.

The Belgian version, a .280-calibre rifle with a wooden stock and conventional sights, is of the same calibre as Britain's controversial small arm.

The weapon's magazine holds 20 shells. Its speed of fire is 650-700 shots a minute. It uses the same ammunition as the new British rifle.

A committee on standardization of weapons is to report to the North Atlantic Council meeting in Ottawa soon. Defence ministers of Canada, the United States, Britain and France discussed the matter in Washington in August but reached no definite conclusion.

Can't Agree

Both Britain and the United States prefer making their own rifles standardized weapons for Atlantic Pact countries, while France is proposing adoption of its .295 weapon.

British observers who saw the Belgian tests today said it was "just a new rifle. Ours is a revolutionary weapon."

American observers said they were still quite happy with their version. "It," they said, "is the best in the world."

The Belgian experts contended theirs was better than the British rifle. It was simpler and less likely to go wrong, they said.

Walter Callow Seriously Ill

HALIFAX, Sept. 7 (CP)—Walter Callow, blind and paralyzed founder of the now famous wheelchair coach movement, is seriously ill, Camp Hill hospital officials said today.

Mr. Callow's condition worsened about a week ago and has been "critical" during the last few days.

His illness came on the eve of the launching of the annual campaign for funds to carry on his wheelchair work.

The coaches, designed by Mr. Callow and built with funds raised by the Callow Veterans' and Invalids' League, are constructed to permit carrying of wheelchair patients.

Point For Canada

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 7 (CP) Walter McElroy, 1951 Canadian amateur golf champion, and his predecessor, Bill Mawhinney, teamed up today to give Canada its first point in an informal match with the United States Walker Cup team. McElroy and Mawhinney, both from Vancouver, upset Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., former British amateur champion, and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., 1 up in one of the four morning Scotch foursome matches. The Americans won the other three to take a 3-1 lead.

Drunken Driver Jailed 7 Days

Percy Marsden, 34, of 418 Sheridan St., was today convicted of drunken driving and sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, of Port Hope. Marsden pleaded not guilty.

Constable Gordon Trennum testified that on the night of Aug. 8 he was patrolling Brock St., near George St., and a southbound car swung wide off George St. to go west on Brock.

The officer said the car weaved as it drove west. Contables Trennum, W. G. Scott and Ralph Emmons followed in the police cruiser, catching up with the car on Aylmer St. halfway between Hunter and Brock Sts.

Constable Trennum said that when Marsden got out of the car his walk was not steady and his speech was thick.

Marsden told the court he suffered from an impediment in his speech as a result of a nervous disorder and stomach ulcers. He had had only a few pints of beer that night. Marsden was represented by R. J. Chandler.

Hold Little Hope Of Identifying Child

MONTREAL, Sept. 7—(CP)—Provincial Police said today there is little hope of identifying a little girl in their care since she was found wandering near the Indian settlement at nearby Caughnawaga, Monday.

Known only as "Didi Ames," a name she keeps repeating, the youngster says her father left her in the woods, but failed to return. Despite extensive publicity given to the case, no one has come forward who recognized the child.

Attempts to trace her through her clothing proved fruitless, and unless they can obtain additional facts, police say they are stumped.

2 Albanian Ministers Lose Cabinet Posts

LONDON, Sept. 7 (Reuters) — Two Albanian ministers have lost their posts in a cabinet reshuffle reported today by the Albanian Telegraph Agency.

In a dispatch received here the agency said deputy premier Hysni Kapo has taken over the ministry of agriculture from Iliaz Reka, who remains in the government as a deputy premier. Gogo Nouchi has been appointed a deputy premier.

Nehmet Shehu has been relieved of his post as minister of state control by Josif Pashko. Bilbil Klossi has taken over the justice ministry from Manouch Muftiou.

Bolshevist Dies

MOSCOW, Sept. 7—(AP)—Pravda today announced the death of Col.-Gen. E. A. Shchadenko, 60, veteran member of the Bolshevist party, described as "one of the outstanding builders of the Soviet Army."

IN ONE MONTH, these members of the Imperial Defence College have toured 15,000 miles of Canada and the United States, as part of the College's plan to give a broad education in geographical and socialogical backgrounds. Including high-ranking members of the navy, army and air force, foreign office and other government departments, they are shown here before boarding a Trans-Canada North Star at Montreal airport last night, for the United Kingdom.

Open New High School

SUDBURY, Sept. 7—(CP)—Official opening of Sudbury's $1,200,000 high school, in use since last May 1, will be held Sept. 19, it was announced today. Guest speaker will be Major John W. Foote, V.C., Ontario's Minister of Reform Institutions.

Falls Into Hot Water Child Badly Burned

STRATFORD, Sept. 7. (CP)—Two-year-old Suzanna Pugh fell into a tub of hot water Thursday night while waiting to be bather by her mother.

The child was in critical condition today with first and second degree burns.

Suzanna's mother, Mrs. Percy Pugh, said she was standing by the tub in the kitchen, filling it with hot water. Just as she began to pour cold water in, the child made a quick backward movement and toppled into the water.

He was alone in the craft.

The body has been sent to Toronto for burial.

Obituary

MRS. J. JENKINSON.

MARMORA, Sept. 7 — (ENS) — The funeral of Mrs. John Jenkinson was privately held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pearce. Canon J. M. Brownlie officiated and burial took place in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Mrs. Jenkinson died in a Kingston hospital on Monday following an illness extending some years. She was in her 90th year. She was born June McAdam, daughter of the late John and Elizabeth McAdam in Cockermouth, Cumberland, Eng.

In 1920 she came to Canada with her son Arthur Shandley, her husband Thomas Shandley having died earlier that year. The first few months she lived in Toronto and then moved to Marmora where in 1921 she was married to John Jenkinson who predeceased her several years ago. Later she moved to Peterborough. She is survived by one son Arthur.

Sentenced To Death

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP). — A military court in Sofia Thursday night sentenced four Bulgarians to death by shooting on charges of acting as "Agents of the American secret service." Nine others were sentenced to prison terms ranging from five to 20 years, the Bulgarian news agency reported in a broadcast dispatch heard here.

Rest In Polio Cases May Halt Paralysis

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 7—(AP)—Whether polio paralyzes or its victim recovers, may depend upon how he is treated in the first few hours of the illness.

Those are the hours when it is difficult to know if you have polio, Getting to bed in those hours possibly means the difference the second International Poliomyelitis Conference was told today. This study was reported by Dr. W. Ritchie Russell of Oxford, England.

The "early hours" he said in a period that may range from only 12 hours to more than two weeks. Physical activity in that period may do irreparable damage.

The warning signals for complete rest, he said, are stiff necks and weakness in muscles.

Holstein Cattle Feature Fair

New York State Fair at Syracuse brought out 480 head of Holstein cattle, as reported today by N. McConkey who said "they had to close the gates Labor Day afternoon, there was such a crowd."

"They had 70 entries in the junior heifer calf class and about 30 per cent of them were exhibited by 4-H Club juniors. It was the biggest Holstein entry list in the records of the New York fair.

"I noticed that Brown Swiss cattle, which have been trailing behind the other dairy breeds, had all their classes well filled, and the beef cattle was a wonderful show in itself. That was my impression."

Display of farm implements was the outstanding feature to Mr. McConkey. He was almost lyrical in the memory of it today. It was most impressive evidence of the extent to which science was walking hand in hand with farmers to help them do a big job for the reast of the people, and without adequate help from them.

He also mentioned that the dairy class for best-uddered female was brought out first, before the cows were shown in other classes. They were then milked out and rejudged in the ring. In other words, too, the entries in this class have to be milking cows.

Mr. McConkey mentioned that he would have a Guernsey bull with the McDonald Farm entries in the cattle show at Waterloo, Iowa.

HERE'S WHY FRIGIDAIRE IS YOUR BEST BUY!

Safe Cold Top to Bottom
Provides 3 kinds of cold that various foods need: freezing-cold, chilling-cold, moist-cold.

More Food Storage Space
Put an "8" where a "6" used to be! New Frigidaires hold 25 to 50% more, yet take no more kitchen space.

Large Freezer Space
A new Frigidaire will hold up to 73 pounds of frozen foods. No need to pile food on ice trays — they have their own shelves.

More Convenient Storage
Sturdy shelves are rust-resistant. Close grill prevents tipping. Hydrators "stack up". Tall bottles, bulky foods easily stored.

Bin-Size Hydrators
Store all the fruit and vegetables you'll use in a week or more! Moist-cold keeps everything fresh — actually restores crispness!

Meter-Miser Dependability
Exclusive Meter-Miser mechanism cuts current costs to the bone. Protected for 5 years against service expense.

Lasting Quality
Strength to spare in the all-steel cabinets — that can support even a 4-ton weight. In every detail of the new Frigidaire you'll see the finest value.

Plenty of Ice — Quick
See exclusive Double-Easy Quickube Trays — come out of the freezer at a finger touch, pop out ice cubes at the lift of a built-in lever.

Drunken Driver Jailed 7 Days

Percy Marsden, 34, of 418 Sheridan St., was today convicted of drunken driving and sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, of Port Hope. Marsden pleaded not guilty.

Constable Gordon Trennum testified that on the night of Aug. 8 he was patrolling Brock St., near George St., and a southbound car swung wide off George St. to go west on Brock.

The officer said the car weaved as it drove west. Contables Trennum, W. G. Scott and Ralph Emmons followed in the police cruiser, catching up with the car on Aylmer St. halfway between Hunter and Brock Sts.

Constable Trennum said that when Marsden got out of the car his walk was not steady and his speech was thick.

Marsden told the court he suffered from an impediment in his speech as a result of a nervous disorder and stomach ulcers. He had had only a few pints of beer that night. Marsden was represented by R. J. Chandler.

Hold Little Hope Of Identifying Child

MONTREAL, Sept. 7—(CP)—Provincial Police said today there is little hope of identifying a little girl in their care since she was found wandering near the Indian settlement at nearby Caughnawaga, Monday.

Known only as "Didi Ames," a name she keeps repeating, the youngster says her father left her in the woods, but failed to return. Despite extensive publicity given to the case, no one has come forward who recognized the child.

Attempts to trace her through her clothing proved fruitless, and unless they can obtain additional facts, police say they are stumped.

2 Albanian Ministers Lose Cabinet Posts

LONDON, Sept. 7 (Reuters) — Two Albanian ministers have lost their posts in a cabinet reshuffle reported today by the Albanian Telegraph Agency.

In a dispatch received here the agency said deputy premier Hysni Kapo has taken over the ministry of agriculture from Iliaz Reka, who remains in the government as a deputy premier. Gogo Nouchi has been appointed a deputy premier.

Nehmet Shehu has been relieved of his post as minister of state control by Josif Pashko. Bilbil Klossi has taken over the justice ministry from Manouch Muftiou.

Bolshevist Dies

MOSCOW, Sept. 7—(AP)—Pravda today announced the death of Col.-Gen. E. A. Shchadenko, 60, veteran member of the Bolshevist party, described as "one of the outstanding builders of the Soviet Army."

IN ONE MONTH, these members of the Imperial Defence College have toured 15,000 miles of Canada and the United States, as part of the College's plan to give a broad education in geographical and socialogical backgrounds. Including high-ranking members of the navy, army and air force, foreign office and other government departments, they are shown here before boarding a Trans-Canada North Star at Montreal airport last night, for the United Kingdom.

Open New High School

SUDBURY, Sept. 7—(CP)—Official opening of Sudbury's $1,200,000 high school, in use since last May 1, will be held Sept. 19, it was announced today. Guest speaker will be Major John W. Foote, V.C., Ontario's Minister of Reform Institutions.

Falls Into Hot Water Child Badly Burned

STRATFORD, Sept. 7. (CP)—Two-year-old Suzanna Pugh fell into a tub of hot water Thursday night while waiting to be bather by her mother.

The child was in critical condition today with first and second degree burns.

Suzanna's mother, Mrs. Percy Pugh, said she was standing by the tub in the kitchen, filling it with hot water. Just as she began to pour cold water in, the child made a quick backward movement and toppled into the water.

Mrs. Wilbert Regan

The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, Trinity United Church, officiated Thursday at the funeral service for Mrs. Wilbert Regan, 600 Gilmour street. The funeral was held from the Comstock funeral home to Little Lake cemetery. Pallbearers were: Walter Head, Arthur Metheral, Willis Garrow, Percy Moore, Thomas Ephgrave and Howard Kirn.

Camp Owner's Body Discovered In Lake

TIMAGAMI, Sept. 7 (CP). — The body of Reginald McConnell, about 55, prominent tourist camp owner and outdoorsman, was located in Lake Timagami Thursday.

McConnell, owner of Camp Accouchiching was drowned Wednesday when his canoe overturned near his camp.

He was alone in the craft.

The body has been sent to Toronto for burial.

Obituary

MRS. J. JENKINSON.

MARMORA, Sept. 7 — (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. John Jenkinson was privately held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pearce. Canon J. M. Brownlie officiated and burial took place in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Mrs. Jenkinson died in a Kingston hospital on Monday following an illness extending some years. She was in her 90th year. She was born June McAdam, daughter of the late John and Elizabeth McAdam in Cockermouth, Cumberland, Eng.

In 1920 she came to Canada with her son Arthur Shandley, her husband Thomas Shandley having died earlier that year. The first few months she lived in Toronto and then moved to Marmora where in 1921 she was married to John Jenkinson who predeceased her several years ago. Later she moved to Peterborough. She is survived by one son Arthur.

Sentenced To Death

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP). — A military court in Sofia Thursday night sentenced four Bulgarians to death by shooting on charges of acting as "Agents of the American secret service." Nine others were sentenced to prison terms ranging from five to 20 years, the Bulgarian news agency reported in a broadcast dispatch heard here.

Rest In Polio Cases May Halt Paralysis

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 7—(AP)—Whether polio paralyzes or its victim recovers, may depend upon how he is treated in the first few hours of the illness.

Those are the hours when it is difficult to know if you have polio, Getting to bed in those hours possibly means the difference the second International Poliomyelitis Conference was told today. This study was reported by Dr. W. Ritchie Russell of Oxford, England.

The "early hours" he said in a period that may range from only 12 hours to more than two weeks. Physical activity in that period may do irreparable damage.

The warning signals for complete rest, he said, are stiff necks and weakness in muscles.

Holstein Cattle Feature Fair

New York State Fair at Syracuse brought out 480 head of Holstein cattle, as reported today by N. McConkey who said "they had to close the gates Labor Day afternoon, there was such a crowd."

"They had 70 entries in the junior heifer calf class and about 30 per cent of them were exhibited by 4-H Club juniors. It was the biggest Holstein entry list in the records of the New York fair.

"I noticed that Brown Swiss cattle, which have been trailing behind the other dairy breeds, had all their classes well filled, and the beef cattle was a wonderful show in itself. That was my impression."

Display of farm implements was the outstanding feature to Mr. McConkey. He was almost lyrical in the memory of it today. It was most impressive evidence of the extent to which science was walking hand in hand with farmers to help them do a big job for the reast of the people, and without adequate help from them.

He also mentioned that the dairy class for best-uddered female was brought out first, before the cows were shown in other classes. They were then milked out and rejudged in the ring. In other words, too, the entries in this class have to be milking cows.

Mr. McConkey mentioned that he would have a Guernsey bull with the McDonald Farm entries in the cattle show at Waterloo, Iowa.

Let's Not Be Beastly To The Russians

It is a surprise to rubber-necking tourists in Ottawa that the Russian embassy looks like any other pleasant mansion in the capital. There it is, poised openly over the river. There are no armed guards at the door, no spies underneath the bushes, no corps of Canadian machine-gunners on the alert across the street. The windows are not barred and shuttered. Why, one could even go up to the front door and ring the bell; People do. The house gives very good parties, too, as the diplomatic and newspaper fraternities in Ottawa know.

* * *

Somehow—we won't go into the reasons here—Russia is already looked on as a declared enemy. Social chat that two American airmen, chauffeuring the Russian delegation to the San Francisco conference, were invited to breakfast and given grapefruit, boiled eggs, French bread, cheese and coffee; chat that four American policemen on duty all day outside the Russian delegates' quarters were given supper of omelet, salad, French bread, watermelon and vodka before going off-duty; such items make newspaper headlines. If there is anything ominous about these mild gestures of hospitality it must be in the French bread—the only item common to both meals.

* * *

It is a very odd situation that representatives of a country attending a conference in an American city at the invitation of the United States should be the objects of a curiosity and animosity usually accorded enemy officials after they have had their diplomatic walking-papers following the outbreak of war. Not even German and Jap representatives were viewed on the eve of war with such intense and widespread antipathetic curiosity. Let us remind ourselves that Canada, the United States and Britain still maintain diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, and that senior representatives of all four countries still sit down to the same dinner table and politely ask each other to please pass the salt.

The American Role

The Honourable Lester B. Pearson, Minister of External Affairs, has compared the American predicament in power today with the burden Britain carried in the nineteenth century by quoting Matthew Arnold: "A weary Titan . . . staggering on to her goal, bearing on shoulders immense, Atlantean, the load, well-nigh not to be borne." It is the penalty of leadership to feel overburdened and often misunderstood. "The American people have not been prepared either by history or by their customary modes of thought for the unprecedented role they are now playing."

This difficulty has been analysed by George Kennan, an American commentator on international affairs writing in The United States and World Affairs 1949. He says that the American people "were unaccustomed to the sense of national insecurity. They were unprepared for the ordeal of sparring indefinitely and inconclusively with a force committed to the destruction not only of their own national power but also of the only sort of international context in which their ideals could be realized. Finally, they were reluctant to believe that there could be major international problems to which there would not be incisive and final solutions, if their policymakers could only find them—problems, in other words, which had to be lived with instead of solved. It fell to these American people to acquire suddenly the art of being patient and conciliatory without showing weakness, and conversely of maintaining strength, and using it, without being rash or provocative." It is well that Americans can assess their problem as clearly and courageously.

New Zealand Elections

Prime Minister Holland's National (Conservative) Government has gone back into New Zealand power with an increased majority following the sudden elections he had called. The Labour (Socialist) Party had been in power for fourteen years until in 1949 the Nationalists defeated it. The sudden early elections had been called to justify the Government's strong-arm methods in dealing with striking dock-workers. Actually, Mr. Holland must have shrewdly seen it as a good time to strengthen his hold on government.

The New Zealand Federation of Labour had already supported his measures to bring order out of chaos at the shipping docks. Was it a victory for "free enterprise" against socialist principles of the Labour Party? The fact is that Premier Holland's platform almost outbid Labour in its pre-election promises of government welfare. Both parties promised lower prices and lower taxes along with increased State benefits. Now it is up to Prime Minister Holland to demonstrate how this wizard's trick can be done. All other Commonwealth Governments must be agog to learn how the improbable is possible.

Who Will Be Mayor Of Ottawa?

Ottawa recently lost its mayor, who lamently and suddenly died. Into his place Controller Charlotte Whitton automatically stepped. Miss Whitton headed the polls in Ottawa's last civic elections. Ottawa voters, politicians and newspapers are now asking: should Acting Mayor Whitton be named Mayor? She is acting in the capacity because of the vote polled last December. But she is a newcomer to municipal politics and is far from being senior in the Council. She is hinted to be a Conservative. She is also a woman. We shall not go into the legal and political niceties of the situation but point out, as everybody knows, that Charlotte Whitton is an extremely able woman, already a national figure, and if Ottawa sees fit to appoint her to fill out the late Mayor Goodwin's term, it will honour itself and have, we believe, the first mayoress in Canadian cities' history.

Europe Is Inflated

Like the rest of Europe and all countries in this hemisphere, the United Kingdom is under severe inflationary pressures. But Britain is intrinsically worse off than most major countries because she does not have the raw materials. She has thus a chronic debt with the United States, and, since the war, a big sterling debt with other European and non-European countries. This can be paid off by exports, but despite the great export drive—even because of it—there is full employment in Britain and consequently a full consumer demand. In addition, Britain has a very heavy re-armament program.

Contrast Britain's situation today with Germany's. Prices in Germany, without the controls obtaining in the United Kingdom, have risen so high that domestic consumers have cut their demands. There is thus more left over for export. And since Germany has no heavy re-armament program to eat up surplus goods and labour, the flow to export is not impeded. Germany's exports have risen in the six months since last October (to March, 1951) by 70 per cent. Britain's exports rose only seven per cent. in the same period.

The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe published a bulletin last Sunday in which the British situation is described thus:

"Cost inflation is rampant, and towards the end of the year may very well be enhanced by demand inflation flowing from the heaviest rearmament programme in Europe. For one reason or another, exports are wavering: this, combined with the high cost of imports, has created a new balance-of-payments problem which will have to be countered by a renewed export drive or cuts in imports, thus adding to the inflationary pressure."

The bulletin shows that continuing inflation in Britain and Europe is the result of internal factors, and not due to such outside forces as the rising cost of raw materials.

Baby-Snatching In Bulk

During the Greek civil war following the World War, 28,000 Greek children were kidnapped by Communist guerillas. United Nations investigated the mass deportation of the children and asked the International Red Cross to set about repatriating them. The attempt has been a failure.

Communist-dominated countries to which they were taken either deny that they have any Greek children in their bondage, or, admitting it, refuse to let them go back on the grounds that it would be against the wishes of the Greek children's parents. They even demand more Greek children, on the alleged basis that their parents have already fled from Greece. Only Yugoslavia, currently cultivating western and American friendship, has complied with the U.N.-Red Cross demand for the return of Greek children. However, only 289 of some 12,000 originally deported to Yugoslavia have been sent back to Greece.

This is barbarism, on a par with the rape of the Sabines, only larger and more important. The Communist countries which took these Greek children and now refuse to surrender them, are bringing them up either as potential slave-labour or, if indoctrination is successful and the children are capable, as Communist accretions and future props to the Cominform. Perhaps many of the children are orphans; but most of these orphans were made so by the Communist guerillas who killed the children's anti-Communist parents in their Greek home villages.

The Assembly of U.N. has twice "invited" and "urged" the Communists states to co-operate with the International Red Cross in repatriating the children. It seems that something more forceful than an urgent invitation is needed.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: It seems to me from the taste of milk in the last month or two that dairies distributing milk in Peterborough have been using powdered milk to supplement their supplies of fresh liquid milk. Is that so? I have heard other people complain of this.

ANSWER: There is no truth in the rumour, for three reasons: (1) there has been no shortage locally of liquid milk. (2) it would be uneconomic for dairies to reconstitute powdered milk and put it in bottles, when there is ample fresh milk, because that means handling and processing the milk twice (3) I have a notion that there is an Ontario governmental regulation forbidding the practice. However, it is quite common in the western provinces for dairies to reconstitute milk from powder and put it into bottles for distribution on milk routes. The West has periodic shortages of liquid milk, especially in winter.

Powdered milk is not as bad as many soldiers found it during the war, when that was their chief source of liquid milk—for cereal and drinking and cooking. I am told that today's powdered milk, if properly reconstituted (mixed with water) and kept cold for twelve hours before using, is indistiguishable in texture and flavour from fresh liquid milk. At the Taylor Statten camp in Algonquin the commissariat is not always able to gauge the boys' requirements. So if enough fresh milk has not been laid in, powdered milk is prepared the night before; this is put into the refrigerator and left to stand all night. At breakfast in the morning the boys are not able to tell it from their usual fresh milk. The trick of preparation is to keep it cold and let it stand long enough before use.

SIR: How do they put the white centre lines on the highways? They seem very neat and regular; even the broken lines are done with care and regularity and the spaces between are exactly the same length.

ANSWER: There is no crew of painters sweating it out with tape lines and brushes. A machine does the work. Down the centre of the highway a string is laid to guide the machine. The painting machine comes along and its driver presses levers to put the brushes down for either solid or broken lines. The brushes revolve and at each revolution dip into a trough of white paint.

Ontario highways are among the best-marked in the world. Even Americans with their super-duper highways (most of them not a whit better than ours) are full of praise for the clarity and adequacy of our highway markings. Have you ever remarked that even the arrows pointing a curve are shaped exactly to the contour of the curve ahead; a sharp curve has a sharply-curved arrow; a winding curve a tortuous arrow following precisely the pattern of the road itself.

EARLIEST BRICK BUILDING: A kind reader has sent me the following items from local papers of a century ago which amplify the discussion of several weeks ago about the oldest brick houses in Peterborough: (1) Peterborough Gazette, February 20, 1846: "Valuable property for sale with large substantial stone and brick buildings..... consisting of a Distillery and Brewery, the former in and the latter ready for operation," formerly occupied by Edward Smith, offered for sale by W. H. Wrighton. (2) Peterborough Gazette, February 29, 1848: G. H. Lennon opening a new store "opposite the brick building of Thomas Chambers" (this may be the Chambers building which stood where the Examiner is now, but I am not sure as Chambers had several buildings) Lennon was opposite Chambers "Commercial Hotel". (3) Peterborough Weekly Dispatch, January 7, 1847: James Hall advertising his new leather store in "new brick building three doors west of his old stand". (4) Peterborough Weekly Dispatch, July 3, 1851, had an advertisement for Thomas Chambers Commercial Hotel which intimated that this "new brick building" had been opened "nearly opposite St. John's Church" in January 1849. That was probably at the end of Queen St. North, rather than the later Chambers building at Water and Hunter Streets.

DEAR SIR: As a Protestant I have been perplexed and disturbed that we Protestants take our religion so casually. Every Sunday both during summer holidays and now, Protestant churches are half-empty and the Roman Catholic cathedral is thronged. For instance, the cars and crowds around St. Peter's Sunday mornings at ten o'clock make me blush for shame at the lackadaisical attendance of Protestants at their churches. Also, Protestants criticize and grouse about their ministers as if they were just hired help and not men ordained of God to minister to their flocks. You don't catch Roman Catholics gossiping and beefing about their priests.

ANSWER: Your objecting conscience should also take this into account. The dominant religion of a country tends to become passive, a thing taken for granted. In Protestant Ontario the Protestants seem to be less faithful and enthusiastic than the Roman Catholics. In Catholic Quebec it is the Catholics who are careless about church attendance and critical of their ministers. The number of nominal Roman Catholics (yes even of Roman Catholic students whom their parents and parishes intend for priesthood) who either desert or disregard the Roman Catholic church in Quebec, would astonish most Protestants and Catholics in this province.

During the war I was sight-seeing in Rome. It shook my sanctimonious sensibilities to be allowed, even encouraged, to troop noisily through an architecturally interesting old church while a service was going on. On many occasions a priest was our conductor and talked in a normal loud voice about the historic items we were seeing.

When I mounted the steps of Santa Maria Maggiore, the largest of the eighty churches in Rome dedicated to the Virgin, ordinary tourist barkers and a couple of priests were standing at the doors. A priest took me in tow. He probably was delegated to guide officers, on the mistaken notion that they would be more likely than soldiers to contribute to the poor box and to appreciate best the information about the church. He spoke English. He showed me the church, and told me in a bored voice about the various historic and artistic aspects of it. All the time a service was going on. At the end, he stood in the centre of the nave and suggested that I make a donation to the poor box. Then he asked: "Cigarettes?" I put money into the poor box, gave him four cigarettes, and a cake of soap, which, at that time, all Italians, even priests, prized very much. I cite this as an example of the matter-of-fact way Roman Catholics accept their churches and faith in a Roman Catholic country.

The next day a learned, affable and dignified Archbishop mounted my military truck and guided me to many fine and unusual architectural and religious monuments of Rome. For this six-hour service he graciously accepted a package of Sweet Caporal cigarettes, two cakes of soap, a large chocolate bar, and my heartfelt thanks. He seemed to appreciate most my thanks and the ride in the military vehicle.

FOR THE RECORD: Tires are high in price. I saw one the other day priced for sale at $2,620.65—without tube; the tube for it costs $254. This is an unusually large tire, built for a big 'earth-remover'—a new type of machine for road-making which waddles up to a hill and removes the top in a couple of bites. I understand that it can take off 18 cubic yards at one swoop. The $2,620 tire stands about six feet high. It takes three or four men to manipulate it on the ground, and a machine to move it elsewhere.

How To Fly The Flag

(Editor's Note: Princess Elizabeth's visit to Canada will call forth a great display of flags. There is an etiquette of flag-flying and several years ago in the London Free Press, Colonel Francis B. Ware of London set it down in an article. The Montreal Star has republished a digest of it.)

THE Union Jack, Colonel Ware says, is the official flag of Canada and should be flown in Canada. The Red Ensign, with the Coat of Arms emblazoned on the fly is the flag of the Canadian Merchant Marine, is intended only for use afloat and for official buildings outside Canada but for 50 years Canadians have made a practice of flying this flag ashore. Afloat it should invariably be displayed on the stern staff of a vessel. Privately owned boats or launches should fly the Pilot Jack (the Union Jack surrounded by a white border) on the fore staff of their yacht club burgee or owner's private flag. Canadian boats in U.S. waters should fly that country's flag at the bow staff. The Blue Ensign is the flag of the armed vessels of the Royal Canadian Navy or, exclusively, of other vessels in Government service. The flag should not be hoisted before sunrise nor kept up after sunset.

* * *

ONE of the commonest mistakes noticed in the position of the Union Jack on many staffs is to have it upside down, which turns it into a distress signal. The correct position is with the broad white stripe of the Cross of St. Andrew above the red stripe of St. Patrick on the side of the flag next the staff. The flag should always be carried upright and never allowed to touch the ground. When the flag is to be flown at half-mast it should first be raised to the top of the staff and then lowered till the centre of the flag is in line with a point midway between the top of the staff and the ground. However when the flag is half-masted on top of a building it is permissible to drop the flag only about one-third down the staff. In lowering the flag from the half-mast position it must be run to the full height and then dropped.

In a ceremony when it is desired to honour the flag of another country by displaying its flag the Union Jack must also be displayed but never on the same staff, always in the place of honour on the right and must never be smaller than the other flag. When two flags are on a building the Union Jack must be on the building's right, (the observer's left), the other on the building's left (the observer's right). In the case of three flags grouped the Union Jack should be on the centre staff, which should be the longest, similarly with groups of more than three.

The Union Jack should be on the right when the flags are crossed on a wall—that is on the observer's left. Displayed horizontally on a wall without staff it should hang as though the staff were on the observer's left; if vertically, the top of the flag should be on the observer's right. If displayed on a line running across a street the top of the flag should be to the east on streets running north and south. On streets running east and west the top should be to the north.

If festooned, the position of the Union Jack should be governed by these rules. If used on a float it should fly from a staff. It should never be used as a drape over radiator, hood, top, sides or rear of a vehicle. It should never be placed lower than a person sitting down. The flag should never be used as a cover for table, desk or box save for military religious ceremonies. No lettering or advertising should appear on the flag. After use in an unveiling the flag should be lifted and carried aloft during the remainder of the ceremony.

The observation of these simple rules will help us all to keep from showing disrespect, however inadvertently, to a sacred national emblem.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not. (Job 14: 1, 2.)

* * *

Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am. Behold, thou hast made my days as an hand-breadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee; verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.

Surely every man walketh in a vain shew: surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them. And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee. (Ps. 39:4-7.)

* * *

Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ; as obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation . . . For all flesh is as grass and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away: but the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unt oyou. (I Peter 1: 13-15, 24, 25.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"I don't know how to answer this question."

"What's it say?"

"It says: 'Who was your mother before she was married?' Heck, I didn't have any mother before she was married."

The opera "Lohengrin" was being performed by a troupe of strolling players. The singers and orchestra were above average, but the tenor, from the first time he appeared on the stage, showed increasing signs of inebriation. By the end of the fourth act, when he was supposed to step into the boat drawn by the white swan and make his exit, he was so drunk that he missed the boat and the swan was pulled off the stage without him.

Paying no attention to the murmurs of the audience, he pulled a watch from his pocket and, turning to another player, asked in the most matter-of-fact voice: "Pardon me, madam, do you know what time the next swan leaves?"

At a restaurant one regular customer was a thoroughly disagreeable man. He found fault with everything, snarled at the waitress no matter how she tried to please, and rarely tipped her. The manager thought it unfair that the girl should have to serve him every day, and as he always sat at the same table offered to transfer the waitress to another set of tables.

The girl, however, insisted on serving "old grumpy," as she called him.

"Please don't make any change," she exclaimed. "He makes all my other customers feel so sorry for me that they double their tips!"

Keene WMS Holds September Meeting

KEENE, Sept. 7 (ENS).—The September meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Keene United Church was in the club room. Mrs. H. McFarlane presided for the opening and led in prayer.

Then followed the service given in the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. J. McFarland and Mrs. C. Mather took the parts, Canada and home missions.

A letter from the head office, Toronto, was read by the president, thanking the society for two boxes of clothing sent for overseas.

A program was given by several members of the Tillicum Class. The president, Mrs. H. McIntyre, presided. The theme was Home and Altar. The hymn, "Happy the Home When God Is There," was followed by a poem, "Distant Home," by Mrs. Anderson. A lovely duet, "Bless This House," by Mesdames Shortts and Hawkes. A story, "Family Altar," by Mrs. Jim Elmhirst, was read. A poem, "As Long as There Are Homes," was read by Mrs. Allen Eason.

Mrs. Harding, formerly of Holland, delighted her audience by telling something of home life, dress and the productiveness of Holland. Holland has a population of 9,000,000.

Girl Baptized at Keene With Water of Jordan

KEENE, Sept. 7 (ENS). — On Sunday afternoon, at the United Church manse, Carol Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Norton Wightman of Napanee, was baptized by her grandfather, the Rev. H. B. Herrington. Attending the baptism besides her parents were her sister, Clara Margaret, her grandmother, Mrs. H. B. Herrington, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ramsay and daughter Betty Ann of Napanee.

The water with which Carol Elizabeth was baptized was brought from the River Jordan, Palestine, by her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wightman.

Miss Clara M. Wightman is spending a few days with her grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Herrington at the manse, Keene.

CHEX Asks Permission To Issue New Stock

Radio station CHEX and its sister station CKWS in Kingston are to be recapitalized.

The Brookland Company Ltd., operating both stations, wants recapitalization with 7,500 preferred and 10,000 common shares.

The nine-member CBC board of governors will consider this application, along with a series of others, for transfers of shares in broadcasting companies. Meeting will be in Montreal, Sept. 27-29.

Station CKFI in Fort Frances has applied for authority to transfer its licence to broadcasting station CKFI Ltd. from J. G. McLaren.

Mrs. John O'Dette

Requiem mass was celebrated today at Immaculate Conception church by the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan for Mrs. John O'Dette who died Wednesday in hospital. Graveside prayers at St. Peter's cemetery were recited by the Rev. James Greenan. Pallbearers were Jack Eano, William Eano, Jack Legros, Leo Clancy, James O'Dette and Joseph O'Dette.

Public Relations Topic At Roseneath Meeting

ROSENEATH, Sept. 7 (ENS)—"Public Relations" was the topic chosen by Mrs. Hilton Eagleson, district president of the Women's Institutes of the West Northumberland District, as guest speaker at the September meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute held Thursday afternoon in the township hall.

Mrs. Eagleson said in part, "A wise man accepts assistance, only to get on his own feet toward self reliance, and an environment made up of true friends is beyond price." The speaker was introduced by the president, Mrs. Harold Taylor.

Members of Fenella Women's Institute were also guests of the local branch at this meeting.

The hall was decorated with late summer flowers by the decorating committee, Mrs. George Mouncey and Mrs. Ernest Burrison.

The reception committee were Mrs. Albert Halstead and Mrs. Bart Thackeray.

The president, Mrs. Harold Taylor, presided, with Mrs. Oscar Adams as pianist. The financial statement presented by the secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Bart Thackeray, showed a balance on hand of $218.18.

Included in the correspondence was an invitation from the WMS of Roseneath United Church to the members of the WI to attend their annual Thankoffering Service to be held in the United Church on September 21, beginning at 2.30 p.m. A letter of thanks was also read from the Auxiliary of Cobourg General Hospital for a donation of money.

Mrs. Alfred Pringle, good cheer convener, reported two boxes of fruit and 23 cards sent out. Mrs. Pringle requested colored pictures to be put in the scrapbooks for the Hospital for Sick Children.

Mrs. Frank George, president of Fenella Women's Institute, presided over the program period put on by Fenella members including: community singing with Mrs. Frank Down as pianist; a quiz by Mrs. Ross Macklin was won by Mrs. Frank Brown's group; Mrs. Donald George contributed a vocal solo, "Sweet Mystery of Life"; lucky door prize was won by Mrs. Harold Harper; a birthday prize was won by Miss Ruby Herrington.

Mrs. William Sandercock, of Fenella, has 53 years of married life to her credit; she and her husband were married May 10, 1898, and are both alive. Mrs. A. Halstead, Roseneath, reported 50 years; she and her husband were married in March, 1901.

Lunch was served by a lunch committee under the supervision of Mrs. J. W. Pacey, Mrs. Clarence Thackeray and Mrs. Robert Linton.

Charge Oatis Trial US Propaganda Touch

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP) — A Czech Communist party jurist today acused the United States of making the espionage trial of William N. Oatis a "cause for a new campaign of agitation and slander against Czechoslovakia."

Dr. Bartuska, head of the law faculty at Prague's Charles University, defended the legality of The Associated Press correspondent's trial in an address to the Pro-Communist International Union of Democratic Jurists.

Dr. Bartuska claimed that Oatis' trial, in which the correspondent was sentenced to 10 years in prison, was conducted "legally and in harmony with the principles of democratic justice."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jack Stewart, star defence player whose hockey career was believed ended last December when a disc was removed from his spine, Thursday signed a 1951 contract with Chicago Black Hawks.

Stewart, 34, a 12-year veteran of the National Hockey League, was reported in top shape by a Black Hawks physician who termed his recovery "most remarkable."

After medical examination following a serious back injury in a NHL game, it was reported Stewart would never play again

Stewart said he got his back strengthened by hard work on his wheat farm in Manitoba.

Jack (Zip) West, 40, accused as a fixer in college basketball scandal, gave himself up Thursday because "I'm tired of living like a hunted animal." He was held in $50,000 bail, charged with bribery and conspiracy. West pleaded innnocent.

Television broadcasts of the World Series were assigned Thursday to NBC for the next four years.

NBC president Joseph H. McConnell said this year s telecasts of the baseball classic—first to go coast-to-coast—would be over a network covering areas with 85,000,000 of the country's population.

George Fulford of Brockville, has joined three other Canadian motorboat-racing drivers challenging for the Harwood trophy race around Manhattan Island Sept. 9, Lou Eppel, president of the American Inboard Association, announced Thursday.

Fulford will race his 135-cubic inch hydroplane Simba. He will replace Jack Langmuir, also of Brockville, who is unable to make the trip to New ork.

Fulford will travel to New York under the banner of the Canadian Boating Federation with Art Hatch of Hamilton, George Reynolds, of Brockville, and Bernard Daost of Lachine, Que.

Hockey players from all parts of Canada began to arrive at Guelph Thursday as preparations went ahead to open the New York Rangers' eastern training camp at Guelph Memorial Gardens.

Neil Colville, coach of the Rangers, said 65 players would attend the camp, scheduled to open in a week.

Detroit Red Wings, champions of the National Hockey League, opened their fall training camp at Pullar Stadium, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Thursday and Manager Jack Adams said a "lot of spots" on the team were wide open.

Seventy-five hockey hopefuls took to the ice seeking berths with the Red Wings, with Indianapolis Capitols of the American Hockey League, with Edmonton Flyers of the Pacific Coast Hockey League and with Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Hockey League Junior A circuit.

The possibility that major league club owners will select a man from baseball's ranks as commissioner was indicated Thursday by owner P. K. Wrigley of Chicago Cubs.

The successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, ousted as commissioner by club owners earlier this year, will be named at a meeting here Sept. 20.

Wrigley said in an itnerview he would back a baseball man as candidate for commissioner and that he believed other owners' sentiment generally was the same. A 12 to 4 majority is necessary to elect a commissioner.

World anglers are converging on this quaint Acadian fishing village of Wedgeport, N.S., for the eighth international Tuna Cup match on nearby Soldiers' Rip Sept. 12-15.

Ottawa Hoping To Make Weekend Gains

By The Canadian Press.

Ottawa Rough Riders, who made a thin showing last weekend against Toronto Argos, will have a chance to add feathers to their caps this weekend.

They are set for two contests with powerful Montreal Alouettes in Ottawa Saturday and in Montreal Sunday. The "gentil Alouettes" are considered a slick lot this year—even if they did take a 37-6 clawing from Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the opening game of the Big Four football contests.

Wes Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Ottawa club, said Thursday night that his club had picked up waivers on the Tiger-Cats' Stan Wolkowski, released this week by Hamilton.

For a few hours, the Riders also had another quarterback.

They picked up Stan Heath from the Tiger-Cats, also on waivers, but renounced their claim when they discovered Hamilton coach Carl Voyles had inadvertently promised him to Calgary Stampeders first.

Heath, recovering from a preseason injury, will fill in for injured Keith Spaith with the Stamps. The bullet-passing youngster from Toledo, O., pitched Hamilton into first place in the Big Four last season.

Get Understudy

In Wolkowski, the Riders got Heath's understudy last season and a handyman who can fill in at other backfield posts and in an end spot.

In the other eastern game, Toronto Argonauts will have another go at the Cats—this time on the Argos' home field, last weekend in Hamilton they took a 27-6 beating from the Felines, now in first place in Big Four standing.

All three major western teams are set to play two games from Saturday to Monday. Saskatchewan Roughriders will play the Stampeders at Calgary Saturday and Winnipeg Blue Bombers will play Edmonton Eskimos at Edmonton.

On Monday night, the Blue Bombers will play the Stampeders at Calgary and the Roughriders face the Eskimos at Edmonton.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, the highly-rated Sarnia Imperials will take on Windsor Royals Saturday at Windsor. The Royals lost last Saturday to Toronto Balmy Beaches and the Beaches lost Monday to the Imperials.

World Series Opens Oct. 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP). — Barring play-offs, the world series will open on Wednesday, Oct. 3, unless Cleveland wins the American League pennant, in which case it will start Thursday, Oct. 4, in Cleveland.

Representatives of the pennant contenders decided Thursday in a three-hour meeting to keep the same ticket scale as last year and eliminated any open days for travel.

Attending the meeting were Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants of the National League, and Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox of the American League.

Tickets will cost $8.00 for box seats, $6.00 for reserved seats, $4.00 for standing room and $1.00 for bleacher seats.

The series opens this year in the American League park where the first two games will be played, followed by three games in the National League park, and then two in the American—assuming, of course, more than four games are needed in the best four-of-seven competition.

The baseball owners requested that fans do not send in money for tickets until the clubs announce themselves as ready to take applications.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Barring heavy rain tonight, Mimico Mounties and the Petes Timbermen tee off at 8.45 in Miller Bowl. First game of their best-of-seven for the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse championship. And the right to go West after the Dominion title and the Mann Cup. Second game is slated for the Mounties' lair on the morrow, and then the scene shifts back here Monday. A gruelling grind ahead, and a long one behind them. Mimico played one more series than the Petes, the locals taking a bye into the finals whilst Mounties were rubbing out Hamilton Tigers. But we don't think the rest hurt the Peterborough pack any, and they're free of injuries.

* * * * * * *

Fans will recall that Mimico play a speedy, scrappy brand of lacrosse. They've lots of hustle and are good opportunists. Scoring punch is pretty well spread around, with Don McPhail leading 'em. Don is not too popular with the Petes' players, more than one of them bearing scars from that webbed weapon the McPhail swings. On paper, the Timbermen should take the Mounties. We have a better goalie, a strong defence — with a scoring punch — and an experienced flock of forwards. All in good shape and all potential snipers. However, gutted-stick games are not played on paper. Some record crowds will likely jam Miller Bowl ere the series is o'er.

* * * * * * *

Juniors On The Spot

Don't forget the junior lacrosse playoff here at 8.45 tomorrow night. Third clash between Mimico and Lou Vitarelli's crew in their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior "A" finals. As Mimico has won the first two, the young Petes will really have to fight for this one — or they can hang up their gear for the year. The local huskies led in the schedule and can't still be counted out of it, not at all. A good club of Bill Nicholls, Bev Groves, Lou Nickel, Doug Powell, Carl Brioux, Gary and Brian Robinson, Jim Shearer, Grant Burns, Steve Morrissey, Jim Heffernan, Rock Batley, Frank Farley, Carl Fitzgerald, Jerry O'Reilly and Bob Wyatt.

* * * * * * *

A girl came to town last spring who is quite an athlete. She is Mabel Gillen, catcher for Marines' intermediate city champs in softball this past season. A fine catcher and hitter, she helped the club a lot. Miss Gillen hails from Brantford, where her dad is a magistrate. She manages a cleaning establishment here, one which may sponsor a basketball or softball team another season. The tall, pleasant lass — who will assist in coaching PCVS girl cagers this fall and winter — played softball for a Detroit team which toured as far as California a few years ago, and she was slated to play with the team at the CNE this fall, but her transfer here interfered. A star basketballer, too, we imagine she can toss a mean bowling ball, as well.

* * * * * * *

UEW Vs. The Orphans

If the weather clears up enough through the day, UEW and Orphans tangle at seven tonight in the Bowl in the sixth of their best-of-seven men's city softball finals. Orphans lead 3-2 and could end it this eve, but only one game is slated, in any case. Orphans (who beat out Revoy's in semi-finals) open OASA senior "B" play here Saturday against Oshawa Pedlar's, at eight, in the Bowl, return joust being in the Motor City on Tuesday. A best-of-three series. In girls' play, the Woollens resume their PWSU junior sawoffs this week-end in Toronto. No further word on the Westclox protest on Agincourt in the PWSU intermediate bracket.

* * * * * * *

Our grid Orfuns have two good snaps this season in Spook Graham, former PCVS and OAC star, and 200-pound Creighton Johnston, another ex-PCVS ace. Biggest man on the team and playing inside is Doug Howe, who stands six-feet-one and bumps the hay scale at 295 pounds. His father was the late Eric Howe, husky Petes' defenceman some years ago. Joe Wilson of Ottawa is another inside who is heavy, going 245 pounds. Archie Eady of the provincial police is six-two and 230 pounds, chunky Rocky DeCarlo hitting it at 220, and Bob Menzies being an even six feet and 230 in weight. That's a lot of avoirdupois in the centre of the local line, eh? Their schedule opens here next Wednesday night.

* * * * * * *

Down Sports' Rialto

Four of five Oshawa Raiders' imports from Toronto are colored footballers . . . OCVI and CCI there may combine for one senior squad, but field separate junior teams . . . Bob Bevan of Cobourg Ghosts is out with Queen's now . . . NHL puck camps are opening and Murray Byrne, who played for Al Watkins' midget Marines, is off for a trial with Rangers at Guelph; Jack Corbett of that team also got an invite . . . Greenberg Says Pitching Not 'Sensational'

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7—(AP)—General Manager Hank Greenberg becomes oddly annoyed when anyone says sensational pitching is the main reason for the success of his Cleveland Indians in the American League race.

"Our present pitching staff doesn't compare with the one we had in 1948," he says. "That staff had an earned-run percentage of 3.23 . . . We're not anywhere near that figure this year."

Perhaps the '48 crew was better, but we'll stick with the 1951 quartette of Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. Then there is relief- artist Lou Brissie and fifth-starter Steve Gromek.

There's no doubt that the big four have been carrying the load, especially with the offence bogged down in the past couple of weeks. In one week, the Indians were held to eight runs in seven games but won three of them, by scores of 2-0, 2-0, and 1-0.

Pitching Great

"The pitching has carried us all years," said manager Al Lopez. I knew we were going to have good pitching when I took over, but I never expected it to be so good. If we had been getting the hitting I figured we would, we'd be six or seven games in front by now."

Feller already has notched 21 games to become the biggest winner in the majors. Garcia has 18, and Lemon and Wynn 16. To date, they have hurled 61 complete games, topping by far any staff in the majors.

Feller, 32, has been consistently good all season. Veteran observers agree he has made the complete transition from a thrower to pitcher—from "rapid Robert" to "brainy Bob."

It would appear that such a staff would need a relief pitcher like a one-legged man needs two shoes. But they do falter at times. That's where Brissie has proven his worth.

Said Lopez: "Lou has saved at least a dozen games for us. He's already appeared in more than 40 games and has never given a poor performance."

Cobourg Quarter With Queen's

KINGSTON, Sept. 7—Bob Bevan, one of Cobourg's top ranking players, made his debut with the Queen's University senior football candidates Wednesday and attracted much attention. The little field general and forward passer, who scintillated with the Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, is eligible for senior competition and is expected to become one of the regular quarterbacks.

Four other candidates swelled the squad's total to the three-dozen mark and brightened an outlook that hadn't looked too promising or encouraging. Two newcomers were Albert Poutenan of Sudbury, and Ben Doliszny of the Alcan softball team. Bob McIntyre, an Ottawa snapback, who has seen service with the Queen's intermediates and Jack Swirewich, a Hamiltonian in second-year science, were the other welcome additions.

Running, signals and light blocking against the machines were indulged in under the supervision of coach Frank Tindall and his assistants. The back field candidates also did a bit of punting and forward passing before Tindall called a halt to the afternoon workout.

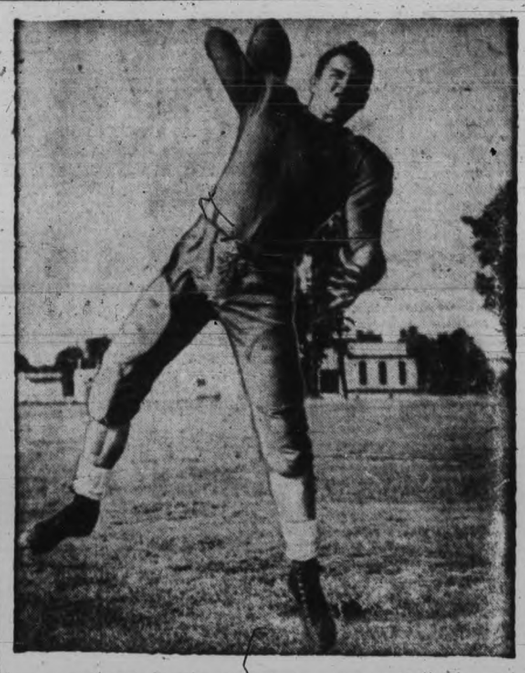
Waive Heath Claims

CALGARY, Sept. 7 (CP). — President Tom Brook of the Calgary Stampeders announced on Thursday night that Ottawa Rough Riders have waived all claims to Stan Heath, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat quarterback who will replace injured Keith Spaith on the Calgary Western Football Union Club. Brook said he talked by long-distance telephone Thursday night with Jim McCaffery of the Rough Riders and said McCaffery had "very graciously waived all claims Ottawa had on Heath."



TOM O'MALLEY, highly-rated, much-headlined quarterback for the Ottawa Roughriders, looks menacing enough in the above photo to tear through all the opposing teams in the Big 4 League this season. So far this year the Roughriders have lost to the Toronto Argos but are looking for revenge this weekend in the home and home series with the Montreal Alouettes.

Buffalo Drops Tilt To Springfield

By The Associated Press.

Tom Simpson, young right-hander of Buffalo Bisons, hasn't enjoyed much success since he pitched a no-hit no-run game against Toronto late in July.

Since his no-hitter Simpson has won only two games while dropping five. The former relief specialist suffered his fifth setback in his last six decisions Thursday night as the Bisons bowed 4-3 to Springfield Cubs.

Jack Wallaesa was the chief thorn in Simpson's side. Wallaesa drove in three runs on three hits including a double and home run. Wallaesa cracked his homer in the sixth inning to break a 3-3 tie. Bill Padget scattered nine hits to post his 16th victory.

Syracuse Chiefs turned back Baltimore Orioles, 5-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Art Hartley in the only other game.

The Chiefs pounced on lefty Jack Schmitt for three runs in the first inning and coasted to victory. Bill Baker homered for the Chiefs in the third inning and Mike Goliat banged one for Baltimore in the fifth.

Rain washed out games between Montreal and Ottawa and Rochester and Toronto.

Rule Charlie Bright Off Ontario Tracks

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP). — Jockey Charlie Bright of Muncie, Ind., Thursday was ruled off Ontario racetracks for life for allegedly accepting bribes in connection with the fixing of races at Fort Erie in July.

The Ontario Racing Commission, which issued the suspension notified Bright that his case would be considered Thursday. However, Bright did not appear at the hearing.

Bright drew suspension last year for unsatisfactory riding during the Thorncliffe meet here.

The suspension brought to 10 the number of riders ruled off for life since Ontario's race-fixing investigation started early last month.

The commission Thursday also revoked the licence of owner-trainer Murray Weiseman, who has been active in claiming thoroughbreds during the season. It said Weiseman was unable to satisfy the commission that thoroughbreds claimed by him and his stable were not already owned by him.

Weatherman Aids Indians By Forcing Heavy Rescheduled Games

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The weatherman appears to have ranged himself alongside the front-running Cleveland Indians in their three-team fight for the American League pennant. Rain, washing out Thursday's doubleheader between New York and Boston, forced re-scheduling of the Yankee-Red Sox games for the final, vital days of the flag race and placed a heavy burden on New York and Boston. Scheduled games between the Dodgers and Phillies, Giants and Braves, and Senators and Athletics also were rained out. The Indians and St. Louis had an off day.

The Yankee-Red Sox games had to be fitted into the schedule as parts of double-headers Sept. 28 and Sept. 29. The season ends with a single game Sept. 30. No other dates are available.

This means the Yankees and Red Sox will clash five times in the last three days. Meantime, the Tribe figures to have a breather.

Whereas Boston must cram 11 games into the final 10 days, and New York nine, Cleveland plays only six.

Post-Season Playoff

The scheduling of those double-headers so late in the season may force an unprecedented post-season playoff of rained-out games. Under a new rule, adopted by the majors last winter, two days are set aside after the regular season to play off postponed games that have a direct bearing on the pennant race.

Should rain prevent any of the games over the final weekend, they will be played Oct. 1 or Oct. 2.

The washout left the teams as they were. Cleveland holds a one-game advantage over the Yankees and lead Boston by four lengths.

Brooklyn still leads the Giants by 5½ games.

In the only games played Thursday, St. Louis Cardinals trounced Chicago Cubs 10-2, Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Cincinnati 7-4 and Chicago White Sox humbled St. Louis Browns 9-4.

Home runs by Stan Musial, his 32rd, Billy Johnson, Hal Rice and Red Schoendienst paced the Cards to victory over Chicago.

The White Sox blasted out 17 hits with pitcher Randy Gumpert leading the way with four singles.

Delays Putting Canada On Spot

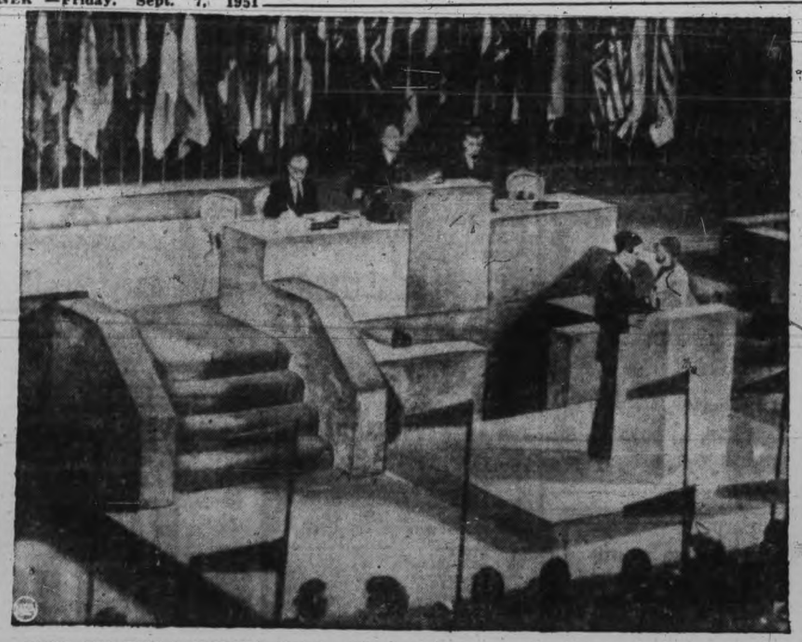
LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—The delay in standardizing the military equipment of the western allies often leaves Canada with a painful choice between Britain and the United States, says Dr. O. Solandt.

The chief of Canada's defence-research board told British reporters Thursday that when it becomes necessary Canada tends to choose American patterns, largely for industrial and economic reasons.

The only way out of the dilemma, Dr. Solandt said, is to get agreement on military requirements before production is far advanced.

The Daily Telegraph quoted Dr. Solandt as saying he wonders sometimes whether the allies are going forward or backward on standardization.

Describing Canada's general research program, Dr. Solandt disclosed that poison gases are being tested in southern Alberta. He said trials so far indicate that the allies have been underrating certain types of gases.



TWO ON THE ROSTRUM—Polish delegate Stefan Wierblowski (at rostrum, back to camera) refuses to yield to Kenneth Younger, the British delegate, during a shouting match that marked the opening business session of the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference in San Francisco. Secretary of State Dean Acheson (presiding at rear) had recognized Younger.

Reshuffle Leadership In Czech Red Party

LONDON, Sept. 7 (Reuters) — The Czechoslovak Communist party has reshuffled its leadership to abolish the post of secretary-general, the Czechoslovak news agency said today.

President Klement Gottwald proposed that the secretary-general's post, held by Rudolf Slansky, be done away with and that its duties should be taken over by himself, the report said.

Slansky will be a member of the secretariat and help conduct the business of the party.

Say Hong Kong Site Declined With Thanks

HONG KONG, Sept. 7 (AP)—British Hong Kong wants no part of any Korean war truce talks—for fear of being turned into an international shooting gallery.

Hong Kong was mentioned after Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway proposed to the Reds that the disrupted talks be resumed at a new location.

No one here takes seriously the speculation as to Hong Kong. But the colony officials blanched at mere mention of such a possibility.

Hong Kong doesn't want anything to happen that might aggravate its already-touchy relations with the Chinese Communists.

"If General Ridgway thinks there have been too many 'violations' in Kaesong," a high police official asked, "what in blazes does he expect to find in Hong Kong?

"Bring the Communists here and Hong Kong will become a wide-open shooting gallery."

Truman's Elephant Dies On Way To US

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Sept. 7—(Reuters)—A three-ton bull elephant on his way to President Truman as a gift from the King of Cambodia, died on board ship here Thursday. Taken from the jungles of the tiny Indo-China kingdom of Cambodia, the seven-year-old elephant left Saigon July 28 to travel the 14,000 miles to Washington.

In Serious Condition

WINDSOR, Sept. 7 (CP). — An 11-year-old Riverside youth, John Cocks, is in "fairly serious" condition with a possible fracture of the skull suffered Thursday when he was knocked down by a light truck. The boy told police he stepped from the curb from behind a parked car into the path of a service truck owned by the Riverside fire department and driven by Fire Chief Howard Priest.

Westwood WMS Has New Study Book

WESTWOOD, Sept. 7 (ENS)—The September meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon at the church, with the president, Mrs. Clayton Brackenridge, presiding.

The new study book, "From Lakes to Northern Lights," was introduced by the president. It is to be a Canada year on Home Missions.

Interesting synopsis of the book was given by Mrs. A. Wood, Mrs. H. S. Neilsen, Mrs. W. Morris and Mrs. E. W. Sargent.

The Rev. N. Cole addressed the meeting with emphasis on the Home Mission work of Canada for the year.

Plans were discussed for catering by the society at the auction sale of Mrs. J. Sargent. The quarterly tea will be held at the October meeting.

The Rev. N. Cole closed with prayer.

Say Red Prisoner Admits Violations

TOKYO, Sept. 7 (AP). — The Communist China radio said tonight the Communists hold prisoner a South Korean soldier who admitted entering the Kaesong, Korea, neutral zone five times.

The prisoner was identified as Kim Bon dok.

The radio said Kim told questioners: he five times entered the neutral zone around Kaesong, site of cease-fire talks. One trip was on Aug. 13 when the Reds charged allied troops killed a member of a Red military police unit.

The broadcast said Kim and a second prisoner, Pak Li min, admitted operating in the neutral zone in civilian clothes after taking off their army uniforms under allied orders.

Can't Drive For 3 Yrs. As Accident Penalty

SUDBURY, Sept. 7 (CP) — Rene Ross, 29, of Sudbury, will be forbidden to drive an automobile for three years because he failed to remain at the scene of an accident.

The penalty, plus a $200 fine, was imposed Thursday by Magistrate W. J. Golden.

No one was injured in the accident, but another car suffered $300 damage.

Business Operations Resume In Kansas

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 7 (AP)—Normal business operations resumed today in three Kansas City industrial districts endangered by the Kansas river.

The crest of the flood waters passed Kansas City without breaking through dikes weakened by a disastrous overflow last July.

The July flood caused an estimated $2,500,000,000 damage in Kansas and Missouri.

Railroads lifted freight embargoes placed earlier this week.

TUC Urges Equal Pay For Women In UK

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Trades Union Congress today urged the Labor government to apply the principle of equal pay for men and women doing the same job in the civil service.

A resolution to that effect was unanimously approved by the 917 delegates here.

Lincoln Evans of the general council said TUC leaders will confer soon with Prime Minister Attlee on the subject.

A resolution looking towards reduction of compensation paid to former shareholders of nationalized industries was defeated. The vote was 5,301,000 to 2,080,000.

Merry-Go-Round Gives Big Headache

WINDSOR, Sept. 7 (CP).—A cranky merry-go-round and a merry-go-round crank combined to give a carnival worker a splitting headache and a split head.

It happened at a southside park when Roy Harris of Toronto tried to start a merry-go-round that broke down.

Harris took the crank and began turning the carousel mechanism. He was cranking in one direction when the motor kicked and spun the crank in the opposite direction, landing a hefty wallop on the Harris head.

Harris was removed to Hotel Dieu Hospital where three stitches were required to close the head wound.

Frederick Precious

ROSENEATH, Sept. 7 (ENS)—Funeral service for Frederick Precious, a former resident of Alnwick township, was held on September 3 at the Tait funeral home, Cobourg. The Rev. E. C. Kelloway, pastor of Trinity United Church, Cobourg, conducted the service.

Mr. Precious died after a lingering illness in his 93rd year. He was born at Precious Corners on April 19, 1859, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Precious, and his entire life was spent in the Roseneath-Cobourg district.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ella Shearer, of Roseneath, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Nelson, BC, and Mrs. Herbert Bell, Cobourg.

The pallbearers were Arthur McFiggin, Cecil Wilson, Thos. McCaw, Arthur Hobart, Roy Dodge and Wm. Pearse. Burial was in Cobourg Union cemetery.

Millbrook News

Throughout September a special "Back to church, back to God," campaign is being carried out throughout the parish of Cavan. The purpose of the campaign is to reach parishioners whose names are on the church rolls but who are not regular attendants, and also to contact new members of the community who have no church affiliation. Included are three churches, St. John's, Ida; Christ Church, Bailieboro and St. Thomas', Millbrook, whose rector is the Rev. A. A. Chote.

Mr. and Mrs. William Leacock of Hamilton, stopped off for a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. George H. Harrington on their way to Montreal.

Use State Funds For Vacations

MOSCOW, Sept. 7 (AP).—Two Russian husbands rigged vacations for their nagging wives by dipping into state funds, the newspaper Trud reported today.

Ivan Ivanovich Pereplista, deputy chief of the construction committee of a factory in Mariupol, Ukraine, forged a document so that his wife, Tatyana, got a free vacation in the south.

The second culprit, Comrade Kropinov, a chief of construction in the same organization, went one better. He classified his spouse—who is actually a housewife—as a stakhanovite for vacation purposes. Stakhanovites are pace-setting workers who get outstanding recognition since they speed up production.

Trud said the two erring husbands acted "to satisfy their girl friends." The newspaper made this laconic comment: "It is well known that this leads to nothing good."

Cargo Damaged

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP)—Fire in a hold Thursday night damaged general cargo of the motor vessel Lunan, under charter to the Newfoundland and Great Lakes Shipping Company, as she lay berthed on the Toronto waterfront. Damage was not estimated immediately.

WELL SHAKE

Two men were discussing their crops in the general store of a small Vermont town when joined by a third.

"Hiram," one of the men said to the other, "you know Abel Brown, don't you?"

Wal," replied Hiram, extending his hand, "we've howdied but we ain't shook."

Fly Flowers From UK To Give Home Touch

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP) — Choice blooms from English nurseries will be flown to London, Ont., tonight to bring a touch of home-away-from-home to Sir Denys Lowson and Lady Lowson.

The Lord Mayor of London, England, and his wife, now on a visit to Canada, will see the flowers when they open the western fair in the Ontario city on Monday.

The 150 freshly-cut blooms — roses, carnations, dahlias, chrysanthemums and gladioli—were contributed by amateur growers in the London area as a token of friendship from one London to another. Last July the Canadian city sent flowers to a show sponsored by a British newspaper.

MRS. RACHEL DANN

Musical Show Being Planned

Mrs. Rachel P. Dann arrived in Peterborough on Thursday to commence work on 'Going Places' the musical show which will be presented on September 20 and 21 at the Brock Street Ballroom. The show is being sponsored by the Peterborough Fish and Game Association and the proceeds are to be used for conservation work.

Mrs. Dann holds a degree from Oberlin College and took graduate work at Julliard Conservatory. She has had experience in Little Theatre work, radio and publicity and promotion of entertainments. Mrs. Dann's home is in Valley Stream, Long Island, New York.

Mrs. Dann met with members of the committee last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Neill. Others present were Don Smedmor, Ken Strasser, Herbert Carter, Harvey Calberry, Norman Bradley.

Rehearsal will begin at once. Anyone who would like to try out for a part in the production should contact Mr. Don Smedmor, 217 Hunter St., phone 2-2551.

Going Places has the unqualified recommendation of many other towns in Canada and the States where it has played to packed houses.

2 Cows Electrocuted During Bad Storm

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 7 (CP)—Two cows were electrocuted and two others paralyzed by electric shock at the height of a rain storm Thursday on the farm of Clifford Weaver, just outside of the city.

The cows received the shock from a heavy hydro transformer line and a brace wire for the Derby township telephone line. The brace wire is located two feet below the transformer line.

No one knows exactly what happened. Said Mr. Weaver: "There was a blinding flash and then there were the cows lying on the ground."

It is not known whether the paralyzed cows will recover. The cattle were pure-bred Guernsey and Holstein milking cows.

Morrison Pleased With Treaty Progress

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP). — Britain's Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison arrived today by air from London, expressing satisfaction with progress thus far at the San Francisco Japanese peace treaty conference.

Morrison will sign the treaty for Britain.

He said State Secretary Dean Acheson, beset with Russian objections, was handling the conference, "with courtesy and consideration, and with a reasonable degree of firmness."

ANCIENT ACID

Acetic acid formed when wines and beer turn sour through exposure to the air is the earliest known acid.

TIME OUT from work for an hour Thursday afternoon allowed Oliver Sugden, 739 Aylmer St., to hook and land this 20-pound muskie. Working at his service station on Highway 28, Mr. Sugden left for an hour's fishing. After casting with a pikie minnow, he battled with the fish in the Otonabee River, just opposite his garage.

Picks 10 Best Love Scenes Shown In Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7 (AP)—King Vidor, one of Hollywood's most-noted directors, climbed out on a limb today to pick the 10 best love scenes in the movies.

Vidor could see no reason to remain modest and he picked two of his own scenes as the first examples. Here is his list:

1. The farewell between John Gilbert and Renee Adoree in "The Big Parade" (1925). Gilbert, leaving for the front in an endless parade of trucks, tossed his shoe to the adoring Adoree, who clutched it lovingly.

2. A boat scene between John Gilbert and Eleanor Boardman in "Bardeley's The Magnificent" (1926). The lovers kissed as willow branches swept over their faces.

3. The love scene in a garret between Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "Seventh Heaven" (1927).

4. The couch match of Greta Garbo and John Gilbert in "Flesh and Devil" (1927).

5. The motel sequence with Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable in "It Happened One Night" (1934). They were separated by a hanging blanket ("The Walls of Jericho").

6. The tender Vienna dancing scene between Robert Donat and Greer Garson in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" (1939).

7. The sidewalk love scene between Jean Arthur and Joel McCrea in "More The Merrier" (1943).

8. The railroad station conversations of Celia Johnson and Trevor Howard in "Brief Encounter" (1946). Vidor: "It was so intimate I found myself wondering how a camera and microphone happened to be there."

9. Frederick March's return from the war to his wife, Myrna Loy, in "Best Years of Our Lives" (1946).

10. The "To Have and Have Not" (1946) scene in which Lauren Bacall said to Humphrey Bogart, "If you want anything, just whistle."

Railway May Quit Passenger Business

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP)—London and Port Stanley Railway may quit the passenger business, selling its goodwill to Greyhound Coach Lines for one year's passenger revenue, it was indicated Thursday in moves started by London Railway Commission.

The alternative, commissioners said, would be to have ratepayers vote approval for the expenditure of $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 towards the rehabilitation of the line.

The city-owned railway would continue in the freight business.

The railway would sell only its good will, not its assets, upon vacating passenger business.

British Film Stars Among Lowest Paid

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 7 (Reuters)— Movie actress Rosamund John Thursday night told the Trades Union Congress that British film stars are among this country's lowest paid workers.

To prove her point she gave a case history—her own.

"I have had only 4½ days work in films in the last 18 months," said Miss John, a Congress delegate from the Actors' Union.

"My average yearly earnings for that amounted to less than £6."

South Dakota Girl Wins Beauty Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ, Sept. 7 (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Marlene Margaret Rieb, of Parkston, SD, won a preliminary swim suit contest in the Miss America pageant Thursday night.

The victory for the blonde, brown-eyed Miss South Dakota means points towards the 1952 Miss America title which will be decided Saturday night.

Fifty-one American beauties, including Marjorie Kelly, of Courtland, Ont., are taking part in the week-long preliminaries of this famous contest.

Pass 5 Million Mark

DETROIT, Sept. 7 —(AP) — Motor vehicle output in the United States so far this year passed the 5,000,000 mark Thursday. Reporting this Thursday, the trade paper Automotive News said the car factories have built 3,988,207 cars and 1,047,158 trucks since last Jan. 1. At the same time last year United States plants built 4,541,669 cars and 930,135 trucks.

Polishes Fast

STEEP ROCK— One of Canada's largest mines is the Steep Rock iron mine at Atikokan, Ont., on the north shore of Lake Superior. A mechanical shovel is shown loading trucks at the bottom of the 500-ft.-deep open-cut mine. Parts of Steep Rock Lake had to be drained before operations could be started. The mine—two miles wide and three miles long—produces about 1,000,000 tons of iron ore a year.

Reserve Decision On CP Appeal

OTTAWA, Sept. 7—(CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board reserved decision on an application from a group of employees of The Canadian Press, national news-gathering agency, to revoke the certification of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) as bargaining agency for a unit of CP editorial employees in Canada.

The board, which early last year certified the ANC as bargaining agent after it had got a majority in a representative vote, Thursday heard evidence from the group opposed to the guild that its decertification petition held the names of 42 of the 74 CP employees in the unit at the time it was filed.

It was suggested in Guild evidence and argument that the signatures had been obtained under some duress on the part of the company. This was denied by witnesses and counsel for the petitioners and by counsel for the CP, which the board named as a respondent to the application along with the Guild, but which did not present evidence.

The Giuld was certified by the board as collective bargaining agent for the CP editorial unit in April, 1950. The board has discretionary power to revoke that certification, after it has been in effect at least a year, on becoming convinced the union does not possess a majority of the unit.

Says United States Excellent Neighbor

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7—(CP)—The United States is not trying to make Canada a cultural colony, Max Freedman, associate editor of The Winnipeg Free Press, Thursday told delegates attending the third annual conference of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada.

Mr. Freedman was one of four speakers who adressed the conference on the background of the Massey Commission on Arts and Sciences.

"We can't get away from living with the United States, and if we had to choose another neighbor from the world, I don't think there is another we would want to live with," he said.

United States Shifts Tactics On Anti-Red Propaganda

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SAIGON, Indo-China, Sept. 7—(AP)—After a losing start in Asia's war of words, the American information program has shifted tactics for a bare-knuckle scrap with Communist propagandists.

Tons of printed paper, radio programs and special movies carry the American message. A recent personal survey of Indo-China, Thailand, Burma and Malaya shows it has been registering.

Two international developments have made Asians more receptive to American ideas. One is the successful UN action in Korea, which has restored confidence in American strength and collective security. The other is the distaste in Asia for the Red repression and mass executions in China.

American information officers are exploiting both to repair US prestige in Asia which tumbled after Chiang Kai-shek's government retreated to Formosa.

Go Cautiously

Nationalism is the key issue in Indo-China, and in that jealously-guarded French preserve American information officers must tread cautiously.

In British Malaya, the American information program carries the ball in the word war on Communist China. British propaganda in Malaya is excellent but because of closer British ties to Peking, it must soft peddle blasts at the Chinese Communists.

Sometimes, American propaganda is clumsy and does more injury than good. Errors of this kind usually are due to inexperience.

The American reputation has sagged perceptibly in Asia because of US support of French rule in Indo-China over the three semi-independent native governments. In India, Burma and Indonesia—countries which have recognized the Peking government—continued American backing of Chiang Kai-shek is unpopular.

Cargo Damaged

VICTORIA, BC, Sept. 7 (CP)—A charge of careless driving against the Hon. T. D. Pattulo, former Premier of British Columbia, was dismissed by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court Thursday. The charge arose from a car accident here about two months ago.

Public Control Of TV Needed Says CBC Chairman

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7 (CP). — Canadian television will have to be brought under public control, A. D. Dunton, chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said Thursday night.

He was addressing the third annual conference of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada on the background of the Massey Commission on Arts and Sciences.

He said if television in Canada is not brought under public control it will become essentially non-Canadian. The pressures and pulls on Canada in the field of radio broadcasting had to be considered and met. Otherwise television would become an offshoot of American broadcasting.

Canada might develop greater production powers and take better care of its people but it wouldn't be much of a nation unless the means of communication among Canadians were also effectively developed.

Defends Recommendation

Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, defended the Massey Commission's recommendation that the present system of radio broadcasting be retained.

Dr. MacKenzie said it was his opinion that but for the action of the Canadian government, radio programs like the film industry, would have to rely almost exclusively on American sources.

Canadians would then have received a great real of incidental information of "an inevitably slanted nature."

Dr. MacKenzie said he believed the same regulations governing radio would have to be applied to television when it reached Canada.

"If it is the desire of Canada and Canadians . . . to retain their separate identity and develop as Canadians, I feel that these most important media . . . must be kept Canadian," he said.

Mrs. Eva Langevin

Requiem mass was celebrated Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Catherine's Church, Tweed, for Mrs. Eva Langevin, who died suddenly Monday at the home of her brother, Malcolm Wood, of Flinton.

Mrs. Langevin's husband, Simon, died two years ago. Surviving are her father Charles Wood of Flinton, and four brothers, Malcolm and Stewart of Flinton, Hugh of Belleville and Louis, Elm St., Peterborough.

BE PREPARED FOR HOSPITALITY WITH Coca-Cola

A SIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL, who gives her name as Didi Ames and says her father left her in a forest near Montreal, has Quebec Provincial Police stumped. The girl wandered from the woods at Caughnawaga, Que., to a nearby farmhouse last Monday. Since then she has been staying at the Social Welfare Court in the Metropolis while the police are trying to locate her parents.

Poker-Face Andrei Gromyko An Expert At Saying "No"

By JOHN P. WARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Porker-faced Andrei Gromyko can say "no" in more ways—and more frequently—than a good-looking old maid with a million bucks.

The dark-haired, 42-year-old Russian Deputy Foreign Minister has been saying nothing much but "no" since he arrived here for the Japanese peace conference.

He is stiffly unbending, both in his actions and in his firm refusal to comment on anything—including the weather and the scenery.

If it were not for the Russians' cloak - and - dagger behavior, chances are they would be regarded with no more curiosity than the Cambodians or the Viet Namese.

Each day the Russians drive up to the opera house in their sleek limousines and stride inside under the white glare of television lights.

They silently take their places and assume an attitude of bored patience. Gromyko often doesn't even bother to put on the headset through which translations of the speeches are broadcast to the audience.

Provide Own Security

After the session, the Russians are whisked to their rented mansion at Hillsborough, 20 miles south of here. That temporary "Little Russia" is centred in 12-acre park-like but unkempt grounds for which the Russians provide their own security.

Evidently, Gromyko has nothing to say until he gets inside. He seldom speaks to the Soviet delegate at his elbow in the Conference Hall.

Gromyko is reported to find relaxation in chess, Hollywood movies and in reading Mark Twain. Once in a while he goes fishing.

At some social occasions he'll take a Scotch and soda.

In a sense, at 42, he's Russia's "boy wonder," although some wags call him "the oldest young man in the world."

He studied at the Soviet Institute of Economics in Moscow in 1931 after attending a teachers' college in Minsk. Later he was assigned to teach at the Academy of Sciences and lectured at the Institute of Economics and at Moscow University.

Started In 1939

His diplomatic career began in 1939 when he joined the American section of the Russian Foreign Office. He served as counsel, charge d'affaires and in 1943 became ambassador to the US.

He was Russia's spokesman at the Dumbarton Oaks conference in 1944 and attended the United Nations Founding Conference in San Francisco in 1945.

Gromyko started the Russian walk-outs from US sessions in 1946 when Russia's protests against considering the Iran case were over-ruled. Iran has charged Russian troops violated the Iranian frontier.

Gromyko accounted for 24 of the 25 vetoes cast by the Russians in the early days of the UN.

In 1948, he returned to Moscow to become No. 2 man in the Russian Foreign Office—first deputy to Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

Radio-Controlled Boat

CAP GRIZ NEZ, France, Sept. 7 —(Reuters)—The first Channel crossing by a radio-controlled model boat was made Thursday, in nine hours from Dover, Eng., to Cap Gris Nez. The British-made model, five feet long, was controlled from an accompanying motor boat.

SWEET CROP

The total honey production in Canada in 1950 was 30,717,000 pounds.

Ultra-Modern Robins

Our people at the Kingston plant enjoyed watching a couple of robins build a nest with shreds of aluminum foil. The robins seemed delighted to find their new building material so easy on the wings, so soft, so cosy. But . . . A wind arose. The nest was so light that it blew away. The robins rebuilt with the same material; but more firmly anchored.

While we have no ambition to supply the world's robins with nesting material, we are eager to provide aluminum for home-building humans — and for the thousand other uses of this modern metal. Therefore, our huge expansion programme in Quebec and British Columbia. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan)

Ban Reds From Union Offices

TRAIL, BC, Sept. 7 (CP). — The British Columbia Government was asked Thursday to prohibit Communists from holding office in a labor organization or representing any labor groups in collective bargaining.

The recommendation came from the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd.

The company told the government's special legislative committee the British Columbia Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act should be amended in order to bar Communists. The committee is holding hearings into operations of the Labor Act.

The company's brief said the majority of Canadians realize communism is a threat to national security and that Commmunists in office in trade unions and representing employees in bargaining, prevent confidence and goodwill between employees and employers.

Appointed To Bench

OTTAWA, Sept. 7—(CP)—Two Toronto lawyers have been appointed to the Ontario Supreme Court bench, Justice Minister Garson announced Thursday. They are Wilfred Judson and J. L. McLennan, both KCs and both appointed as judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario and members of the High Court of Justice for Ontario.

Civil Defence Parley

REGINA, Sept. 7—(CP)—The Leader-Post Thursday says in a newspage story that a federal-provincial conference on civil defence may be held this fall in Ottawa. It says Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator, now is discussing the advisability of such a conference with civil defence officials in Western Canada.

Manslaughter Charge

WAINFLEET, Ont., Sept. 7 — (CP) — Julian Goldberg, 18, of Hamilton, was charged with manslaughter Thursday following a head-on collision between a truck and a car in which Mrs. Elmer E. Robbins, of Dearborn, Mich., was killed. Goldberg was freed on $1,000 bail. Mr. Robbins, driver of the car in which his wife was a passenger, was taken to hospital in critical condition.

Proves No Problem

OAKES, ND, Sept. 7 —(AP)— North Dakota's drivers' licence test proved no problem for E. F. Stevens. He passed it with flying colors, and the written part came back marked "excellent." To celebrate, Stevens plans to take a drive Saturday—his 93rd birthday.

Shortage Of Cement Slows Grand Work

TORONTO, Set. 7—(CP)—The shortage of cement and steel has slowed the Grand River anti-pollution program, Ontario Health Department officials said Thursday. The major construction project, a sewage disposal plant at Brantford, may not be undertaken for some time because of the shortage.

The scheme was initiated because the heavy population along the river, coupled with the Grand's slow current, makes water pollution "fairly" high. While the situation is not regarded as critical, swimming is generally barred. At Brantford the water is used for drinking, after it has been chlorinated.

Other riverside towns planning to extend their sewage disposal facilities are: Fergus, Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Hespeler, Preston and Dunnville.

Thomson Positive Election This Fall

ORILLIA, Sept. 7—(CP)—Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, said Thursday he will resign his Federal seat in October or November to contest a Provincial general election he thinks will be held at that time. He is the member for Ontario's riding.

"There's an election coming before the end of the year," he told the first summer conference of the Ontario Young Liberal Association. "And I'm going to give up my seat in Ottawa to devote all my attention to winning back Ontario. The Conservatives should have called a vote in June, but they missed the boat."

Inject Helium

TORONTO, Sept. 7 — (CP) — Doctors administered helium injections to a diver Thursday night to relieve the crippling effects of the "bends." They said Charles Thoms, diver for a Toronto construction firm, who suffered the disease Thursday when he surfaced from a job 90 feet below the surface of Lake Ontario, showed "general improvement" under the treatment.

2 Perish In Crash

FORT DIX, NJ, Sept. 7 (AP)— A flaming F-94 air force jet plane crashed in woods a mile southwest of Fort Dix today, killing the pilot and a radar observer. Two bodies were found in the wreckage.

FAMOUS RIVER

The Columbia River flows about 1,400 miles and drains an area of nearly 300,000 miles in the Pacific coastal region.

Launch Drive To Back CCF

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor Thursday night launched an Ontario-wide campaign to win support for the CCF in the next provincial general election.

Officials of unions affiliated with the CCL in the Toronto area met to hear Pat Conroy, CCL secretary-treasurer, discuss the drive's objectives. Similar meetings are planned for other principal Ontario centres.

In addition, a four-page tabloid dealing with election issues is to be distributed to union members at plants. Every worker will be asked to contribute $1 to the campaign fund.

Mr. Conroy said labor faces a class war forged upon the workers by the employing classes.

"Those who make class war reward their friends," he said. "It's time we paid attention to ourselves."

Relieve HAY FEVER

Hay Fever needn't plague you with its sneezing and wheezing, its blowing and gasping, its itching irritation of eyes and ears. Get relief with Templeton's RAZ-MAH as did Mrs. Wesley Branston, Dunnville, Ont. Since childhood, she suffered from Hay Fever. The older she got, the more she suffered. Then her druggist recommended RAZ-MAH.

"The very first night I took RAZ-MAH," Mrs. Branston writes, "I slept comfortably. When I awoke, my eyes and nose were dry. I haven't been troubled since!"

Don't suffer a day longer than you have to. For quick, safe relief from Hay Fever, take RAZ-MAH. Used by thousands. 65c, $1.35 at druggists 8-62

Board Delays Ruling On Steelworkers Bid

TORONTO, Sept. 7—(CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board reserved judgment Thursday on an application by the United Steelworkers of America for certification as bargaining agents for 355 employees of the Hamilton plant of the Burlington Steel Co.

The reservation came after two workers at the plant denied signing Steelworkers' membership cards submitted by the Union in making application for the certification.

INLAND NAVY—First RCN vessels to traverse the Rideau Canal were five Fairmiles. Four of them are shown in the locks, headed for Kingston, Ont. Background is supplied by Ottawa's Chateau Laurier.

Extend Search For Bush Pilot

EDMONTON, Sept. 7 (CP). — An aerial search in the northwest territories for bush pilot Johnny Bourassa, resumed Wednesday after a lapse of 2½ months, is to be extended.

The RCAF said here Thursday that two more aircraft will join the five already engaged in the hunt, east of Yellowknife.

An RCAF plane from Winnipeg Thursday was sent to the search area. It was to be joined today by another from Rivers, Man. Already in the search are four RCAF planes and one aircraft from Associated Airways.

A maximum of 13 planes covered about 160,000 square miles in the first phase of the search after the Peace River, Alta., pilot, about 30, disappeared May 18 on a 200-mile northern flight.

No trace of his plane was found until last Friday when a USAF aircraft sighted it on the rocky shore of Whitdaia Lake, NWT. Bourassa was apparently unhurt in a skilful landing after his plane ran out of gas.

A search of the plane Tuesday resulted in discovery of a note left by Bourassa. He said he stayed with his plane five days and then, May 23, started a trek which he hoped would end at a settlement on the south shore of Great Bear Lake.

Ask 2-Year Sentence

OSLO, Sept. 7—(Reuters)—A two-year prison term and a 10-year-loss of voting rights was asked by the prosecution Thursday at the espionage trial of Per Edvard Danielsen, son of the former Chief of the Norwegian Navy. The Naval Reserve officer has pleaded innocent to charges of espionage and passing secret information to representatives of a foreign power.

Molotov's Diplomacy Blamed For Trouble

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 7 — Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Peel, Thursday night blamed "Molotov's lunatic diplomacy" and "Muscovite planners" for today's "uneasy peace."

He told the young Progressive Conservatives' summer conference here that the Russians' "current peace propaganda has a distinctly hollow ring when put up beside their long record of bad faith and . . . brazen attempts to annex on nation after another."

Education Minister Porter of Ontario told the conference that a rising standard of living demanded a rising standard of intelligence.

To meet the higher standards of learning demanded by modern society, the Ontario government had streamlined its educational system in recent years.

Filed For Probate

OTTAWA, Sept. 7—(CP)—The will of Maj.-Gen. Henri Alexandre Panet, one of Canada's most distinguished soldiers who died at the age of 82 in Kingston, Aug. 14, was filed for probate Thursday in Surrogate Court. The will disposes of an estate of $75,485, beneficiaries being a sister and brothers of the former adjutant-general of the Defence Department.

Deny Reports Of Radio Row

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP). — Charles Jennings, general supervisor of programs for the CBC, Thursday termed "completely untrue" reports that a "first-class row" had broken out between his organization and the British Broadcasting Corporation over radio coverage of the royal tour in October.

Earlier Thursday, reports published in Toronto said the two radio systems were at loggerheads because of the BBC's decision to send Godfrey Talbot, its court reporter, to cover the royal tour for British listeners. The CBC was said to have taken offence at the decision.

Mr. Jennings said the BBC had planned to send observers to Canada since the first announcement of the royal visit—"just as it did for the royal tour of 1939." They would look after the special requirements of BBC home and overseas programs.

YOUNG GIRL JUMPS IN FRONT OF TRUCK TO RESCUE CHILD

Pauline Bourdeau, 12, of Ville St. Pierre, Que., risks her life to save cousin from path of truck

1. Pauline Bourdeau was walking towards First Avenue in her home town of Ville St. Pierre, a few miles from Montreal . . . totally unaware that she was about to star in a real-life drama. For suddenly a terrifying sight met her eyes. Out in the middle of the street she saw her 3-year-old cousin Ghislaine Bourdeau . . . and behind her, only a few feet away, was a truck! Apparently neither the child nor the truck driver noticed the danger.

2. Many a hardy adult would have been rooted to the spot in horror. But not Pauline Bourdeau. The 12-year-old girl acted with amazing presence of mind. In what several witnesses described as practically a split second she had dashed out in the street . . . and, throwing herself in front of the truck, grabbed her little cousin Ghislaine and pulled her safely to the sidewalk.

3. Although she had acted with almost unbelievable coolness and speed, the young Academie Martin schoolgirl was so shaken by the incident that it took her several days to recover from the shock. For her deed of great courage we are proud to add the name of Pauline Bourdeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bourdeau, 102 - 1st. Ave., to the list of those who have won The Dow Award.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

City Pupils Win Scholarships

Patricia Johnston, Robert Fitzgerald Capture Awards

Admission scholarships to the University of Toronto, valued at $989 and $864, have been won by a St. Peter's High School student and a PCVS student. The university announced the results today.

The largest scholarship won by a Peterborough and district student in the past few years was won by Robert Fitzgerald, last year a student at St. Peter's High School.

Fitzgerald, a "brilliant" student and star athlete, won the St. Michael's College Teefy Memorial scholarship in mathematics. It is valued at $125, with an allowance of $216 on the tuition fee for four years, a total possible value of $989.

Excellent Student

Sister Lucretia, principal at St. Peter's, described Fitzgerald as "an excellent student throughout our school" and "very well thought of by the students."

In the school's extra-curricular activities Fitzgerald has been a charter member of the Key Club, also its treasurer and vice-president. In the Student Council he has been a class representative and treasurer.

Fitzgerald has been one of the outstanding athletes in the school in the past three years. During that period he has played on the junior and senior football teams and has led in the development of basketball teams for two years.

Fitzgerald has starred especially in the school's track and field meets. He was junior champion once and senior champion twice.

Patricia Johnston

Patricia Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Geraldine Johnston, 22 Manning Ave., brought PCVS its first large scholarship this year. She won the Fontbonne scholarship in French and Latin, an allowance of $216 on the tuition fee for four years, a total possible value of $864.

Miss Johnston has an average academic standing through PCVS of 83.8 per cent., never standing less than 80 per cent. Her yearly records are: Grade IX, 85 per cent.; grade X, 88 per cent.; grade XI, 82 per cent.; grade XII, 80 per cent.; grade XIII, 86 per cent.

Miss Johnston took part in a number of extra-curricular activities. Last year her work as president of the Senior Dramatic Club, head of the Library Club and a member of the student executive of the Echoes, won her the school's highest award, the gold letter pin.

Previous scholarships while at PCVS were: Grade IX, the fourth Morrow scholarship for general proficiency; grade X, the first English prize; grade 12, the second Nicholls scholarship for general proficiency, the Middle school Latin prize and the Middle school French prize.

Her father, Lt.-Col. Dalton Johnston, was at one time a member of Ontario Legislature for Peterborough.

Later today the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion announced Miss Johnston was a winner of a $300 university entrance scholarship.

Proof Of Death Ordered In Preliminary

Medical evidence to give proof of death will be given Monday to conclude the preliminary hearing on charge of motor manslaughter, dangerous driving and drunken driving against Melville Wood, 21, 548 Harvey St.

The charges were laid after an accident on Highway 28 near McNaughton and Sugden service station on June 16. In the accident Lorne Russell, 21, of Oshawa was struck by a car and thrown 20 feet when less than 100 yards from his mother-in-law's home where he was going.

Russell died nearly a week later in the Civic hospital without regaining consciousness.

In police court Thursday afternoon the Crown concluded the evidence. Defence counsel, T. J. Carley, KC, said that there had been no proof of death. He pointed out, as an example, that Russell may have died from a heart attack in the hospital and not from the result of the accident.

Last called by Crown Attorney John Bradshaw KC, was Harold James who witnessed the accident.

James said that he was parked on the west side of the gas pumps at the service station where a cousin was making a phone call.

Heard Bang

"I heard a bang and turned around to see a Ford coach going by and a man's feet coming in view".

James said the car was "going north" and "at a terrific rate of speed."

The coach car, he testified, cut in close while passing another car, coming so close it looked as though it had hit it. The car then cut to the east side of the road and "bounced off a post".

During the cross-examination James and Mr. Carley argued on how fast a "terrific rate of speed" was. James said that he thought about 40 miles an hour which was a "terrific rate of speed at that point."

"I wouldn't drive at that speed along that road myself," said James.

First to get to the injured Russell, James told the court that his feet were facing north and Russell "was on the gravel side of the service station, closer to the pumps than to the edge of the road."

Evidence from the others called, Peterborough police constable William Scott, and Ontario provincial constables James Healey and Russell Pollard, centred mostly on Wood's condition as to sobriety.

Beer In Car

Constable Scott said that he was patrolling north on Water St. when told of the accident. Scott said that there had been a full case of 24 points of beer on the ground beside the right hand side of the Wood car, and another case strewn over the ground. He said that he put all the bottles and cases in the car.

When cross-examined by Mr. Carley, Scott said that all the bottles were still capped and none were broken.

OPP Constable Russell Pollard said that Wood "smelt of alcohol, his eyes were glassy and I noticed nothing unusual about his walking."

Constable Pollard added that the passenger in the Wood car, C. B. Eason, had also been drinking.

Constable Healey also testified that Wood "smelt of alcohol, was very nervous, shaken up but walked alright."

Evidence was given previously on July 10 and 23.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

AT WHITBY CONFERENCE

Rev. Dr. James Semple of North Bay, former minister of George St. United Church, is chairman of the conference on evangelism at Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, which is meeting Thursday and today. Rev. H. G. Douglas and Rev. B. S. Morwood of Peterborough are attending.

CCL DELEGATES

Three delegates to the annual Canadian Congress of Labor convention have been named by the Trent Valley District of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL). They are A. E. Johnston, Peterborough; Lionel Jones, Campbellford; and Ted Bevan, Cobourg. The convention will be in Vancouver during the week of September 17.

CAMPAIGN CONFERENCE

John R. Broadhurst, president of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, is in Kingston attending the annual campaign conference of the Ontario division. Arrangements are being made for the 1952 April campaign and the guest speaker at the conference dinner was Alex Edmison, K.C.

AIDS IN AIR SEARCH

Edward Ahr, noted north country bush pilot and a flier and test pilot for more than 20 years, is taking part in the air search now being conducted to locate the missing fishermen, Bill Barilko and Dr. Hudson of Timmins. Mr. Ahr is a brother of John Ahr, owner of Fernleigh Lodge in the Land o' Lakes section east of Peterborough.

JOINS RCAF

Accepted for the Royal Canadian Air Force, Wm. J. Delledonne, Lakefield, of the city's assessment department for the last two years, finished his municipal employment this afternoon. He has been a clerk on the staff of Assessment Commissioner E. J. Davis. Mr. Delledonne was presented with a parting gift and good wishes at the close of the day.

HIGH IN PLATOON

Roland McGrath, 25, of Belleville, was among the five men from British Columbia, Quebec and Ontario who were high in the final results of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade's second non-commissioned officers' course. It was completed recently behind the lines in Korea. McGrath is a member of the Princess Patricias.

NEW POLIO CASE

One new case of polio has been reported in the last 24 hours and there is another suspect. This brings the total number of confirmed cases up to 37. The victim is a two-year-old boy, and the suspect is a 34-year-old man. One patient was transferred from St. Joseph's to Toronto.

Fish Story

"You should have been with me the time I was up in the Georgian Bay district with a friend," said a veteran fisherman as he lolled in a barber's chair today. "I had a fly rod and my friend had one of those little scalers. I caught fish five and a half pounds—small mouth black bass. By the end of the afternoon I had caught 200 pounds of fish and put them all back. My arm was so tired that I couldn't paddle home." Them were the days!

Labor Board Considers UE Application

An examiner of the Ontario Labor Relations Board is today hearing the evidence of Local 527, United Electrical Workers, on their application to represent the employees of Hobbs Glass Ltd.

J. M. Flannery is presiding.

A composite local, Local 527, already is bargaining unit for Peterborough Lock, Raybestos, Ontario Marble, Moldaver Bros. and Tilco.

At present the union and Moldaver Bros. are in conciliation over a contract dispute. Two members of the three-man conciliation board have been named They are S. Z. Levine, 202 Charlotte St., for the company, and Drummond Wren, Toronto, for the union.

The third member, and chairman, must still be appointed. And the date for the hearing has not yet been set.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

A charge of failing to signal a left turn against Mrs. Dorothy Drinkwater of Cannington was dismissed today in police court by Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

The charge arose out of a collision August 9 on Water St. opposite the city parking lot. Mrs. Drinkwater said she had not seen a car, driven by Ray Scott, Howden Ave., approaching from the south, and so had not signalled.

Scott told court he didn't see Mrs. Drinkwater's car until it was right beside him. She said she had pulled out from the curb and was in the line of traffic when the collision took place. A passenger in her car corroborated her evidence.

Call For Tenders On New Temple

Plans for the construction of a Masonic lodge room and dining hall were approved by the board of directors of the Masonic Hall Ltd. on Thursday night.

The architects, Blackwell and Craig, have been instructed to invite tenders from four Peterborough contractors and it is hoped that prices will be available within two weeks.

Peterborough's new Masonic Temple will be situated on the Hamilton property on Rubidge St. and plans call for the removal of the west wing of the building and in its place will be built the lodge room and dining hall. The remaining part of the house will be renovated and changed to form the other rooms of a modern Masonic temple.

Hearing Date Set Sept. 12 In Shooting

Mrs. Thompson To Face Murder Charge

The preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Mrs. Lillian Thompson, 35 of Howden Ave., has been set for September 12.

Mrs. Thompson, charged with the fatal shooting of her husband, Roy J. Thompson, was today remanded to that date. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw KC, said he understood the preliminary hearing would go on at that time.

It is alleged Thompson was shot after he and his wife argued over the use of the Thompson car.

In court today Mrs. Thompson gasped as she heard the charge read to her. Her face reddened and she leaned on the shoulder of Mrs. Marjorie Shadgett, the police matron.

August Colder, Wetter Than '50

Most Kawartha residents—particularly the tourist resort operators—don't need any convincing on this fact: It was both colder and wetter this past August than in August, 1950.

And here are the statistics to prove it. They were compiled by Jim Harrison, official weather recorder for Peterborough.

On an average it was nearly three degrees cooler — 64.5 in August '51, and 67.45 in August '50.

Maximum temperature this past month was 86 degrees on the 29th, and the minimum was 42 on the 5th. Last year it was 85 on the 27th, and the minimum was 43 on the 22nd (i.e. the high and low were recorded within a week of each other).

Rainfall jumped from 2.79 inches in August '50 to 3.18 inches last month.

Both the extra chilliness and the rain were discouraging to holidayers. And some are asking, somewhat peevishly: What happened to the sunny, warm summers the oldtimers talk about?

Teachers, Staff To Be X-rayed

In keeping with a province-wide program, Peterborough city and county school staffs will be X-rayed for tuberculosis starting September 12. That date was tentatively set Thursday night at a meeting of school and TB Association representatives.

More than 800 will be included in the program which is now required by the Department of Education. Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said today that teachers, bus drivers, janitors and anyone else directly or indirectly dealing with the pupils will be X-rayed.

The Peterborough program is expected to be completed by the end of October. Cost of the program will be borne by the Peterborough TB Association.

Fair Dates

On the list of district fall fairs comes Tweed, Wednesday, September 12.

Picton, September 13-15.
Minden, September 15.
Stirling, Wednesday, Sept. 19.
Campbellford, September 26.

Garbage Truck Burned New One Will Cost $10,000

Now that fire has destroyed the pride and joy of the sanitation department—the big automatic garbage loader—city council is faced with the problem of replacing it before the beginning of October. The present one, burned to a hulk on Wednesday afternoon on the Monaghan Rd. dump, cost $7,897. and a five-ton replacement today will cost $10,000.

J. E. Pierce, supervisor of the city sanitation department, does not agree that the big "sanivan" was a jonah.

"I'm in favor of the city having a good type of machine—one of the 'packer type'," he said. "It will save money in the long run and it has the advantage of cleanliness."

A replacement is necessary by the beginning of October, he explained, because with the coming of the colder weather ash collections begin.

Does Work of Two

To do the work of the one automatic loader, two dump trucks, each with a crew of three, will be required.

The present truck backed on to the dump Wednesday afternoon but the dump foundations were believed undermined by smouldering fire. The wheels became embedded in a soft spot and the flames consumed the vehicle before firemen could arrive.

It was insured.

And while on the subject of garbage, Mr. Pierce has a word of advice to householders: Put your garbage out on both collection days; if you put it out on just one day a week, it means extra work for the city employees and the city incinerator cannot handle it all.

Contract Signed For Collegiate

The contract to build the new collegiate on Monaghan Rd. south of McKellar St., with the Eastwood Construction Co. was signed by the Board of Education this week.

The contract price is for $554,753 which is $25,000 less than the bid of the Eastwood firm in its original tender. The contractors tendered on the job with the contract going to the lowest man.

Signing for the Board of Education were Dr. Ralph Honey chairman and K. S. Wightman secretary-treasurer. J. Hubert Eastwood signed for the Eastwood Construction Co.

Work is expected to commence next week and plans are already under way for continuous work through the winter on the building. While it had been hoped that the school would be ready for September 1952 so many delays since the opening of the tenders on July 11 have probably caused a setback in the opening date.

At the signing of the contract both contractor and architect John B. Parkin approved of changes made in the original plans to save $25,000 on the contract price.

District Students Win 2 Scholarships

Bowmanville High school and Trinity College school students were among those who won admission scholarships to the University of Toronto this year.

C. P. R. L. Slater, Trinity College school, Port Hope, won two scholarships, the Bishop Strachan scholarship in Greek, Latin, English and French and the Professor William Jones scholarship. Both are awarded by Trinity College, University of Toronto.

Miss J. Stenger, Bowmanville High school, won the first Ann Shepard Memorial scholarship, valued at $400 in cash, for the highest aggregate in nine papers, inclusive of botany and zoology. It was awarded by University college.

Governor General To Visit Port Hope

PORT HOPE, Sept. 7 — (ENS) — Governor-General Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander will be guests of the Right Honorable Vincent Massey, former Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain on October 21 weekend.

The Port Hope council was notified this week that Lord and Lady Alexander will visit Mr. Massey at Canton. They will be accompanied by a lady-in-waiting and an aide-de-camp.

The council has arranged a civic welcome for the couple, Sunday, October 21, after a luncheon at Trinity College School.

Two Minor Accidents Damage Four Cars

Four cars were damaged slightly Thursday in two city accidents, one on Harvey St. and the second at Park and Lansdowne Sts.

Robert G. Herbison, 107 McDonnell St., turned south on Harvey St. off Dublin St., and the car he was driving was in collision with a car owned by Mrs. Marjorie Potter, 585 Harvey St. The Potter car was parked in front of 585 Harvey St. Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

In the second accident, at 5.45 p.m., cars driven by Carl Beford, 654 Monaghan Rd., and Barry Kiomo, 1518 Monaghan Rd., collided at Park and Lansdowne Sts.

Bedford was driving west on Lansdowne, stopped behind a car waiting for the traffic light to change, and pulled to the right of the car ahead as it signalled a left turn when the light turned green.

The Kiomo car pulled to the left of Bedford's auto, and the two cars brushed fenders. Constable C. J. McGillen investigated.

Man, 76, Injured Struck Down By Car

Arthur Murphy, 76 Aylmer St., suffered concussion, a cut above an eye and compound fractured left leg when hit by a car Thursday noon in front of Silverwoods Dairy on Aylmer St.

Police said that Murphy stepped out from in front of a parked car into the path of a car driven by Wilbert Hayes, 469 Howden Ave.

He was rushed unconscious to the Civic hospital by ambulance, attended by Dr. G. R. Scott. This morning his condition was reported "satisfactory."

Rain Spoils Attendance Record Hopes

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP)—Rain has dimmed official hopes that attendance at this year's Canadian National Exhibition would top 3,000,000.

The showers Thursday and Thursday night held attendance to 135,500, compared with 149,000 on the same day last year.

Total turnout to date stands at 2,291,000, some 3,000 down from the figure reached on the corresponding day in 1950. Until rain hit the big fair, the over-all attendance since the opening Aug. 24 had been leading 1950 by 12,500.

However, with the weatherman's assurance that the rain has probably moved on officials hoped for a steady clicking of the turnstiles today and on the closing day Saturday.

This is interprovincial and service clubs' day.

The national horse show holds its second double session with judging of classes in the afternoon and evening. Sixteen-year-old Shirley Thomas of Ottawa won her fourth first last night in the ladies' jumpers class.

Steals Show

A male visitor stole a little of the ladies' glories Thursday. E. J. Taylor of Toronto took second prize in a contest in which competitors were asked to give solutions for everyday problems. Asked how to impress one's wife with the correct manner of squeezing a tube of toothpaste, he suggested a switch to tooth powder.

Music activities wind up today with a concert by first prize winners in all classes.

The Canadia and international table tennis tournament which opened Thursday continues with more than 100 entries from Canada and the United States.

Potatoes Going Up

REDICKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP) — Dr. J. D. MacLaughlin, president of Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, said Thursday that because potato plantings had dropped throughout Canada this year, prices will be "considerably higher." During an address by which he opened the annual potato field day and machinery demonstration here, Dr. MacLaughlin predicted "better marketing and higher prices" for this year's crop both to growers and to consumers. Redickville is 45 miles southeast of Owen Sound.

Elizabeth Travels Path Blazed In 1786

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA — (CP) — Princess Elizabeth, when she visits Canada next month with Prince Philip will follow a transatlantic path blazed by her great-great-great grand-uncle 165 years ago and well trod by Royalty since.

That first Royal visitor to young Canada—so young that it was just a collection of British colonies—was genial Prince William Henry, third of the nine sons of King George III of England, who himself later succeeded to the throne as William IV.

Young Prince William—he had just turned 21—visited Canada in 1786 as a captain in the British Navy's Halifax and West Indies Squadron. He was in Canada on and off during a period of three years and visited a number of centres.

At Some Functions

His visit was not in the category of a state or Royal visit—Royal visits as much didn't start until 1860—but history books show that he did attend some official functions in the scattered towns of early British North America and perhaps set the pace for the descendants who followed him across the seas.

Some, like Princess Elizabeth, were heirs to the throne. Others came as members of the British land and naval forces, perhaps landing for a brief stay at one of the Atlantic coast bastions. Some returned to represent the monarch as governors or governors-general.

From all reports, Prince William was a gay and popular young blade. He made an extended visit to St. John's, capital of Newfoundland, and delighted the hostesses of the day by attending a government ball at Quebec.

Visited Montreal

He voyaged down the St. Lawrence for a visit to Montreal and, on the way, stopped off at the tiny river port of Sorel. The people of Sorel were so taken with his stay that they promptly changed the name of their town to William Henry. Later, it reverted to Sorel, as it is today.

Prince William was created Duke of Clarence in 1789 and recalled to home waters. He succeeded to the throne in 1830 and died in 1837. Two daughters had predeceased him and his niece succeeded him as Queen Victoria.

Canada's next Royal visitor was William's brother, Prince Edward, Duke of Kent and father of Victoria. Quebec's Kent House is named after this soldier Prince. He also left his mark on Canada as the builder of the Halifax Citadel.

Quelled Riot

He came to this country in 1791 when his regiment, the 7th Royal Fusiliers, was transferred from Gibraltar. He remained until 1800, living at Halifax and Quebec, and, at one time, quelled a riot at Charlesbourg by addressing the rioters in French.

He visited Niagara, Fredericton and Saint John, NB, as well as other early settlements. He was Commander-In-Chief in British North America when he returned home in 1800. Perhaps with vision before his time, he suggested in a letter in 1814 that the British North American provinces be united. He felt, he wrote, that there were too many legislatures.

The first official Royal visitor was handsome Prince Edward, then Prince of Wales and later King Edward VII, who toured the settled areas of British North America in 1860, laid the cornerstone of the original Parliament Buildings at Ottawa and visited Washington. He was Victoria's eldest son.

Became Governor-General

His brother, Prince Arthur and Duke of Connaught, was the first member of Royalty to come to Canada after confederation. A junior army officer, he came in line of duty in 1869 to join his regiment at Montreal, where it had been stationed to bolster defences against the Fenians.

He returned to Canada in 1911 as Governor-General, serving until 1916.

Princess Louise, fourth daughter of Victoria, lived in Canada from 1878 to 1883 while her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, served as Governor-General.

George V, the sailor King, journeyed to North American waters as a Sub-Lieutenant in the Royal Navy in 1883 and 1884. He landed at Halifax. He later visited Canada twice before succeeding to the throne in 1910, once in 1901 for a Royal visit as the Duke of York and again in 1908 to attend the Quebec tercentenary as Prince of Wales. On both occasions he was accompanied by the Duchess of York, now the Queen Mother.

Best Known

His eldest son—Edward, Prince of Wales, later King Edward VIII and now Duke of Windsor—probably was the Royal visitor, of recent years, best known to Canadians. He came to the Dominion several times, including one formal Royal tour in 1919, and became Canada's first Royal property owner through his purchase of a ranch 65 miles southeast of Calgary. As a rancher, he pays taxes like any other Canadian.

Princess Elizabeth's visit is the first Royal tour since her parents —the present King and Queen—came in May, 1939, short months before the ominous clouds of the Second World War shouldered across Canada's horizon.

As did young Prince Edward in that early, adventurous year of 1860, the King and Queen in 1939 visited Washington and the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon, Va. Princess Elizabeth and her husband, too, will visit the US capital and may pay homage at the burial place of the man who led the American colonies in revolt.

Millbrook Pupils Increase At High School

MILLBROOK, Sept. 7 (ENS).—Millbrook high school opened on Tuesday with an increased attendance and a number of other students are expected to return the beginning of next week.

Three new full time teachers are on the staff and a fourth, a part-time teacher, is handling the new shop work department.

Miss Belen Black, the new principal, is teaching commercial subjects in Grades 9 and 10, and mathematics throughout the school. Miss Rita De Guire has charge of French, Latin, and girls' PT; Harry Williams teaches science and boys' PT. R. G. McCallion divides his time between Millbrook and Orono high schools teaching shop work. A room has been fitted up and equipped in the girls' side of the basement for this department, since the ceilings on that side were higher, and it was a brighter room.

The library in which desks and typewriters have been installed is being used for commercial classes. English and history classes are again being taught by Bruce Ingham, and James Gray remains as music instructor.

The rotary system, new to the school, in which each teacher has his or her own room, and the classes move from one to the other is being adopted. Morning classes are dismissed at 11:45 a.m. and school goes in again at 1 p.m. until four o'clock.

MANILA, Friday, Sept. 7 (AP) —A light earthquake rattled dishes and caused mirrors and pictures to sway in Manila today. No serious damage was reported.

Someone's Blushing

VALLADOLID, Spain, Sept. 7—(AP)—The Spanish army has just discovered that a soldier finishing an 18-month hitch is a girl. A routine medical examination before discharge showed that Private "Julio" Fernandez Gonzales, 19, an army truck driver, was really "Julia."

Too-Glamorous Expectation Wrecking Many Marriages

DETROIT, Sept. 7. (AP)—Many marriages are unhappy today, says a psychiatrist, because young people have never been told what they're getting into.

Dr. Aloysius S. Church explained it this way before the annual convention of Catholic Charities last night:

"Women have been taught all their lives to think they'll marry a handsome man who will have a steady job and will be able to purchase a home for cash and buy a beautiful car and take an annual vacation with three healthy children.

"Actually, the man that many of them marry will be unable to hold a steady job. He'll be bald, have false teeth and maybe be an alcoholic. Their children may well be unattractive and have all sorts of illnesses.

"On the other hand, men anticipate a passionate woman and a meek wife. Actually, half the women who marry are frigid and most of them certainly are not meek.

"A husband learns to expect a good housekeeper, a woman who will attend to his every need and have his pipe and slippers in place each evening. But his wife—nine times out of 10—just won't be like that."

Dr. Church blamed parents and educators, as well as movies and popular novels and magazines for what he called the "false patterns of thinking."

Joy-Rider Fined $50 By Court

Gerald H. Reid, 211½ Reid Street, was fined $50, with $250 costs, Thursday in Police Court after he was found guilty on a charge of joy-riding.

Reid had been previously charged with his brother, James A. Reid, 14 Mill Street, for the theft of a 1929 model car, owned by Warren Davis, on July 7. On Thursday the charges of joy-riding were added.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw offered no evidence in the charges against James Reid, and both were dismissed. He presented evidence against the second brother Gerald, for joy-riding, the theft charge being dismissed.

OPP Constable Russell Pollard testified that at 11:30 pm on July 7, with OPP Constable George Rose, while patrolling on Highway 7A, they saw a car, one mile east of Cavan, driving in an "erratic manner" and the "right door open."

He drove beside the car and signalled it to stop.

Constable Pollard said that he asked the accused who was at the wheel for the car ownership and the driver said "he didn't have it." He added that Reid said he did not know who owned the car, saying he took it from a parking lot near the bus terminal.

Constable Pollard said the accused "had been drinking, but I woudn't say he was drunk." He pointed out that the other man, James Reid, "was drunk."

Fair, in Reid's defence, explained that Reid and his brother had been drinking and saw the car which resembled a friend's. Not until he drove away in the car, did he discover that it was not the right one.

He asked that Magistrate W. R. Philp consider suspended sentence.

Mr. Bradshaw said that it was true it was an old car, that they had been drinking and had no set destination, but asked if the public had to suffer "for the foolishness of drunks, stealing, joy-riding, or whatever they take the notion to do."

Evening Dress Knit Like Cobweb

LONDON (CP)—Women knitters in Britain are becoming world-famous.

As a proof of what they can do, Miss Ruby Eunson brought her knitting needles and a supply of wool to London from Scotland's Shetland Isles this summer and in 18 days knitted one of the loveliest gowns seen this year.

In the palest grey, the gown has 1,500,000 stitches, is patterned to her own design, with a border of Viking longships and Shetland cottages—and looks almost like a woven cobweb.

Bethany News

New teachers at the Bewdley school this year are Mrs. Gillen, of Millbrook in the senior room and Miss Myrna Larke, Springville, junior teacher.

Ronald Manley has returned from a trip to Alberta during his holidays. He accompanied his uncles, Bill and Ralph Benson, as far as Banff by motor and returned by train. They are travelling farther for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bodwin, Collingwood, spent holidays with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Goheen.

Mrs. J. Ryan, Toronto, has been with her sister, Mrs. Harold McCallister, for several days during the illness of their mother, Mrs. G. Byers.

Eugene Halstead and Garth Manley left Wednesday morning for a car trip to the west.

Six pupils from Bewdley section began Collegiate in Cobourg this week. They are: Barbara Little, Doris Gordon, Marie and Evelyn Graham, Leighton Benson and Ted Manley. Joyce Buttars and Joan Smith are also attending again this year.

Of Interest to Women

WINNIPEG WORLD CHAMPION—Vivian King, 20-year-old Winnipeg department-store clerk, is helped from Lake Ontario after winning the three-mile women's professional swim at the Canadian National Exhibition. Miss King finished a quarter-mile ahead of second-place Lies Putt of Montreal. She collected $1,650 for her winning time of one hour and 23 minutes. It was her first professional race; she won the amateur swim at the C.N.E. the previous week.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Easy-To-Make Sandwiches To Go In Junior's Lunch Box

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lunch-box time again. As soon as the school-bell rings in the fall term, thousands of mothers across Canada are back at the daily chore of packing Junior's school lunch.

The big problem is how to vary this daily chore sufficiently to provide, five days a week, a variety of nourishing and appetizing lunches.

Home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, say that most meat, cheese or egg sandwiches can be made well ahead of time. The sandwiches should be wrapped in wax-paper and stored in a cool place.

Or they may be placed unwrapped in a pan, then completely covered with wax-paper and a damp cloth. Be sure that the damp does not touch the sandwiches.

Fillings: Baked beans, washed with chili sauce and chopped, crisp bacon; chopped green or ripe olives and nuts with mayonnaise; cucumber, cream cheese and salad dressing; dates, peanut butter and orange juice; marmalade and chopped nuts; ground raisins and ground pork; mashed cooked prunes, orange juice and chopped nuts.

Hot-Cold Dessert

Ever eat Baked Alaska? It's the kind of dish Mother brings on when there's special company for dinner. It looks difficult as all get-out to make. Actually the making is as easy as falling off a log.

All you need is a flat layer of sponge cake, about an inch wider and an inch longer than the pint brick of ice cream you're going to use.

Prepare a meringue by beating four egg whites and adding gradually one-half cup fruit sugar.

Put the ice cream on the cake, then quickly — but carefully — cover both ice cream and cake with the meringue so not a bit of ice cream shows through.

Pop Alaska into a very hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) and leave just long enough for the meringue to brown slightly — two to three minutes.

Slide on to serving plate and serve immediately.

Greens For Salads

Cabbage and lettuce aren't the only green giving salads that crisp fresh look. Did you ever try shredded spinach? It gives a dark green color and texture which no other vegetable can surpass.

Salad Suggestion: Shredded spinach, sliced radishes and sliced green onions. Serve this with French dressing plus a little blue Roquefort - type cheese sprinkled on it.

Shower At Plainsville

About 75 friends and neighbors met at the home of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Linton (nee Marie Boswell) one evening recently for a miscellaneous shower. During the evening a short program was enjoyed. Duets by Donna Briskin and Jean Huriott, and Marian and Margaret McKinley and readings by Mrs. Jack Buttars and June Lauder. Mrs. Fred Bowman read an address to which the bride and groom both fittingly replied. Their gifts were displayed and lunch was served. Mrs. Linton is teaching this year again for her third year at the Plainville-Gores Landing school and at the reopening of school Tuesday her pupils presented her with a lovely wool blanket.

Name D.T.Diplock New Treasurer Red Cross Branch

Mr. D. T. Diplock was appointed treasurer of the Peterborough Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, at a special meeting of the Board Thursday evening. The retiring treasurer Miss Moira Whalon will spend some time in England during the coming year.

One of the most interesting reports was presented by Mrs. F. J. Overend. It showed that her committee on water safety had been very active with the children of Peterborough and surrounding district this summer. Qualified Red Cross instructors gave courses at Inverlea, YWCA, Lion's Club pool, Sunnybrook Farm, Port Hope Highway, CGIT Camp, Clear Lake, Norwood and Earlscourt Camp, Pigeon Lake. Great numbers of certificates were presented to successful candidates in junior, intermediate and senior divisions.

The convener expressed great appreciation for the co-operation of Mrs. Pansy Forbes, examiner.

It was decided that monthly meetings will be held on the fourth Tuesday of each month, as formerly, but at 7:30 in the evening instead of in the afternoon.

Certain repairs at Apsley hospital were authorized at the request of Mrs. C. J. Ray, convener.

Letters of appreciation from the families of the four fire victims were read.

Ways and means of contacting new blood donors were discussed. Mrs. Ray said it is becoming increasingly difficult to meet the needs of the two hospitals. A medical representative at the meeting told of the benefit of having a supply of blood on hand at all times and cited cases of its use when delay would have been dangerous.

Reports were given by D. A. Loomis on soldiers' and civilian relief, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, visiting, and G. H. Thompson, treasurer.

Dundas-Primeau

The marriage took place in Immaculate Conception Church, Monday, of Mary Bernice Primeau, daughter of Mr. Arthur Primeau and the late Mrs. Primeau, to William Joseph Dundas, son of Mrs. Dundas and the late George Dundas. Rt. Rev. Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan officiated. Music was played by Mrs. C. O'Donnell and Anthony DeNoble sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin with chapel train. The gown was topped with a Chantilly lace collar and had a nylon inset yoke. Her veil of silk illusion was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli cups and pink rosebuds banked on white stephanotis and white baby 'mums.

Miss Zita Spencer, maid of honor, and Miss Theresa Crowley, bridesmaid, were frocked alike in baby blue brocaded taffeta and wore matching mittens and hats trimmed with pink and blue baby 'mums. They carried baskets trimmed with blue netted lace and filled with white asters, and pink, white and blue baby 'mums.

Groomsman was James O'Brien and ushers were Edward Crowe and Grover Newman-Jones.

Reception of guests took place in the Empress Kawartha Room and afterwards at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Grace Poole. Receiving, Mrs. Poole wore a gown of royalty blue taffeta with hat of contrasting blue feathers and a white gardenia corsage. The groom's mother, who also received, was in wine crepe with a hat fashioned of black plumes trimmed with rhinestones and she wore a corsage of white roses.

For travelling to Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride wore a beige gabardine suit, brown velvet hat and purse, brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white baby 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Dundas will live at 360 Mark St.

Habitant Yarns Radio Specialty Of Fiddle Joe

By MAX McMAHON

MONTREAL — (CP) — "Like I'm tol' you; if you dance after midnight Saturday night the devil he's going to punsh you for sure."

That's no brimstone preacher; it's the CBC's "Fiddle Joe" telling another of his stories from the backwoods of French Canada.

The character known as Fiddle Joe is an old-time woodsman who delights in tall tales about his adventures as a youth. All his yarns are based on old French-Canadian folk tales springing from the faith, fears and superstitions of the Quebec habitant.

Fiddle Joe is the brain-child of 27-year-old Charles Wasserman, an Austrian wartime refugee from the Nazis. The CBC originally bought the show for six weeks, then increased it to 13 weeks, and has just booked it for another 13 weeks in the fall.

The yarn about not dancing after midnight Saturday night tells of the misfortunes of two "temporary bosses" who let their men drink and dance well into Sunday, when they were supposed to be on their way to the logging camps.

First they were terrified to see the devil in person. When they tried to escape, they found one of the men missing. They were in terror of being a man short when they met up with the big boss.

Have a Moral

Another favorite is the story of the lumberjacks who sold their souls to the devil for a flying canoe, so that they could get home for Christmas. Flying back from a boisterous celebration, they crashed when one of them said "mon dieu."

The tales all have a homely moral. One is of the man who borrowed money which he squandered on drink. He died and was forced to come back from the dead—like a zombi—and pay off his debts, working for five sous a day.

Wasserman learned to love folk tales in his native Austria. He was born in a mountain valley where telling children the legends of their country's past was a favorite pastime for the old folks.

"You'd be surprised how similar the tales of Austria and Quebec are," says Wasserman, who has added a rich stock of native Quebec lore to his native collection. He points on the cultures of the two areas are much the same—based on agriculture and woods life, isolated villages in which the people are staunchly Catholic.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"These kids and their pogo sticks!"

DOROTHY DIX

Lonely Wife Finds Help Through Her Own Efforts

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a housewife in my late 20's, with three children. My problem is loneliness. I never had many friends, even in school. My neighbors come over only to borrow something. I have moved several times hoping to get in a more friendly neighborhood, but it's always the same story. I have everything I want but friends. I'm determined to stay in our present location in spite of everything, but would like to know more people.

PATSY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Almost without exception, every one wants to have friends and be a friend. Practically no one will repulse your efforts to be a neighbor. Since you've been fighting a losing battle against self-consciousness and an inferiority complex since childhood, you won't lose it suddenly, but a few hints may help overcome your trouble.

First of all, except for a few extroverts, people will not force their friendship on you unless they're sure it's welcome. If you don't have the iniative to make the first overtures, at least be gracious when they're offered to you.

Take Some Initiative

If a neighbor comes in to borrow something, invite her in for a chat, or a morning cup of coffee. Compliment her on her children (no mother can resist that), the paint job of her house, her garden, her pets—anything to show you observe and appreciate what's around you. Make yourself active in the mothers' club, PTA, scouting or 4-H work. Above all, be interested in other people; show your interest, and it cannot fail to be reciprocated.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young business woman and have been going with three boys off and on for the last year. None knew of the others until recently when my landlady went out of her way to convey the news. I would like to win just one of them back, but can't decide which one. How can I come to a decision? GLADYS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: With such an overabundance of male friends you should have nothing to worry about! You were wrong, of course, to go with these boys, permitting each one to assume he was the only man in your life. Now, if you don't know which of the three interests you most, I'd say none of them is the man for you. If you were in love, such a state of indecision would not exist. Why not continue making friends, having dates and enjoying life until the man comes along who is definitely the one!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 19 and have been married over a year. I am very happy except for one thing. My husband does not want children, and I do. Do you think he is being fair? S. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The very purpose of marriage is procreation, and a marriage without children has no fulfillment. Your husband is wrong in his attitude and unless it changes, he'll be very sorry later on. Right now, he probably is too young to have the responsibility of a family, and will, himself, come around to your way of thinking in a short time.

Runs Busy Farm On 25-Foot Lot

TORONTO—(CP)—One of the busiest "farms" in Ontario is located on a city lot 25-feet wide by 150-feet deep. No blade of grass dares show its head above the soil unless it has a good reason for being there.

The farm, managed by Mrs. Irene Tytler of York township, besides holding a six-room house, supports an assortment of 100 white leghorn bantams, standard white leghorns and white orpingtons, 400 aster and delphinium plants, six tomato vines, one cherry tree, one plum tree, a grass plot and three Dutch rabbits.

Chickens, as a visitor can easily tell, are Mrs. Tytler's specialty. She has doctored them and mothered them since her marriage 20 years ago—it was her husband's hobby and, she says, "I sort of married it along with him."

Raising chickens is a full-time job. Every spring, in the incubating season her husband runs two 50-egg incubators in the basement. When they hatch, the chicks are brought into a kitchen brooder where Mrs. Tytler can watch them and keep an eye on her own brood of three growing children.

But long hours of looking after their flocks bring fine returns. This year at the Canadian National Exhibition here—the ninth year they have shown their chickens—the 16 birds they exhibited brought five first prizes, five seconds and four thirds.

RECORD INFLUX

LONDON—(CP)—The number of visitors to Britain from Commonwealth and empire countries during July was estimated at 15,000 and the total from all parts of the world was 124,184—an increase of 15,716 over July last year.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Caloric Content Ginger Ale Rye Bread and Black Coffee

QUESTION: Could you tell me the caloric content of ginger ale, rye bread and (instant coffee)?—Helen P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One six-ounce bottle ginger ale contains 61 calories; one slice rye bread weighing one ounce contains 75 calories (without butter of course); black coffee contains no calories, whether it is the instant variety or not.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I read your column with great interest and have found your recipes most delicious.

Last year I tried your recipe for maraschino cherries and they turned out real well, except that they remained soft instead of firm as the bought cherries are. Had they been overly ripe cherries I would have thought this to be the reason. It may be the cherries will not plump up unless alum is used. Would you be kind enough to help me out on this if you could spare a few minutes of your precious time.—(Mrs.) Wm. K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In some of the recipes I print in this column I recommended the use of alum. However since some of our readers tend to overdo this use of alum I avoid mentioning its use too often. Alum must be used with care, but it will plump and firm the maraschino cherries. Try a piece about the size of a hickory nut with my recipe for maraschino cherries calling for three pounds Royal Anne cherries. It is better to use cherries that are not completely ripe.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I've been watching for directions for canning peaches. I use a pressure cooker, the jars are far from full, and the top ones often seem dark colored. Will you suggest something to do. I wondered about open kettle method as of old.—Mrs. H. F. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: As you doubtless know, the reason that fruit shrinks in jars is because it contains so much oxygen. When the fruit is heated the oxygen is released. If the heating is done in a jar the air space you speak of is formed.

To remedy the two faults you find in your canning—air space and darkening — use the open kettle method for 5 minutes, skim fruit from syrup into sterile jars, fill jars to nearly overflowing with syrup in which fruit is precooked, seal and process in pressure cooker as directed on your pressure cooker bulletin.

The sweetness of the sugar-syrup used, should be slightly reduced for open kettle method as some of the water boils off. If you are used to using 3 cups water to each 1 cup sugar change to 4 cups water to 1 cup sugar.

As you know most pressure cooker manuals suggest not sealing glass jars tight. Only tighten to within quarter turn of tight. Never loosen the seal after fruit has been sterilized in pressure cooker.

What's Right?

You make a business telephone call to a man and his secretary answers.

WRONG: Ask if you may speak to him, without giving your name to the secretary.

RIGHT: Give your name and then ask if you may speak to him.

Of Interest to Women

Plainville News

Miss Margaret McKinley has started at a business college in Peterborough. Misses Marion McKinley, Enid King and Yvonne Briskin have returned to Cobourg Collegiate.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Bowman and family of Peterborough have spent some holidays at their cottage at Oriole Beach (Kings).

The Plainville WMS are to be guests of the ladies of St. George's WA at Gore's Landing next Thursday.

TO RETAIN POST

VERMILLION, SD, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Dr. Louis Michalek cleared by a coroner's jury of blame in the deaths of two "human guinea pigs" during an experiment with sedatives, will retain his research post at the State Board of South Dakota. The Stat Board of Regents of Education said, however, that the 25-year-old researcher will not engage in further clinical research with human beings.

Urges Unions Support Industry

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 7 (CP) —Ontario's labor minister, Charles Daley, said Thursday night it was essential that a union support the industry in which it serves.

"It is better to be working for an industry that is profitable than one that is not," he told delegates to the Young Progressive Conservative summer conference here.

No other area with the industrial activity of Ontario has had fewer labor disputes, Mr. Daley said. The Progressive Conservative administration had consistently attempted to maintain good relations between management and labor.

Long cooling-off periods were a good idea in labor disputes.

"As long as we can keep the men working and the plant operating there is some possibility of settlement," he said.

Hail Storm Damages Crops

WINDSOR, Sept. 7 (CP). — Thousands of dollars crop damage was caused Thursday night as a fierce hail storm lashed central and eastern Essex county.

Essex farmers said tobacco crops were hardest hit as heavy hail stones pummelled the ripening leaves to the ground.

Tomato crops also sustained heavy damage.

Growers said, however, that corn stalks were sufficiently matured to withstand the hail stones.

The area apparently receiving the heaviest damage lies between the Maidstone town line and Highways No. 2 and 3. Farmers said the storm lasted only three minutes but took a terrific toll.

Farmers along RR 2, Maidstone, reported some $1,000 damage each.

'Peg Sea Cadets Capture Trophy

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP). — Sea Cadets at Winnipeg, competing against more than 80 Sea Cadet Corps from British Columbia to Newfoundland, have captured the general proficiency trophy presented annually by the Navy League of Canada.

The League, sponsors of Royal Canadian Sea Cadets, also announced today that Lt.-Cmdr. George Kuhn, commanding officer of Winnipeg's top-ranking "John Travers Cornwall, VC," Corps, has been awarded the officer's sword trophy by the league's national council.

This trophy is "tangible recognition of the fact that the Sea Cadet Corps under his command won the general proficiency trophy in open competition against all other sea cadet corps in Canada.

Runners-up to the Winnipeg cadets were the "Niobe" Corps of Sea Cadets at Bridgewater, NS.

Jailed Nine Months For Stabbing Woman

ROUYN, Que., Sept. 7 (CP). — Marie Berthe Boucher, 22-year-old mother, who stabbed her landlady last Sunday during an argument, was sentenced today to nine months in jail.

Miss Boucher was convicted of assault causing bodily harm to Mrs. Roland Beauchamp, 44.

Evidence was that Miss Boucher, after drinking in a Rouyn hotel went to Mrs. Beauchamp's boarding house and demanded to see her 45-day-old child.

When Mrs. Beauchamp refused, declaring Miss Boucher wasn't in fit condition to see her child, she was stabbed in the shoulder and leg. Mrs. Beauchamp is reported in fair condition today.

Girl 8 Snatches Child Caught On Rail Track

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 7 (CP). — Blonde, blue-eyed Karen Wagner is an eight-year-old girl with a cool head and steady fingers.

Her three-year-old neighbor, Paul McLaughlin, caught his shoe in a level crossing Thursday as a freight train approached.

Karen, cominf home from school, saw Paul's plight, calmly untied the shoe and snatched him aawy one minute before the train rumbled by.

After watching the train pass, the children pried the flattened shoe from the tracks and took it home for a souvenir.

Said Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wagner: "I thought of a story I had read "

Fly 25 From Korea For Paratroop Course

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—The first group of volunteers from Korea to return to Canada for paratroop training in the regular army will leave Tokyo at 2 a.m. GMT Sunday (9 p.m. EDT Saturday), the army announced today.

The first group will consist of two officers and 23 other ranks. A second of three officers and 22 other ranks will leave 24 hours later. Both will fly by Canadian Pacific Airlines to Vancouver. All are members of the 2nd Battalion, PPCLI.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Holstein Black and White Day Switches to Night at Keene . . . CNE Grand Champion Shorthorn Bull in Herd of M. H. Pimmett & Sons, Indian River . . . Two Wheat Club (Junior) Members Have Surplus of Seed . . . Peterborough Achievement Day, Sept. 29

Holstein Club directors decided this week to make a night show of their Black and White Day at Keene, Monday, September 24.

Stanley Wood, secretary, said it was an experiment in timing. Attending directors were all in favor of the change from the afternoon to evening. George McLaughlin of Oshawa is returning as judge, and will receive the first class at 7 o'clock. It is expected that the judging will be completed by 10:30 pm.

County Holstein breeders have always co-operated with their executive, and this year's show in the Otonabee Memorial Arena should not be an exception to that response.

The date has been advanced to September 24 because Gerry Nelson, fieldman, has another show on his hands, and Norm McConkey has a judging engagement.

DURHAM GROUP VISITS MALABAR FARM

(Contributed)

"Five a.m. is an early hour to catch a bus, but many Durham Junior Farmers, bound for a visit to Malabar Farm, did just that.

The tourists left Durham county en routs to Mansfield, Ohio, via Buffalo. Mansfield is just a short distance from Mr. Bromfield's farms. In spite of the fact there are no Saturday tours, Mr. Bromfield took time to tell us interesting information about his farm.

We sat in the barn on bales of hay—bales that had been baled within seven or eight hours after cutting. Mr. Bromfield claims, "It is the guy who rakes, that makes the hay." After the mixture of ladino clover, brome grass and alfalfa is cut, a combination rake and tedder goes over the hay several times. Then it is baled. Many of the hay fields are in production for the seventh to eighth year and each year three crops are harvested from all fields. Labor costs are very low, for other than harvesting. A top dressing of manure which takes about forty-eight hours to spread, is all the labor that is required. These bales are stored in the barns. Huge fans circulate the air to dry the bales.

Farm of 1,000 Acres

When Mr. Bromfield purchased his 1,000-acre farm, it would support only 30 animals. He now has about 350 head. From 100 to 105 of these are Holstein cows. However only fifty to sixty of these are used as milk cows. The second and third-rating cows are nurse cows, having as many as to three calves on a cow. These calves are weaned at two or three months and then other calves take over. In one year a cow may raise as many as twelve calves. Thus labor is saved and higher quality is produced is a shorter period—result, more money.

The Holsteins are not outstanding producers, because Mr. Bromfield claims that type is not economical. However, their milk production is just as high in the winter months as in the summer due to the high quality hay.

Bromfield Ideas

One rule when the farm started was this—everything done on a scale every farmer can afford. This was really true because they operate at 30 per cent less cost than most farmers. Why? No money is spent buying fertilizers, minerals, or concentrates. No fields are worked from October first to June first. From April first to November first all cattle, with the exception of the milk cows, are on pasture.

There are many farm ponds at Malabar, including a large government dam which creates a small lake.

From the top of the higher hills one can see the boundary lines between Mr. Bromfield's farm and those adjacent to it with their contrasting corn, growing up and down rows, burned pastures, and shabby buildings. Malabar farms have white houses and barns with green roofs.

We had by this time taken considerable of Mr. Bromfield's time, and it was necessary for him to return to the field to help finish harvesting the third crop of hay.

Early Sunday morning we again set out to travel the 500 miles home, returning via Niagara Falls and crossing at the Rainbow Bridge. And so our trip ended. Three days of travel, education—and, yes you guessed it—fun!"

ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Miss Jean Noble of Bowmanville, who is in charge of district domestic science clubs, reports that 25 girls of five garden clubs will show their products in the local Achievement Day program at Morrow Park, Sat., Sept. 29. These girls are members of Fraserville, Fairview (Smith) Bailieboro, Selwyn, and Belmont-Cordova clubs. They will have exhibits of garden vegetables and flowers.

Robert Bell, assistant agricultural representative, estimates an attendance of around 150 from the other boys and girls clubs who will be concluding their season's work.

They will be showing beef and dairy calves, forestry exhibits. There should be 17 pairs of pigs raised by the members of that club, also 23 exhibits of fall wheat grown from the boys and girls' club lots. There will be a tractor class, and altogether quite a junior exhibition.

"We will probably have 150 or more from our clubs, and with the 25 girls from Miss Noble's clubs, we should have quite a company of farm young people," Mr. Bell said. "We are hoping that parents will take some time off to be with our boys and girls on Achievement Day."

HOLSTEINS AVERAGE $640

Eighty-five Holsteins averaged $640 at the Brubacher & Sons consignment sale Labor Day at Woodstock fair grounds.

Top price was $1,600 to J. J. E. McCague of Aliston for his seven months old bull calf Glanafton Limerick. The buyer was Dr. R. L. Larson of Wilmot, Wisconsin. Second high, $1,225, was paid by A. F. Thompson, Drayton, and W. N. Lawless, Moorefield, Ont., to J. M. Fraser, Streetsville for a six months old son of Spring Farm Fond Hope. George McLaughlin, Oshawa, sold a three months old bull calf for $1,000 to C. K. Kamstra, South Gillies, Ont.

Highest price female brought $1,100 to J. M. Fraser for a bred heifer, bought by E. B. Gingrich, Wallenstein.

S. B. Roman of King paid $4,080 for five females. The crowd of 500 included buyers from Michigan, New York and Pennsylvania. Twenty-two milking females averaged $630; 53 bred heifers $591; three open heifers $633, and one heifer calf $650.

Trepanier Sale

At the dispersal sale of the J. O. Trepanier Holsteins at Oakville sales arena, Tuesday, the top price was $1,525 paid by George R. McLaughlin, Oshawa for a six year old cow. Forty-eight head totalled $24,190 for an average of $504.

✦ ✦ ✦

EIGHT ORMISTON FIRSTS

Roy Ormiston of Brooklin topped the winners in the Ontario county Black and White Day at Port Perry fair on Labor Day. He had eight firsts, followed by O. Chambers of Wilfred with six and Smith Brothers of Port Perry with five.

Thirteen Holstein breeders paraded 81 head before the judge, Everett J. Brown of Orono. Senior and grand champion bull was the joint entry of Mr. Ormiston and O. Parks and Sons.

The Chambers herd produced the senior and grand champion female. Mr. Ormiston drew red ribbons in the classes for junior yearling heifers.

Winning two year heifer and mature dry cow were shown by Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, who also had the junior heifer calf.

✦ ✦ ✦

WIN COVETED TITLE

The success of Melville H. Pimmett & Sons with their Shorthorn cattle entries at the CNE is the highlight of local interest in this season's agricultural exhibitions.

Their senior and grand champion bull, Louada Barnone, at Peterborough two weeks ago, duplicated those titles in the national ring, probably the most satisfactory accomplishment in the experience of the Indian River breeders. They also won first awards in four other classes.

Louada Barnone was a purchase from the Cadesky herd in Harvey Township. The selection of this young bull from Louada Manor Farm was probably the recommendation of Lorne Pimmett, a junior member of the family.

At that time it was reported that there was surplus of promising young bulls at Louada Manor. Barnone was one of the lot, and the Pimmett family bought him. Since then he has been developing the Shorthorn type lines that were expected of the imported breeding in his background, and at Toronto this week he fully confirmed the Pimmett selection. Lorne Pimmett was in charge of the herd entries. He has grown up in wide Shorthorn experience, primarily at home, and also farther afield, plus showmanship.

The awards to "Barney" included ribbons and silver trophies.

The Pimmett boys were schooled in the Shorthorn breed on the home farm near Indian River. Lorne Pimmett is a graduate from local club work, is leader of the present beef cattle club for boys and girls. Brother Murray was a winner with Francis Walsh of Otonabee in the provincial judging competitions for Junior Farmers at Guelph a year ago.

✦ ✦ ✦

PLOWMEN MEET

Peterborough plowmen are meeting Monday night at 8:30 at the office of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, to consider details of the county match which is to be held at the farm of Robert Jackson in Otonabee.

✦ ✦ ✦

GUERNSEYS AT PORT PERRY

N. W. McConkey of Peterborough was awarded both junior championships in the Guernsey cattle of Port Perry fair. Ten exhibitors led out 69 individual entries. Judge was Harold Clapp of Concord.

Grand champion bull was found in the herd of R. Batty with McConkey getting the reserve ribbon. Grand champion cow was shown by Joseph Milligan.

McConkey winnings included junior herd and progeny of dam; junior yearling bull and junior champion bull; senior yearling female, junior champion female, dry mature cow and second to Batty for best fitted exhibit.

✦ ✦ ✦

JUST A CHUCKLE

The farmer had just shown the new hired man around the farm and explained to him all the jobs he would have to do. "How about clearing the snow out of the driveway and around the house?" asked the hired man.

"What do you mean?" said the farmer. "There's no snow at this time of the year."

"That's true," replied the employee, "but there should be plenty of it by the time I get the rest of these chores done."

✦ ✦ ✦

JUNIOR CEREALISTS

Gerald and Gwelda Bolton of the Charles Bolton family in Douro township find themselves in the ranks of grain producers. They were members of the junior fall wheat club whose first season wound up with the recent harvest. From their separate small lot they have close to 70 bushels of registered Cornell. After the present seeding is completed, they will have a surplus of seed wheat. Possibly some farmers may be interested in that source. This is one of the little realities of club membership, stimulating interest as well as knowledge from experience.

✦ ✦ ✦

SECOND AT CNE

East Peterborough Agricultural Society exhibitors placed second in both grain and sheaf classes at the CNE.

The sheaf group were: Arnold Stevenson, barley; Ivan Begg, wheat; Wes. Chamberlain, oats.

Those who showed bushels of grain were: A. Stevenson, barley; L. R. McMillan, wheat; John Barrie, oats; Gordon Stinson, rye; and W. G. Barrie, timothy.

It is likely that James T. Brown of Newcastle will judge the Norwood Fair field crop competition in ensiage corn next week. He has 25 fields to visit in what will likely be the best part of a day's round.

GARNET KERR of Campbellford, veteran breeder and exhibitor of Jersey cattle, found himself in unusual company at Lakefield Fair. His competitors in the junior heifer calf class were the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sargent of Cavan township. Left to Right, Above, they are: Carl, 14; Don, 12, and Jack, 16. The boys are members of the West Peterborough Dairy Calf Club, whose Achievement Day is Saturday, Sept. 29.

Winner of the class at Lakefield was Jack's calf: Sanragor Basil's Wanda. All three Sargent lads are keen club members, according to Bob Bell, assistant agricultural representative, who is supervising club work, assisted by a group of Junior Farmers as club leaders, and others who are helping the cause.

The Sargent home is the late Sam S. Staples' farm, west of Springville, and as Mr. Staples had a Jersey herd for years it was natural that the Sargent's should become interested in that dairy breed. Of the three boys, Carl is setting his ambition on becoming a farmer. Don is not yet in his teens, and possibly Jack might some day join his father in insurance and realty. At present they are concerned about club and school work. The Sargent boys were introduced to the dairy club project a year ago, when they raised three calves. This spring they got another three. Several of them are from the Gordon Staples herd, at least one was obtained from Ernie Kelk, and two from K. Larmer.

Conservation of Soil Begins At Home, W. W. Dawson's Air Talk

When practical farmers talk conservation among themselves, it is definite evidence that this phase of the science of agriculture is becoming recognized for its every day importance.

W. W. Dawson, president of the county Federation of Agriculture, spoke on this subject in the Federation CHEX broadcast last Saturday noon. Incidentally, that series of last spring's inception was tagged for suspension before summer set in, but it has carried steadily through the busy months. Harold Lewis has been recruiting speakers for the ten minute air periods of discussion, has had cordial co-operation from those he approached, and much of the credit for continuance is due to him.

Feeding The Multitude

Mr. Dawson referred to the opinions of experts "that the earth will not be able to feed the people a century or so hence."

"But, one wonders why. When we look upon vast areas of soil which could be fertile, and yet through man's neglect or ignorance lie idle, unproductive or underproductive, we may be pardoned for questioning these so-called facts. Were science to direct even a small part of its vast resources of knowledge into channels which would lead to a greater abundance of life's essentials, there would be no fears for the future.

As individuals we are only one among many millions, yet each farmer and every man connected with the soil can play some part in directing the world's food supply in such a way that the threatened catastrophe will pass us by. The greater will be our rewards, and the more certain the future of the coming generations.

A first question we should ask ourselves should be, "Is water our master, or our slaves?" How often have we seen water, like soil, be made productive and support prosperous communities. The great hydro-electric schemes of Canada are typical of what can be done when man harnesses water.

Properly controlled and wisely used, water can change the fortunes of man. So it is with the farmer.

No stream should be overlooked. Each should be harnessed and put to work to build a better soil and better crops. You may consider your own interest in the farm a personal one, yet collectively it builds up to be national, and even an international interest.

We now find the farmer in an important spot. It is on his land the rain falls; it is his land that has first call on the raindrops. The soil will absorb as much as it can when the soil contains plenty of humus and is porous. The water will penetrate beyond the roots and enter the huge underground reservoirs.

Saving Rainfall

An important point to remember is that soil treatment, as well as the plant cover, determines to some extent how much of the rain water can be saved for the crop, and how much will run off and be wasted.

Water is lost from the soil in two ways—by transpiration, (in the soil water is taken up by the plant which transpires (breathes) it from the leaf surface) and secondly by evaporation from the surface of the soil. It is the combined total of these two with which we are concerned. This annual drain on the water supply in the soil amounts to about 60 to 90% of the annual precipitation.

The water requirements of different plants vary under different climatic conditions, but if average conditions prevailed it is quite possible that the moisture content in the soil would last another 50% longer.

The question today is how to maintain these average conditions. The study of the mulching of crops has been going on for years."

Mr. Dawson mentioned benefits to fruit trees, and plantations of small fruits, currants, gooseberries, etc. . . .

"It does not comes as a surprise to learn that mulch experiments in corn fields show that there is a far higher percentage of moisture in the soil below the mulch layer than in similar unmulched soils.

To Hold Water

This means that at the vital time of growth when the fruit or grain is filling and when corn and other crops are coming to maturity, there is ample water for their requirements. Consequently the yield is higher, the quality of grade is better."

For the retention of water, Mr. Dawson said: "Plan your farm so that you can keep a regular crop rotation in each field. Plow in an extra field of green crop once in a while. It may be sweet clover, red clover, green oats or buckwheat.

Whenever possible after harvest, till in with a tiller all stubble, excess straw, old hay or it may be corn stalks.

Anything that will open or loosen up the soil will become a mulch, supply humus and organic matter which will act like a sponge when the raindrops pelt the soil."

Mr. Lewis asked this closing question: "What can the farmer do when sowing his wheat this fall to help in the conservation program?"

Mr. Dawson recommended working the land across the contour. "An important step is drill your wheat across the hill if your field is rolling, not up and down the slope.

Each little drill of wheat helps to retard the flow of water as it rushes down the grade.

The use of sod crops in rotation with grain crops helps to conserve more of the summer rainfall. Finally, sow at the proper time good tested seed that will germinate 90%, — and leave the rest to nature."

MAY CHANGE TRUCE SITE REDS HINT

PREMIER LESLIE FROST holds the ball used in the historic Grey Cup game of 1938 in which the Toronto Argos defeated the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, while Frank Stukus, a member of the '38 Argo team, recounts the win and Mrs. Stukus looks on. Premier Frost was one of the principal speakers at the fourth annual summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, held this week at Byrnell Manor, Fenelon Falls.

Radio Talks Indicate Compromise

Report Chinese Tanks In Kaesong, Former Neutral Area

TOKYO, Sept. 8. (AP) — Communist propaganda broadcasts tonight hinted that the Communists may be willing to change the site of cease-fire talks from Kaesong as proposed by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The remarks were unofficial, and did not say the Reds accepted the Supreme Allied Commander's proposal. The talks have been suspended since Aug. 23.

The first hint came from the North Korean Red radio at Pyongmank. It urged the Korean people to be "cautious" about changing the site.

Later Peiping radio quoted a Communist correspondent as saying "wherever the talks are held, nothing will come of them unless the Americans are willing to agree to the armisitce on the lines proposed by (Russia's Jakob) Malik . . ." Presumably he was referring to the 38th Parallel, where the Reds want the buffer line drawn. The UN wants the buffer zone generally along present battle lines.

Won't Endanger Talks

A high-ranking officer in Allied headquarters said a major Communist offensive in Korea would endanger the talks.

However, on the western front, an Allied source said tonight the Communists have a number of troops and tanks in Kaesong, site of the suspended Korean armistice negotiations.

The United Nations command learned this week from a source considered highly reliable that major elements of a Chinese regiment division remained in Kaesong after the Reds agreed July 15 to make the city a neutral area.

Chinese Communists stepped up their probing ground attacks on the western and west-central fronts today. They captured at

NEW PRIMATE—Archbishop Walter Foster Barfoot, of Edmonton, has been installed as Primate of the Church of England in Canada.

Synod Appoints Barfoot New Primate

VICTORIA, BC, Sept. 8 (CP)—Archbishop Walter Foster Barfoot, who believes in both prayer and hard work, Friday night was installed as primate of the Church of England in Canada.

"I would not be human if I were not somewhat anxious, even fearful, of the high office for which I have been called," he told a congregation of 1,000 in Christ Church Cathedral following the solemn ceremony of installation.

The 58-year-old Archbishop of Edmonton, elected to the church's highest office late Friday by the Anglican general synod, called on those of the Anglican faith for "support to unify further the church from coast to coast."

He said that after his election a fellow bishop, an old friend and counsellor, had claimed his anxiety over the weight of office by whispering, "you are not alone."

"Those words go very deep in Christian hearts," the new primate said.

He succeeds the late Most Rev. George Frederick Kingston, Archbishop of Nova Scotia who died last November.

Becomes Archbishop

He automatically was raised from bishop to archbishop with his installation as primate.

Friends say that behind Archbishop Barfoot's robust and jovial appearance, which make him look younger than his years, lie an iron will and determination.

In 1948, he made a 3,500-mile plane trip to see for himself the work of the church on the shores of the Arctic Ocean and on the islands beyond.

Canada Supports Japanese Treaty Calls It Generous

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8. (CP)—Canada's L. B. Pearson Friday endorsed the draft of the Japanese peace treaty as both generous and realistic. Addressing the 51-country treaty conference in San Francisco Opera House, Pearson dismissed Russian and Czechoslovak criticism of the treaty as propaganda "which convinces no one except those whose convictions are prefabricated." The external affairs minister spoke for about five minutes. He expressed regret that China was not represented at the conference. But he said the Peiping Government "must bear the blame for this absence."

Red China already had committed aggression in Korea.

"The Chinese Communist Government must realize that, just as they cannot shoot their way into the United Nations, they cannot by violence or threat force their way into this peace conference."

Answers Criticism

Pearson answered the Russian and Czech criticism of the draft text and methods of procedure in this manner:

"Two delegations have attacked it—with that kind of white-is-black, in-is-out, up-is-down logic, with which we have become familiar and which convinces no one except those whose convictions are prefabricated.

"In any event, these statements from the delegations of the USSR and Czechoslovakia are not directed to this conference nor, in our view, primarily concerned with making peace with Japan.

"It is particularly unconvincing to hear the Communist delegations complain of the procedure adopted in negotiating and drafting this treaty—because it was the obstructive and delaying tactics of their governments that made this—admittedly unusual — procedure necessary and indeed unavoidable if we were to have a treaty at all."

Want Friendly Relations

Pearson said Canada desired only friendly relations with Japan and with all the countries in the Pacific area. Events of the last 20 years and the Korean aggression had shown Canada she could not isolate herself from wars or the threat of war in the Pacific.

Abbott At Helm For World Financial Talks

OTTAWA, Sept. 8—(CP)—The jigsaw puzzle of world money troubles falls into the hands of Finance Minister Abbott next week.

For a few days at least, he will be at the helm as world financial wizards grapple with the involved problems of trade restrictions and exchange rates and loans to get countries back on their feet.

Gravest issue and one likely to be discussed in hush-hush tones is the world price and movement of gold as the representatives of 49 countries meet at Washington at the annual session of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund.

The chairmanship of the meetings falls for the first time to Canada and to Mr. Abbott as chief delegate. His advisers include Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada and Louis Rasminsky, the bank's specialist on exchange rates and gold.

Want Higher Price

Uppermost in their minds is the question of gold. For months the Canadian gold-mining industry has besieged the government to seek a higher price for the metal or at least to have the fund allow Canada to sell a portion of its production on the so-called "free" market.

The free-market price usually ranges slightly higher than the $35 (U.S.) per ounce fixed by the fund. South Africa, a fund member and the world's largest gold producer, sells about 40 per cent of her production on the free market.

Canadian officials have long contended that Canada should have the same right as South Africa. They brought the question before the fund last year but the question was left in abeyance pending study.

John Snyder, US treasury secretary, hinted broadly Friday to a Washington press conference that the US will take a firm stand on gold.

The US, he said, sees no reason why the price should be raised.

Czech Shakeup To Boost Industrial Goods

LONDON, Sept. 8 — (AP) — The Czechoslovak government has been shaken up to boost the output of industrial goods which Moscow demands and a new ministry of state control is being established to crack down on laggard producers.

The changes in government organization were made at a special session of the cabinet in Prague Friday and were announced today in a Czech news agency story broadcast by Prague radio.

They followed immediately after Thursday's shakeup of Communist party officials.

In the party shifts, president Klement Gottwald, who spent the war in Moscow, added the duties of secretary-general to his job as party chairman. The party also abolished the title of secretary-general, always the key post in Communist setups—a move which caused considerable puzzlement to Western diplomatic observers.

Rudolf Slansky, the hard-bitten, Moscow-trained revolutionary who had been secretary-general, was set aside for "another important state post," which was not named. He remained as one of seven members of an elite "political secretariat."

The new minister of state control was not named in today's dispatch describing the cabinet changes.

A Foreign Office expert in Iron Curtain affairs expressed belief the shakeup was part of a radical crackdown to make sure Czechoslovakia, the most industrialized of all countries in the Russian orbit, moves faster to fill Russian orders for machinery.

He said he believed the new job was an important one to Moscow, probably had been ordered from the Kremlin, and speculated that Slansky has been tagged for it.

The British expert said he thought the rather mysterious moves relating to Slansky may fall in the same pattern as the removal of Molotov as Russia's Foreign Secretary. Molotov now is seen as the global planner of foreign policy and probable successor to the aging Stalin.

49 Nations To Sign Treaty

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8. (AP)—Every nation at the San Francisco conference—except the three Communist bitter-enders—lined up early today to sign the Japanese peace treaty. Not one was held back from the signing ceremony—scheduled to start at 10 a.m. (1 p.m. EDT)—by Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko's thunderings that it is a pact for a rebirth of Japanese militarism and a "new war" in the Orient. Gromyko himself went down to defeat in a free-for-all conference debate Friday night, shouting the diplomatic version of "we wuz robbed." He blamed his reverses here on American "pressure" on other delegations.

A short time later he rose from his seat and with his Communist colleagues walked out of the hall. But it was a false walkout in the sense of a Russian withdrawal from a conference.

Three minutes later the usually grim-faced Russian, grinning apparently at the excitement he had caused, walked back in again.

The Russian, Polish and Czech delegates generally were expected to boycott the signing ceremony today. Gromyko, however, had called a 9am (noon EDT) press conference, perhaps to explain his position and take a few last cracks at the United States

Would Refuse Passports For Reds To Visit Moscow

QUEBEC, Sept. 8. (CP)—Premier Duplessis suggested on Friday that the Federal Government refuse passports to Communists wishing to attend a convention in Moscow Dec. 5. "This would prevent them from bringing back to Quebec the Communist poison they picked up in Moscow," the premier said.

He made the statement after he revealed seizure by Quebec provincial police of Communist literature at Camp Lafond near L'Annonciation, Que., in the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal.

The documents, published in Russia and Czechoslovakia, were seized in a raid last month.

"They were designed to spread Communism and to assist in the establishment of a Communist school," the Premier told his weekly press conference.

Seize Invitation

Among the documents seized was a letter from Pierre Gelinas, editor of the weekly newspaper, Combat, banned in Quebec. Premier Duplessis said the letter invited the camp's guests to attend a convention Dec. 5 in Moscow.

Last June, Russian-language Communist school books were seized by Provincial Police at Rouyn, Noranda, Val O'Or, and Malartic in northwestern Quebec.

The Premier announced:

1. The official itinerary of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip Oct. 2 when they arrive to start their tour of Canada.
2. A decision by the Algoma

Princess Waits For Her Million

MONTREAL, Sept. 8 (CP)—A French princess took up residence in a hotel here today and waited for solicitors of a wealthy American to bring her $1,000,000.

Princess d'Anjou de France, who claims direct descent from Louis IX, told her story shortly after she arrived here by plane from France.

Her story goes like this:

A wealthy American named Charles Ross was going blind. Doctors told him he could only save his sight by obtaining eyes from an eye bank. But Ross did not like the idea of taking the eyes from a dead person. The princess offered her eyes. Ross never replied to her offer and she next learned four months later that he had died and left her $1,000,000 in his will. She is in Montreal waiting for the American solicitors to arrive because United States immigration officials have refused to allow her to enter that country.

The brunette princess, who is about 45, says she does not know where Ross lived in the US., but said she was hopeful his solicitors would come to Canada.

Besides, she's in a hurry to return to France where her son and mother are waiting for her and the money.

France Upset By US Meddling

PARIS, Sept. 8 — (AP). — Diplomatic informants say France is upset by what it calls meddling in Morocco by United States State Department representatives.

These sources said Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will deliver a protest to State Secretary Dean Acheson next week in Washington.

French leaders say privately that US representatives in Morocco make no secret of their sympathy with Nationalist leaders trying to win freedom from France.

The US has seven air bases in Morocco, a North African French protectorate, and a large naval base at Port Lyautey.

Says Farmers Not To Blame

ORILLIA, Sept. 8 (CP).—The farmer is not to blame for high food prices, H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said Friday.

If the farming industry was to adopt hours of work and rates of pay for farm labor comparable to those of industrial labor, the public would have to pay very much higher prices for their food, Mr. Hannam said in a speech prepared for delivery before the summer conference here of the Young Liberals' Association of Ontario.

The head of the 400,000-member federation added that farmers had no real control over prices because they had no real control over production.

Rescues Child Lying In Well

DEMORESTVILLE, Sept. 8 — (CP).—Mrs. W. Latone climbed down the rough-hewn sides of a well here Friday and rescued two-year-old Catherine Keogh, lying unconscious in the water at the bottom.

She pulled the girl from the water and handed her up to her husband, who then pulled his wife from the well. The alarm was given by Mrs. William Keogh, mother of the child, who noticed her daughter missing and a hole in the board at the top of the well.

Mr. and Mrs. Latone work on the Keogh farm near this Prince Edward county village.

Helicopter To Join In Search Of Bush

KAPUSKASING, Sept. 8 (CP) —An RCAF helicopter, today will join the 11-plane armada searching the vast wilderness around James Bay and Hudson Bay for Bill Barilko, Toronto Maple Leaf hockey player and Dr. Henry Hudson, Timmins, dentist, missing since Aug. 26.

Word is expected today also from a Norseman plane which will investigate a gas cache, canoe and teepee found at Little Opinaka Lake, 100 miles northeast of Rupert's House, the James Bay village from which Barilko and Hudson took off after a fishing expedition.

Some of those in charge of the search wondered today also if they may have to expand their operations to look for two other men, ate Friday afternoon the RCAF radio at the base here intercepted, from an unidentified aircraft, a radio message beamed at Goose Bay, Labrador, which said "two representatives of American air unuiversities" were missing near Mill Island in Hudson Bay.

Strike Closes Port Of Dublin

DUBLIN, Sept. 8 — (Reuters) —The Port of Dublin was virtually closed today after 1,000 dock workers struck in sympathy with 800 port workers.

Work was continued on vessels which had started unloading but later arrivals of deep-water ships are lying idle.

The strike began 10 days ago when members of the Seamen's and Port Workers' Union stopped work demanding wage increases. The Labor Court had recommended a smaller increase but the men rejected the offer.

Beat Out Oil Blaze After 38-Hour Battle

AVONMOUTH England, Sept. 8 (AP) — Some 500 fire fighters finally beat out a $2,100,000 dockside oil blaze today after a 38-hour battle.

Twenty tanks holding 14,000,000 gallons of fuel oil turned this port into a flaming cauldron following an explosion Thursday.

Troops, sailors and airmen joined regular firemen armed with chemical foam in fighting the blaze. More than 35 firefighters were treated for injuries. Two employees of the Regent Oil Company, which owned the petroleum tanks, were killed.

Cause of the explosion still is undetermined.

See Danger Of All-Out War If Russia Fails To Sign

By ROBERT EUNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8 — (AP)—Russia's refusal to sign the treaty of peace with Japan would leave the Far East in political turmoil and in danger of all-out war.

A state of war would continue between Russia and Japan.

Peiping radio already has announced that Communist China will consider herself at war with Japan if Japan signs a treaty with the western world.

What will the Reds do next?

Unless Japan signs separate treaties with the Communist nations of the world — especially Russia—the Far East may erupt into a full-scale war.

There is the possibility of Russia presenting Japan with a treaty of Soviet design, demanding fabulous reparations and island possessions, and stripping the nation of defence.

This would be diametrically opposed to US plans to keep troops in Japan until that country can defend herself, a provision of a security pact that is expected to be signed soon.

Japan alone cannot defend herself.

As long as the United States has men out there, it is doubtful if Russia will move south.

But that's the gimmick. The Soviets want the American forces to leave.

If Russia fails to sign the treaty, the two giant powers of the world would be at dagger point in Japan.

If Russia demands that Japan sign a treaty of Soviet design with the Communist world, the ever-widening gap between the East and West will finally have been stretched to what may be the breaking point.

2 Kidnapping Gangs Sell Women, Children

NEW DELHI, Sept. 8 (Reuters) —Indian police have smashed two kidnapping gangs which have been snatching young women and children and selling them for prices ranging from $45 to $450, police officials said today.

Thirty-eight women and children have so far been recovered.

Ten persons have been arrested.

The police got on the track of the kidnappers when a man was caught trying unsuccessfully to sell a 15-year-old kidnapped girl from Ahmedabad for $200 in Delhi.

Police said there were three main markets for kidnapped women and children in India—brothels in cities such as Delhi and Bombay, wealthy families in the state of Rajasthan, and wandering tribes of snake-charmers. Rajasthan families bought children to be brought up as servants and to be given later as part of a daughter's dowry on marriage.

Berlin Car War Truce Called

BERLIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Soviet east and Allied west Berlin today reached a truce in their intra-city war of the road taxes which saw them confiscating each other's autos and trucks in a hectic thirty-hour tit-for-tat.

But the tax which started it all remained. This was the toll which the east German Communists are exacting from west Berlin and west German vehicles which travel through the Russian occupation zone on Berlin's lifeline to the west.

The war within the city ended when the west promised to seize no more Soviet sector vehicles and pulled back the police reinforcements it had rushed to the sector borders during the tax controversy.

Thereupon the east Berlin Communists began releasing several hundred west Berlin cars and trucks they had impounded Friday afternoon, Friday night and this morning. They promised to collect no toll on these vehicles because the west promised to repay what its police had taken.

Irate Channel Islanders Pelt Deputy, Fight Police

ST. HELIER, Jersey, Sept. 8— (AP)—Irate channel islanders pelted a parliamentary deputy with tomatoes and fought police Friday night — all because this tiny self-governing channel island is getting compulsory social security.

The demonstrations broke out after the Jersey States—island's parliament — rejected a petition demanding repeal of Jersey's new social insurance law. The measure is expected to go into operation next Monday.

Most of the 40-man Jersey police force ringed the states building as angry demonstrators advanced carrying a coffin. They were reported to have planned to place Senator Phil de Feuvre, prime mover of the social insurance plan, inside it.

Police held off the crowd and spirited Le Feuvre out of the town hall. During the melee States Deputy S. J. Venables was manhandled and pelted with ripe tomatoes—Jersey's main crop.

The new law provides health and insurance benefits for all employees against fixed compulsory contributions. Both employers and insured persons help pay the costs.

Opponents claim it is too costly and unwieldly.

The channel islands, lying 10 miles off the French coast, are self-governing dependencies of the British crown.

Car Upsets In Swamp Girl Dies, Five Injured

SMITHS FALLS, Sept. 8 (CP) —Eleanor D. Kerr, 19, of Smiths Falls, was killed and five other teen-agers from Perth were injured when an automobile in which they were riding missed a curve near here early today and overturned in a swamp.

Coroner J. J. McQuire said Miss Kerr apparently drowned in foot-deep water in which the car overturned after shearing off five guard-rail posts and rebounding off two rock piles.

In hospital here are Evelyn Murphy, 17, with a broken collarbone, broken jaw and back injuries; Burns Greer, 16, with arm and chest injuries; Francis Troke, 17, with injured left arm; Carl Oakes, 14, suffering exposure, and Ronald Armour, 19, suffering from exposure and head lacerations.

Use Planes, Cars To Round Up Iran Deputies

TEHRAN, Sept. 8 (CP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh, snubbed this week by an absentee revolt of opposition deputies, today had planes and cars scouring the country to round up deputies to give him a vote of confidence when the Majlis (house of representatives) meets Sunday.

Mossadegh has already won senate approval of his plan to give Britain 15 days to resume—on Iranian terms—discussions of the future of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

But he failed to get approval from the Majlis earlier this week when deputies opposed to his administration stayed away from the house and a quorum could not be formed.

Supporters of Mossadegh whipped a crowd of 5,000 into howling frenzy Friday in an apparent attempt to intimidate the recalcitrant deputies.

Condemned To Death

"Anybody who dares oppose this sacred nationalistic movement (for Iranian control of Iran's oil production) is condemned to death by the Iranian people," shouted Mullah Chams Ghanatabadi, Moslem chief of the Mujaheddin Islam (fighters for Islam).

"Death to the traitors," roared the mob.

"We have senators and deputies who oppose Mossadegh," Mullah Ghanatabadi continued, "action which we consider as opposition to the oil nationalization law. We have plenty of tahmassebis (assassins) who will settle their accounts."

There were Canadian military cemeteries in Asia as well as in Flanders, he said.

Pearson said he was glad to concur in the spirit of reconciliation toward Japan which the treaty showed. The Japanese people themselves had suffered from the policies of their former military leaders. Canada would watch with genuine interest and real sympathy Japan's attempts to achieve prosperity and a peaceful way of life.

He expressed satisfaction with the part Canada had been allowed to play in the drawing up of the draft. Canada hoped that Japan would later sign a fisheries convention with his country and would adhere to internationally accepted fair trade practices.

But his government did not want to place any obstacles in the way of normal development of Japanese trade.

Got No Order Engineer Says

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 8 (CP)—A Canadian National Railway engineer testified at a manslaughter trial Friday that he did not receive a train order May 17 when two CNR freight trains collided near Postans, 80 miles west of here.

Two train crewmen — fireman George Miller, 35, and brakeman Morris Chocla, 25, both of Fort William—died in the twisted debris of piled up boxcars.

On trial for manslaughter is Trevor G. Lyons, 28, a CNR dispatcher.

Engineer Charles Seal, 55, of Port Arthur, testified he received a train order to run five hours late when he left Atikokan, Ont. He received a second order at Kashabowie on his way eastbound to Fort William to make up as much time as possible.

Albert Crawford, engineer of the west-bound freight which collided with Seal's, said he did not get the second order and proceeded to Postans under the first. The telegraph operator at nearby Mabella Station said he did not receive a second order to pass on to Crawford.

Dummer Twp. Seeks Right-of-way For Road

A committee of the Dummer Township Council has been appointed to try and secure a right-of-way for the lake shore road between Concession 3 and 4.

The motion was by Councillors Sloan and Galaiher and the committee will include Reeve Stewart Clysdale and Councillors Allen Olver and Gordon Hamblin.

Other matters dealt with at the council meeting earlier this week: By Hamblin and Gallaher, that road accounts amounting to $1,458.80 be paid; and by Sloan and Olver, that general accounts of $1,435.50 be paid.

Two other motions also passed: One by Gallaher and Hamblin, that the deadline for collection of the remainder of 1950 taxes be extended to October 1; another by Sloan and Hamblin, that Gallaher be appointed to buy a new stove for the Town Hall.

Shot By Red Police US Soldier Dies

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (AP) — US authorities announced today that an American soldier, shot by German Communist police Thursday, died in a Soviet military hospital.

It is expected that the US army will send a sharp protest to the Russians over the shooting because eyewitness reports indicated no provocation to justify the shooting by the Soviet-controlled "people's police."

American authorities reported the eyewitness said the soldier apparently lost his way and his car collided with a post supporting the barrier the Russians have erected at the Russian zone border.

The Communist policeman shot the soldier when he failed to get out of the damaged car when ordered to do so.

Potato prices were: Ont., off truck, No. 1, $1.70-$1.75; to trade, $1.85-$2.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8 (CP) — Prices generally showed a firm trend in active trade Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Strength on United States markets prompted some of the firmness.

Aggressive commercial demand appeared in oats and barley, including buying by American interests in oats and processor and American buying in barley. There was evidence of export business in both commodities to the United States and also to an overseas country.

No information was available on export loadings of wheat. Class 2 wheat and IWA prices were unchanged.

Accelerator Jams Two In Hospital

WINDSOR, Sept. 8 (CP) — A traffic accident caused by a jammed accelerator sent two Windsor women to hospital Friday night with severe injuries. Both were passengers in the cars involved in the mishap.

Joyce Clinansmith suffered a possible skull fracture and injured ribs. Marie Goslin suffered a possible fracture of the spine.

Willis Goslin, driver of their car, said a second car driven by Clarence Badden of Windsor failed to stop at an intersection and collided with the Goslin vehicle.

Badden told police he approached the intersection but when he lifted his foot from the accelerator the pedal stuck and the car failed to stop.

Pony Security Code Breached

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—A woman photographer's pictures of an air force plane have raised a dispute between Senator William Jenner (Rep. Ind.) and Life magazine.

Jenner said Friday he has written Defence Secretary George Marshall that permitting Margaret Bourke-White to photograph a "top secret" plane apparently amounts to "one of the most serious breaches of military security."

His letter added that Miss Bourke-White, a member of Life's photographic staff, has been cited by the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee as a member of subversive organizations.

In New York, Life magazine said the photographer never was a member of the Communist party nor "of any of the designated groups to which her name has been publicly linked for more than 10 years."

It added:

"Life has full confidence in her loyalty. When she photographed the activities of the strategic air command, Life's confidence in her was endorsed by government security channels which cleared her for the assignment. The air force has said that she did not have access to any information, materials and facilities not made available to other correspondents."

and Britain and the treaty they so successfully sponsored here.

May Speak

British officials said that Foreign Minister Herbert Morrison, who arrived Friday night, might speak briefly when he signs the pact. No other talks were due, however.

It was believed that the day would also bring the signing of a security treaty between the United States and Japan under which American troops will remain in Japan after peace becomes effective.

Forty-nine nations, including Japan, gave notice by Friday night that they would sign the peace pact. Of the 52 here, that left out only Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Gromyko's final reversal in debate came during a hectic night session in which he was hopelessly out-manoeuvred by other delegations and the rulings of State Secretary Dean Acheson as presiding officer.

Hate to Lose Territory

Premier Shigeru Yoshida of Japan, in his only speech to the conference, had expressed his government's assent to the treaty, yet declared its "pain and anxiety" over the loss of territory which the pact will confirm.

He assailed Soviet Communism, saying the threat of aggression would make it necessary for American troops to remain in Japan "temporarily" after the occupation.

When he finished Acheson announced that all scheduled speeches had been concluded and the conference had to decide what next to do.

Gromyko wanted to know what had happened to Russia's amendments which he had circulated Wednesday. Among other changes they would have prohibited American troops in Japan after the occupation and would have drastically limited Japanese forces.

Acheson said that when Gromyko spoke Wednesday he had not introduced the amendments but merely made a statement of them. The Russian said the amendments were before the conference.

Theatre Man Dies

WINDSOR, Sept. 8 (CP)—Harmon C. Merritt, 53, long associated with the operation of Windsor movie theatres, died Friday night after a long illness. He was assistant manager of the Capitol Theatre and for 12 years manager of the Palace. He retired two years ago after suffering a severe heart attack.

Beer In Bus Driver Fined

LINDSAY, Sept. 8 — A liquor charge against Fulton Chidley, bus lines owner from Little Britain, was dismissed Thursday in Lindsay police court while two others, Ted Scheehy, of Wilberforce, the bus driver, and Ross Anderson, a service station operator in Tory Hill, were fined. They were charged with having liquor in a place other than a residence.

Lawrence Gilkinson, manager of the Lindsay brewers' warehouse, testified in the Chidley case, a charge of possession of beer or liquor that he had not obtained on his individual permit.

Mr. Gilkinson produced two sales checks. These slips indicated that the bus driver had bought beer at the Lindsay warehouse on orders received from residents in Tory Hill and Wilberforce.

OPP Constable A. Gaudry said that he found one case of beer in the car and four more cases on the bus when he visited the bus driver's home in Wilberforce. The bus driver explained that the beer was ordered by residents.

No Licence

Constable Gaudry added that Scheehy was not certain whether Chidley had a common carrier's licence, adding that to the best of his knowledge they did not.

OPP Sgt. Stanley Palmateer pointed out that it was necessary to have a carrier's licence, approved by the Ontario Liquor Control Board, if liquor or beer is carried by anyone five miles or more from the liquor store or warehouse.

R. I. Moore, counsel, pointed out that there was no evidence that Chidley was connected with the bus line or that he had possession of the beer.

The charge was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

The bus driver, Ted Scheehy, pleaded guilty to the charge of illegal possession of liquor and was fined $50 and costs.

In the third case, Ross Anderson, service station operator, on the same charge pleaded guilty and was fined $10 with $2.50 costs.

40 Workers Laid Off At Oshawa Factory

OSHAWA, Sept. 8. (CP)—Forty workers at the Skinner Company plant which produces bumpers for trucks and automobiles Friday were laid off for an indefinite period. The lay-off brings the total let out to 150 during the last two months.

The employees are all members of Local 222 United Automobile Workers of America (CIO). Company officials blamed a cut-back in orders for the lay-offs.

least one hill from United Nations troops.

In the air war, 25 allied jets battled 40 Russian-type MIG-15's high over northwestern Korea in a 25-minute battle. No damage to either side was reported.

Fighters and light bombers of the Fifth Air force ranged the skies in 440 missions.

There were no firm indications of a major Communist offensive.

Drive Allies Off

Northeast of Korangpo, Chinese Reds swarmed up a hill behind a heavy artillery barrage and drove Allied infantrymen off.

It was the Reds' second attack on the peak. They tried to take it Saturday morning but were pushed back and pounded by barrages of Allied artillery.

A Chinese regiment was reported holding two hills forward of U.N. lines in the centre of the old "iron triangle." A pooled dispatch from the front said Allied troops were falling back.

Another report said Reds drove the Allies from a hill position southwest of Kumsong, farther to the east. No details were given.

An Allied patrol in the area where a Red regiment surrounded an Allied outpost unit Thursday night found 120 Communist bodies and a number of fresh graves.

An Allied intelligence officer said the fact bodies were left unburied indicated the Reds left the area in a hurry.

Allied infantry outposts in West and Central Korea dug in after shooting their way out of four Red traps Thursday and Friday.

What these accelerating actions portended still was a guess.

There were two leading theories:

1—The Reds in the west—the all-important battle sector north of Seoul—were bent on reoccupying the No Man's Land which has separated the main forces during a lengthy lull.

2—The Reds were probing and jockeying for positions before launching a new major offensive.

Lots of Action

Today's jet battle, 20 miles north of Sinanju, produced lots of flashing action. But there was no report of damage to either side.

For 25 minutes, 25 US F-86 Sabres and 40 Russian-built MIG-15s made firing passes at each other.

The successful Allied air tank hunt was south of Wonsan on the East Korean coast. UN planes discovered the armored group by the light of flares near Singosan, 20 miles below Wonsan. The fliers destroyed one tank and damaged two with a rocket attack.

It was part of an intensive Allied air effort to disrupt any move the Reds may have in mind. Friday Allied land-based planes knocked out 800 Red vehicles, running their score for the first week of September to more than 4,000.

Knock Out Bridges

Other raiders knocked out every important bridge along the Reds' vital east coast rail and highway supply line for nearly 26 miles between Wonsan and Songjin.

On the ground, action subsided markedly Saturday after the Red flare-ups of Thursday and Friday in the west.

The breakoff was so abrupt that an Allied officer said "it is almost too quiet."

A sudden and fierce charge by Chinese Reds Friday drove UN troops off two key hills in the "iron triangle" of Central Korea. The hills, just south of the triangle's apex at Pyonggang, were won by the Allies last July after a fight which lasted more than a week.

Acheson Will Ask Big Three Take Action On Persecution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—The United States intends to ask Britain and France to join it in cracking down on Iron Curtain countries which prosecute western nationals.

Diplomatic officials who reported this Friday said State Secretary Dean Acheson will raise the question when the Big Three foreign ministers meet here Monday to discuss a wide range of world problems.

Acheson is understood to feel strongly that joint action in both the political and economic fields is needed to help free westerners now in Communist prisons and to prevent future persecution. He is expected to ask Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France to form a common front of retaliation.

Acheson is expected to draw attention to the imprisonment of Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis in Czechoslovakia and the detention of some 20 American citizens in Red China.

No Specific Proposals

Officials said Acheson will not present specific proposals. If he gets Morrison and Schuman to agree to the principle of joint action he will be satisfied to leave details to a subordinate group representing the three countries.

In another sphere of foreign relations, Treasury Secretary John Snyder made it plain that the United States will oppose any effort to lift the price of gold above the $35 an ounce level that has prevailed since 1934.

Snyder told a pess conference that he sees no reason for the United States Government to pay a higher price for gold. He has consistently held to that position in the face of pressure from some gold producing nations for a rise in price.

Snyder also reported that no request has been made by visiting British treasury officials for a waiver of the $74,000,000 interest payment due Dec. 31 on the $3,750,000,000 loan Britain obtained from the United States in 1946. He would not say whether the topic had been discussed.

Jobless Father Kills Daughter With Axe

YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 8 — (CP)—A jobless 29-year-old father killed his baby daughter with a hatchet Friday because, he told police: "I suddenly got the notion God was telling me to bump her off."

Nick Zauner, being held without charge, told prosecutor Ronald Hull he was pacing the floor of his home when the "notion" struck. He ran to the next door home of his sister, Mrs. Frank Ibach, who was caring for the baby, 10-months-old Carol Lee, and her elder sister, Linda, 2, and took Carol Lee back to his house.

Later Mrs. Ibach found the child dead of hatchet blows on the head.

Muscle Man Climbs Hill Wins $10 Bet

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Sept. 8—(CP)—Tpr. Henri Gagne, five and a half feet of muscle, is just about the most durable element in the Lord Strathcona's Horse, C squadron, the tank part of the 25th Canadian Brigade.

The boys call the little Montrealer "Grampaw" and Gagne owns up to being "40 for more than eight years." But he yields to no one in his qualities of endurance.

His latest feat came when Lieut. Strathcona C. Macdonald of Vanleek Hill, bet $10 no one in his troop could climb a certain 1,200-foot hill and return in an hour.

A couple of young tank men tried and failed. Then Gagne volunteered. His colleagues laughed, when he got up to climb the hill. But he went up and down in 28 minutes, only two minutes slower than a Belgian lieutenant who is an expert mountain climber.

Said Gagne: "All things considered I am not in bad shape."

Said Lieut. Macdonald: "Here is your dough."

Two Plead Guilty To New Charge

BANCROFT, Sept. 8—(ENS)—Section 285, sub-section 4 (a) of The Highway Traffic Act, the added teeth placed in the provincial statutes at the last session of the legislature, providing a penalty for driving while ability to do so was impaired by alcohol, was used for the first time in Bancroft on Wednesday afternoon, in the court of Magistrate J. L. Lloyd.

Charles Baker, and William Williamson, of Steenburg, each paid $50 and costs for separate infringements of this regulation.

Three residents of Highland Grove, Arthur Brownridge, Douglas Peters, and Marvin Hughey, discovered that it cost them $15 and costs per person for causing a disturbance in a local public dance hall. Bruce Parks, of Turiff, also paid a fine of $15 and costs for being intoxicated in a public place.

Failing to give half the road cost Ernest Barager, of Lake St. Peter and Oshawa, $10 and costs and a similar charge cost Robert Hawley, of Apsley, $5 and costs.

Fred Switzer, of Bancroft, was convicted of a charge of careless driving and paid a fine of $50 and costs.

The lone charge laid by Chief Russell Creighton, of Bancroft village, resulted in L. Pinkey, of Bancroft, paying $2 and costs for failing to produce a driver's licence. All other charges were by members of the local provincial police detachment.

A Community Of The Atlantic

Next Saturday the North Atlantic Council will go into session in Ottawa. It is the first of two North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meetings to be held this autumn; the second is scheduled for Rome. The holding of the first Council meeting in Ottawa is a tribute to the part Canada has played in initiating and organizing NATO and a recognition of the important role Canada has in Atlantic security.

• • •

The North Atlantic Treaty was completed more than two years ago. The Treaty, signed on August 24, 1949, is a short document with a simple purpose: the preservation of peace and security in the North Atlantic area. Broadly speaking, the Parties have agreed to pool their defence resources in the face of a common danger. The primary objective is to strengthen the North Atlantic community in order to avoid war; the secondary objective is to ensure that if war cannot be avoided and should an armed attack occur against any of the Parties, effective aid will be forthcoming to protect the freedom of the North Atlantic nations and to restore the situation.

• • •

The heart of the Treaty is contained in Articles 3, 4, and 5. Article 3 provides that the Parties "separately and jointly, by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack." Article 4 provides that the Parties "will consult together whenever, in the opinion of any of them, the territorial integrity, political independence or security of any of the Parties is threatened." Article 5 provides that the Parties "agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all; and consequently they agree that, if such an armed attack occurs, each of them, in exercise of the right of individual or collective self-defence recognized by Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations, will assist the Party or Parties so attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with the other Parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area."

• • •

Canada is primarily interested in NATO as a defensive organization—for Canada's own security. But it views the Treaty Organization broadly, as the Secretary of State for External Affairs told a meeting of the Council Deputies in London last June:

"Although the building of collective defence is at present the main activity of NATO, the Canadian Government and people do not look upon the Treaty merely as a military alliance. Canadians see the Treaty as an expression of the reality of the North Atlantic community and of the determination of that community to strengthen its free institutions, to promote conditions of stability and well-being, and to defend the liberty of each of the nations belonging to it. Our common defence is the immediate and urgent goal of the North Atlantic Treaty. But there is no reason why we should lose sight of the farther horizon—the ultimate creation in the Atlantic area of a great community of free nations. In the face of a common danger, under the stern remorseless threat to our survival, we twelve nations of the Atlantic have come together to pool our resources that we may survive. In the process we are developing new working institutions, and, what is possibly more important, a common desire to make them work. They concern not only purely military things, but inevitably too, the economics and the politics of joint effort. In our struggle for security from a very present threat, we are developing a new consciousness of Atlantic unity, the results of which may far exceed our immediate purposes and expectations. May we not in these past two years have taken at least the first steps toward something much greater and more positive—a genuine community of the Atlantic?"

• • •

The NATO nation members are twelve: Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, the United Kingdom and the United States. There is a possibility that two other nations may be added: Greece and Turkey. This is a proposal which Canada may not enthusiastically endorse, for it considerably widens the sphere of NATO. Canada sees the Treaty primarily as a welder and fortifier of a North Atlantic community; the inclusion of eastern European countries extends the boundaries.

• • •

The preservation of the integrity of Western Europe and the United Kingdom, as the eastern frontier of the Atlantic community was what originally inspired the formation of NATO. Owning to the crises in the Middle East (Iran, for instance) and the Far East (Korea) there are nations which want to extend NATO. As Mr. Pearson said in the same London address, Western Europe is, and remains the principal concern. Middle East and Far East problems have diverted attention from this focal point: "They lend themselves admirably to the Soviet practice of fishing in troubled waters and diverting attention from more vital areas." As we have repeatedly said in these columns, western civilization stems from and depends on Europe, and Europe, not Asia, is our primary concern. If Asia is preserved and western Europe lost, how can the total be reckoned except as a loss?

Russian Insignificance At San Francisco

The Soviet delegates to San Francisco have come a long way to accomplish very little—unless they drop a real bombshell as they depart. They have failed to turn a treaty-signing conference into a treaty-making conference or a long propaganda wrangle. In fact, Russia and her attending satellites have put up an insignificant show at San Francisco.

The reason for their poor showing is primarily that they have ceased to be the frightening ogres of last year or three years ago. That is because the West has out-manoeuvred and outweighed them. On the diplomatic front the Soviet Union has lost influence. All but three or four of the 51 nations invited to sign the Japanese peace treaty are lined up against the U.S.S.R. Russia has not lost her invective nor become a weak power, but most of the other nations of the world under the leadership of the United States and Britain have now gained power and poise. They know what Russian world policy is and how it is carried on; they know what the Western policy is and its method; they have chosen between them; and they shun Russia and close their ranks around the Anglo-American entente. The middle and small nations, among whom Canada is an acknowledged leader, have cast their lot against the Soviet Union and for the Anglo-American leadership; this is both a justification of that leadership and a condemnation of Russia and her policies.

The lost power of Russian spokesmen to take the world by the ears reminds us grimly of a similar loss of audience which Hitler suffered abruptly just before the last world war broke out. As the Toronto Globe and Mail has pointed out, the history of prewar Germany suggests an ominous parallel with that of postwar Russia. "Having gained so much by bloodless conquest, and having learned that no more was to be obtained in that way, Hitler launched an insensate attack on Poland which set the whole world afire. It may well be that Stalin is approaching the same state of mind as Hitler reached in 1939." However, Stalin is now an old man whose fire-eating appetite should have been long since quenched; and only ten years ago his country was suffering from the most devastating enemy action and occupation the world had seen up to that time. Russia has still more to gain from peace than from war, even if her postwar days of bloodless conquest are ended.

Good Peterborough Grounds

Visitors to Peterborough often remark that this city looks like a quiet marketing town rather than one of the first fifteen industrial cities in Canada. The truth is that Peterborough is both: a bustling industrial city and a green country town. Smokestacks are lost in the trees; down-town streets give view to pleasant lake and river waters; factory sites are parks, and the houses of factory employees are homes with front lawns, back gardens, flower-beds and shade trees—not tenements but decent homes owned mostly by the occupants and cared for as kindly residences.

The city is particularly fortunate that industry itself is anxious to preserve and embellish the natural physical amenities which give Peterborough a verdant character. There is hardly a factory in town which does not have well-tended lawns, beautiful trees and bordering beds of flowers and shrubs. The Peterborough Horticultural Society fittingly recognizes the part industrial concerns and their gardeners take in preserving and extending the beauties of the city; it annually awards factories its accolade. These were announced on Thursday in our news columns.

We would also like to emphasize the principal judge's opinion that this season there has been considerable improvement in the parks, homes and even some vacant properties, and his special commendation of the Parks Board. We recommend that Sunday strollers and motorists tour our parks and see what advances have been made in the last several years—and, on the way, cast their approving eyes over the factory sites, home lawns and gardens, and other points which have merited horticultural honours.

It takes a baby two years to learn to talk, but it will probably spend the rest of its life without finding anything worthwhile to say.

Tito Turns To The West

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

RELATIONS between Yugoslavia and the West have now reached the point of what might be termed a common-law alliance. There is no Treaty, no mutual legal obligation and no great public courtesy—indeed, a certain amount of mutual ideological disapproval is still officially obligatory. But there is a solid realization of a community of vital interests, and this has by now found expression in several severely practical ways.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE first of these is that Yugoslavia is now receiving economic and military aid from the West, and this aid, which at first was given piecemeal, on a hand-to-mouth basis, is now becoming institutionalized. It is no longer a grudging emergency measure; it is acquiring the character of a solid standing subsidy, symbolizing the stake which the West has in the maintenance of Yugoslav independence.

What is remarkable about that aid is that it is given not by America alone, but by America, Britain and France combined. It is the first case of the Atlantic Great Powers jointly subsidizing another country, and might well become a prototype for similar measures on an even larger scale elsewhere. (The Colombo Plan was a British attempt to extend this joint Atlantic subsidy policy to the larger field of Southern Asia; though momentarily stalled as a joint enterprise owing to American hesitations, it might still be revived.) It is also a clear indication that the undeclared Western alliance with Yugoslavia, though outside the Atlantic Treaty proper, is considered by the chief Atlantic Treaty Powers as consistent and complementary with it—in marked contrast to the similarly separate and undeclared American-Spanish alliance, which is viewed with deep misgivings by Britain and France.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE second of the practical manifestations of the undeclared alliance is the clear understanding that Yugoslavia considers any Russian aggression in Europe as a threat to herself—in other words, that in the event of a Russian attack on the Atlantic Treaty Powers Yugoslavia will fight on the western side. The corollary to this—that in the event of a Russian attack on the Atlantic Treaty Powers Yugoslavia will fight on the western side. The corollary to this—that in the event of a Russian on satellite attack on Yugoslavia the Western Powers will come to her aid—is a little less clear. The public declarations of the Western Powers have not been quite as unambiguous as Marshal Tito's and have not usually gone beyond a statement of "grave concern". In fact, there is no doubt at all that a Russian attack on Yugoslavia would be a casus belli for the West; and very little doubt that a satellite attack also would. Any doubts that may have existed about that in the early years of the Tito-Stalin duel must have been dispelled by the Western reaction to the aggression in Korea—a far less sensitive or strategically vital area than Yugoslavia.

✧ ✧ ✧

WITH this point reached in Yugoslav-Western relations, two questions arise. The first is whether the de facto alliance will lead to an ideological rapprochement. The second is whether, for the purposes of the coming diplomatic showdown in Europe, the de facto alliance will have to be developed into some closer and more formal arrangement.

Both these questions are delicate, and no hard-and-fast answer is possible. But certain trends can be discerned. At present it looks as if the answer to the first question will be "No", and to the second "Yes".

✧ ✧ ✧

AN ideological rapprochement would in practice mean an adaptation of Tito's Yugoslavia to Western liberal democracy—the opposite process is clearly out of the question. From a long-term point of view a liberalization of Yugoslavia is obviously desirable, and in the short run there will certainly be—and have already been—certain tacit concessions, such as acts of clemency towards pro-Western political prisoners, and avoidance of acts of persecution which would shock Western public opinion. But it does not look as if there will be, in the foreseeable future, any radical change in the character of Marshal Tito's State and polity, such as restoration of press freedom or admission of opposition parties.

✧ ✧ ✧

OBVIOUSLY, this is not in Marshal Tito's interests. But it is also not as clearly in the interests of the West as anti-Communist crusaders would have us believe. As long as Tito's Yugoslavia remains clearly a Communist state (although in foreign-political alliance with the West) it acts as a magnet for other Communist Governments in Eastern Europe and elsewhere which might get tired of Russian dictation. If Tito were forced to conform in his internal politics to the precepts of Western democracy, this particular value of his alliance would be lost—even assuming that the attempt to force him would be successful. (This, incidentally, is the great practical difference in the alliance with Communist Yugoslavia and that with Fascist Spain. Neither is palatable from an ideological point of view, but from a practical point of view the former is useful because it promises to disrupt the Russian camp, the latter harmful because it threatens to disrupt the Western camp. We want as many as possible of the present Russian satellites to go Titoist. We do not want as many as possible of the Western European democracies to go Fascist. We have, therefore, good practical reasons to smile on Tito and to frown on Franco.)

✧ ✧ ✧

IN these circumstances, it is unlikely that ideological pressure will be exerted on Marshal Tito, and it is also unlikely that Marshal Tito will change his regime without such pressure. The curious and significant fact of an alliance between ideologically opposed Governments will probably persist. It will, incidentally, continue to drain the "cold war" of its ideological content, and to promote an ultimate settlement on sober balance-of-power principles.

On the other hand, the "common law" character of this alliance may prove awkward to maintain forever. The present informal understanding may be sufficient in case of open Russian aggression leading to war. If, however, there is no such aggression and if things move gradually to a diplomatic showdown and a settlement consisting of a mutual acknowledgment and ratification of existing positions of strength, then much will depend on the visible consolidation of such positions on either side. Yugoslavia will only pull her full weight in the balance of power in South-East Europe—and it may prove a not inconsiderable weight—if her foreign policy and defence is fully and demonstrably coordinated with those of other Powers in the area. The security and influence of Yugoslavia as well as of her neighbours will be enhanced if they are bound together not merely by an old-style general understanding to come to each other's aid in case of war, but by coordinated and integrated defence plans and strategic dispositions made beforehand.

Just as the more diplomatic pledges of the North Atlantic Treaty had to be spelled out in terms of joint planning staffs and joint commands to make Western Europe secure, so joint planning organs and joint commands may prove necessary if Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey are—with American, British and French backing—to be made invasion-proof; and only if they are made invasion-proof will they represent a "position of strength" from which a comprehensive Balkan settlement may one day be achieved by diplomatic means. To build such a position of strength in the South-East corner of Europe is an obvious interest of the countries concerned; it is also an obvious interest of the Atlantic Powers. It may, therefore, be safely predicted that diplomacy will sooner or later—and probably sooner rather than later — go to work in this direction.

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

AN intensive aerial search still goes on for two sportsmen who flew in to the James Bay region recently; another was recently concluded in far northern Manitoba. In the former many R.C.A.F. airplanes and crews are being used; in the latter, United States Air Force airplanes were used as well; in both, there were auxiliary ground searchers and essential co-ordination work by aviation and other authorities. These searches have cost, and are costing, many thousands of dollars; in carrying them out, many men are incurring risk outside their regular line of duty, and public property is being placed in jeopardy. And the taxpayer will foot the bill.

✧ ✧ ✧

We are sure the taxpayer will ungrudgingly, even gladly, foot the bill for those already rescued, and for those everyone hopes sincerely will still be rescued. We are also sure that the searching fliers cheerfully accept any risk involved in making the search. These things are as they should be, and we doubt if any normal Canadian would have them otherwise; they would not have had effort spared in the past, nor would they have it spared in the present. Thoughtful people cannot be ...ned, however, if they ask if there is no way to prevent the recurrence of lost expeditions in Canada's Northland. Searches for missing fliers have become increasingly frequent in recent years, as more and more sportsmen have turned to planes to take them to the far places of the north country.

✧ ✧ ✧

We think Dr. John Tasche, of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, has suggested a solution. He was one of the two men lost in Northern Manitoba, and he says that Canada's Northland should be flown only by experienced fliers. Since Dr. Tasche has logged fifteen hundred hours' flying time, his meaning is obvious—it should be flown only by pilots experienced in Northland flying. In other words, a bush pilot should be at the controls when an airplane heads into the Northland beyond a line which could be easily determined by forest service and aviation authorities.

Letter To The Editor

PRAISE FOR SUMMER THEATRE

Sir: May I use your column to offer a congratulatory word to Mr. Michael Sadlier and his Summer Theatre troupe? Having missed only two plays in the three seasons I feel I can speak in all sincerity when I say "this summer the plays were all wonderful." I am sure I am expressing the feeling of many who have attended the plays.

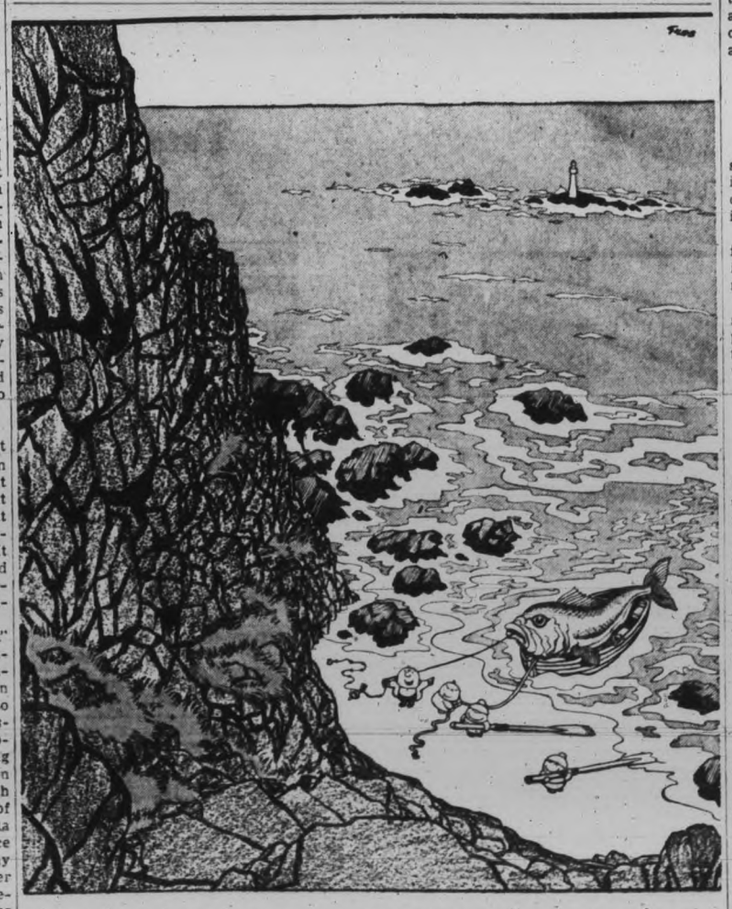
We had variety to suit all tastes,—the players excelled themselves in their many roles and I am sure we do all really appreciate their hard working efforts. We were indeed fortunate in this city to have such talent of professional ability and it is to be hoped that all return next summer.

Congratulations, therefore, to Michael Sadlier, Bill Needles, Betty Leighton, Frank Perry, Kate Reid, Gerry Sarracini, and all the others, too numerous to mention. The plays, the sets, everything—"perfect". We trust you have happy memories of Peterborough and that you will all come back to us after a happy holiday work vacation in Bermuda.

Sincerely yours,
"A FRIEND".

Customer—"I'll have some raw oysters, not too large nor too small, not too salty nor too fat. They must be cold and I want them quickly!"

Waiter—"Yes, sir. With or without pearls?"



"Mum! We've caught a lovely fish and Dad's still on the other end of the line."

How Time Flies

SEPTEMBER 8

1921 The Rev. T. L. White is ordained into the ministry in the Lakefield Baptist Church.

A petition to the North Monaghan council protests against the building of a sidewalk on Grandview Ave.

Katherine Agnes Strickland, eldest daughter of the late Catharine Parr Traill, dies at the age of 86.

1931 The Rev. C. J. Phelan of Campbellford is appointed grand spiritual chancellor of the C.M.B.A.

The farm home of John Buck, three miles from Norwood, is destroyed by fire.

J. H. Sedgewick and J. T. Braund lose in the second round of the Scotch bowling doubles in Toronto.

1941 Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Keefer of Norwood celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Gerard LeBarr, 26, of this city, dies in Toronto from injuries suffered in a fall.

Bud Kennedy wins the annual candy tournament at the Peterborough Golf Club.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens . . .

When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visited him? . . . Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet. (Ps. 8: 1, 3, 4, 6.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I will extol thee, my God, O king; and I will bless thy name for ever and ever . . . One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts . . . They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power; to make known to the sons of men his mighty acts, and the glorious majesty of his kingdom.

Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations. (Ps. 145: 1, 4, 11-13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place. (II Cor. 2: 14.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Salesman—"These are especially strong shirts, madame. They simply laugh at the laundry."

Customer—"I know that kind; I had some which came back with their sides split."

✧ ✧ ✧

President—"Where's the cashier?"

Manager—"Gone to the races."

President—"Gone to the races in business hours?"

Manager—"Yes, sir, it's his last chance of making the books balance."

✧ ✧ ✧

He: "If you'll give me your telephone number, I'll call you up some time."

She: "It's in the phone book."

He: "Fine! What's your name?"

She: "That's in the phone book, too."

A big-time gambler had just died. The funeral was well attended by his professional friends. In eulogy, the speaker said, "Spike is not dead. He only sleeps." From the rear came a voice, "I've got $100 that says he don't wake up."

Protecting Useful Birds

(Guelph Mercury)

Birds that are so actively and effectively useful are entitled to legal protection. There is, and there should be, no prohibition of the killing of birds of prey, such as eagles and hawks, which kill other birds. Crows and owls are of mixed character; useful as destroyers of small noxious animals, but harmful as destroyers of insectivorous and song birds. The common house sparrow, pugnacious enemy of the native song birds, may be regarded with toleration because of his value as a city scavenger in a region where he manages to subsist in spite of the most adverse weather conditions.

The government has been wise in setting apart as "bird sanctuaries" certain areas throughout the country. We cannot, in Canada, have too many insectivorous birds, especially of the sort that are cheerful songsters as well as insect devourers.

Windbag Senators

(Vancouver Sun)

This thoughtless sounding off by American senators is all the more lamentable because it comes on the heels of the recent spy charges thrown around carelessly in Washington.

First our diplomats are in the pay of a foreign nation. Next our immigration service is letting cut-throats into Uncle Sam's domain.

Everyone knows that the few windbags responsible for these assertions are not the people of the United States. Nevertheless they gall Canadians at the very moment when relations should be more cordial.

Going Far Afield

(Lethbridge Herald)

Social Credit rocketed across Alberta in 1935, upset the Farmer government, and established the monetary and credit reformers in power at Edmonton.

The net result has been no monetary reform and no credit reform worth mentioning, though in the Aberhartian days the members of the Legislature did tilt lances with the "economic royalists" and others.

Then Alberta struck oil and got in the money so that Social Credit, 1935 version, has been forgotten.

Brightest Children

(Charlottetown Guardian)

We have good reason to pat ourselves on the back.

An Edinburgh, Scotland, psychologist, Dr. J. Maxwell, says recent tests show that children born in the country have a higher rate of intelligence than those born in the big cities. He adds that "the largest reservoir of intelligence for future generations is to be found among children of skilled manual workers" — farmers, mechanics, and such like.

Importance Of Water In Shaping Matrix In Which District Life Has Been Cast

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

INSTALMENT IV

Water is the catalyst that made possible the existence of Peterborough as a social community. Water (or its absence) could unmake Peterborough.

A catalyst has been described by a modern scientist as "a good mixer." For, as he adds in his analogy, a catalytic agent may operate in social as well as in physico-chemical processes (as doubtless in the case of the gracious hostess or even of a Samivel Weller with his bubbling infectious bonhomie (the mere presence of an indefinable element serving to unify diverse entities).

The analogy is interesting and helpful in an illustrative sense, but it remains an analogy or metaphor, which must not be pushed too far. For it might be a grave mistake to suppose that Nature employs her physical elements in the psychological mode of humankind. Galileo has warned us that "Nature nothing careth whether her abstruse reasons and methods of operating be or be not exposed to the capacity of mean."

Bacon in a memorable and perhaps prophetic passage in "Silva Silvarum" has put the matter more broadly, pointing the way to a "noble inquiry". Thus:

"It is certain that all bodies whatsoever, though they have no sense, yet they have perception; for when one body is applied to another, there is a kind of election to embrace that which is agreeable to another, and to exclude or repel that which is agreeable to another, and to exclude or repel that which is ingrate; and whether the body be alterant or altered, even more a perception preceedeth operation; for else all bodies would be alike one to another. It is therefore a subject of a very noble inquiry, to inquire of the more subtle perceptions; for it is another key to open nature as well as the sense; and sometimes better."

The principle of "natural election" here adumbrated can scarcely be equated with the Darwinian "natural selection" (or at least with that theory as it has been commonly interpreted biologically since Darwin). It became a habit with many writers to harp upon the adaptations of the living organism to the environment, giving no consideration to the converse, the marvellous fitness of the environment to man's primary vital needs. For any true fitness must be reciprocal, involving that which fits and that which is fitted, as Dr. L. J. Henderson, a great biochemist of speculative mind, has pointed out. Is it not fully as remarkable that an environment consisting largely of water and carbonic acid should support life as that organisms should survive in such an environment?

POET'S SPITE

What poet would not grieve to see
His brother write as well as he?
But rather than they should excel,
Would wish his rivals all in Hell?

JONATHAN SWIFT: On the Death of Dr. Swift, 1731.

We cannot here pursue this fascinating inquiry. It has been introduced in the hope that it may help us to fix our thoughts.

Importance of Water

Clearly, if we are to consider reflectively the environment which supports organic being and makes possible organic evolution in Peterborough we shall have to turn our attention at once to water. Then looking at the matter conversely we may ask ourselves if it is not possible that the material universe may not be subject to laws which are in the highest sense important in organic evolution.

We need not here enter into the argument from design. This we may leave to the theologians, without prejudice.

Dr. Henderson asks a question which on its face seems to be simplicity itself, yet is a challenge to profound and far-reaching thought: How could man adapt himself to a waterpower civilization if no water existed within reach?

The inquiry is particularly germane to Peterborough in which water-power civilization is dominant in every phase of life—in factories, fields and homes. "Water the greatest of all solvents, dissolves and distributes all the elements and holds masses of them in solution," as Dr. John Laird points out. Its great surface tension facilitates its retention by the soil and it is highly favorable to the formation of colloidal systems which are the only organizations in which it seems possible that life should be manifested. Further, if water did not expand on freezing but contracted in the orthodox way it would sink to the bottom and our lakes would be vast bowls of ice unfitted for life.

Truly the marvels of this most remarkable of all substances cannot be comprehended, much less catalogued. Perhaps, like the Scot in one of his expansive moments, we may admit that "we have a guid conceit o' oorsels". But let us not be unmindful of our stupendous debt to Old Father Trent, the presiding spirit of the waterway, which was brought into being by the processes of natural election at work through uncountable ages.

How does it come about that we have at our doors today the essentials of a magnificent water-power civilization? In preceding articles reference was made in words and pictures to the Indian river, flowing from Gilchrist's Bay, on Stony Lake, through Warsaw to Keene, on Rice Lake. On this river were built and operated some of the Peterborough County's earliest mills, a few years after Adam Scott established the first at the present site of the city.

Indian River Watershed

The Indian river of today flows placidly in the bed of the mighty mile-wide stream which it was in the ancient ages. If we ask what happened to that St. Lawrence of the past we shall be reminded that it was part of a far-flung system of waters and that to inform ourselves we shall have to look rather far afield. For an answer to the question of what happened to the Indian river will tell us what happened to the water discharge not only of the whole Kawartha district but of a much wider area. This run-off was through the outlets of the vast Lake Algonquin which in glacial damming days overran the basins of Lake Superior, Lake Michigan, Lake Huron (with Georgian Bay and adjacent areas, including Lake Simcoe.

The so-called two-outlet stage of Lake Algonquin was brought to its close by what the scientists sometimes refer to as "terrentrial deformation" of its waterplane. "Differential warping" apparently went on along a fairly well-defined "hinge-line" or zone.

In the earlier days the Lake Algonquin discharge was wholly or largely through the Indian river bed of the Trent Valley. But with the warping of the Algonquin waterplane came a diversion of the drainage to Port Huron and the St. Clair river, which was the western run-off in the two-outlet stage.

Geologists place the "Great Divide" which marked the water diversion, at Fenelon Falls, not at Kirkfield, as sometimes is supposed. The total fall in the ancient outlet channel at Fenelon is estimated at 30 feet. Part of this was taken up by the rapids above the direct fall which was some of the discharge to the St. Clair left Trent Valley drainage "on its own."

Geological Record

The geological record here cited gives us a clearer understanding of the tremendous importance of the waters in the shaping of the matrix in which Peterborough life—human, animal and vegetable—has been cast. On the scientific plane we may approach through ecology the study of the relations of living creatures to each other and to their environment.

"What we need at this crisis in our history," remarks the thoughtful British writer, Mr. Jorian Jenks, "is not just a new system of 'economics' but a re-survey, in the light of past experience, modern knowledge, and future probabilities, of the whole context in which the social economy is required to operate."

Does it seem to be a large order? Let us not be dismayed by mere size, for bulk after all is only a multiplicity of little things.

Within the smallest compass great minds have found mirrored the plethora of sights and wonders what that make the universe. The incomparable Gilbert White writing his Natural History of Selborne; Thoreau studying his Walden Pond; Richard Jefferies wandering about his Downs—and a widening host of their kindred—have been moved to plain living, high thinking and great writing by what they saw reflected within a tiny local area. They have confirmed the truth of Prince Kropotkin's saying: "No man can tell the potentialities of a square foot of English soil."

So it is that looking at even short reaches of the Indian river and the ancient mile-wide stream bed which it once filled we may find many clues to the "whole context in which the social economy (of the future) will be required to operate."

Drainage Policy

Within the memory of the present writer changes have taken place in the purlieus of the mill site at Warsaw which testify to the wisdom and foresight of the Trent Waterway engineers in the shaping of new policies with a view to treating the Kawartha region broadly as a drainage area, making possible economic distribution of the surface waters, as well as of those flowing underground in their nebulous or gaseous phase above the ground (for as Heraclitus observed, "All things flow.") Upon those depend the social well-being, indeed the life itself, of the social community between the pre-Cambrian fringes to the north and Lake Ontario to the south.

In every government, though terrors reign,
Though tyrant kings or tyrant laws restrain,
How small, of all that human hearts endure,
That part which laws or king can cause or cure!

OLIVER GOLDSMITH: The Traveler, 1764.
